Inquiries, Visits & Correspondence

Wellesley welcomes inquiries and visits to the College from prospective students, their parents, and other interested individuals. For those who would like more detailed information on many of the programs and opportunities described in this catalog, the College publishes a number of brochures and booklets. These publications, as well as answers to any specific questions, may be obtained by writing to the appropriate office as listed.

For those who would like to visit the College, the administrative offices in Green Hall are open Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., and by appointment on most Saturday mornings during the academic term. With the exception of a few holidays, arrangements can usually be made to greet prospective students during Wellesley's vacation periods. Accommodations for alumnae and for parents of students or prospective students are available on the campus in the Wellesley College Club and may be reserved by writing to the club manager.

A prospective student who wishes to arrange an interview with a member of the professional staff of the Board of Admission should make an appointment well in advance. Student guides are available to provide tours for visitors without appointments. Visitors may, however, wish to call the Board of Admission prior to coming to Wellesley to obtain information regarding scheduled tours.

The College

The College

A student's years at Wellesley are the beginning—not the end—of an education. A Wellesley College degree signifies not that the graduate has memorized certain blocks of material, but that she has acquired the curiosity, the desire, and the ability to seek and assimilate new information. Four years at Wellesley can provide the foundation for the widest possible range of ambitions, and the necessary self-confidence to fulfill them. At Wellesley, a student has every educational opportunity. Above all, it is Wellesley's purpose to teach students to apply knowledge wisely, and to use the advantages of talent and education to seek new ways to serve the wider community. These are the elements of an education that can never grow old and can never become obsolete.

Wellesley is a college for the serious student, one who has high expectations for her personal and intellectual life, and for her career. Beyond this common ground, there is no Wellesley stereotype. Students at the College come from all over the world, from different cultures and backgrounds, and they have prepared for Wellesley at hundreds of different secondary schools. Wellesley students are Asian-American, Black, Chicana, Hispanic, Native American, and white. Through the Continuing Education Program, a number of women beyond the traditional college age, many of whom are married and have children, are part of the student body working toward a Wellesley degree. Men and women from other colleges and universities study at Wellesley through various exchange programs.

This diversity of people is made possible, in large part, by the College's aid-blind admission policy. Students are accepted without reference to their ability to pay. Once admitted, those with demonstrated need receive financial aid through a variety of services.

Wellesley's founder, Henry Fowle Durant, was an impassioned believer in educational opportunity for women. Throughout its 115 year history Wellesley has been one of a handful of preeminent liberal arts colleges in the country, and, at the same time, a distinguished leader in the education of women. The Wellesley College Center for Research on Women, a policy-oriented research institution on campus, was founded in 1974 and has produced much work of national importance about the role of women and men in contemporary society.

In some respects, the liberal arts curriculum at Wellesley has changed little since the College was founded. The constant features are the grouping of disciplines into the humanities, the social sciences, and the natural sciences and the requirement that each student sample widely from courses in each group. Consistent also is the concept of the major—the opportunity for each student, through concentrated study during her junior and senior years, to establish mastery in a single area. The College has adhered to this framework because it emphasizes the building blocks of a continuing education:

the ability to speak and write clearly, the knowledge to manage quantitative data with ease, the confidence to approach new material, the capacity to make critical judgments. Whatever the student chooses to do with her life, these skills will be essential.

Within this traditional liberal arts framework, the Wellesley curriculum is dynamic, responsive to social change and quick to incorporate new fields of study. The dramatic expansion of information of the last 25 years has led to an increasingly interdisciplinary course of study. Single majors in traditional disciplines have been joined by double majors, and especially designed interdisciplinary and interdepartmental majors. Some departments also offer minors. A multi-departmental first-year student writing course is a degree requirement.

Wellesley students and faculty in all disciplines use the College's academic computing facilities in their courses and research. Use of the computer is not limited to word processing and the sciences; faculty members are pioneering applications of artificial intelligence and teaching technology in such fields as philosophy, music, history, and languages. Wellesley was one of the first liberal arts colleges to establish a separate Computer Science Department and Computer Science major.

Introduced six years ago, the Cluster Program provides for first-year students a new format in which to study traditional materials of the liberal arts curriculum.

The Wellesley MIT Cross-Registration Program allows students to combine the strengths of these two outstanding institutions while remaining in residence on their own campuses. Wellesley students enroll in a large variety of MIT subjects, largely in the social sciences, planning, and management, as well as courses in computer science, engineering, mathematics, and the sciences. Popular courses have been "Issues in Architecture," "Financial Management," "Cost Accounting," and "Field Geology." Wellesley students construct individual majors in such subjects as Urban Planning, Engineering, and Linguistics which draw on the resources of departments at both MIT and Wellesley. A bus runs hourly between the two campuses.

The Twelve College Exchange Program brings men and women from other member New England colleges to Wellesley for a semester or a year, and enables Wellesley students to live and study on another campus. The College also offers exchanges with Wellesley and Brandeis University in nearby Waltham, Spelman College, a distinguished Black liberal arts college in Atlanta, Georgia, and Mills College, in Oakland, California.

Wellesley students are encouraged to spend a semester or a year abroad in programs at many institutions throughout the world. Financial aid for study abroad is available through several Wellesley funds. The Slater program underwrites the cost of attending European institutions for a summer or academic year, and it brings Slater Fellows from abroad to the Wellesley campus. The Waddell program provides funds for study in Caribbean countries or in Africa. The Stecher program enables students to study art abroad either during the academic year or summer. There are also several funds for study in Asia during the academic year and the summer.

The Wellesley faculty are scholars composed of scientists, artists, and political and economic analysts who have achieved highest recognition in their fields. Dedicated to teaching, they bring to the College a vast range of academic and professional interests. A number of faculty live on or near the campus. They are committed to all aspects of life in the Wellesley community, and are available to students long after the end of class.

There is one faculty member for every ten students. The average class size ranges from 18 to 21 students. A few popular introductory courses enroll more than 100, but these classes routinely break into small discussion groups under the direction of a faculty member. Seminars typically bring together 15 to 18 students and a professor to investigate clearly defined areas of concern. The low student-faculty ratio offers an excellent opportunity for students to undertake individual work with faculty or honors projects and research.

Learning at Wellesley is supported by excellent academic facilities. Wellesley students have access to virtually all the collections on campus through a computerized library system: a total of over 1 million items, including 650,000 bound volumes, 2,800 periodicals, 210,000 microforms, 14,000 sound recordings, a comprehensive file of federal and international documents, and archives documenting the College's history. Among the special holdings are a world-renowned Browning Collection, a Book Arts Collection, and a Rare Book Collection. Interlibrary loans through the Boston Consortium of Academic and Research Libraries augment the College's own collections.

Wellesley's strength in the sciences dates to the nineteenth century, when the College's physics laboratory was the second such laboratory in the country (the first was at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology). The Science Center brings together all the science departments, including mathematics and computer science, in a contemporary setting that fosters interdisciplinary discussion and study. Laboratories in the Science Center are completely equipped for a wide variety of fields. The Center also includes an extensive complex of greenhouses and a fine observatory.

Students in the arts find excellent facilities in the Jewett Arts Center, a complex consisting of the art department wing and the theatre and music wing, linked by the Wellesley College Museum.

Wellesley recognizes that classroom activities and studying are only part of a college education. The residence hall system not only provides a pleasant and comfortable place to live, but seeks, through educational programs, to integrate academic and extracurricular life. Residence life is administered in several different ways, ranging from professional heads of houses to student-run cooperatives.

For many students, the lessons learned competing on the athletic field, publishing the Wellesley News, or participating in a Wellesley-sponsored summer internship in Washington are of lifelong importance. The College encourages self-expression through any of the over 100 established student organizations, as well as any interest that a student may choose to pursue alone or with a small number of friends. Wellesley also supports those students who investigate religious issues and thought. The College chaplaincy offers a religious program in many faiths, including denominational services for those who wish to participate.

Wellesley is a small community, and the quality of life depends upon the involvement and commitment of each of its constituents. For this reason, students at the College participate in decision making in nearly every area of College life. They serve, frequently as voting members, on every major committee of the Board of Trustees, including the Investment Committee, and on committees of the Academic and Administrative Councils, including the Board of Admission and the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. In academic departments, they are voting members of the curriculum and faculty search committees. They also serve on committees that set policy for residential life and govern Schneider Center, the focus for much student activity on campus.

The Wellesley College Government Association was established in 1918 by student and faculty agreement. Through Senate, its elected representative body, it is the official organization of all Wellesley students. College Government officers are elected each spring on a campus-wide basis; Senate representatives are elected from each residence hall and from the Nonresident Student Organization.

Each student who comes to Wellesley College joins an extended community, composed of the thousands of alumnae who have preceded her. Some of them have been outstanding scholars and researchers; others have been leaders in politics and social issues; still others have made important contributions to their communities through volunteer work. We are proud of our alumnae. Their contributions, however they have chosen to make them, prove that four years at Wellesley College is just a beginning.

The Campus

Wellesley College has a campus of more than 500 acres bordering on Lake Waban. There are woodlands, hills and meadows, an arboretum, ponds, and miles of footpaths and fitness trails. In this setting are 64 buildings, with architectural styles ranging from Gothic to contemporary. The focal point of the campus is the Galen Stone Tower which rises 182 feet.

Facilities & Resources

The broad scope of Wellesley's curriculum is supported by excellent academic facilities, ranging from large lecture halls to study carrels, from tools to create art to equipment for advanced scientific research. Of equal importance to the quality of its academic facilities is the College's policy of making them available to all students.

Classrooms

The two primary classroom buildings, Founders Hall and Pendleton Hall, are located in the academic quadrangle. The humanities are taught in Founders and the social sciences in Pendleton East.

Science Center

The Science Center houses the departments of astronomy, biological sciences, chemistry, computer science, geology, mathematics, physics, and psychology. The Center includes up-to-date and well-equipped teaching and research laboratories and is undergoing expansion and renovation to be completed in 1991.

The Science Library is a part of the Center. It has 91,500 volumes which include collections from all of the above departments. Group study rooms, carrels, audiovisual and tutorial rooms, copying equipment, microfilm facilities, portable computer terminals, even tool boxes for loan are under the supervision of a science librarian.

Greenhouses

The Margaret C. Ferguson greenhouses, named in honor of a former Wellesley professor of botany, contain more than 1,000 different kinds of plants. The 15 houses, completely renovated and double glazed for energy efficiency, can be controlled separately, providing a range of conditions from temperate to tropical. Laboratories used for botany classes open directly into the greenhouses, where considerable space is set aside for student and faculty research and classroom instruction. The greenhouses and the adjacent 22-acre Botanic Gardens are open to the public throughout the year.

Observatory

The Whitin Observatory contains laboratories, classrooms, dark-room, and the Astronomy Library. Its research equipment includes a 6-inch, a 12-inch, and a 24-inch telescope. The observatory was a gift of Mrs. John C. Whitin, a former trustee of the College. It was built in 1900, enlarged in 1962 and 1966, and is considered to be an unusually fine facility for undergraduate training in astronomy.

Computer Facilities

The academic computing facilities consist of a VAX-8550 time-sharing computer system and two MicroVAX-II computers. One is dedicated to Computer Science instruction and research, the other to high-resolution computer graphics. These computers are connected to a campus-wide network which allows connections from labs, offices, and terminal rooms. The library catalog is also available through the network. High-speed printers and laser printers are available from any machine on the network. In addition, microcomputers are available in terminal rooms, microlabs and in common rooms in the dorms.

Jewett Arts Center

The Jewett Arts Center consists of the Mary Cooper Jewett art wing and the Margaret Weyerhaeuser Jewett music and drama wing. Linking the two buildings is the Wellesley College Museum.

The Museum was founded in 1889 to provide original works for the study of art. The collection of almost 4,000 works including paintings, sculpture, prints, drawings and photographs spans 3,000 years of the history of art. Special programs provide opportunities for students to experience involvement in the purchase of works of art for the public rooms of campus dormitories. The Museum presents lectures, ArtBreaks, gallery talks, receptions, and docent-led tours for students and members of the community. Students are encouraged to participate in the professional life of the Museum.

The art wing consists of the Art Department and Museum offices, the Art Library, classrooms, an extensive slide library, photography darkrooms, and a print laboratory. The music and theatre wing contains the Music Library, listening rooms, practice studios, classrooms and offices. A collection of musical instruments of various periods is available to students.

The Jewett Auditorium, a theatre seating 320 persons, was designed for chamber music performances, and is also used for theatre and special events.

Margaret Clapp Library

The College Library's holdings (including Art, Astronomy, Music, and Science Library collections) contain over 1 million items including 650,000 bound volumes, 2,800 periodicals, 210,000 microforms, 14,000 sound recordings, and an important collection of federal and international documents. Interlibrary loans through the Boston Consortium of Academic and Research Libraries augment the College's own collections.

The Special Collections include letters, manuscripts, and rare books and the Archives contain materials documenting the history of Wellesley. The Language Laboratory and a listening room for the collection of spoken and dramatic recordings are in the library. A lecture room is available for meetings.

A computerized library system provides online information about the College Library's holdings. The system is accessed from computer terminals located in each library and other sites around the campus.

Continuing Education House

The CE House is the official home for Continuing Education students and for the Dean and her staff who coordinate the academic and support systems of the Continuing Education program. The CE House is also used for meetings and special events and as an informal gathering place to study, relax and share ideas. A House Council is elected each year to plan and organize activities for the CE population, and CE advisors serve as peer counselors for the new students entering each semester.

Child Study Center

The Child Study Center is a preschool and laboratory which serves the College and the neighboring community. It is housed in the Anne L. Page Memorial Building, which was specifically designed in 1913 as a school for young children. Under the direction of the Psychology Department, students and faculty from any discipline can study, observe, conduct approved research, volunteer or assistant teach in classes with children ages two to five. In addition to the observation and testing booths at the Center, there is a Developmental Laboratory at the Science Center; research equipment is available at both locations.

Physical Education Facilities

Classes for all indoor sports and dance are conducted in the Sports Center. This Center includes an eight-lane competition swimming pool; badminton, squash and racquetball courts; a weight room; exercise/dance studios; volleyball courts; and an athletic training area. The field house has basketball and volleyball courts, indoor tennis courts and a 200-meter track. Outdoor water sports center around the boathouse where the canoes, sailboats, and crew shells are kept. Wellesley also maintains a nine-hole golf course, 24 tennis courts, hockey, lacrosse, and soccer fields, and a swimming beach.

Alumnae Hall

The largest auditorium on the campus, seating 1,500 people, is in Alumnae Hall. The Hall also has a large ballroom and houses the Wellesley College Theatre. Visiting lecturers, concert artists, and professional theatre groups often appear there. The building was erected in 1923 and is the gift of Wellesley alumnae.

Chapel

The Houghton Memorial Chapel was presented to Wellesley in 1897 by the son and daughter of William S. Houghton, a former trustee of the College. The chapel's stained glass windows commemorate the founders and others, while a tablet by Daniel Chester French honors Alice Freeman Palmer, Wellesley's second president. The chapel is a setting for lectures and community meetings as well as religious services.

Schneider College
Center

The center for extracurricular life at the College is Schneider College Center. It provides lounge areas, a cafeteria, an entertainment stage, a Convenience Store, meeting rooms, offices for Schneider Board and College Government, facilities for nonresident students (lounge, mailboxes, kitchen, study room), a lounge and kosher kitchen for Hillel, a student staffed Info Box, a student managed Café Hoop and Candy Store, Wellesley News, Legenda, and the Wellesley College radio station, WZLY. It also contains offices for the Center Director, Director of Residence, Director of Food Service, and the Chaplaincy.

Harambee House

Harambee House is the cultural and social center for the Black community at Wellesley. Diverse program offerings, which highlight various aspects of Black culture, are open to the College community. Harambee has a growing library of the history and culture of African and African-American peoples and boasts a record library (classical-jazz by Black artists), which is housed in the Jewett Music Library. The House also contains offices for the staff, Ethos (the Black student organization), and Ethos Woman (a literary magazine), as well as rooms for seminars, meetings, and social gatherings.

Slater International Center

Slater International Center is a social and educational center for foreign and American students and faculty. The Center serves campus organizations that have an interest in international affairs and helps to sponsor seminars and speakers on international topics. The Foreign Student/Multicultural Advisor, whose office is located in the Center, counsels students from abroad as well as Asian-American and Hispanic students. She also handles immigration matters for students and faculty. The Slater International Center is the headquarters for all international and multicultural organizations providing student members a place to study, cook, entertain, and get to know each other better. In addition, the Center coordinates a peer counseling group of foreign students to help new students make a smooth adjustment to the United States.

Society Houses

There are three society houses. Each house has kitchen and dining facilities, a living room, and other gathering rooms. Members are drawn from all four classes, beginning with second semester first-year students. Shakespeare House is a center for students interested in Shakespearean drama; Tau Zeta Epsilon House is oriented around art and music; and Zeta Alpha House is for students with an interest in modern drama. Phi Sigma is a society that promotes intelligent interest in cultural and public affairs.

Green Hall	The offices of the president, the board of admission, the deans, and all administrative offices directly affecting the academic and business management of the College are located in Green Hall. The building has large rooms for Academic and Administrative Council and trustee meetings and class and seminar rooms. Named for Hetty R. Green, the building was erected in 1931.
Infirmary	Simpson Infirmary consists of an outpatient clinic and hospital which is licensed by the State and is an institutional member of the American College Health Association.
President's House	The President's House, formerly the country estate of Wellesley's founders, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Fowle Durant, is located on a hill just south of the main campus. The spacious lawns border Lake Waban. It is frequently the scene of alumnae and trustee gatherings as well as receptions for distinguished visitors, students, faculty and staff, and for graduating seniors and their parents.
Wellesley College Club	The Wellesley College Club is a center for faculty, staff, and alumnae. Its reception and dining rooms are open to members, their guests, and parents of students for lunch and dinner and are used for many special occasions. Overnight accommodations are available for alumnae and for parents of students and prospective students.
Center for Research on Women	The Center for Research on Women was established in the summer of 1974 by a grant from the Carnegie Corporation and has received major support from a variety of private foundations, government agencies, corporations, and individuals. The Center conducts policy-oriented studies of women's education, employment, and family life with special emphasis on the concerns of women of color. Extensive research and program work is being conducted on curriculum change, childcare, adolescent girls' development, and stress in the lives of women and men. The Women's Review of Books is published at the Center.

Student Life

Student Life

Intellectual growth is only part of the realization of one's talents and abilities. Wellesley College offers many opportunities for a student to develop self-confidence, leadership skills, and a sense of social responsibility through participation in student organizations and college governance. Camaraderie built through these involvements creates solid friendships that support Wellesley students during their college years and for a lifetime.

On the Wellesley campus many student groups reflect ethnic, social, political, and religious interests. Among the organizations are Mezcla, an association of Chicana, Native American, and Hispanic-American students and Alianza whose members come from Latin America and Puerto Rico; Ethos, an organization of Black students; the Asian Association, composed of Asian and Asian-American students; the Womyn's Alliance, a group interested in feminist issues; and the Nonresident Council. Religious groups such as the Newman Club, the Wellesley Christian Fellowship, Hillel, Al-Muslimat, Ministry to Black Women, Lutheran-Episcopal Fellowship, Campus Crusade for Christ, and Christian Science Organization offer many programs throughout the year.

Students are also responsible for a number of publications, among them the Wellesley News, the weekly student newspaper; Ethos Woman, a student publication for and about Third World women; Legenda, the College yearbook; and WRagtime a literary publication. WZLY, the campus radio station, is operated by an all-student staff.

Students can become involved in the Greater Boston community in a variety of ways. The Career Center Internship Office lists many opportunities for public and community service in government agencies and nonprofit organizations. In addition, the Chaplaincy coordinates student groups working with youth services, the elderly, the Easter Seal Swim Program, the Boston Food Bank, and Rosie's Place, a shelter for homeless women.

Sports are a significant part of life at Wellesley. There are eleven intercollegiate programs, and opportunities for competition in the intramural program. Other students pursue physical education just for fun, or to stay in shape. Interests range from yoga and fencing to dance and scuba diving. Wellesley's Sports Center includes an eight-lane competition swimming pool, badminton, squash and racquetball courts; a weight room; exercise/dance studios; volleyball courts; and an athletic training area. The field house has basketball and volleyball courts, indoor tennis courts and a 200-meter track. Lake Waban is used for water sports and Paramcium Pond for ice skating.

The arts have always been a highly visible part of the Wellesley experience. The College Choir, the Chamber Orchestra, the Prism Jazz Ensemble, the Tupelos, the Collegium Musicum, the Chamber Music Society, the Chapel Choir, the Ethos Choir, the Carillonneurs

Guild, and the MIT Orchestra are some of the many groups which offer experiences for students with interests in music. Those inclined toward the theatre can choose among the Wellesley College Theatre, the Experimental Theatre, and the Shakespeare Society.

Life at Wellesley also includes a number of traditional social events. Junior Show, Sophomore Parents' Weekend, Spring Weekend, and International Week are supplemented by frequent informal parties.

Schneider Center, which also has a coffee house, conference rooms, and a student-run store, is the center of community activity. Supplementing the facilities and resources of Schneider are Slater International Center, which is the frequent setting for international events and celebrations, and Harambee House, the social and cultural center of the Black community at Wellesley. Harambee sponsors lectures, music and dance performances, many in conjunction with other departments in the College. Lectures and cultural programs are presented also by Mezcla, the Asian Association, and Hillel.

Student Residences & Resources

Although some students live off campus, most live in one of Wellesley's twenty residence halls. For resident and nonresident students alike, the College provides the counseling, religious, and health services necessary to ensure the students physical and mental well-being.

Residence Halls

The residence halls are the focus of much campus life. Each has a character of its own. Informal learning at Wellesley takes place in spontaneous discussions and debates in the residence halls. The diversity of Wellesley's students, who bring to the College differing life styles and cultural backgrounds, contributes much to this process.

The residence hall system at Wellesley is designed to foster a sense of community, with much of the administration and program planning initiated by the students who live within the community. Within this principle of student self-government, the halls offer many opportunities for residents to assume leadership positions.

The residence experience is also likely to include lectures, group discussions, dinners with faculty members, and parties. One tradition, initiated in the early years of the College, is Wednesday Tea—an informal occasion which continues to attract many students.

There are several types of residence halls at Wellesley, each with a distinctive theme and structure. The 15 larger residence halls (most housing 120-140 students), are staffed by professional Heads of House. Each Head of House serves as an advisor and counselor to individuals and groups in each hall and as a liaison to the College community. The Heads of House supervise a residence staff which includes a Resident Advisor on each floor, a First-Year Student Coordinator, and a House President. The smaller halls (Simpson West, Homestead, French House, Cervantes House and Instead) are staffed by student Resident Advisors or Coordinators and have a more informal system of house government for the 8-18 upperclass students living there.

Students in the larger residence halls elect a House Council which administers the day-to-day details of living. The Vice President of Programming and her committee in each hall plan a variety of social, cultural, and educational events throughout the year. Each residence also elects representatives to the Senate, and these students consult with members of the residence hall on campus-wide issues and convey opinions of their constituencies to the student government.

A residential policy committee reviews the rooming policy and develops ways to involve students in all areas of residential policy-making. The Residence Office has been working to strengthen the involvement of faculty, staff, and alumnae in residence hall life.

Most of the residence halls contain single rooms, double rooms, triple rooms, and some suites. Incoming first-year students are placed in double or triple rooms. The cost of all rooms is the same, regardless of whether they are shared, and students are required to sign a residence contract. Each hall has a spacious living room, smaller common rooms, and a study room. All but two of the large halls have dining facilities which are open on a five or seven day basis. A vegetarian entree is provided during lunch and dinner. A variety of kosher foods may be purchased in the College's convenience store. Students are encouraged to discuss their kosher dietary needs with the Director of Food Service. There are limited kitchenette facilities in the halls for preparing snacks. Each building is equipped with coin-operated washers and dryers.

The College supplies a bed, pillow, desk, chair, lamp, bookcase, and bureau for each resident student. Students supply linen, blankets, quilts, and their own curtains, pictures, rugs, and posters. They clean their own rooms and contribute one to two hours a week answering the telephones and doing other miscellaneous jobs which are scheduled by the student heads of work.

Twenty residence halls are grouped in three areas of the campus: Bates, Freeman, McAfee, Simpson, Dower, French House, Homestead, Instead, Stone, and Davis are near the Route 16 entrance to the campus; Tower Court, Severance, Crawford House, Lake House, and Claflin are situated off College Road in the center of the campus; and Shafer, Pomeroy, Cazenove, Beebe, and Munger are located by the Route 135 entrance to the College.

Student Parking and Transportation

Because parking at the College is limited, resident first-year students are not permitted to have cars. The parking fee for sophomores, juniors and seniors is currently: $65 for each semester or $115 for the year, and for nonresident students $45 for the semester or $80 for the year.

Counseling and Advising Resources

There is hourly bus service from the campus to MIT in Cambridge (7:30 am to 11:00 pm, Monday-Friday) with subway connections to the Greater Boston area. On weekends the College Government provides bus service to Boston and Cambridge on a regular schedule tailored to students' needs.

Counseling is readily available. Many students benefit from talking with someone other than friends and roommates about personal matters, whether large or small, affecting their daily life or their more basic sense of purpose and direction.

The offices of the Dean of Students offer a wide range of counseling and advising services for individuals and groups of students. They include the Class Deans, the Residence Office staff, Heads of House and student staff in residence halls, the Nonresident Advisor, the student activities staff in Schneider Center, Harambee House, Slater International Center, and the Chaplain and religious group advisors.

Staff members of the College Counseling Service, part of the Stone Center for Developmental Services and Studies, provide short-term group and individual counseling. They also offer a variety of preventive outreach programs such as workshops and issue-oriented groups. They are trained in the disciplines of psychiatry, psychology, and psychiatric social work. Long-term psychotherapy is not provided at the College, but the resources for such treatment are readily available in the Greater Boston area. The counseling service can help students locate appropriate long-term private therapists and sliding-scale agencies. Complete professional confidentiality is maintained at all times.

Religious Resources

Wellesley seeks to respond sensitively to a variety of religious traditions. The College encourages independent religious involvement on the part of its students.

The College Chaplaincy offers diverse religious, personal growth, and social action programs as well as service opportunities. The College chaplain and the Hillel director are on campus full-time, the Catholic ministry is shared by two half-time chaplains. All of them are available for religious and personal counseling.

The Chaplain also officiates at regular Sunday morning worship, an ecumenically oriented Protestant service in Houghton Memorial Chapel with guest preachers invited once a month.

Catholic masses are offered on Sunday and Thursday afternoons, and the Newman Catholic Ministry offers a number of other programs.

Jewish students will find a varied program including high holiday services and kosher meal options. An individualized kosher meal plan can be made available through Food Services and kosher products are available in the convenience Store in Schneider Center. A kosher kitchen is available for student use in Schneider Center.

Attendance at all worship services is open and voluntary. Many activities are also sponsored by other religious groups on campus.

College Health Service

Simpson Infirmary includes an outpatient clinic and licensed hospital which provide primary medical care to all students. There is no health fee and no charge for outpatient visits to a nurse or doctor. Medical insurance is required, and usually covers the charges for laboratory tests, certain examinations and procedures, and inpatient care. A college-sponsored, state-mandated student insurance plan is available, and an additional policy is available which provides more comprehensive benefits. Consultation with specialists is available both locally and in Boston; financial responsibility rests with the student, her parents, or their health insurers.

Besides the usual medical care given by the College Health Service, members of the staff emphasize educational and preventive measures to increase wellness and promote healthful lifestyles. Programs are developed in response to students' needs or requests.

The Health Service collaborates with other college services such as residence and physical education. The confidentiality of the doctor-patient relationship is carefully maintained: medical information is not shared with College authorities or parents without the specific consent of the student, and is disclosed only to meet insurance claims or legal requirements.

Students are required by Massachusetts law to enroll in the College Student Health Insurance Plan unless they have equivalent coverage.

Student Government

Throughout its history the College has based its policies regarding student life upon the concepts of personal integrity, respect for individual rights, and student self-government. The rules and procedures governing student life reflect these concepts, and are designed chiefly to ensure the privacy and safety of individuals. Legislation concerning all aspects of Wellesley community life is contained in the Articles of Government, copies of which are available to all students.

Honor Code

Inherent in Wellesley's system of democratic government, and its accompanying law, is the honor code. As the vital foundation of government, the honor code rests on the assumption that individual integrity is of fundamental value to each member of the community. Within the philosophy of self-government, the personal honor and responsibility of each individual as he or she approaches both the regulated and nonregulated areas of academic, social, and residence hall life in the Wellesley community are of central importance.

The honor code covers all duly adopted rules of the College for the governance of academic work, for the use of College resources and for the special conduct of its members. Each student—degree candidate, exchange student, and special student—is bound by all the rules.

Each student is expected to live up to the honor code, as a member of the student body of Wellesley College both on and off the campus.

She should also remember that she is subject to federal, state, and local laws which are beyond the jurisdiction of Wellesley College.

The honor code can work only with full support among all members of the College community. In addition to upholding the regulations and spirit of the honor code personally, both students and faculty are responsible for the success of the system. This includes guarding against and, if necessary, reporting any inadvertent or intentional abuses of the honor code by any member of the community.

College Government

Most of the legislation and regulations guiding student life are enacted and administered by the student College Government, of which all students are members. Responsibilities delegated by the Board of Trustees to the College Government include governance of all student organizations, appointment of students to College committees, allocation of student activities monies, and administration of the Honor Code and judicial process. Many of these responsibilities are assumed by Senate, the elected legislative body of College Government, which also provides the official representative voice of the student body.

Violations of the Honor Code are adjudicated through the student-run Judicial System. Three separate branches of the Judicial System address infractions of residence hall violations, violations of academic principles, and the appeal process.

Confidentiality of Student Records

Maintenance of the confidentiality of individual student educational records has been and continues to be important at Wellesley, as is a concern for the accuracy of each record. Under the provisions of the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974, every Wellesley student is assured the right to inspect and review all college records, files, and data directly related to her, with certain exceptions such as medical and psychiatric records, confidential recommendations submitted before January 1, 1975, records to which the student has waived her right of access, and financial records of the student's parents. The student may also seek a correction or deletion where a record is felt to be inaccurate, misleading, or otherwise in violation of the privacy or other rights of the student. The Privacy Act also protects the privacy of personally identifiable information maintained in student records by prohibiting the release of such information (other than those facts defined below as "Directory Information") without the written consent of the student, except to persons such as officials or teachers within the College who have a legitimate educational interest in seeing the information, officials of other institutions in which the student seeks to enroll, the student's parents if the student is a dependent for tax purposes, and certain other persons and organizations.

The final regulations for the Act make clear that, in the case of students who are dependents of their parents for Internal Revenue Service purposes, information from the education records of the student may be disclosed to the parents without the student's prior consent. It will be assumed that every student is a dependent of her parents, as defined by the Internal Revenue Code, unless notification to the contrary with supporting evidence satisfactory to the College is filed in writing with the Registrar by October 1 of each academic year.

All correspondence relating to a student's undergraduate performance is removed from a student's file and destroyed one year after graduation. All disciplinary records are destroyed when a student graduates from the College. Disciplinary records are never a part of a student's permanent file while she is at Wellesley.

Copies of the Privacy Act, the regulations therein and the "Wellesley College Guidelines on Student Records" are available on request from the Office of the Dean of Students. Students wishing to inspect a record should apply directly to the office involved. Complaints concerning alleged noncompliance by the College with the Privacy Act, which are not satisfactorily resolved by the College itself, may be addressed in writing to the Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act Office, Department of Education, 550 Independence Avenue, S.W., Washington, D.C. 20201.

Directory Information

The Privacy Act gives to Wellesley the right to make public at its discretion, without prior authorization from the individual student, the following personally identifiable information: name; class year; home address and telephone number; college address and telephone number; major field; date and place of birth; dates of attendance at Wellesley College; degrees, honors and awards received; weight and height of student athletes; participation in officially recognized sports and activities; previous educational institution most recently attended.

The Privacy Act also allows individual students to place limitations on the release of any of the above information. A student who wishes to do this must inform the Registrar, Green Hall, in writing each year by July 1 for the following academic year.

In practice, College policies discourage the indiscriminate release of any information about individual students. College directories and lists are for use within the College community itself.

Career Center

The Career Center helps students to translate their liberal arts skills into specific careers. Through panel presentations and programs such as Management Basics, the Shadow program, and company information meetings, students are introduced to the various professions. The Center also provides job search and interviewing skills workshops and sponsors a wide variety of programs which bring alumnae back to the campus to discuss their working lives. On-the-job experience and career exploration are offered through over 2,500 internship listings and special programs many fields and locations during the academic year and summer months. The Center also produces a number of informational publications for students, including Compass, a brochure describing the Career Center services. Students are encouraged to use the Center throughout their time at Wellesley. Most services are available to alumnae.

Counseling

During the school year, counselors are available daily to answer career-related questions on a drop-in basis. Group counseling sessions and individual appointments are also offered. The Center gives workshops on resume writing, self-assessment, job search, and applying to graduate and professional schools. Students may also practice their interviewing skills during videotaped mock interviews.

Recruiting/ Job Notices

The Career Center offers a recruiting program in which over 100 companies participate. Students are notified of scheduled visits by postings in the Center, and in campus newspapers. Job notebooks are maintained by the Center staff and are open to all students and alumnae. Two job bulletins produced by the Center, Springboard for graduating seniors and Horizons for alumnae, are available upon request.

Graduate Schools

The Career Center provides assistance in applying to graduate school, including information on graduate school and professional school examinations, and advice on completing graduate school applications.

Internships

The Career Center keeps information on a wide variety of internship programs available at the College, in the local community, and throughout the country, during the term, January, and summer. Interns work in dozens of fields ranging from engineering to environmental advocacy, from stage management to banking. The Center is the clearing-house for all internships. All internships require early application and considerable planning; students interested in internships should consult a counselor well in advance.

Service Opportunity Stipends

Students interested in community and public service internships may apply through the Career Center for Service Opportunity Stipends. Designed to encourage direct student involvement in service and to foster the spirit of volunteerism, these awards provide financial support to Wellesley students for an unpaid position or internship with a community or public service organization.

Scholarships and Fellowships

The Center provides information and assistance on a wide variety of scholarships and fellowships. A full listing and description of scholarships and fellowships is maintained in the Center Library.

Career Library	The Career Center Library has an extensive collection of books, magazines and journals to assist in the career exploration process. In addition, there are listings of alumnae contacts, a collection of video-tapes of alumnae career panels, alumnae questionnaires describing graduate programs and places of employment, and SIGI+, a computerized career guidance system.
Recommendations	All students are encouraged to build a reference file; all references will be forwarded to schools and employers upon request. The Center provides standard recommendation forms acceptable to graduate schools and employers.

Admission

Admission

The Board of Admission chooses students who will benefit from and contribute to the type of education offered at Wellesley and who will be able to meet the standards for graduation from the College. Consideration is given to creativity and high motivation as well as strong academic potential.

The Board of Admission considers each application on its merits and does not discriminate on the basis of race, religion, color, creed, or national origin. In accordance with its desire to maintain diversity in its student body, Wellesley College encourages applications from qualified students who come from a wide variety of cultural, economic, and ethnic backgrounds.

The Board of Admission at Wellesley is composed of representatives of the faculty, the administration, and the students. In selecting the candidates who will comprise the student body, the Board of Admission considers a number of factors: high school records, rank in class, scholastic aptitude and achievement test scores, letters of recommendation from teachers, guidance counselors or principals, the student's own statements about herself and her activities, and interview reports from the staff or alumnae. The Board of Admission values evidence of unusual talent and involvement in all areas of academic and social concern.

Each application is evaluated with care. The admission decision is never made on the basis of a single factor. Each part of the application, however, contributes to a well rounded appraisal of a student's strengths and is useful in attempting to predict whether Wellesley would be the right place for her to continue her education.

Criteria for Admission

General Requirements for First-Year Student Applicants

Wellesley College does not require a fixed plan of secondary school courses as preparation for its program of studies. However, entering students normally have completed four years of strong college preparatory studies in secondary school. Adequate preparation includes training in clear and coherent writing and in interpreting literature, history, training in the principles of mathematics (typically four years), competence in at least one foreign language, ancient or modern (usually achieved through four years of study), and experience in two laboratory sciences.

Students planning to concentrate in mathematics, in premedical studies, or in the natural sciences are urged to elect additional courses in mathematics and science in secondary school. Students planning to concentrate in language or literature are urged to study a modern foreign language and Latin or Greek before they enter college.

There are often exceptions to the preparation suggested here, and the Board will consider an applicant whose educational background varies from this general description.

The Application

Application forms may be obtained from the Board of Admission. A nonrefundable fee of $40 must accompany the formal application. If the application fee imposes a burden on the family's finances, a letter from the applicant's guidance counselor requesting a fee waiver should be sent to the Director of Admission with the application for admission.

The Interview

Wellesley does not require a personal interview as part of the application for first-year applicants. The College, however, strongly recommends that applicants make arrangements to have one. An interview is required of transfer applicants and of Early Admission candidates, see pp. 29 and 30. If it is not possible for a candidate to come to the College for an interview, she should write to the Board of Admission or use the form provided in the application to request the name of an alumna interviewer in the candidate's local area. A high school junior may arrange for an informal conversation with an alumna or member of the Board. The Board of Admission is closed for interviews from February 1 to April 1; however, tours will still be given by student guides during this time.

Campus Visit

Students who are seriously considering Wellesley will have a better understanding of student life at Wellesley if they can arrange to spend a day on campus. Candidates are welcome to attend classes, have meals in the residence halls, and talk informally with Wellesley students. Overnights in the residence halls can also be arranged for high school seniors. Prospective students who plan to spend some time exploring the College are urged to notify the Board of Admission at least two weeks in advance so that tours, interviews, meals, attendance at classes, and overnights can be arranged before their arrival on campus.

College Board Tests

The College Board Scholastic Aptitude Test and three Achievement Tests are required of all applicants for admission. One Achievement Test must be English Composition (with or without Essay), the other two may be in subjects of the student's choice.

Each applicant is responsible for arranging to take the tests and for requesting that the College Board send the results of all tests taken to Wellesley College. The College Board sends its publications and the registration forms necessary to apply for the tests to all American secondary schools and many centers abroad. The applicant may obtain the registration form at school, or may obtain it by writing directly to College Board, Box 6200, Princeton, New Jersey 08541-6200; or in the western United States, western Canada, Australia, Mexico, or the Pacific Islands, to Educational Testing Service, Box 23470, Oakland, California 94623-0470.

It is necessary to register with the College Board approximately six weeks before the test dates; however, limited walk-in registration may be available at some test centers.

Either the SAT or three Achievement Tests may be taken on any of the following dates, but it is not possible to take both the SAT and the Achievement Tests on the same day, so students must select and register for two different test dates. The latest test date from which scores can be used for admission in September, 1991 is January 26, 1991.

The College Board Code Number for Wellesley College is 3957.

Dates of College Board Tests	November 3, 1990 December 1, 1990 January 26, 1991 March 16, 1991 (SAT only) May 4, 1991 June 1, 1991
	In addition, on October 13, 1990 the SAT only is offered in California, Florida, Georgia, Hawaii, Illinois, North Carolina, Pennsylvania, South Carolina and Texas.

Admission Plans

Regular Decision

A candidate who uses the Regular plan for admission must file an application by February 1 of the year for which she is applying. Applicants will be notified of the Board of Admission's decisions in April. Applicants for regular admission may take Scholastic Aptitude Tests and Achievement Tests any time through January of the senior year. It is preferred, however, that students take these tests before the January test date to insure that scores will arrive well before the Board of Admission begins to review records. Results of tests taken after January arrive too late for consideration by the Board of Admission.

Early Decision

This plan is intended for those students with strong high school records who have selected Wellesley as their first choice college by the fall of the senior year. Candidates under this plan may initiate applications at other colleges, but they agree to make only one Early Decision application, and if admitted under Early Decision, they must then withdraw all other applications.

Candidates who wish to apply Early Decision must submit the application by November 1 and indicate that they want to be considered under the Early Decision Plan. Although College Board tests taken through the November 3, 1990 test date may be used, it is preferred that students complete the appropriate tests by the end of the junior year. Decisions on admission and financial aid will be mailed no later than mid-December.

Early Evaluation

Candidates whose credentials are complete by January 1, and who request it by checking the appropriate box on the application form, will receive an Early Evaluation of their chances for admission. These evaluations will be sent by the end of February. Candidates will receive the final decision from the Board of Admission in April.

Early Admission

The College considers applications from candidates who plan to enter college after completing three years of high school and who have demonstrated academic strength and personal and social maturity. These candidates are considered for admission along with other applicants for the Regular Decision Plan. They are requested to identify themselves as Early Admission applicants in their correspondence with the Board of Admission. Early Admission candidates are required to have an interview; it is preferable that these candidates have their interviews at the College if distance permits. Early Admission candidates are not eligible for Early Decision or Early Evaluation. In all other respects they follow the same procedures for the Regular Decision Plan.

Deferred Entrance

Students who complete their applications and are admitted and who then wish to defer entrance to the first year student class for one year should accept the offer of admission by May 1, and at the same time request a year's deferral. Students who attend another American college full-time during the year between high school and their entrance to Wellesley are not considered deferred students, but must reapply for entrance as transfers. Ordinarily, transfer students may not defer entrance to the following semester or year. This also applies to foreign students.

United States Citizens Living Abroad

For U.S. citizens living in other countries the entrance requirements and procedures for making application are the same as for applicants within the United States. U.S. citizens who have been educated exclusively in foreign school systems follow the same application procedures as foreign students.

Foreign & Transfer Students

Through the years Wellesley has sought and benefited from a large body of foreign students on campus. The College also seeks highly qualified transfer students who believe that Wellesley's special opportunities will help them to achieve specific goals. For foreign and transfer students there are some additional and different application procedures and deadlines.

Foreign Students

The following students apply for admission through the Foreign Student Board of Admission, using the special Foreign Student Application form:

1. All foreign citizens applying from overseas secondary schools or universities (with the exception of Canadians applying from schools in Canada);
2. Foreign citizens who will have completed only one year (grade 12, or post-graduate) in a high school in the United States before entering college;
3. U.S. citizens who have been educated in a foreign school system.

Admission is considered for September entrance only. The application and all required credentials must be received by January 15 of the year in which the student plans to enter. There is no application fee for students filing the Foreign Student Application form.

Financial aid is available for only a limited number of foreign citizens. Therefore, admission is highly competitive for students who apply for financial assistance. Wellesley's established policy is to accept only those foreign students for whom we can provide the necessary financial support.

The College Board entrance examinations are required of all foreign students in addition to their own national examinations. The official SAT and Achievement Test score reports must be forwarded directly to Wellesley College by the College Board by using Wellesley's Code Number 3957 on the College Board registration form. The SAT and Achievement Tests are not administered in China at the present time. Instead, applicants from China are required to take the TOEFL (Test of English as a Foreign Language).

Interested students are encouraged to initiate the application process one full year in advance of the planned date of entrance. To obtain the information brochure Foreign Students and the Foreign Student Application form, please write to the Board of Admission. Letters of inquiry should include the students country of citizenship, present school, academic level, and the year of planned college entrance.

Foreign Students Applying from U.S. High Schools

Citizens of other countries who will have completed two or more years of secondary school in the United States before entering college do not use the Foreign Student Application, but apply instead through the regular admission program. Foreign citizens applying through the regular admission program, who also wish to apply for the limited financial aid funds, are eligible to apply only under the Regular Decision Plan (February 1 deadline).

Admission of Transfer Students

Wellesley College accepts transfer students from accredited four and two year colleges. They must offer an excellent academic record at the college level and strong recommendations from their dean and college instructors. Scholastic Aptitude Tests are required of transfer applicants. An interview is also required. Students wishing to transfer into Wellesley should apply by February 1 for entrance in the fall semester, and before November 15 for entrance in the spring semester. Applications may be obtained from the Board of Admission. Notification is in mid-April and late December, respectively. The application forms should be returned with a nonrefundable registration fee of $40, or a fee waiver request authorized by a financial aid officer or college dean.

The College will accept for credit only those courses which are comparable to courses offered in the liberal arts curriculum at Wellesley. Candidates accepted for transfer will be given a tentative evaluation of their credit status at the time of admission. Transfer credit for studies completed in foreign countries will be granted only when the Registrar has given specific approval of the courses elected and the institutions granting the credit.

To receive a Wellesley degree, a transfer student must complete a minimum of 16 units of work and two academic years at the College, so ordinarily, only incoming sophomores and juniors are eligible to apply. A Wellesley unit is equivalent to four semester hours and some transfer students may need to carry more than the usual four courses per semester in order to complete their degree requirements within four years. Wellesley College has no summer school and courses done independently during the summer may not be counted toward the 16 units required. Incoming juniors, in particular, should be aware that Wellesley requires evidence of proficiency in one foreign language before the beginning of the senior year. In addition, all transfer students should note Wellesley's writing and course distribution requirements which must be fulfilled for graduation. These requirements are described on p. 51 and p. 53 of this catalog. Incoming junior transfer students may not take part in the Twelve College Exchange Program or Junior Year Abroad. All transfer students may elect to take courses through the cross-registration program with MIT. Candidates who are older than the usual undergraduate age and whose educations have been interrupted for several years prior to the date of application, may wish to consult the Office of Continuing Education.

Continuing Education

The Continuing Education program offers educational opportunity for women beyond traditional college age. The program is designed for women who wish to work toward the Bachelor of Arts degree, as well as for a limited number of men and women who seek nondegree course work as special students. Continuing Education students enroll in the same courses as the traditionally aged Wellesley undergraduates and meet the same degree requirements. They may enroll on a part-time or full-time basis.

Bachelor of Arts Degree Candidates

Prospective candidates for the B.A. degree are women, usually over the age of twenty-four, whose education has been interrupted for at least two years, or whose life experience makes enrollment through Continuing Education the logical avenue of admission to Wellesley College. At least sixteen of the 32 units required for the B.A. degree must be completed at Wellesley. There is no time limitation for completion of the degree.

The College will accept for credit only those courses which are comparable to courses offered in the liberal arts curriculum at Wellesley. One Wellesley unit is equal to four semester hours or six quarter-hours. The Registrar will evaluate credit earned at accredited colleges with the official transcript, catalog, and degree requirements from those colleges. All applicants should have course descriptions and degree requirements from the period of enrollment at all previous colleges sent as part of their application.

Housing is usually available for full-time degree students who desire to live on campus. Applicants who want campus housing should indicate this interest at the time of application.

Special Students

Special students are postbaccalaureate students who wish to do further undergraduate work for a specific purpose. Students take courses to prepare for graduate school, or study to enrich their personal lives or concentrate their study in a special area. Premedical Studies, Secondary School Teacher Certification and Prearchitectural Studies are popular choices.

Continuing Education Admission

Application for admission to the Continuing Education Program is made through the Office of the Dean of Continuing Education. The Board of Admission looks for evidence—work experience, volunteer experience, and especially recent course work—that demonstrates intellectual ability and initiative. They also place great emphasis on a candidate's motivation, perseverance, and emotional maturity. All application credentials should be submitted as early as possible. The application deadline for spring semester admission is December 1, 1990, and for the fall semester, March 1, 1991. Continuing Education applicants pay a nonrefundable $40 application fee.

Costs & Financial Aid

Costs

The cost of an excellent education is high, at Wellesley and at comparable institutions. To assist all students and their families in meeting this cost, Wellesley offers a variety of payment plans and financing options. In addition, through financial aid, the College is able to open its educational opportunities to all students regardless of their financial circumstances. The amount and kind of financial assistance is determined solely by financial need.

Fees & Expenses

At Wellesley the Comprehensive Fee represents approximately 60% of the educational cost to the College for each student. The rest is provided from gifts and income earned on endowment funds.

The Comprehensive Fee for 1990-91 resident students is $20,455. There is an additional fee of $320 for students who purchase Student Health Insurance. The breakdown is as follows:

	Resident Plans		Non-Resident
	20 Meals*	14 Meals
Tuition	$14,840	$14,840	$14,840
Room	2,565	2,565	N/A
Board	2,745	2,595	N/A
Student activity fee	105	105	105
Facilities fee	200	200	200
Comprehensive fee	$20,455	$20,305	$15,145
Student Health Insurance	320	320	320

*First-year resident students must take the 20 Meal Plan.

Returning students who live in cooperative housing pay a $100 kitchen usage fee instead of board.

Student Activity Fee

The student activity fee is administered by the Student College Government. It provides resources from which student organizations can plan and implement programs of extracurricular activities.

Facilities Fee

The facilities fee is a usage charge for the computer facility and the sports center.

Student Health and Insurance Program

Brochures about Wellesley's College Health Service and about the Student Insurance Program are sent to the parents or guardians of each traditional student and to each Continuing Education student in July. Because a portion of the Comprehensive Fee supports Wellesley College Health Service, all full-time students are eligible for office visits at the Health Service at no additional cost.

Students taking fewer than three courses per semester are eligible for office visits at College Health Service if they purchase Student Health Insurance, or on a fee-for-service basis.

Degree candidates and nondegree students taking two courses are enrolled each semester for Student Health Insurance, unless the Bursar receives a waiver card verifying the student's coverage under an equivalent policy. Those enrolled for Student Health Insurance will not be charged for certain services at the Wellesley College Health Service (including laboratory tests, immunizations, and other services and supplies); or inpatient services (hospital admission) and will be covered for specified medical treatment while away from Wellesley. Nonroutine care is available on a fee-for-service basis at Health Service to students not covered by Wellesley insurance.

An optional Master Medical program providing supplementary coverage is also recommended. Wellesley does not assume financial responsibility for injuries incurred in instructional, intercollegiate, intramural, or recreational programs. The College carries an NCAA policy to provide limited supplemental coverage for students injured while participating in intercollegiate athletics under the auspices of the Department of Physical Education and Athletics.

Special Fees and Expenses

These include, but are not limited to, the following: A fee for each course taken for credit in excess of five in any semester: $1,855; certain special course fees, e.g., the cost of instrumental and vocal lessons (see p. 167); the cost of materials for some art courses.

Because parking at the College is limited, resident first-year students are not permitted to have cars. The parking fee for resident sophomores, juniors, and seniors is currently: $65 for each semester or $115 for the year; and for nonresidents: $45 for the semester or $80 for the year.

All fees, with the exception of tuition, room and board, are subject to change without notice.

Personal Expenses

In addition to the fees above, a student should count on approximately $1,100 for books, supplies, and personal expenses. Some students spend more and a few spend less.

General Deposit

A General Deposit of $100, paid by each entering student, is not part of the College fee. The deposit is refunded after graduation or withdrawal and after deducting any unpaid charges or fees.

Class Reservation Payment

A payment of $250 reserves a place in the College for the first-year student. It is due on February 1 for Early Decision students, and on May 1 for other entering first-year students. Returning students who have not made room retainer payments submit a $200 payment annually. The payment is credited toward the following semester's Comprehensive Fee.

Room Retainer Payment

Returning students must pay $500 by March 15 if they want to reserve a room. This $500 payment is applied against charges for the following semester. A student who does not live on campus during the fall and who wishes to have a room for the spring must pay $500 to the Bursar by November 15. Entering transfer and exchange students pay as stated in their acceptance letters.

Refund Policy

Refunds will be made for withdrawal or leave of absence prior to the midpoint of the semester. Charges will be prorated on a weekly basis; $200 will be withheld to cover administrative costs. No refunds will be made for withdrawal or leave of absence after midsemester. The date of withdrawal shall be the date on which the student notifies her Class Dean of withdrawal in writing, or if the Dean is not notified, the date on which the College determines that the student has withdrawn. Refunds will be prorated among the sources of original payment. Grants and educational loans are refunded to the grantor or lender.

Continuing Education Fees and Refunds

Tuition for a nonresident Continuing Education student is $1,855 per semester course. Students taking four or five courses a semester pay $7,420 per semester. A $14 per course student activity fee with a maximum of $52.50 per semester, and a $25 per course facilities fee with a maximum of $100 per semester will also be charged.

A nonresident Continuing Education student who finds it necessary to withdraw from a course is entitled to refunds as follows: a full refund for withdrawal from courses during the first two weeks of classes. Thereafter, charges will be prorated on a weekly basis until midsemester. An additional $200 administrative fee will be charged upon withdrawal or leave of absence; if a student returns to Wellesley from leave, the $200 will be credited toward charges for the following term. No refunds will be made for withdrawal after midsemester. The date of withdrawal shall be the date on which the student notifies the Office of Continuing Education of withdrawal in writing or, if the Office of Continuing Education is not notified, the date on which the College determines that the student has withdrawn. Refunds will be prorated among the sources of original payment. Grants and education loans are refunded to the grantor or lender.

Fees and refunds for resident Continuing Education students are identical to the fees and refunds for all other students. Continuing Education Students are also responsible for paying the General Deposit and Class Reservation or Room Retainer payments described above.

High School Student Fees and Refunds

High school students taking courses at Wellesley pay $1,855 per semester course; for refunds, charges are prorated weekly until midsemester.

Payment Plans

Wellesley offers three payment plans to meet varied needs for budgeting education expenses: the traditional Semester Plan, a Ten-Month Plan, and a four-year Prepaid Tuition Stabilization Plan. See also, Summary of Payment and Financing Plans, pp. 40–41.

All fees must be paid in accordance with one of these approved payment plans before the student can register or receive credit for courses or obtain course transcripts. All financial obligations to the College must be met before a diploma can be awarded. Fees of up to $75 per month are assessed for late payment and interest at a rate of up to 1.5% per month (19.6% APR) may be charged on overdue accounts.

It is the student's responsibility to make sure that loans, grants, and other payments are sent to the College by the due dates.

Detailed descriptions of plans are sent to parents or guardians of traditional students, to Continuing Education students, and to others on request.

Semester Plan

The Comprehensive Fee for each semester (after subtracting scholarships and loans for that semester) is paid to the College by August 1 for the fall semester, and by January 1 for the spring semester. This plan is generally used by families who are paying college expenses from savings or who have access to loans at favorable terms.

Ten-Month Plan

The Comprehensive Fee for each semester (after subtracting scholarships and education loans for that semester), is budgeted over five payments. The payments are due on the 25th day of every month, May 25 to September 25 for the fall semester and October 25 to February 25 for the spring semester. A fee of up to $140 is charged each semester to cover administrative costs.

The Ten-Month Plan was established for families who pay from current family earnings. Families that can deposit money into a savings account or prepayment program, such as ITPP described below, will have funds available for August 1 and January 1 payment to Wellesley without additional administrative expense. The College cannot extend the payment period or reduce the payment amounts of the Ten-Month Plan.

Prepaid Tuition Stabilization Plan (PTSP)

This program provides a written contract guaranteeing that the cost of tuition will remain the same for each of four consecutive years at Wellesley College provided the student pays by June 30, 1990 an amount equal to four times the first year's tuition cost. Provisions are made for leaves of absence (up to two semesters), refunds, and withdrawals. This program only stabilizes the cost of tuition at Wellesley College; all other charges such as room and board will be billed at the rate for the applicable year, as will tuition for any exchange program or other college at which the student enrolls.

Payment for Students Receiving
Financial Aid
Scholarships or Loans

Grants and loans are generally applied equally against charges for each semester. The remaining balance must be paid in accordance with one of the approved plans. A student on financial aid who has difficulty meeting the payment schedule or whose loans or grants will not arrive by the third week of classes should consult the Financial Aid Office and her Student Account Representative.

Financing Options

To finance the Wellesley Payment Plans, several options including saving and loan programs are available whether or not students have been awarded financial aid, other scholarships, or loans. Detailed information can be obtained from the Offices of the Bursar and Financial Aid, and are included in brochures mailed each spring. A brief description follows:

Insured Tuition Payment Plan (ITPP)

The Insured Tuition Payment Plan, is not a loan; it is a monthly budgeting and savings program that pays interest to the participant while it accumulates money for each semester's payment. The one time $50 administrative fee also covers life and disability insurance for qualified participants to protect the student's education.

Shorter-Term Loans

These are designed for families who prefer to borrow a portion of the Comprehensive Fee and repay the loan over a two to ten year period.

Parents' Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS); Supplemental Loans for Students (SLS)

Under these federally guaranteed loan programs, parents or students borrow up to $4,000 per year from participating banks. The applicant must be a permanent U.S. resident.

Monthly repayment begins forty-five days after the loan is received by the applicant. However, repayment of the loan principal and, under certain conditions, interest may be deferred while the student is enrolled.

Wellesley
Parent Loan
Plan (PLP)

The Wellesley Parent Loan Plan is available to all parents and students. It allows parents to pay in fixed installments of $600 per month for every $10,000 borrowed; maximum loan per year is $10,000.

Longer-Term Loans

Students and their families or other co-applicants who meet lender credit standards may use these loans to finance yearly costs or the PTSP. The loans carry reasonable interest rates and a repayment period of 15-20 years so that monthly payment is about $120 for every $10,000 borrowed, starting the month after the loan is disbursed. Home Equity Options are also available.

Family Education
Loan (FEL)

The College has reserved funds of the Massachusetts Educational Financing (MEFA, formerly MELA) to provide fixed interest-rate loans for middle-income families.

SHARE Loan

COFHE (a consortium of colleges), Nellie Mae and the Education Resources Institute sponsor this variable interest rate loan with flexible terms. Repayment begins 45 days after the loan is disbursed but principal repayment may be deferred.

Other Financing

The loan programs described above were selected by Wellesley College from a variety of available alternatives. In addition, many credit unions, banks, and other financial institutions offer trust, investment, and loan programs. Life insurance policies, pension and other union, employer or employee savings programs may provide loans with specific advantages. Some parents may apply for a loan with the understanding that the student will assume some responsibility for repayment. Many Wellesley students use skills and contacts developed at the College to earn a significant portion of their tuition through summer, winter break, and term-time employment. The staff in the offices of the Bursar and Financial Aid are available to discuss possible avenues of financing with students and their families.

Financial Aid

The Wellesley College financial aid program opens educational opportunities to able students of diverse backgrounds, regardless of their financial resources. No entering first-year student should be discouraged from applying to Wellesley because of the need for financial aid. At Wellesley, admission decisions are made without regard for financial need, and only after a student is admitted does the Financial Aid staff determine the amount of aid the student require. Approximately 70 percent of all Wellesley students receive aid from some source, 50 percent receive financial aid based on need from the College.

At Wellesley College financial aid is given solely because of demonstrated need. Amounts vary in size according to the resources of the individual and her family, and may equal or exceed the comprehensive College fee. Although aid is generally granted for one year at a time, the College expects to continue aid as needed throughout the student's four years, provided funds are available.

Determination of the amount of aid begins with the examination of family financial resources. Using a national system of need analysis, while meeting special needs, the Financial Aid staff establishes the amount the parents can reasonably be expected to contribute. The staff also looks at the amount that the student can contribute from her earnings, assets, and benefits. The total of the parents' and the student's contributions is then subtracted from the student's budget which is comprised of the College fees, a $1,100 book and personal allowance, and an allowance toward travel from her home area to Wellesley. The remainder, which equals the financial need of the student, is offered in aid while funds are sufficient.

By federal requirement, evaluations of all students' academic records are made at the end of each semester by the Academic Review Board. Eligibility for financial aid may be terminated or reinstated at each evaluation period. Students must make satisfactory progress toward the degree and maintain a C average. Records are maintained by the Academic Review Board. If a student is permitted to return to the College, the Academic Review Board has judged that she is making adequate progress toward the degree. No credit is associated with course incompletion, course withdrawal, noncredit remedial courses or course repetition; therefore, these courses are not considered in progress toward the degree.

Ordinarily, a full-time undergraduate student completes the requirements for the B.A. degree in eight semesters. A student may submit an appeal to the Academic Review Board for additional time. The Academic Review Board will consider special circumstances and may grant up to ten semesters for a full-time student or up to 14 semesters for a part-time student. A student may request financial aid for semesters beyond the usual eight which have been approved by the Academic Review Board. Most financial aid packages are a combination of three types of aid: work, loans, and grants.

In reviewing resources from parents, the College considers information from both parents even if they are separated or divorced. Students entering Wellesley through the regular Board of Admission are expected to furnish parent information in their initial year and all remaining years. Students entering through the Continuing Education program who satisfy federal guidelines concerning financial independence are exempt from this requirement.

Work

Generally, the first portion of a student's financial aid is met through jobs on and off campus, usually as part of the federal work study programs. Students are expected to devote approximately ten hours a week to their jobs, earning $1,400 a year.

Over 80 percent of Wellesley College students work on or off campus. The Office of Financial Aid is the center for student employment, a service open to all students, whether they are receiving aid or not. Financial aid students receive priority for on-campus jobs such as office work in academic and administrative departments. Off campus, students have worked in offices, stores, and restaurants.

Loans

The next portion of a student's financial aid, $2,625 for first-year students and $3,600 for upperclass students, is met through low-interest loans. There are several kinds of loans available with different interest rates. The suggested loan amount and loan program are specified in the aid offer.

Repayment of Loans from the College

A student who has received a loan from the College has the obligation to repay the loan after withdrawal or graduation. Before she leaves the College she should make arrangements for an exit interview with the Bursar. At that time she will be notified of her rights and responsibilities regarding the loan and will be given a repayment schedule.

Transfer students in order to be eligible for financial aid from Wellesley cannot be in default on prior education loans. Wellesley will not offer any federal, state, or institutional aid to students in default on prior educational loans.

Grants

The remaining portion of the student need is awarded in grants by the College from its own resources, or from the federal government through the Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grants and Pell Grant Programs, or from outside agencies.

Students who are eligible for other federal or state grants are required to apply; if the student does not apply, the College will not replace the amount she would have received. In addition, whenever possible, students should seek grants from local programs, from educational foundations, and from other private sources.

Town Tuition Grants	Wellesley College offers ten Town Tuition Grants to residents of the Town of Wellesley who qualify for admission and who meet the town's residency requirements. These students may live at home or on campus. Those who choose to live on campus may apply to the College for additional financial aid, and their applications will be reviewed in relation to the same financial aid considerations presently applicable to all Wellesley students.
ROTC Scholarships	ROTC admission criteria conflict with the nondiscrimination policy of Wellesley College (see inside back cover). However, students may enroll in ROTC programs offered at MIT through the College's cross-registration program. Wellesley students may apply for scholarship aid from all services. Interested students should contact the appropriate service office at Building 20E, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, MA 02139, or call: Air Force, (617) 253-3755; Army, (617) 253-4471, or Navy, (617) 253-2991.
Financial Aid for Transfer Students	Financial aid funds are available to assist a limited number of transfer students. If funds are available, those students with demonstrated need will be eligible to receive aid for the number of semesters determined by the Registrar as necessary for degree completion. If a transfer student does not receive a grant upon admission to the College, she will not qualify for a grant while she is at the College. It is possible, however, that she may receive work-study or loans. Please refer to repayment of loans from the College.
Financial Aid for Foreign Students	A limited amount of financial aid is available for foreign students. If a foreign student enters without aid, she will not be eligible for it in future years.
Financial Aid for Continuing Education Students	Financial Aid is available for Continuing Education students who are degree candidates while funds are available. A financial aid advisor is available to assist CE students in planning their budgets and in their efforts to obtain funds from outside sources. Continuing Education students receive loan and work, as do regular students, as the first components of the aid package. Please refer to repayment of loans from the College.
Wellesley Students' Aid Society	The Wellesley Students' Aid Society, Inc. is an organization of Wellesley College alumnae. In addition to providing funds for grants and long-term tuition loans, the organization also provides short-term emergency loans and other services to students.
Assistance for Families Not Eligible for Aid	Wellesley has special concern for middle- and upper-income families who find it difficult to finance their daughters' education through current income. The services of the Office of Financial Aid are designed to assist all families, regardless of the need for aid.

For those families not eligible for aid, the College will assist in several ways. Wellesley will help any student find a job, on or off campus. The College will furnish information and advice on obtaining student and parent loans. Three payment programs are offered by the College: a Semester Plan, a Ten-Month Plan, and a Prepaid Tuition Stabilization Plan. And a number of financing options are available: The Insured Tuition Payment Plan, Parent Loans to Undergraduate Students, Supplemental Loan for students, the Wellesley Parent Loan Plan, the Family Education Loan Program, and SHARE, a supplemental education loan for families. These programs are described under Costs and Payment Plans.

For Further Information

Detailed information on all the material summarized here is described in Wellesley's financial aid and financing options brochure. This brochure is sent to every student who requests this information. In addition, each spring information is available on the payment and loan programs.

Applying for Financial Aid

Each registered applicant for admission who is applying for financial aid must file four forms: the Wellesley College Application for Financial Aid, the Financial Aid Form of the College Scholarship Service, and signed copies of all pages and schedules of both the parents' and the student's most recent federal income tax returns. Additional documents are required if parents are separated/divorced or self-employed.

Application Form

The Wellesley College Application for Financial Aid should be returned to the Director of Financial Aid, Box FA, Wellesley College, by November 1 for Early Decision applicants; February 1 for Regular Decision applicants and fall semester Transfer applicants; and November 15 for spring semester Transfer applicants.

Financial Aid Form

This form is available in the secondary schools, or may be obtained by writing to the College Scholarship Service, CN6300, Princeton, New Jersey 08540; or Box 380, Berkeley, California 94701. The Financial Aid Form should be filed with the College Scholarship Service which will then mail a copy for confidential use to the college or colleges indicated on the form.

The Financial Aid Form must be filed by February 1 for Regular Decision applicants and fall semester Transfer applicants; and by November 15 for spring semester Transfer applicants. Early Decision applicants must file the Early Version Financial Aid Form which is mailed to them after their Wellesley financial aid application is received; the Early Version Financial Aid Form must be filed by November 15. Early Decision applicants should also file the 1989-90 Financial Aid Form of the College Scholarship Service by February 1.

Graduate Fellowships

A number of fellowships for graduate study are open to graduating seniors and graduates of Wellesley College, while two administered by Wellesley are open to women graduates of any undergraduate American institution. Awards are usually made to applicants who plan full-time graduate study for the coming year.

Anne Louise Barrett Fellowship preferably in music, and primarily for study or research in musical theory, composition, or in the history of music; abroad or in the United States. Stipend: Up to $3,000

Margaret Freeman Bowers Fellowship for a first year of study in the fields of social work, law, or public policy/public administration. Also eligible are MBA candidates with plans for a career in the field of social services. Preference will be given to candidates demonstrating financial need. Stipend: Up to $1,000

Professor Elizabeth F. Fisher Fellowship for research or further study in geology or geography, including urban, environmental or ecological studies. Preference given to geology and geography. Stipend: Up to $1,000

Ruth Ingersoll Goldmark Fellowship for study in English Literature or English Composition or in the Classics. Stipend: Up to $1,000

Horton-Hallowell Fellowship for study in any field, preferably in the last two years of candidacy for the Ph.D. degree, or its equivalent, or for private research of equivalent standard. Stipend: Up to $4,000

Peggy Howard Fellowship in Economics to provide financial aid for Wellesley students or alumnae continuing their study of economics. Administered by the economics faculty who may name one or two recipients depending on the income available.

Edna V. Moffett Fellowship for a young alumna, preferably for a first year of graduate study in history. Stipend: Up to $2,500

Alice Freeman Palmer Fellowship for study or research abroad or in the United States. The holder must be no more than 26 years of age at time of her appointment, and unmarried throughout the whole of her tenure. Non-Wellesley candidates should file through their institutions. Wellesley will accept no more than four applications from an institution. Stipend: Up to $4,000

Vida Dutton Scudder Fellowship for study in the field of social science, political science, or literature. Stipend: Up to $2,000

Harriet A. Shaw Fellowship for study or research in music and allied arts, abroad or in the United States. Preference given to music candidates; undergraduate work in history of art required of other candidates. Stipend: Up to $3,000

Mary Elvira Stevens Traveling Fellowship for a full year of travel or study outside the United States. Any scholarly, artistic, or cultural purpose may be considered. Candidates must be at least 25 years of age in the year of application. Applications may be obtained from the Secretary to the Stevens Fellowship Committee, Office of Financial Aid, and must be filed before December 3, 1990. Stipend: $16,000

Sarah Perry Wood Medical Fellowship for the study of medicine. Nonrenewable. Stipend: Up to $6,000

Fanny Bullock Workman Fellowship for graduate study in any field. Stipend: Up to $3,000

Trustee Scholarships are awarded on a competitive basis to graduating seniors who intend to pursue graduate studies. These scholarships are unrestricted as to field of study. The title Trustee Scholar is honorary and in cases of financial need stipends may be awarded to the scholars or, if not needed by them, to alternates who need financial assistance. All applications and credentials are due by December 3, 1990. Recipients share the total annual stipend.

Some graduate fellowships for study at the institution of the candidate's choice are administered by Wellesley College and are not limited to Wellesley students.

Mary McEwen Schimke Scholarship a supplemental award for the purpose of affording relief from household and child care while pursuing graduate study. The award is made on the basis of scholarly expectation and identified need. The candidate must be over 30 years of age, currently engaged in graduate study in literature and/or history. Preference given to American Studies. Stipend: Up to $1,000

M.A. Cartland Shackford Medical Fellowship for the study of medicine with a view to general practice, not psychiatry. Stipend: Up to $3,500

Applications with the exception of the Peggy Howard Fellowship may be obtained from the Secretary to the Committee on Graduate Fellowships, Office of Financial Aid, Box GR, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA 02181. Applications and supporting materials must be postmarked no later than December 3, 1990.

Application forms for the Peggy Howard Fellowship may be obtained from the Economics Department, Wellesley College, Wellesley, MA 02181. Applications and supporting materials should be returned to the same address by April 1, 1991.

The Academic Program

The Academic Program

The process of learning begins with the mind and motivation of the student herself. The most tempting array of courses and the most carefully planned requirements alone will not guarantee the growth of an educated mind. The academic experience is designed for the student who seeks a broad acquaintance with the many and diverse fields of human inquiry as well as the opportunity to explore her personal intellectual interests in depth. It provides for the acquisition of knowledge and of the skills appropriate to the liberal arts but above all it is responsive to the student who genuinely wishes to acquire the habit of learning. It seeks to stimulate the mind, refine the eye, and enlarge the capacity for free, independent and discriminating choice.

The Curriculum

The curriculum at Wellesley is structured to provide strong guidance and to allow, at the same time, great personal choice. Central to the curriculum is the concept of diversity, the concept that the student should pursue a number of disciplines during her four years at the College. Accordingly, by the time the Bachelor of Arts degree is earned, she should be acquainted with the main fields of human interest, capable of integrating knowledge from various fields, and prepared for continuous scholarly and personal growth. In her major field, the student is expected to demonstrate maturity of thought, acquaintance with recognized authorities in the field, and general competence in dealing with sources of research or analysis.

Academic Advising

At Wellesley academic advising for the first-year and sophomore student is provided by the Class Deans. The Class Dean is a central source of information about degree requirements, academic legislation, and resources available at the College to help students achieve their academic goals. She advises students about course selections and sequences, and she is available throughout a student's years at Wellesley for consultation about matters of more general intellectual and personal concern.

Students are also encouraged to consult faculty members early in their time at Wellesley for academic advice. First-year students are assigned to a pre-major faculty advisor.

The advising of juniors and seniors is shared by the faculty and the Class Deans. This arrangement provides for systematic and equitable supervision of each student's progress toward the B.A. degree. In addition, it has the double benefit of specialized advice from faculty in the major field, and detailed examination of the student's overall program.

Academic Assistance

In addition to the regular office hours all instructors hold for students needing extra help, peer tutoring is available in the Study Center located in the Margaret Clapp Library. Peer tutors, called A+ Advisors, are trained in study skills and time management in addition to being well-prepared to tutor in specific subjects. An A+ advisor lives in each residence hall. She conducts workshops on study skills, test taking, etc. through the semester and serves as a resource person on matters of academic policy.

A noncredit reading course and reading workshops are offered several times during the semester.

Requirements for Degree of Bachelor of Arts

Each student is responsible for meeting all degree requirements and for ensuring that the Registrar's Office has received all credentials. Each candidate for the degree of Bachelor of Arts is required to complete 32 units of academic work at a C average or better. Each semester course, with the exception of intensive language courses in Chinese, German and Japanese, is assigned one unit of credit. A unit of credit is equivalent to four semester-hours or six quarter-hours. The normal period of time in which to earn the degree is four years and a normal program of study includes from three to five courses a semester. The average course load is four courses per semester. First-year students are encouraged to carry a maximum of four courses each semester, but upperclass students may take five.

Courses are classified in Grades I, II, and III. Introductory courses are numbered 100-199 (Grade I); intermediate courses, 200-299 (Grade II); advanced courses, 300-399 (Grade III). Each student must include in her program at least four units of Grade III work, at least two of which shall be in the major. The program in the senior year may not include more units of Grade I than of Grade III work, and at least two must be Grade III. Directions for election of the major vary with the department. Please see departmental listings for specific major requirements.

Distribution Requirements

In order to provide students with as much flexibility as possible, Wellesley requires no specific courses except Writing 125. To ensure, however, that students gain insight and awareness in areas outside their own major fields, the College does require that they elect three semester courses in each of three academic areas as part of the 32 units required for graduation. (Courses numbered 350—Research or Individual Study—do not satisfy this requirement.) Students who entered in the fall of 1988 and thereafter must take two of the three courses in each academic area at Wellesley. Transfer and Continuing Education students who enter with eight units prior to Wellesley must take at least one of the three courses in each group at Wellesley, and students entering with 16 prior units may take the distribution requirements at Wellesley or elsewhere. The three groups of academic disciplines are:

GROUP A Literature, Foreign Languages, Art, and Music

Three units chosen from courses in Art, Chinese, English, French, German, Greek and Latin, Hebrew, Italian, Japanese, Music, Russian, Spanish, Theatre Studies; or from certain courses offered by the Department of Black Studies and from those extradepartmental literature courses which are designated as fulfilling the requirement in Group A.

GROUP B Social Science, Religion, Philosophy, and Education	Group B¹ One or two units chosen from courses in the Departments of History, Philosophy, Religion, and courses offered by the Departments of Black Studies, Education and the Women's Studies Program in these fields.
	Group B² One or two units chosen from courses in the Departments of Anthropology, Economics, Political Science, Psychology, Sociology, and courses offered by the Departments of Black Studies, Education and the Women's Studies Program in these fields.
GROUP C Science and Mathematics	Three units, at least one of which shall be a course with laboratory, chosen from courses offered in the Departments of Astronomy, Biological Sciences, Chemistry, Computer Science, Geology, Mathematics, Physics, and certain courses in Technology Studies designated as fulfilling the Group C requirement. Courses which include "with Laboratory" in the title fulfill the Group C laboratory requirement.
Foreign Language Requirement	Before the beginning of the senior year, students must exhibit a degree of proficiency in the use of one foreign language, either ancient or modern. Many students fulfill this requirement by passing one of the language tests offered by the College Board. Wellesley requires a score of 610 or better on the College Board Achievement Test, or a score of at least 3 on the Advanced Placement Examination (AP). This requirement can also be met by the completion of two units of language study at the second year college level or one unit of language study above the second year college level.

Second Year College Level Courses

Chinese:	201 (1-2), 202 (1-2)
French:	131-132 (1-2) or 141-142 (1-2)
German:	101-103 (1-2), or 102-103 (1-2) or 104-105 (1-2)
Greek:	201 (1) – 205 (2) or Religion 298 (2)
Hebrew:	(see Religion Department), 299 (1-2)
Italian:	202 (1), 203 (2), 205 (2)
Japanese:	207 (1-2)
Latin:	200 (1) – 201 (2)
Russian:	200 (1-2), 215 (1)
Spanish:	102 (1-2)

Students may take introductory courses in only two modern foreign languages. Fulfillment of the foreign language requirement through work done at another institution must be approved by the appropriate department. A student whose native language is not English will be exempted from this requirement, subject to approval of the Class Dean and the Academic Review Board.

Writing Requirement	Each entering student is required to complete one semester of expository writing in her first year. Courses (numbered 125) are offered in the Writing Program. Transfer and Continuing Education students who have not fulfilled a similar requirement must also complete one semester of expository writing, either a Writing 125 course or English 200. Students are expected to use acceptable standards of spoken and written English in their college work.
Multicultural Requirement	Beginning in the fall of 1990, all students entering Wellesley must complete a course primarily concerned with: (1) the peoples, cultures and societies of Africa, Asia, Middle East, Oceania, or Latin America and the Caribbean; or (2) the peoples, cultures and societies of North America that trace their historical origins to these areas; or (3) Native American peoples, cultures and societies. The course selected must treat the chosen culture, people, or society in either a comprehensive or a comparative way. The course also must, in its treatment of the chosen culture, people, or society, expose the student to its world view or values; explore its contemporary or historical experiences; or compare it with some aspect of another culture, people, or society. In all three cases, one of the principal goals of the course must be to allow the student to see the people, culture or society through its own eyes.
	The multicultural requirement may be satisfied with a course that also satisfies a distribution requirement. A list of appropriate courses appears on p. 223. Students who propose to satisfy the requirement with a course not designated as a multicultural course are invited to petition the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction.
Other Requirements	In order to ensure a broad exposure to the liberal arts curriculum and to avoid premature specialization, of the 32 units required for graduation, students must elect 18 units outside any one department. Of the last four semesters completed for the degree, a normal course load must be taken at Wellesley in two consecutive semesters.
	In addition, all students must complete the physical education requirement described on p. 175 for which no academic credit is given.
Preparation for Engineering	Students interested in mathematics, physics, chemistry, or biology can apply these interests in a very practical way through engineering, an expanding field for women.
	Engineering can be pursued at Wellesley through cross-registration with MIT. Wellesley students can prepare for graduate study in engineering by combining courses in engineering at MIT with their Wellesley science major. Students interested in an undergraduate engineering degree might try to qualify for the Double Degree Program. See p. 60-61.
	Students interested in engineering should take mathematics and physics at Wellesley in their first year in preparation for MIT courses. Information concerning possible fields, prerequisites and contact persons at MIT is available through the Office of the Class Deans.

Preparation for Law School

The prelaw student should develop three basic competencies: skill in analysis and reasoning, effective writing and speaking, and breadth of understanding of the diverse factors that make up the community in which the legal system functions. These competencies can be developed in any field in which the student chooses to major, whether in the social sciences, the humanities, or in the natural sciences. Law schools do not specify particular major fields or particular courses of study for admission.

Preparation for Medical School

Medical, dental and veterinarian schools require special undergraduate preparation. Students should consult as early as possible with the Health Professions Advisory Committee to plan their academic preparation to meet their individual needs and interests. Appointments can be made with the Health Professions secretary in the Science Center.

In general, most health profession schools require two units of English and two units each of the following science courses (with lab): Introductory Biology, Introductory Chemistry, Organic Chemistry, and Physics. Many schools also require mathematics, in some cases two units of calculus, and additional science courses. Veterinary schools frequently require courses such as speech, technical writing, animal nutrition, genetics, biochemistry, etc. Requirements vary and catalogues of individual schools should be consulted.

All science requirements should be completed before taking the Medical College Admission Test (MCAT) or the Dental Admission Test (DAT) which are taken approximately 16 months before entering medical or dental school. In order to receive the full support of the Health Professions Advisory Committee, undergraduate students should plan to complete at least six of the science and math course requirements at Wellesley and/or its exchange colleges.

The Major

Students may choose from among 29 departmental majors, 16 inter-departmental majors—American Studies, Architecture, Biological Chemistry, Chinese Studies, Classical Civilization, Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology, Cognitive Science, French Studies, German Studies, Italian Culture, Japanese Studies, Jewish Studies, Language Studies, Medieval/Renaissance Studies, Psychobiology, and Women's Studies—or they may design an individual major. Of the 32 units required for graduation, at least eight are to be elected in the major.

Students who are interested in an individual major submit a plan of study to two faculty members from different departments. The plan should include four units in one department above the introductory level. The program for the individual major is subject to the approval of the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. Some students wish to center their studies upon an area, a period, or a subject which crosses conventional departmental lines. Examples of possible area studies include Latin American Studies and Russian Studies; of periods, the Middle Ages or the Renaissance; of subjects, Comparative Literature or International Relations. A model for the way an individual major might be constructed is provided in the listing of majors under Theatre Studies.

In the second semester of the sophomore year each student elects a major field and prepares for the Registrar a statement of the courses to be included in the major. Later revisions may be made with the approval of the chair of the major department; the director of the interdepartmental major; or in the case of the individual major, with the consent of the student's advisors and the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. Any revisions must be presented to the Registrar not later than the second semester of the junior year. Directions for election of the major vary. See departmental listings for specific requirements for the major.

The Minor

Some departments at Wellesley offer a minor. Normally, a minor consists of at least five courses, with one of them at the Grade III level. Interested students should consult the chair of the department. A minor form must be filed in the Office of the Registrar.

Academic Policies & Procedures

The academic policies and procedures of the College have been subject to continuous change and examination throughout the College history, responding to changes in student life styles and innovations in the curriculum. The policies and procedures that govern most routine aspects of academic life are described below.

Academic Standards

Academic standards at Wellesley are high, and students take full responsibility for attending classes, submitting required work on time, and appearing for examinations. If students have difficulties with course work, become ill, or have other problems which interfere with their academic work, they should consult with their Class Deans for assistance in making special arrangements for their studies. Tutoring and programs in study skills are offered through the Academic Assistance Program.

Students are expected to maintain at least a C average throughout their college career. At the end of each semester the records of those students who are not in good academic standing are examined by the Academic Review Board. The Board will recommend sources of help and may impose conditions for continuing at the College. The College tries to provide the appropriate support services to students in difficulty. Students who show consistent effort are rarely asked to leave the College.

Academic Review Board

The Academic Review Board is the principal body for review of academic legislation and for overseeing each student's academic progress. Chaired by the Dean of Students, the Board is composed of the Class Deans, the Dean of Continuing Education, and seven elected faculty and student representatives. The student members of the Academic Review Board do not participate in discussions of individual students' standing, but they do contribute to discussions of academic policy and of student requests for exceptions to regulations. The Board researches and recommends changes in academic policy and is also responsible for proposing an annual academic calendar. Dates of Academic Review Board meetings are posted in the Registrar's Office. A student who wishes to submit a petition to the Academic Review Board should do so in consultation with her Class Dean. She should deliver her petition, in writing, at least one week before the petition is to be considered by the Board.

Credit for Advanced Placement Examinations

Students entering under the Advanced Placement Program of the College Entrance Examination Board, and who make the scores specified by Wellesley College, will receive credit toward the B.A. degree, provided they do not register in college for courses which cover substantially the same material as those for which they have received Advanced Placement credit. One unit of credit will be given for each AP examination to students who have received a grade of 4 or 5 with the following exceptions: one unit of credit will be given for a score of 3 and two units for a score of 4 or 5 on the Mathematics BC examination. Not more than two units may be offered for credit in any one department. Note: the taking of a course deemed equivalent to one for which credit has been granted will nullify the credit previously awarded.

Credit for Other Academic Work

Of the 32 units required for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, a student may earn a maximum of 16 units through a combination of the following: AP examinations (no more than eight); courses taken at another institution during the summer (no more than four); courses at another institution not taken during the summer (no more than eight). All students, including transfer students and Continuing Education students who entered in January 1988 and thereafter, must complete 16 units at Wellesley.

Credit may be given for a liberal arts course taken at an accredited institution for which prior approval has been obtained from the Registrar and the department chair. Credit will be given only for a course in which a grade of C or better is earned. Students should not take a course on a credit/noncredit or pass/fail basis. Students must request that an official transcript be sent to Wellesley College Registrar's Office. Transcripts should be received by October 1 for summer and previous year course work and by March 1 for fall semester work.

First-year students must fulfill the writing requirement by completing Writing 125 at Wellesley.

Exemption from Required Studies

Students may be exempted from any of the studies required for the degree, except Writing 125, provided they can demonstrate to the department concerned a reasonable competence in the elements of the course. Exemption from any of the studies required does not affect the general requirement for completion of 32 units of credit. It does, however, make it possible for some students to select more advanced courses earlier in their college careers.

Such exemption may be achieved in one of two ways: a score of 4 (Honors) or 5 (High Honors) on the CEEB AP tests, or passing a special exemption examination. Permission for the exemption examination must be obtained from the chair of the department concerned. In addition to the evidence offered by the examination, some departments may require the student to present a paper or an acceptable laboratory notebook.

Research or Individual Study

Each academic department provides the opportunity for qualified students to undertake a program of individual study directed by a member of the faculty. Under this program, an eligible student may undertake a research project or a program of reading in a particular field. The results of this work normally are presented in a final report or in a series of short essays. The conditions for such work are described under the course numbered 350 in each department. Wellesley offers further opportunities for research and individual study. (See Departmental Honors.)

Credit for Summer School

The amount of summer school credit allowed toward the degree is limited to four units, and is not automatic. Students should consult their Class Deans before enrolling in summer school courses. In addition, students must get approval for summer school courses by May 1 first from the Registrar for the amount of credit, and then from the department chair for course content. Approval forms are available in the Registrar's Office. (A summer school course must be equivalent to four semester-hours or six quarter-hours in order to earn one full unit of Wellesley credit.)

Grading System

Students have the option of electing courses on a letter or nonletter grading system. At the beginning of the eighth week of a semester, students notify the Registrar and their instructor whether they plan to take a course for a letter grade or on the credit/noncredit basis. Credit is given to students who have earned a grade of C or better in the work of the course, thereby indicating satisfactory familiarity with the content of the course. If credit is not earned, the title of the course does not appear on the student's permanent record except that it is included in the total number of units attempted.

Examinations

An examination period occurs at the end of each semester. Within this period, students may devise their own examination schedules for the majority of courses. Examinations are scheduled for some art, music, science, and foreign language courses which require audiovisual equipment. Special examinations are offered in September for admission to advanced courses without the stated prerequisites, and for exemption from required studies.

Transcripts and Grade Reports	Official transcripts may be ordered in writing from the Office of the Registrar. The request for a transcript should include the name and address of the person to whom the transcript is to be sent, the name by which the person was known as a student at Wellesley, and the years of attendance at the College. There is a charge of $2 for each transcript, and this fee should accompany the request. Transcripts may not be issued if student has an outstanding bill. Grade reports are mailed to students at the end of each semester.
Registration for Courses	All returning students must register in April for the courses they select for the fall semester, and in November for the spring semester. Upon returning to college at the start of each semester, the student will be issued a schedule card of her classes. All changes to this schedule must be recorded in the Registrar's Office by the end of the first week of classes. A student will not receive credit for a course unless she has registered for it, and a student who has registered for a course will remain registered unless she takes formal action to drop it. Each student is responsible for maintaining the accuracy of her registration by informing the Registrar's Office, in writing, of any changes made to it. Any conflicts in scheduling must be reported to the Registrar's Office immediately. A student is not permitted to take a course if it conflicts with any other course on her schedule.
Adding or Dropping Courses	Add/Drop cards are available from the Registrar's Office during the first week of classes. A student may submit only one Add/Drop card, indicating on it any changes in her schedule. New courses must be added by the end of the first week of classes. A course may be dropped at any time through the last day of classes. Permission is required from the department chair or the major advisor if a student wishes to drop a course which affects the major. If a course is dropped, before the beginning of the eighth week of classes, it will not appear on a student's record. Students are advised to consult with their Class Dean when making any changes in their program.
Auditing Courses	A student who wishes to attend a class as a regular visitor must have the permission of the instructor. Auditors may not submit work to the instructor for criticism, and audited courses will not be considered for credit. An audited course does not appear on the transcript.
Acceleration	A few students complete all the requirements for the degree in less than the usual eight semesters. After two semesters at Wellesley, students who wish to accelerate should consult their Class Deans and then write a letter to the Academic Review Board, petitioning to fulfill the requirements in less than the normal period of time. The petition should include the month and year in which the degree requirements will be fulfilled, and all units which will be counted toward the degree. An accelerating student must maintain at least a C average at all times.

Leave of Absence

Recognizing that many students benefit educationally if they interrupt the normal sequence of four continuous years at Wellesley, the College has established a policy for temporary leaves of absence. Leaves may be taken for as short a period as one semester or as long as two years, and for a variety of reasons which may include study at another institution, work, travel, or other activities which meet personal needs. Application for leave of absence may be made to the Class Dean or Dean of Continuing Education after a student has completed at least one semester at Wellesley. First-year students who have completed only one semester may remain on leave for a maximum of three semesters. A student who goes on leave of absence cannot remain in residence on campus more than 48 hours after the effective date of leave.

To obtain permission to spend the year at another institution as nonmatriculated students or guests, students submit a detailed plan to the Class Dean or advisor and, if a major has been chosen, to that department. The plan should list the course of study for the year and justify its relationship to the four-year program. Application for a leave of absence is due by April 1 for the fall semester and by December 1 for the spring semester. No more than eight units of credit taken during an academic year at another institution while a student is on leave may be counted toward the Wellesley degree.

Voluntary Withdrawal

Students who plan to withdraw must inform the Class Dean and sign an official withdrawal form. The official date of the withdrawal is the date agreed upon by the student and the Class Dean and written on the withdrawal card which is signed by the Class Dean. The withdrawal date is important in order to compute costs and refunds. (See Refund Policy p. 36.) Students who have officially withdrawn from the College cannot remain in residence on campus more than 48 hours after the effective date of withdrawal.

Required Withdrawal

The College reserves the right to require the withdrawal of any student whose academic work falls below its standards, who violates its rules and regulations or the rights of others, or whose continuing presence constitutes a risk to the health, safety, or general well-being of the College community or herself. In addition, the College may require the withdrawal of any student who fails to meet financial obligations to the College.

Readmission

A student who has withdrawn from the College and wishes to return should apply to the Office of the Class Deans for the appropriate forms. Readmission will be considered in the light of the reasons for withdrawal and reapplication, and in the case of resident students, available residence hall space. A nonrefundable fee of $15 must accompany the application form for readmission.

Special Academic Programs

The traditional four-year curriculum offered at Wellesley is expanded by many special academic programs. Some are administered by the College and some are programs run by other institutions in which Wellesley students may participate. Students may participate in some while in residence at the College; others involve living at other colleges or abroad for a semester or a year.

First-Year
Student Summer
Enrichment
Program

An academic program designed to facilitate the transition from secondary school to college is offered to approximately 30 members of the entering class who meet one or more program criteria. The month-long residential program includes noncredit courses in writing, quantitative methods, and study skills and also introduces students to dormitory life and the pleasures of the campus and its environs. The program is cost-free for participants.

First-Year
Student—
Sophomore
Colloquia

These courses are designed for first-year students and sophomores to undertake concentrated study of a significant, well-defined topic. They offer students the opportunity to work in small groups in association with individual faculty members. They are similar to advanced seminars in method and approach in that they stress discussion, independent work, and oral and written presentations.

Cross-Registration
Program with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology

A program of cross-registration for students at Wellesley and the Massachusetts Institute of Technology was officially inaugurated in 1968-69. The program allows students to elect courses at the other institution, and extends the diversity of educational experiences available in the curricula and in the environments of both.

A Wellesley student interested in electing courses at MIT should consult the Exchange Coordinator or her department advisor. Registration in MIT courses takes place each semester in both the Wellesley Registrar's Office and in the Exchange Office at MIT. Students electing to take courses at MIT must register at both institutions during an extended add-drop period of one week each semester. A student will not receive credit for an MIT course unless she has registered properly for it at both MIT and Wellesley. Students must follow the instruction sheet carefully to ensure that they register for courses that are equivalent in credit to Wellesley courses.

In 1990-91 two Wellesley courses, Art 248M (I) and Education 102 (2), will be offered at MIT.

Wellesley
Double Degree
Program

Wellesley offers a Double Degree Program which enables Wellesley students who are accepted to MIT as transfer students to earn a B.A. degree from Wellesley and a S.B. degree from MIT over the course of five years. Students fulfill degree and major requirements at both institutions. Interested Wellesley students apply for transfer admission to MIT during the spring semester of their sophomore year.

They are encouraged to consider any of the 23 courses of study offered at MIT but advised that access to a given department could at times be limited for transfer students. Wellesley applicants are subject to the same admissions criteria and financial aid policies used by MIT for all other college transfer applicants.

Accepted students do not enroll at MIT until they have completed their junior year at Wellesley. During this "bridge year" students are assigned major advisors at both institutions so that they can plan a program which will advance their work toward both degrees. During the fourth and fifth years students enroll at MIT. Our existing Wellesley/MIT Exchange permits cross-registration throughout the five year period; this enables students to integrate their two courses of study more completely.

Cooperative Program with Brandeis University

Wellesley has established an experimental cooperative program with Brandeis University. Students can register in a limited number of departments at the other institution. Wellesley students will be able to take courses at Brandeis in the following areas: Anthropology, Biology, Chemistry, Classical and Oriental Studies, Economics, Philosophy, Political Science (Politics), Russian, Spanish, Women's Studies, Psychology and Linguistics, Near Eastern and Judaic Studies, Theatre Arts and Legal Studies. Students need special permission to register for courses in departments other than those listed here. Courses must be approved by the relevant Wellesley department.

The Twelve College Exchange Program

Wellesley belongs to a consortium which includes Amherst, Bowdoin, Connecticut College, Dartmouth, Mount Holyoke, Smith, Trinity, Vassar, Wesleyan, Wheaton, and Williams. Two one-semester programs associated with the Twelve College Exchange are the National Theater Institute in Waterford, Connecticut, and the Williams Mystic Seaport Program in American Maritime Studies. Students in good standing may apply through the Office of the Exchange Coordinator for a semester or full academic year in residence at any of the member institutions. The number of places is limited and admission is competitive. Preference is given to students planning to participate in their junior year.

Students must request that transcripts be sent to the Registrar's Office to receive credit for work done away from Wellesley. Transcripts should be received by October 1 for summer and previous year course work and by March 1 for fall semester work.

The Wellesley-Spelman Exchange Program

Wellesley maintains a student exchange program with Spelman College in Atlanta, Georgia, a distinguished Black liberal arts college for women. The program is open to students in their junior or senior year. Students apply through the Office of the Exchange Coordinator.

The Wellesley-Mills Exchange Program	Wellesley maintains an exchange program with Mills College, a small college in Oakland, California, which has a cross-registration program with the University of California at Berkeley. Students apply through the Office of the Exchange Coordinator.
Study Abroad	Students may apply for admission for their junior year to programs and universities overseas, not only in Europe but in almost all parts of the world. By studying at respected universities and programs in other countries, students gain new insights into the cultural wealth of other nations and a new perspective on their studies. Some scholarship money is available to students eligible for financial aid. The selection of recipients for awards is made early in the second semester of the sophomore year on the basis of academic qualifications and faculty recommendations. The amount of each individual award is determined according to need. Information about these awards may be obtained from the Office of Foreign Study.
	The Office of Foreign Study helps students with individual plans for study abroad, for example, applications for direct enrollment as visiting students in British universities. Undergraduates with strong background in their majors may apply to the Foreign Study Committee for places at both Cambridge University and at Oxford University.
	In addition to helping students with their individual plans to study in other countries, Wellesley College sponsors or participates in the following special programs overseas:
Wellesley in Aix-en-Provence	Wellesley College administers its own two-semester program in Aix-en-Provence, France which attracts students from a number of colleges.
Wellesley in Córdoba	Wellesley students may study for a semester or a year in Córdoba, Spain in a program co-sponsored by Wellesley College with five other institutions.
Wellesley in Konstanz	The Wellesley in Konstanz program provides an opportunity for Wellesley juniors to study for one year in West Germany.
Wellesley-Soviet Union Exchange	Students interested in studying in the Soviet Union may participate in Wellesley's exchange program with the USSR.
Wellesley in Tokyo	Wellesley students may attend Japan Women's University in Tokyo as part of the Wellesley exchange program with Japan.
	Students may also study on other programs in these countries. Students who are interested in spending the junior year abroad should consult their Class Dean and the Foreign Study Advisor, preferably during the first year, to ensure completion of Wellesley eligibility requirements. No more than eight units of credit may be earned at another institution during a one-year leave of absence.

Students must request that transcripts be sent to the Registrar's Office in order to receive credit for study done abroad. Transcripts should be received by October 1 for course work of the previous year and by March 1 for the fall semester.

Summer Study Abroad

Students planning summer study in foreign countries should consult the Office of Foreign Study. While Wellesley supports summer study, there are only a limited number of programs from which transfer credit will be accepted.

Wellesley awards Stecher Summer Scholarships for study of art. First consideration is given to applicants whose summer studies are related to honors projects approved for the senior year.

Waddell Summer Scholarships provide opportunities for students wishing to study or do volunteer work in Africa or the Caribbean.

Applications for the Waddell and Stecher Scholarships require the support of the student's major department and a statement from the Director of Financial Aid showing what funds are needed to supplement the student's financial resources.

The Mayling Soong Summer Scholarship for study, either within the U.S. or abroad, of an East Asian language is available for sophomores and juniors who qualify for financial aid. Applications are available through the Special Events Office.

In addition, there are several funds to support students doing short-term internships, volunteer work or work in the ministry. These funds, excluding transportation, may be used overseas.

Summer Internships

The College sponsors a Washington Summer Internship Program which provides a unique opportunity for students to learn about the national government through direct participation in political activity. Interested juniors may apply for 16 available summer internships, in governmental and nongovernmental offices. Interns hold full-time jobs for ten weeks and also participate in evening seminars with guest speakers on governmental or political problems. Job assignments are made according to the interest of the student and the potential for learning. Recent assignments have included positions in congressional offices, in the Department of Justice, with the International Trade Administration, in the Office of the President, National Institute of Health, Women's Equity Action League, Smithsonian Public Affairs Office, and with a major broadcasting system. Salaries are offered in some of these positions; the College provides stipends for students who hold nonsalaried positions.

In addition, the Wellesley Urban Politics Summer Internship Program offers juniors the opportunity to focus on some of the dilemmas of contemporary urban life. Students participating in this program spend ten weeks working for government agencies or private organizations in Los Angeles. Interns attend seminars and other meetings designed to stimulate analytical thinking about politics, government institutions, and public policy-making. Interns receive a stipend from the College.

Academic Distinctions

To give recognition for superior or advanced work, either upon graduation or during the student's career, the College confers a number of academic distinctions.

Departmental Honors

Students who have shown marked excellence and an unusual degree of independence in their work may participate in the Honors Program, based on their record in the major field. Current legislation requires a 3.5 average in all work above Grade I in the major field. Students with exceptional qualifications whose averages fall between 3.5 and 3.0 also may be recommended by their departments. Normally students apply to their departments in the spring of their junior year. Under this program, an eligible student may undertake independent research or special study which will be supervised by a member of the faculty. In several departments, options for general examinations, special honors seminars, and opportunities to assist faculty in teaching introductory and intermediate level courses are available to honors candidates. The successful completion of the work and of an oral honors examination leads to the award of Honors in the major field.

Other Academic Distinctions

The College names to First-Year Distinction those students who maintain high academic standing during the first year. Wellesley College Scholars and Durant Scholars are named at Commencement, based on academic records after the first year. Students with an honors average of 3.33 or higher graduate as Wellesley College Scholars cum laude; those with an average of 3.67 or higher are Durant Scholars magna cum laude; students with a 3.90 or higher average are Durant Scholars summa cum laude. For purposes of establishing honors, grade point averages are truncated to two decimal places.

Juniors and seniors are elected to membership in the Eta of Massachusetts chapter of Phi Beta Kappa on the basis of their total academic achievement in college. Seniors who are majoring in the sciences may be elected to associate membership in the Wellesley chapter of Sigma Xi.

On recommendation of the faculty, the trustees award the title of Trustee Scholar to four seniors who intend to pursue graduate studies. The awards are made on a competitive basis; the title is honorary. In cases of financial need, stipends are awarded to the Scholars or, if not required by them, to alternates who need financial assistance. Applications and supporting credentials should be sent to the Secretary to the Committee on Graduate Fellowships by December 1.

Certain prizes have been established at the College for the recognition of excellence in a particular field. The selection of the recipient is made by the appropriate academic department; each award carries a small stipend or gift and usually bears the name of the donor or the person honored.

Honors Awarded,
1990

In the Class of 1990, 124 students achieved the highest academic standing and were named Durant Scholars, 19 of those students were graduated summa cum laude, 105 were graduated magna cum laude; an additional 267 students won recognition as Wellesley College Scholars — cum laude for high academic achievement.

Courses of Instruction

A semester course which carries one unit of credit requires approximately eleven hours of work each week spent partly in class and partly in preparation. The amount of time scheduled for classes varies with the subject from two periods each week in many courses in the humanities and social sciences to three, four, or five scheduled periods in certain courses in foreign languages, in art and music, and in the sciences. Classes are scheduled from Monday morning through late Friday afternoon.

Prerequisites are given in terms of Wellesley courses, exemption examinations, AP scores, and "admission units." Admission units refer to the secondary school credits acquired in various precollege courses.

Directions for Election

For a general description see page 60. The colloquia have no prerequisites, although some are open only to first year students. Each course counts as one unit, and may be elected to satisfy in part one of the distribution requirements. Since class sizes are limited, students ordinarily may not enroll in more than one of these courses. They may, however, apply for more than one, indicating their preference. If a course is oversubscribed, the chair or instructor, in consultation with the class dean, will decide which applicants will be accepted. In 1990-91 a colloquium is offered by the Department of Black Studies.

American Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Rosemwald (English)

The American Studies major seeks to understand the American experience through a flexible yet integrated program of study.

Eight courses are required for a minimum major, including two Grade III level courses. To ensure sufficient concentration in a single American field, at least four courses above the Grade I level must be elected in one department; and at least one of these must be a Grade III course. Majors must also complete American Studies 315 or 316, the required integrative seminar; it is recommended that majors elect this course in their junior or senior year.

Within this structure students are encouraged to explore the diversity of American culture, and the many ways to interpret it. Most courses at the College that are primarily American in content may be applied to the American Studies major.

315 (1) Seminar. American Studies

Topic for 1990-91: Multilingual America. A discussion of the relations among America's diverse languages and dialects. Among the particular topics: the characterization and depiction of Native American languages, from the Puritan Roger Williams through James Fenimore Cooper to the visionary linguist Benjamin Whorf; the dispute between Henry James and Mark Twain over the literary representation of dialect; the impact of Yiddish on American English and of American English on Yiddish, as articulated in fictions and essays of James, Anzia Yezierska, and Cynthia Ozick; Black English; bilingualism, with special reference to the recent controversy in Lowell, Massachusetts.

Mr. Rosemwald, the Department of English

316 (2) Seminar. American Studies

Topic for 1990-91: America's Institutional Response to Need. North Americans have argued about who deserved social support for at least two hundred years. These debates concentrated on defining and categorizing the nature of need, who deserved aid and by what mechanisms such was to be delivered or denied. By examining four exemplary institutions for the dependent (public schools, reformatories, programs for the feeble-minded, and special education programs) we will enter the social welfare dialogue. Discussion of relevant social theories, original case records and documents and some critical secondary materials will be a major part of the seminar.

Ms. Brenzel, the Department of Education

The following is a list of courses available that may be included in an American Studies major. If a student has a question about whether a course not listed here can count toward the major, or if she would like permission to focus her concentration on a topic (e.g., law) studied in more than one department, she should consult the Director.

Anthropology

Professor: Kohl, Shimony, Merry (Chair)

Visiting Professor: Acosta

Associate Professor: Bamberger, Campisi

104 (1) (2) Introduction to Anthropology

This course introduces students to fundamental concepts in the analysis of human behavior and social life, beginning with a discussion of human evolution and the emergence of the family. Through a comparative study of tribal and peasant societies, variations in kinship, politics, economics, and religion are explored. Attention is also given to the cultural changes of these societies in the contemporary world. Open to all students.

Ms. Shimony

106 (1) Introduction to Archaeology

A survey of the development of archaeology. The methods and techniques of archaeology are presented through an analysis of excavations and prehistoric remains. Materials studied range from early hominid sites in Africa to the Bronze Age civilizations of the Old World and the Aztec and Inca empires of the New World. Field trips to neighboring archaeological sites will be planned. Open to all students.

Mr. Kohl

200 (1) Current Issues in Anthropology

An examination of current controversial issues in anthropology. Topics covered will include Sociobiology, Race and Intelligence, Anthropological Interpretations of Malthus, the Culture of Poverty, and Neo-Colonialism. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite, and to freshmen with previous anthropological experience, and by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

204 (2) Physical Anthropology

The origin of humans as a sequence of events in the evolution of the primates. This theme is approached broadly from the perspectives of anatomy, paleontology, genetics, primatology, and ecology. Explanation of the interrelationship between biological and sociobehavioral aspects of human evolution, such as the changing social role of sex. Review of the human fossil record and the different biological adaptations of the polytypic species Homo sapiens. Open to all students.

Mr. Kohl

205 (2) Social Anthropology

This course will cover some of the classic works in social anthropology by British-, French-, and American-trained twentieth century scholars. Students will be asked to reconsider the ethnographic enterprise (i.e., the relationship between field work and the anthropological text) in light of competing interpretations. Topics considered will include the social relations of exchange, family and community, the role of authority, witchcraft and ritual, and the uses of cultural symbols by village, tribe and nation. Prerequisite: 104 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

210 (2) Racism and Ethnic Conflict in the United States and the Third World

A comparative view of racial and ethnic conflict in Western and non-Western societies, focusing on underlying social processes and barriers to intercultural communication. Topics for discussion include the history of American immigration, racial conflict in American neighborhoods, school busing, separatist movements, refugee problems, and the competition for subsistence in multi-ethnic nations. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Sociology, Black Studies, Political Science, or Economics, or by permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Shimony

212 (1) The Anthropology of Law and Justice

Cross-cultural examination of modes of resolving conflict, processes of social control, and mechanisms for constructing laws in the U.S. and non-industrial societies. The course will focus on war, peace, and conflict. It will examine the nature of law, legal and non-legal dispute resolution, and the imposition of law in colonial and post-colonial situations. Topics include legal change and development, the role of the court in American communities, and court reform efforts such as the American dispute resolution movement. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Political Science or Sociology, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Merry

234 (2) Urban Poverty

An anthropological analysis of urban poverty in the U.S. and the Third World. Cultural and structural interpretations of poverty. The strategies of the poor for coping with poverty. Ameliorating poverty as a problem in applied anthropology. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Sociology, Political Science, Economics, or European History; open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered 1990-91.

Mrs. Shimony

236 (1) Witchcraft, Magic and Ritual: Theory and Practice

An exploration of anthropological approaches to the study of witchcraft, magic and ritual with emphasis on their social and cultural aspects in non-Western (Brazil, Africa and Mexico) and West European societies. Discussion of the role of the ritual practitioner (shaman, sorcerer, priest), the efficacy of words and the power of ritual objects, the organization of sacred time and sacred space, and the connections between ritual, myth and belief. A fieldwork component will be an option, permitting the student an opportunity to observe and analyze a ritual event. Prerequisite: 104, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Bamberger

242 (2) The Rise of Civilization

A comparative survey of the emergence of the Early Bronze Age civilizations in Mesopotamia, Egypt, the Indus valley, and Shang China, as well as pre-Columbian developments in Mesoamerica and Peru. The course will examine ecological settings, technologies, and social structures of the earliest complex urban societies. Open to all students. Not offered 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Kohl

244 (1) Societies and Cultures of the Middle East

Comparative study of political, economic, and other social institutions of several major cultures of the Middle East. Traditionalism vs. modernization. International conflict in anthropological perspective. Prerequisite: 104, or one unit in Political Science, Economics, Sociology, or History. Not offered 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Kohl

246 (2) Societies and Cultures of Central America and the Caribbean

A survey of the tribal, rural, and urban peoples of Central America and the Caribbean with attention to their histories and current social conditions. Topics include ecology and village economies, male/female roles, race and social class, religious groups and mass movements, and current regional conflicts. Attention also will be given to current political developments and human rights issues in Central America. Prerequisite: same as 244.

The Staff

247 (1) Societies and Cultures of the Soviet Union

A survey of the non-Russian, largely non-European peoples of the Soviet Union (particularly ethnic groups in Transcaucasia, Central Asia, and Siberia).

Nationality policies and issues in the Soviet Union will be introduced. Attention also will be given to the study of native groups and practices by Soviet ethnologists, as well as theoretical issues in Soviet anthropology. Prerequisite: same as 244.

Mr. Kohl

248 (2) African Cultures in Modern Perspective

A survey of the ethnological background and an analysis of cultural transformations of African institutions. Topics covered will include racial and ethnic conflict, stratification, leadership, militarization, economic modernization, and cult formation. Emphasis on West and South Africa. Prerequisite: same as 244. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Shimony

269 (2) The Anthropology of Gender Roles, Marriage and the Family

An examination of the variations in gender roles and family life in several non-Western societies. Comparisons of patterns of behavior and belief systems surrounding marriage, birth, sexuality, parenthood, male and female power, and masculine and feminine temperament in non-Western and Western societies. Emphasis on the ways kinship and family life organize society in non-Western cultures. Open to all students.

Ms. Merry

275 (1) Technology and Society in the Third World

Examination of the social and political implications of the transfer of technology from the industrial North to Third World societies. We will begin with an historical overview of the role of technology in the encounter between Europeans and agricultural and foraging peoples since the fifteenth century. The course will focus on the impact of the introduction of both simple and complex technologies in the contemporary world. Topics to be discussed include the use of small-scale technologies in development, the Green Revolution in agriculture, women and development, industrial technologies and major accidents such as occurred in Bhopal, India, and the emergence of a culture of technology and technological modes of thinking. Prerequisite: one unit in Technology Studies, Anthropology or Sociology, or two units in another social science or in the physical sciences. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Merry

301 (2) Anthropological Theory

Historical landmarks of anthropological thought. Examination of current evolutionary, functional, and symbolic theories of culture. Discussion of the relationship between personality and culture. Problems of method in anthropology. Prerequisite: 104 and one Grade II unit, or by permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Shimony

308 (2) Seminar for Materials Research in Archaeology and Ethnology

Seminar-laboratory subject offered at MIT by the Center for Materials Research in Archaeology and Ethnology. Role of materials and technologies in the development of ancient societies; major focus on scientific analysis of archaeological artifacts and ecofacts. Open by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Lechtman (MIT)

317 (1) Economic Anthropology

Analysis of economic structures of non-Western societies in relation to our industrial capitalistic system. Concentration on substantive issues in economic anthropology, such as the debate on the applicability of formal economic theory to simpler societies, the nature and importance of the economic surplus, and problems of scarcity and development. Prerequisite: 104 and one Grade II unit in Anthropology, or Economics, or Sociology, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Shimony

318 (2) Social Theories and Models of the Past

An examination of the social theories that have inspired prehistorians, historians, and historical sociologists/anthropologists. Various speculative philosophers of history (e.g. Vico, Marx) and classical sociological and anthropological schools (e.g. evolutionism, Weberian historical sociology), which attempt to define large-scale historical patterns, will be briefly reviewed. Contemporary macro-historical and major prehistoric studies will be analyzed to determine how the compilation and presentation of data have been guided implicitly or explicitly by specific social theories. Readings will include selections from Abrams, Adams, Anderson, Braudel, Childe, Wallerstein, and Wolf.

Mr. Kohl

342 (1) Seminar. Native American Ethnology

Selected topics concerning Native Americans today. Ethnographic review of North American cultures. Problems of tribal and urban Indian communities, ethnic conflicts, the impact of recession, sovereignty and legal questions. Native Americans in literature and art. Prerequisite: 104 and one Grade II unit in Anthropology, or Sociology, or Political Science, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered 1990-91.

Mrs. Shimony

346 (I) Colonialism, Development and Nationalism:
The Nation State and Traditional Societies

Examination of the impact of modern national political systems on traditional societies as these are incorporated into the nation state. Focus on the nature of development, colonialism, and dependency and the implications for cultural minorities, technologically simple societies, peasant populations, and the urban poor. Topics related to an understanding of the impact of world capitalism on indigenous peoples will be covered. Prerequisite: two Grade II courses in any of the following: Anthropology, Sociology, Political Science, Economics, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Merry

347 (2) Human Rights Issues in Central America

Anthropological perspectives on contemporary human rights issues in Guatemala, El Salvador, Honduras, and Nicaragua. Examination of ethnic and class conflicts, displacements of indigenous peoples, scorched earth policies, and death squad activities and their relation to contemporary political developments in the region. Prerequisite: two Grade II courses in any of the following: Anthropology, Sociology, Political Science, Economics, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered 1990-91.

Directions for Election

Majors in anthropology must take eight courses (which may include courses from MIT's anthropology offerings), of which 104 and 301 are obligatory. In addition, at least one "methods" course is strongly suggested. We recommend statistics in the sociology department. Students may also elect the statistics course offered by economics or psychology, or calculus or statistics in the mathematics department, depending on the particular need and interest of the student.

Students who wish a minor in Anthropology must take five courses: 104 or 106, two 200-level courses, and two 300-level courses. Students are encouraged to choose at least one ethnographic area course and at least one course which focuses on a particular theoretical problem. 205 is recommended but not required.

Architecture

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Fergusson, Harvey

A major in architecture offers the opportunity for study of architectural history and practice through an interdisciplinary program. Following Vitruvius' advice on the education of the architect, the program encourages students to familiarize themselves with a broad range of subjects in the humanities, sciences, and social sciences. Students may also elect courses in studio art, mathematics, and physics which lead to appreciation of the principles of design and the fundamental techniques of architecture.

Although courses at MIT are not required for the major, the MIT-Wellesley exchange provides a unique opportunity for students to elect advanced courses in design and construction. Students are also encouraged to consider travel or study abroad as important aspects of their education in architecture, and to take advantage of the wide resources of the College and the Department of Art in pursuing their projects.

Each student designs her program of study individually in consultation with the directors. Majors are advised to take Art 100 (or 215/216) and Art 105. In addition, four courses above the Grade I level and two Grade III courses must be taken in the Department of Art. At least three of these Art courses (including one at Grade III level) must be taken at Wellesley College.

Students may include selections from the list below in their core programs.

Professor: Armstrong (Chair), Clapp, Fergusson, Harvey^{A2}, Marvin, O'Gorman^{A2}, Rayen, Wallace^A

Associate Professor: Carroll, Dorren, Friedman^A,

Assistant Professor: Bedell, Berman, Black, Gomez, Higonnet, Kernan, Ribner, St.Laurent, Spatz-Rabinowitz, Swift

Instructor: Allen, Okoye

Lecturer: DeLorme, Rhodes

The Department of Art offers majors in the history of art, architecture, studio art, and art history and studio combined, and minors in the history of art and studio art. Some of the courses in art history include studio laboratories, since the department believes that laboratory training has great value in developing observation and understanding of artistic problems. However, no particular artistic aptitude is required for these laboratories and the laboratory work is adjusted to the student's ability.

Stecher Scholarships are available to qualified students for the study of art abroad during the school year, Wintersession, or the summer.

History of Art

100 (1-2) Introductory Course

A foundation for further study in the history of art. The major styles in Western architecture, sculpture, and painting from ancient Egypt to the present are presented in lectures and in conference sections. Some consideration of the sculpture and painting of Asia is included. Simple laboratory work requiring no previous training or artistic skill gives the student a greater understanding of artistic problems. One unit of credit may be given for 100 (1), but 100 (2) cannot be taken without 100 (1). Open only to first year students and sophomores.

The Staff

200 (1) Classical Art

Topic for 1990-91: Greek Art. Greek Art from the Dark Ages to the death of Cleopatra. The course is a historical survey of the arts of Greece in this period, but special attention is paid to sculpture. The influence of classical form on later Western Art is also considered. Topic for 1991-92: Roman Art. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors who have taken 100 (1), or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Marvin

201 (2) Egyptian Art

A survey of Egyptian architecture, sculpture, painting and minor arts from 3000 to 31 B.C. The course will trace historically the development of ancient Egyptian Art in its cultural context. Readings from contemporary Egyptian sources in translation. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors, and to first year students who have taken 100 (1). Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Marvin

202 (1) Medieval Representational Arts

The course concentrates on artistic, historical, cult, and cultural approaches to the representational arts in Medieval Europe, focusing on a limited selection of major monuments, i.e. The Book of Kells, Vezelay, Chartres Cathedral. The principal media of the medieval artist—mosaic, manuscript painting, sculpture, stained glass—will be studied from original objects in local museums. Open to all students without prerequisite.

Mr. Fergusson

203 (2) Cathedrals and Castles of the High Middle Ages

A study of the major religious and secular buildings of the Romanesque and Gothic periods with emphasis on France and England. Attention will be given to the interpretation and context of buildings and to their relationship to cult, political and urban factors. Occasional conferences. Open to all students.

Mr. Fergusson

211 (1) African Art

A survey of the major artistic traditions of Africa. The focus will be on architecture, ancient African arts, art and gender, and the arts of the masquerade. Museum visits to the Harvard Peabody Museum, the Metropolitan, and the Center of African art in New York.

Mr. Okoye

215 (1) Introduction to the History of Art I

The major movements in architecture, sculpture, and painting from ancient Egypt through the Renaissance with some consideration of the sculpture and painting of Asia. Students attend lectures and conferences with Art 100. Reading and paper assignments differ from those of 100. Open only to juniors and seniors who have not taken 100.

The Staff

216 (2) Introduction to the History of Art II

Western art from the Renaissance to the present with emphasis on painting, sculpture, and architecture. Students attend lectures and conferences with Art 100. Reading and paper assignments differ from those of 100. Prerequisite: same as for 215.

The Staff

219 (1) Nineteenth-Century Art

History of Western European visual culture in the nineteenth century. Concentration on painting's rise to predominance and on its relationship to social issues and to other art forms: photography, prints, ethnographic art and urban design. Course requirements emphasize critical reading and address problems of writing about visual material. Open to sophomores who have taken Art 100 (1) and (2), by permission of the instructor to first year students who are taking Art 100, and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Ms. Higonnet

220 (1) Painting and Sculpture of the Later Sixteenth and Seventeenth Centuries in Southern Europe

A study of Italian and Spanish painting and sculpture from early Mannerism through the Baroque. Among the principal artists studied are Michelangelo, Il Rosso Fiorentino, Pontormo, Parmigianino, Tintoretto, El Greco, the Carracci, Caravaggio, Bernini, Pietro da Cortona, Ribera, Velasquez. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 (1) and (2), and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Wallace

221 (2) Seventeenth-Century Art in Northern Europe

Dutch and Flemish painting of the seventeenth century, with emphasis on Rubens, Hals, Rembrandt, and Vermeer. Prerequisite: same as for 220.

Mrs. Carroll

223 (2) The Decorative Arts

Topic for 1990-91: The Taste of France. A study of the taste which shaped the interiors of French town houses and châteaux from the end of the Middle Ages to the 20th century. Topics include architecture, furniture, porcelain, silver, painting, sculpture, tapestries, and garden design, all of which contributed to the settings created for the display of monumental art. Open to all students.

Mrs. DeLorme

224 (2) Modern Art

A survey of modern art from its roots in the late nineteenth century to the 1990s, including Symbolism; Cubism and its Affinities; Fauvism and Expressionism; Abstract Art in Holland, Germany, and Russia; Dada and Surrealism; Abstract Expressionism and Post-War developments. Although primarily a history of painting and sculpture, the course will also examine allied developments in architecture, functional design and decorative arts. Open to students who have taken Art 100, 216, Art 105 or by permission of instructor.

Ms. Berman

225 (2) Image Context: New Media Theory and Practice

This course will combine studio and discussion sections to investigate communication systems which have significantly changed our visual and cultural environment. The media we will explore – photography and photograph captions, newspaper and magazine layout, billboards and posters, television, video, film and computer networks – all rely on the interaction of text (written or spoken) and image to convey information. Students will pursue both written and studio work throughout the semester. Enrollment limited. Open by permission of the instructors. Formerly Technology Studies 218. Not open to students who have taken Technology Studies 218. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Swift, Ms. Berman

226 (2) History of Photography

Survey of European and American nineteenth- and twentieth-century photography in terms of both technical developments and broader aesthetic currents. While monographic treatment will be given to such important figures as Cameron, Atget, Steiglitz and Moholy-Nagy, broader issues, including the history of photographic criticism, will be examined. Prerequisite: 100, 216, 108, or permission of instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Berman

228 (2) Nineteenth- and Twentieth-Century Architecture

A survey of the major movements in architecture in Europe and the United States from Neoclassicism to the present. Open to all students.

Mr. Rhodes

229 (1) Renaissance and Baroque Architecture

A survey of architecture in Europe from 1400 to 1750 with particular emphasis on Italy. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Rhodes

231 (1) American Architecture from Colonial Times to 1940: A Survey

Lectures in the history of the architecture of the North American colonies and of the United States to World War II with special emphasis upon typology, form and technology, as well as political, social, and cultural contexts.

Mr. O'Gorman

232 (2) American Painting from Colonial Times to World War II

A survey of American painting from the 17th century to World War II. Major artists will include John S. Copley, Winslow Homer, Mary Cassatt and Edward Hopper. Special emphasis will be placed on works in area collections.

Ms. Bedell

233 (1) Domestic Architecture and Daily Life

A survey of European and American houses, their design and use from the late Middle Ages to the present. Economic and social conditions will be stressed, with particular attention to changes in family structure and the role of women. The use of rooms and furnishings will also be discussed. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Friedman

234 (1) Paris: Capital of the Nineteenth Century

A course on Paris and its role in the nineteenth century. Topics include: avant-garde art movements (particularly Impressionism), urban design, fashion and the Parisian politics of revolution. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Higonnet

235 (2) Landscape and Garden Architecture

An examination of the major formal and ideological developments in landscape and garden architecture from the Middle Ages to the present day, with particular emphasis on the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Visits to local landscapes and gardens in the Spring. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Fergusson

246 (2) The Arts of India

The arts of greater India. A history of the plastic arts of the Buddhist and Hindu religions in India, Nepal, Tibet, and Indonesia. Sculpture and painting will be treated where possible in their original architectural settings. Special attention will be given to the religious symbolism of the images and buildings. The survey will extend to the formation of Mughal painting and architecture and the development of painting in the native Indian schools of Pahari and the Deccan. Study of and papers on the collections of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and the Sackler Museum. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Clapp

247 (1) Islamic Art and Culture

A survey of Islamic art and culture beginning with its formation in the seventh century and continuing through the early twentieth century. For the early period, the focus will be on the historical and philosophical development of Islamic art from the diverse cultural and artistic traditions in which it originated. For the later period, the focus will be on the art and architecture of the Ottoman Empire, Persia, and India. Museum visits to the Sackler, BMFA, and Metropolitan will complement course material. Open to all students.

Ms. St. Laurent

248 (1) Chinese Painting

Topic for 1990-91: A study of the themes and styles of Chinese painting with special attention to the expression of Chinese philosophical and social ideals. The course will examine the magical and political function of early figure painting, the conquest of naturalism in the classical art of the Sung dynasties, and the scholars' painting of the later dynasties. Study of and visits to the collections of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and Sackler Museum. Not open to students who have taken 248M. Open to all students.

Mrs. Clapp

248M (1) Arts of the Far East

This course will examine chronologically the major cultural and aesthetic ideals of China and Japan as they are reflected in the plastic arts. The neolithic and bronze ages will be studied through their characteristic art forms of ceramics, jade, and ritual vessels. Sculpture and Zen painting under the Buddhist Church will be traced in China and thence to their further development in Japan. In the later periods the lectures will discuss the painting of classical naturalism in China, the humanistic painting of scholar-artists, the tradition of the great screen decorators in Japan, and the appearance of popular art in the Japanese woodblock print. Discussion groups will concentrate on formal analysis of and interpretation of meaning in selected works of art. Class visits to and papers on the collections of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and the Sackler Museum, Harvard. Taught at MIT. Meets HASS-D requirement at MIT for MIT students. Not open to students who have taken 248. Open to all Wellesley and MIT students.

Mrs. Clapp

249 (2) Arts of Japan

The sculptural and pictorial arts of Japan, from the Buddhist period to the 18th-century woodblock print. The course will concentrate on Japan's early ties with India and China, the subsequent development of native Japanese styles, the art of the great screen painters, and the emergence of the print tradition. Study of and visits to the collections of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and the Sackler Museum, Harvard University. Open to all students.

Ms. Clapp

250 (1) From Giotto to the Art of the Courts: Italy and France, 1300-1420

Topics to be explored are: the great narrative tradition in Italian painting and sculpture—Giotto, Duccio, and Giovanni Pisano, the Sienese painters Simone Martini and the Lorenzetti in the context of the Italian medieval city state; the reaction of artists to the Black Death of 1348; French manuscript painting under Valois patronage, especially the Limbourg Brothers and Jean, Duc de Berry. Visits to Rare Book Collections are planned. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 (1) and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Armstrong

251 (2) Italian Renaissance Art

Painting and sculpture in Italy in the fifteenth and early sixteenth centuries. Topics included in this survey are: the formation of the Early Renaissance style by Masaccio, Donatello, Ghiberti and Luca della Robbia; the spread of the Renaissance outside of Florence by Piero della Francesca, Mantegna and Bellini; Medici patronage of Uccello, Pollaiuolo and Botticelli; the development of the High Renaissance style by Leonardo, Raphael, and Michelangelo. Prerequisite: Open to first year students and sophomores who have taken Art 100 (1 or 2) and to juniors and seniors without prerequisite.

Ms. Armstrong

254 (1) Urban Form: Medieval, Renaissance, and Baroque

The course surveys the history of urban form from antiquity to the 18th century with emphasis on medieval and Renaissance urban phenomena in Italy, France, and Germany. Topics include: introduction to Greek and Roman city planning; medieval town types such as market towns, cathedral towns, and planned "new towns"; medieval Siena and its public art; Italian Renaissance architectural theory and practice in relation to the city; Renaissance and Baroque innovations in Italy and France. Open to sophomores who have taken 100 (I or 2), or a 200-level course in Medieval or Renaissance art; to juniors and seniors without prerequisite; or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Armstrong

304 (1) Seminar. Problems in Italian Renaissance Sculpture

The seminar will consider problems of patronage, style, iconography and technique in the work of selected Italian Renaissance sculptors, including Ghiberti, Donatello, Verrocchio, Michelangelo, Cellini and Giovanni Bologna. Sessions dealing with works in the Boston Museum of Fine Arts and in the Wellesley College collections will be arranged. Prerequisite: open to students who have taken Art 251, Art 220; or juniors and seniors who have already completed two units in history of art at the 200 or 300 level; or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Armstrong

305 (1) The Graphic Arts

A history of prints and visual communication from the time of Gutenberg to the present. Among the master printmakers studied will be Dürer, Parmigianino, Rembrandt, Ribera, Hogarth, Goya, Gauguin, Munch and Picasso. There will be slide lectures with class discussion, careful study of original prints in the Wellesley College collections, and frequent field trips to public and private collections. Laboratory required. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors who have had at least one 200-level art course involving the history of painting. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Wallace

309 (1) Seminar. Problems in Architectural History

Topic for 1990-91: The Skyscraper in Fact and in Fiction. An examination of that most American of building types from the historical, technical, social, urban, artistic, environmental, mechanical, cinematic, literary, musical, poetical, and other points of view. Lectures, reading, student presentations, written papers. Limited to 10 students. Prerequisite: 228, 231, or 232. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Mr. O'Gorman

311 (1) Northern European Painting and Printmaking

Painting and printmaking in Northern Europe from the late fourteenth through the sixteenth centuries. Emphasis on Jan van Eyck, Rogier van der Weyden, Bosch, Dürer, and Pieter Bruegel the Elder. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors who have taken or are taking one Grade II unit in the history of art, or in Medieval/Renaissance Studies or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Carroll

312 (2) Problems in Nineteenth-Century Art

Topic for 1990-91: Originality and Reproduction in Late Nineteenth-Century Art. An issue-oriented seminar on late nineteenth-century definitions of creativity. Case studies in sculpture, print-making, and photography will be accompanied by readings in political, legal, and economic history. Prerequisite: 219, 224, or 226; or History 237, 240, or 244, or Economics 315. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Ms. Higonet

320 (1) Seminar: Studies in American Art and Architecture

Topic for 1990-91: The Domestic Ideal in America. Through the study of painting, architecture and decorative arts, the course will examine the central place of the home in American society from the 17th century to the present. We will consider the changing shape of the American house as it evolved to meet new social conditions and explore the ways in which domestic life was portrayed in American painting. Particular emphasis on women's role in shaping the domestic environment. Prerequisite: 100 or any Grade II or III course in American art, history or literature. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Ms. Bedell

330 (1) Seminar. Renaissance Art in Venice and in Northern Italy

Topic for 1990-91: Images of Women in Venetian and North Italian Renaissance Painting and Sculpture. The visual evidence for attitudes toward women will be explored, as well as artistic patronage by women. Consideration of portraits of noble women and of courtesans; of religious images of the Virgin Mary, female saints and Old Testament heroines; and of the nude female body in mythological representations. Costume, jewelry, hair styles and representations of settings in which women are represented will be analyzed for evidence about the position of women in society. Works by the following artists will be included: Andrea Mantegna, Giovanni Bellini, Carpaccio, Giorgione, Titian, and Leonardo da Vinci. Prerequisite: any 200 or 300 level course in Medieval, Renaissance, or Baroque art or history. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Ms. Armstrong

331 (2) Seminar. The Art of Northern Europe

Topic for 1990-91: Gender and Power. The seminar will consider a series of works dating from the 15th through the 20th centuries in relation to contemporary notions regarding sex, gender and power. The premise for our investigation of works by Van Eyck, Rubens, de Hooch, Watteau, Manet, and Picasso, among others, is that at a given historical moment, figurations of sexual and domestic relationships serve as paradigmatic expressions of political and economic beliefs. Thus while undertaking close formal and iconographic analyses of these works, we will also be reading contemporary political and social theorists (Machiavelli, Locke, Rousseau, Marx). Admission by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Mrs. Carroll

332 (2) Seminar. The Thirteenth-Century King as Patron

The brilliant reigns of Philip Augustus and Louis IX in France, and of Henry III and Edward I of England witnessed a prodigious flowering of both ecclesiastical and castle architecture. The seminar will focus on the role of the monarch as patron and of the court as a forcing ground of technical and artistic innovation. Prerequisite: 100(I)/215. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Mr. Fergusson

333 (2) Seminar. The High Baroque in Rome

Prerequisite: 220 or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Wallace

334 (2) Seminar. Archaeological Method and Theory

Topic for 1990-91: Classical Sculpture in the Museum of Fine Arts, Boston. This seminar will examine the collection of Greek and Roman sculpture in the BMFA. We will look in detail at some of their finest works and consider the history of the collection and the varying responses of the Boston public to classical sculpture since the Museum opened in 1876. Note: THIS COURSE WILL OFTEN MEET AT THE BMFA. Open to junior and senior Art majors and minors, and to other juniors and seniors with permission of the instructor. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Ms. Marvin

335 (1) Seminar. Problems in Modern Art

Topic for 1990-91: Pop Art. Pop Art will be studied through the work of artists, critics, film makers, and writers of the 1950s and '60s. The historical conditions that informed Pop, including the post-War growth of the art market and media culture, will also be examined, as will the implications of Pop for our continuing reconsideration of "high" and "popular" culture. The "High/Low" exhibition at the Museum of Modern Art (N.Y.) will be a point of focus for the course. Admission by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Ms. Berman

336 (2) Seminar. Museum Issues

An investigation of the history and structure of the museum, the philosophy of exhibitions and acquisitions, and the role of the museum in modern society with particular emphasis on the college museum. Issues of conservation, exhibition, acquisition, publication, and education. Visits to museums and private collections in the area. Limited enrollment. Open by permission of the instructor to junior and senior art majors. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Taylor

337 (2) Seminar. Chinese Painting

Interpretation of major themes of Chinese painting. This seminar will examine the symbolic and social or philosophical meaning of such major genres and subjects of Chinese painting as: portraits, commemorative paintings, horses, bamboo, flowering plums, cityscapes, topographical landscapes, and gardens. Prerequisite: 248. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Mrs. Clapp

340 (2) Seminar. Studies in American Art and Architecture

Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. O'Gorman

341 (I) Topics in The Social History of Art

Topic for 1990-91: The Politics of Exhibition. To whom does art belong, and where? Since the French Revolution of 1789, the public exhibition of art has been politically controversial. This seminar studies the issues art exhibition has raised, beginning with the transformation of the French royal collection into the Louvre Museum, and ending with the recent furor over Federal funding of Mapplethorpe's photography exhibition. The subjects of racial, national, and municipal identity, individualism, art prices, economic viability, gender, and obscenity will be studied through debates over specific cases like the British Museum's possession of Parthenon sculptures or the Museum of Modern Art's "Primitivism" show, as well as through visits to local museums. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Ms. Higonnet

345 (2) Seminar: Historical Approaches to Art for the Major

Comparative study of the major art-historical approaches and their philosophical bases: connoisseurship, iconography, theories of the evolution of art, theories of style, psychoanalysis and art, feminism and art, psychology of perception, and theories of art criticism. Weekly meetings will stress class discussion. Recommended to all art majors. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken one Grade II unit in the department. Open by permission of the instructor only. File application in department.

Ms. Berman

350 (I) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open to qualified students by permission of the instructor and the department chair.

360 (I) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of the department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors. Students in 360 and 370 will be expected to participate regularly in the departmental honors seminar. The seminar provides a forum for students conducting independent research to present their work to fellow students and faculty.

370 (I) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Boston Museum of Fine Arts Seminars

A limited number of qualified students may elect for credit seminars offered by the curators of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts to students in Boston area colleges and universities. These are held in the museum and use objects from the collections for study. Admission to Museum Seminars is by permission of the instructor at the Museum only. Call the instructor for information about the day and time of classes and application procedures as the class size is limited.

385 (I) Problems in Northern European Painting

An examination of the Northern European painting tradition from the fifteenth to the eighteenth centuries, focusing on works from the Museum's collection. The seminar will address questions of connoisseurship and recent technological developments in research (such as infrared reflectography and nuclear autoradiography), as well as iconographic and iconological problems. Students will be introduced to current curatorial and museum practices. Limited to 12 students. Previous survey courses in Northern Renaissance and/or Baroque art would be desirable, as well as a reading knowledge of German, French and/or Dutch.

Peter C. Sutton, the Mrs. Russell W. Baker Curator of European Paintings

386 (2) French Eighteenth-Century Painting and Drawing

This course will focus on works in the Museum's permanent collection, including the Forsyth Wickes collection of French eighteenth-century paintings and drawings, which is in the process of being catalogued. The major artists to be considered are Watteau, Boucher, and Fragonard; others to be studied are Boilly, Vigée-Lebrun, Pater, and Hubert Robert. Examination of original works of art will involve questions of connoisseurship, conservation, and workshop copies, as well as concern for specific historical and mythological subject matter. Limited to 15 students. Must have taken a general introduction to French art; a reading knowledge of French helpful but not required.

Eric M. Zafran, Associate Curator, Department of European Paintings

391 (2) American Sculpture, Nineteenth and Twentieth Centuries

Boston played a unique role in the encouragement of American sculpture in the early nineteenth century; as a result, the city's collections are particularly rich.

This seminar will explore the development and diversity of sculpture in America, beginning with the pioneering neoclassical school, moving through the interest in the Beaux-Arts tradition which culminated in the superb monuments of Augustus Saint-Gaudens and Daniel Chester French, continuing on to the developments of the early twentieth century, and ending with the work of David Smith. We will examine the Museum's collection in detail, including rarely exhibited works from storage, as well as studying a wide variety of sculpture throughout the city. Limited to 20 students.

Jonathan Fairbanks, Katharine Lane Weems Curator of American Decorative Arts and Sculpture

394 (1) The Preservation and Scientific Examination of Works of Art

The technical examination and preservation of works of art will be explored through lectures, demonstrations and readings concentrating on the Museum's collections. The course will focus on the work of art as the source of information about the materials and techniques of artists and craftsmen, how these materials can interact with their environment, and what measures may be taken to preserve them. Analytical instrumentation currently used for research and authentication is discussed throughout the course. Limited to 12 students. Preference given to seniors majoring in fine arts.

Margaret Leveque, Richard Newman and other members of the Museum's conservation facilities

Directions for Election

History of Art

An Art major concentrating in History of Art must elect:

- A. Art 100 (1) and (2)
- B. 204, 205, 209 or 213, and beginning with the Class of 1992, or 105 or 108
- C. A minimum of five further units in History of Art to make a total of eight units, which must include distribution requirements.

For distribution a student must elect at least one unit in three of the following six areas of specialization: Ancient, Medieval, Renaissance, Baroque (seventeenth and eighteenth centuries), Modern (nineteenth and twentieth centuries), non-Western Art. Among the three areas elected one must be either before 1400 A.D. or outside the tradition of Western European art.

Normally Art 223, 233, 254, 305 and 345 may not be used to meet this distribution requirement. Consult the department chair for exceptions to this practice. If approved by the department chair, courses elected at other institutions may be used to meet the distribution requirement.

No more than one unit of 350 credit may be counted towards the minimum major.

Ordinarily, no more than three units of transfer credit (one studio, two art history) may be counted towards the minimum major.

Although the department does not encourage overspecialization in any one area, by careful choice of related courses a student may plan a field of concentration emphasizing one period or area, for example, medieval art or oriental art. Students interested in such a plan should consult the department chair as early in the first year or sophomore year as possible.

Art 345 is recommended for all majors, especially those who are considering graduate study in History of Art.

A reading knowledge of German, French, or Italian, is strongly recommended. Graduate programs in the History of Art require degree candidates to pass exams in French and German, so these languages are particularly important for students considering graduate school.

Students intending to major in art history whose high school preparation does not include a thorough grounding in history should take History 200 and 201. They should also consult the Catalog carefully for other courses in history as well as in the literature, religion, philosophy, and music of the areas which particularly interest them.

Students interested in graduate study in the field of art conservation should consult with the department chair regarding requirements for entrance into conservation programs. Ordinarily college-level chemistry through organic should be elected, and a strong studio art background is required.

An Art minor (6 units) consists of:

- (A) Art 100 (1&2) or Art 215/216 and (B) 4 additional units above the 100 level with at least 2 at the 300 level; maximum 1 unit of 350. Of the 4 units above the 100/215/216 level, 3 shall, in the opinion of the student's faculty advisor, represent a coherent and integrated field of interest. Some examples are: Asian art, 19th/20th century art and architectural history. The fourth unit shall, in the case of students whose primary field is Western European or American art, be a course in non-Western or ancient art. In the case of students whose primary field of interest is ancient or non-Western art, the fourth unit shall be Western European or American art.

For the minor, at least four units of credit in Art History must be taken at Wellesley College.

The attention of students is called to the interdepartmental majors in Architecture, Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology, and in Medieval/Renaissance Studies.

Studio Art

Studio courses meet twice a week for double periods.

105 (1) (2) Drawing I

Introductory drawing with emphasis on the development of skill in seeing and the control of line, value and composition. A variety of techniques and media will be used. Preference given to non-seniors. Open to seniors by permission of the instructor only.

The Staff

108 (1) (2) Photography I

Photography as a means of visual communication. Problems dealing with light, tonal values, two- and three-dimensional space, documentary and aesthetic approaches to the medium. Emphasis on printing and critical analysis of photographs. Signature required for admission. Preference given to non-seniors.

Mr. Swift, Ms. Black

204 (2) General Techniques Course

A survey of significant techniques and materials related to the history of Western painting from the Middle Ages to the modern period. Emphasis on the technical aspects of various painting media and their role in stylistic change. Prerequisite: 100 (1) and (2) or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Spatz-Rabinowitz

205 (2) Materials and Techniques of Sculpture

A survey of significant techniques and materials relating to the history of sculpture from the classical to the modern period. Laboratory problems of a purely technical nature requiring no artistic skill. Prerequisite: 100 (1) and (2) or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Dorrien

206 (2) Drawing II

Drawing problems dealing with line, value, structure, space, and abstraction. Students use various drawing materials including graphite, charcoal, wash, and monotype. Stress on developing an individual project during the course. Prerequisite: 105.

Ms. Ribner

207 (1) Sculpture I

An exploration of sculptural concepts through the completion of projects dealing with a variety of materials including clay, wood, plaster, stone and metals, with an introduction to basic foundry processes. Work from the figure, with direct visual observation of the model, will be emphasized. Studio fee. Prerequisite: 105 or 213 or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Dorrien

208 (2) Photography II

The development of the student's personal photographic vision. Weekly critiques of students' on-going personal photography. Several classes and a semester-long study will be concerned with photographic technique and processes. See 225. Limited enrollment, preference will be given to students majoring or intending to major or minor in Art/Art History or Architecture. Prerequisite: 108 or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Swift

209 (1) (2) Basic Two-Dimensional Design

A series of problems in two-dimensional design intended to develop both observational and formal skills. Introduction to line, shape, color, structure, and other tools of the artist. Design involves the formation of an effective visual statement. Open to all students.

Ms. Spatz-Rabinowitz (1), Ms. Kerman (2)

210 (1) Color

Basic problems in the interaction of color. Special attention will be given to considerations of value, intensity and the natural mutability of hue. Open to all students.

Mr. Rayen

212 (1) Introduction to Printmaking

This course presents printmaking as a graphic image-making process. Traditional techniques of intaglio, relief and lithography will be examined as well as other methods of printing such as monoprinting, collography, stenciling and stamping. Printmaking as an alternative way of drawing and painting, and ways of combining various print media, will be explored. Prerequisite: 105 or 209.

Mr. Gomez

213 (1) (2) Basic Three-Dimensional Design

Introduction to three-dimensional design stressing various formal and spatial concepts related to sculpture, architecture and product design. A wide range of materials will be handled in completing several preliminary problems as well as constructing a final project. Open to all students.

Mr. Dorrien (1), Ms. Ribner (2)

214 (2) Photographic Processes

Through a series of lectures, readings and laboratory experiences, this course will engage students both conceptually and experientially in the basic premises of current photographic technology. We will also consider the history and development of these photographic processes, as well as their social and cultural implications. Formerly Technology Studies 217. Not open to students who have taken Technology Studies 217. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Swift

218 (1) (2) Introductory Painting

A study of basic forms in plastic relationships in a variety of media. Prerequisite: 105 or 209 or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Rayen (1), Ms. Spatz-Rabinowitz (2)

307 (2) Sculpture II

Continuation on a more advanced level of sculptural issues raised in Sculpture I. Projects include working from the figure, metal welding or wood construction, and metal casting in the foundry as well as stone carving. Studio fee. Prerequisite: 207 or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Dorrien

315 (1) Problems in Advanced Painting

Each student will be required to establish and develop personal imagery. Emphasis will be given to the roles which observation and memory play in the development of individual concepts. Painting 315 and Painting 321 are complementary courses and may be taken in any order following the completion of Painting 218 or its equivalent. Not offered 1990-91.

Ms. Harvey

316 (1) Life Drawing

Intensive analysis of anatomy, perspective, composition, chiaroscuro, with direct visual observation of the model. Prerequisite: 105.

Ms. Harvey

317 (2) Seminar. Problems in the Visual Arts

Topic for 1990-91: Public Art. This seminar will begin with an overview of public art as an integral aspect of urban development. It will cover the selection of sites appropriate for public art from the point of view of the legislator, city planner, architect and artist. Focus on the preparation of a proposal from the artistic as well as the administrative point of view. Students will prepare proposals for actual sites and make presentations. The seminar will include guest lectures. Prerequisites: 2 studio courses; Art 224 is highly recommended.

Mr. Dorrien

321 (2) Advanced Painting

Continuing problems in the formal elements of pictorial space, including both representational and abstract considerations. Emphasis will be given to the formulation of preliminary studies in a variety of media. Painting 318 & Painting 321 are complementary courses and may be taken in any order following the completion of Painting 218 or its equivalent.

Mr. Rayen

322 (2) Advanced Printmaking

Topic for 1990-91: Lithography. Emphasis will be on development of personal imagery together with the further exploration of technical mastery. Studio fee. Prerequisite: 212.

Mr. Gomez

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study

Open to qualified students by permission of the instructor and the department chair.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors. Students in 360 and 370 will be expected to participate regularly in the departmental honors seminar. The seminar provides a forum for students conducting independent research to present their work to fellow students and faculty.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Applied Arts Program

In addition to the regular Studio curriculum, a separately funded program makes it possible to offer one noncredit course each year in such fields as metal casting and enameling, ceramics, woodworking, and weaving.

Open to all students.

Directions for Election

Studio Art

An art major concentrating in Studio Art must elect 100 (I) and (2), 105, 209, and 213; and in addition at least two Grade II and two Grade III units in Studio Art. All Studio majors are encouraged to take 317, especially those interested in independent study projects. Since the department believes in the importance of understanding the history of art, the attention of students is drawn to 224 and 219 (see History of Art).

A Studio art minor (6 units) consists of: (A) 105 and (B) 1 unit from 209, 210 or 213 and (C) 4 additional units from Studio art, including at least one at the 300 level (350 counts only in photography).

For students particularly interested in design, attention is further drawn to Theatre Studies 206.

Directions for Election

The Combined Major in Art History and Studio Art

A student may elect a combined Art History/Studio Art major by taking:

Art 100 (I) and (2) Introductory Survey

1 semester of Art 105 Introductory Drawing

1 semester of Art 209 Two-Dimensional Design

1 semester of Art 213 Three-dimensional Design

1 semester of Ancient, or Medieval, or Non-Western Art History

2 additional semesters of Grade II Art History

2 semesters of Grade III Art History

2 additional semesters of Grade II Studio Art

2 semesters of Grade III Studio Art

14 courses

The Combined Major in Art will require early planning, preferably in the first year.

Astronomy

Professor: Birney

Associate Professor: Bauer, French (Chair), Little-Marenin^A

Assistant Professor: Benson

103 (I) (2) Introduction to Astronomy with Laboratory

A survey of the solar system, stars, galaxies and cosmology. Two periods of lecture and discussion weekly; laboratory in alternate weeks, and unscheduled evening work at the Observatory for observation of stars and constellations, and use of the telescopes. Not open to students who have taken 110 or 111.

The Staff

104 (2) Recent Developments in Astronomy

Contemporary topics in optical, radio, and space astronomy. Topics include cosmology, pulsars, quasars, black holes, exploration of the planets, and extraterrestrial communication. Not to be counted toward the minimum major. Prerequisite: 103, or 110, or 111, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Benson

110 (2) Fundamentals of Astronomy with Laboratory

A survey of astronomy with emphasis on the underlying physical principles. The treatment of all topics will be more analytical and more quantitative than that provided in Astronomy 103. Two periods of lecture and discussion weekly. Laboratory in alternate weeks and unscheduled observations at the Observatory. Recommended for students intending to choose one of the sciences or mathematics as a major. Not open to students who have already taken 103.

Mr. French

111 (2) Fundamentals of Astronomy

Identical to Astronomy 110 except that it will not include the laboratory. A term paper will be required. Not open to students who have already taken 103.

Mr. French

206 (1) Basic Astronomical Techniques

Visual and photographic use of telescopes. Optics applied to astronomical instruments. Astronomical coordinate systems. Spherical trigonometry. Conversion of time and use of Ephemeris. Star catalogs. Photometry. Prerequisite: 103, 110, or 111, and familiarity with trigonometric functions and logarithms.

Mr. Birney

207 (2) Basic Astronomical Techniques II

Measurement of stellar radial velocities. Spectroscopy. Classification of stellar spectra. Applications of the Method of Least Squares and statistical methods. The semester's work includes an independent project at the telescope. Prerequisite: 206 and some familiarity with calculus.

Mr. Birney

210 (1) Astrophysics I

The physical principles behind the analyses of stars, interstellar matter and galaxies. Prerequisite: 103, 110, or 111, and Physics 108 or [200] taken previously or concurrently, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Bauer

304 (1) Stellar Atmospheres and Interiors

The formation of continuous and line spectra in stellar atmospheres. An introduction to stars with unusual spectra. The structure of and energy generation in stellar interiors. Stellar evolution. Prerequisite: 210, Extradepartmental 216 or Mathematics 205. Physics 202 or [204] is recommended. Not offered in 1990-1991. Offered in 1991-1992.

307 (1) Planetary Astronomy

Study of the properties of planetary atmospheres, surfaces and interiors with emphasis on the physical principles involved. Topics covered include the origin and evolution of the planetary system, comparison of the terrestrial and giant planets, properties of minor bodies and satellites in the solar system and inadvertent modification of the earth's climate. Recent observations from the ground and from spacecraft will be reviewed. Prerequisite: 210 and Physics 108 or [200]; permission of the instructor for interested students majoring in geology or physics. Offered in 1990-1991. Not offered in 1991-1992.

Mr. French

310 (2) Astrophysics II

Kinematics and dynamics of stars and stellar systems, galactic structure, special and general relativity, and cosmological models. Prerequisite: 210 and Physics 108 or [200].

Mr. French

349 (1) Selected Topics

Topics in previous years have included variable stars, galaxies, stars of special interest, and cosmic evolution. Open by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-1991.

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Modern Physics with Laboratory

Directions for Election

The following courses form the minimum major: 103 or 110, 206, 207, 210, 310; Mathematics 205 or Extradepartmental 216; Physics 202 or [204]; one more Grade III course in Astronomy plus an additional Grade III course in Astronomy or Physics. Students intending to major in astronomy are encouraged to begin physics as soon as possible. These students should try to take 110 rather than 103. Physics 219 and Computer Science 110 or 111 are strongly recommended. In planning a major program students should note that some of these courses have prerequisites in mathematics and/or physics. Additional courses for the major may be elected in the Departments of Physics, Mathematics, and Astronomy.

A substantial background in physics is required for graduate study in Astronomy.

A student planning to enter graduate school in astronomy should supplement the minimum major with courses in physics, including Physics 306 and other Grade III work. In fact, completion of the physics major is encouraged. The student is also urged to acquire a reading knowledge of French, Russian, German, or Spanish.

A minor in astrophysics (5 units) consists of: (A) 1 unit from 103, 110 or 111 and (B) 210 and 310 and (C) 2 additional 300 level units. A minor in observational astronomy (5 units) consists of: (A) 1 unit from 103, 110 or 111 and (B) 104, 206 and 207 and (C) 350.

See page 10 for a description of Whitin Observatory and its equipment.

Biological Chemistry

Director: Hicks

The Departments of Biological Sciences and Chemistry offer an interdepartmental major in Biological Chemistry which gives opportunity for advanced study of the chemistry of biological systems.

For students in the Classes of 1990-91 who have already taken Biology III, in addition to two units of Biochemistry (228 and 328), the area of concentration must include the following units of Chemistry (114 [or 113] and 115, or 120; 211 and 231); Biology (110, 111, 200, 205, and one Grade III unit with a scheduled laboratory taken at Wellesley excluding 350, 360, or 370); Physics (104 [105], 107 or [109]); and Mathematics (116, 120 or the equivalent). Students should be sure to satisfy the prerequisites for the Grade III courses in biology and chemistry.

Beginning with the Class of 1992 (and for students in the classes of 1990-91 who have not yet taken Biology III), the major must include, in addition to two units of Biochemistry (228 and 328), the following units of Chemistry (114 [or 113] and 115 or 120, 211 and 231); Biology (110; 200; 205; at least one unit of 313, 314, 316 or 317; and one additional Grade III unit, excluding 350, 360 or 370); Physics (104 or 107); and Mathematics (116, 120 or equivalent).

This change in Directions for the Major causes Biology III to no longer be required for the major and requires two Grade III units in Biology, including at least one biochemically oriented Grade III unit with a scheduled laboratory. A recommended sequence of required courses would be: Year I, Chemistry 114 and Math or Physics; Chemistry 115 and Biology 110. Year II, Chemistry 211 and Biology 205; Biology 200 and Math or Physics. Year III, Chemistry 228 and 231; Chemistry 328 and Math. Year IV, Grade III Biology courses and Independent Study.

Please discuss your program with the Director as soon as possible.

Biological Sciences

Professor: Widmayer^{A1}, Allen, Coyne, Webb, Harris, Eichenbaum (Chair)

Associate Professor: Smith^{A2}, Cameron

Assistant Professor: Blazar, Beltz^A, Giffin, Peterman, Moore, Rodenhouse, Darrou, Bedell, Quattroci

Laboratory Instructor: Muise, Dermody, Hacopian, Hoult, Paul, Soltzberg, Thomas

Unless otherwise noted, all courses meet for two periods of lecture, and one three-and-one-half hour laboratory session weekly. Seminars normally meet for one double period each week.

107 (1) Biotechnology

This course focuses on industrial applications of recently developed biological techniques, primarily recombinant DNA. However, no prior knowledge of DNA (or biology) is expected, as all necessary background information will be discussed. Two lectures weekly. This course fulfills group C distribution but does not meet laboratory science requirement. Not to be counted toward minimum major in Biological Sciences.

Mrs. Smith

108 (2) Horticultural Science with Laboratory

Fundamentals of cultivation and propagation of plants, the effects of environmental and chemical factors on their growth, and methods of control of pests and diseases. Laboratory includes work in the Alexandra Botanic Gardens, Hunnewell Arboretum and in the greenhouses. Not to be counted toward the minimum major in biological sciences. Open to all students except those who have taken III.

Ms. Bedell, Mrs. Muise

109 (1) Human Biology with Laboratory

The study of human anatomy and physiology, with a focus on nutrition, the nervous system, reproduction, embryology, circulation and respiration. Two lectures weekly with a laboratory session every other week. Laboratories involve data collection using computers, physiological test equipment, limited animal dissection and a personal nutrition study. Does not count toward the minimum major in Biological Sciences. Open to all students except those who have taken III.

Mrs. Coyne, Ms. Darrou, Mr. Hacopian

110 (2) Cell Biology with Laboratory

Eukaryotic and prokaryotic cell structure, chemistry and function. Cell metabolism, genetics, cellular interactions and mechanisms of growth and differentiation. Open to all students.

Mrs. Allen, Mrs. Blazar, Mrs. Giffin and Staff

111 (1) Experimental Biology: The Analysis of Biological Systems with Laboratory

Introduction to central questions and concepts in selected areas of biology and demonstration of various experimental approaches. Topics include: evolution, ecological systems, and plant and animal structure and physiology. Consideration of the importance of biological science to historical and current world problems. Laboratories include a series of related projects in experimental biology. Open to all students.

Mr. Harris, Mr. Cameron, Mrs. Giffin, and Staff

112 (2) Evolution

Historic and current ideas on the evidence for, and causes of, evolution; introduction to Mendelian and molecular genetics. Case studies include origin of life, endosymbiosis, human evolution, and the preservation of genetic diversity. Two lectures weekly. Meets the Group C distribution requirement as a nonlaboratory unit, but does not count towards the minimum major in Biology. Formerly Extradepartmental 112. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

200 (2) Cellular Physiology with Laboratory

A study of the experimental basis for current concepts in cellular physiology using plant, animal, and microbial models. Topics include enzyme kinetics, cell structure/function, immunology, intercellular and intracellular communication, normal and uncontrolled cell proliferation, cytoskeletons, and irritability of cells. Prerequisite: 110 and one unit of college chemistry.

Mrs. Covne, Mrs. Blazar

201 (1) Ecology with Laboratory

Introduction to ecological concepts about the distribution and abundance of organisms in environments. Topics include limiting factors, population growth and regulation, species interactions, and the structure and function of communities and ecosystems. Emphasis will be placed on experimental ecology and its uses in solving environmental problems. Local habitats including lakes, forests, marshes, bogs, tundra, and streams are studied during laboratory field trips. Prerequisite: 111 or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Rodenhouse

203 (1) Comparative Physiology and Anatomy of Vertebrates with Laboratory

The functional anatomy of vertebrate animals, with an emphasis on comparisons between representative groups. The course will cover topics in thermo-regulatory, osmoregulatory, cardiovascular, respiratory, digestive, muscle and ecological physiology. The laboratories will incorporate the study of preserved materials and physiological experiments. Prerequisite: 109 or 111, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Cameron, Ms. Giffin

205 (1) Genetics with Laboratory

Principles of inheritance, structure and function of hereditary informational molecules, application of genetic principles to biological problems. Laboratory and lecture material selected from plant, animal, microbial and human studies with emphasis on the contribution of recombinant DNA methodology to recent understanding in molecular genetics. Prerequisite: 110 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Webb, Ms. Peterman, Mrs. Dermody, Mrs. Hoults

206 (1) Histology I: Microscopic Anatomy of Mammals with Laboratory

The structure and function of mammalian tissues, and their cells, using light microscopic, histochemical and electron microscopic techniques. Topics covered include the connective tissues, epithelia, nervous tissue, blood, lymphoid tissue and immunology, as well as others. Laboratory study includes direct experience with selected techniques, including tissue sectioning and electron microscopy. Prerequisite: 110.

Mr. Smith

207 (2) The Biology of Plants: "From Photons to Food" with Laboratory

An introduction to the plant kingdom with an emphasis on aspects of biology unique to plants. Topics will include plant diversity and evolution, reproduction and development, the control of growth, photosynthesis, structure and physiology of transport systems, interactions of plants with other organisms and the environment, and applications of genetic engineering to the study and improvement of plants. Laboratory sessions will focus on experimental approaches to the study of plants. Prerequisite: 110 and 111.

Ms. Peterman

209 (2) Microbiology with Laboratory

Introduction to the microbial world with emphasis on bacteria and viruses, using examples of how these microbes influence human activity. Both medical and non-medical applications and useful (food production, genetic engineering) as well as harmful (disease, pollution) consequences of microbes will be discussed along with consideration of biological principles and techniques characterizing the organisms. Prerequisite: 110 and one unit of college chemistry.

Mrs. Allen

210 (1) Marine Biology with Laboratory

Oceans cover more than 70% of the earth's surface and are our planet's primary life support system. This course examines adaptations and interactions of plants, animals and their environments in marine habitats. Focal habitats include the open ocean photic zone, mid-water and deep-sea, intertidal, estuaries, and coral reefs. Emphasis is placed on the dominant organisms and food webs within each habitat. Field trips introduce students to local marine organisms and habitats. Prerequisite: 111 or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Moore

213 (1) Introduction to Psychobiology with Laboratory

An introduction to the study of the relationship between the nervous system and behavior, with particular emphasis on the structure and function of the nervous system. Topics include basic neuroanatomy and neurophysiology, and brain mechanisms involved in such aspects of behavior as emotion, language, motivation, memory, sensation, and cognition. Emphasis on comparison of experiments with animal and human subjects in an effort to shed light on human cognitive functions. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 111 or 109 and Psychology 101.

Ms. Darrou, Mrs. Paul

216 (2) Concepts in Growth and Development with Laboratory

Introduction to principles governing the growth and development of organisms. Lectures and laboratory integrate the use of plant and animal systems to illustrate the concepts of development from the molecular to the gross morphological level. Prerequisite: 110 and 111 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered 1990-91.

302 (2) Animal Physiology with Laboratory

The physiology of organ systems in vertebrates, with some emphasis on humans. The course will focus on recent findings in cardiovascular, endocrine, sensory, neural and muscle physiology. In the laboratory, students gain experience with the tools of modern physiological research, including digital oscilloscopes, amplifiers, pressure transducers, chart recorders and computers. Prerequisite: 200 or 203 or 213 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Cameron, Ms. Darrow

304 (2) Histology II: Human Microscopic Anatomy and Pathology with Laboratory

Analysis of structure: function relationships of human systems, based principally on microscopic techniques. Examination of structural changes caused by selected disease states in each system, as well as discussion of recent literature. Laboratory study includes tissue preparation for electron microscopy, as well as hands-on experience at the transmission electron microscope. Prerequisite: 206. Not offered 1990-91.

305 (2) Seminar. A Brief History of Life

Major events in the history of life. Origin of life from non-life, evolution of replicatory molecules, origin of eukaryotic cellular structure, diversification of organic kingdoms and animal phyla, development of strategies for life in terrestrial environments. Prerequisite: A 200 level Biology course.

Ms. Giffin

306 (2) Embryology and Developmental Biology: Principles of Neural Development with Laboratory

Aspects of nervous system development and how they relate to the development of the organism as a whole. Topics such as axon guidance, programmed cell death, trophic factors, molecular bases of neural development, synaptogenesis, transmitter plasticity, and the development of behavior will be discussed. Laboratory sessions will focus on a variety of methods used to define developing neural systems. Prerequisite: 203 or 213 or 216 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered 1990-91. Offered 1991-92.

307 (2) Topics in Ecology with Laboratory. Ecology of Fresh Waters

This course addresses the physical, chemical, and biological interactions that occur in lakes, reservoirs, and flowing waters. Lectures address selected topics including lake origins, thermal and chemical patterns and processes, nutrient limitation, biological communities, and techniques for conserving and restoring lake and river ecosystems. Course format will include critical analysis and discussion of current research papers, and an independent field project carried out by each student. Prerequisite: 201 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Moore, Mr. Rodenhouse

312 (I) Seminar. Endocrinology

This course involves studying endocrine tissues at several levels of organization. The introductory section covers signal transduction in response to hormones at the cellular level. The second section covers neuroendocrinology (the pituitary gland and its control by the brain) while the final section focuses on selected areas of endocrinology in which several systems (endocrine and nonendocrine) interrelate to control body function, such as reproduction; salt/water metabolism and blood pressure; calcium/phosphate metabolism and bone physiology; growth and development; carbohydrate, protein and lipid metabolism. Prerequisite: 200 or permission of the instructor. 302 is recommended.

Mrs. Coyne

313 (I) Microbial Physiology and Biochemistry with Laboratory

The study of the chemical activities (cellular growth and its physiological basis, metabolic patterns, biochemical and molecular genetics, and the relation of structure to function) of microorganisms as model systems in order to explain living processes in molecular terms. Emphasis on experimental approaches and current literature. In the laboratory, group experimental problems designed to allow the development of research techniques and analysis will be attacked. Prerequisite: 200 or 209 and Chem. 211 or by permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Allen

314 (I) Topics in Microbiology with Laboratory

Topic for 1990-91: Identity and Defense. This course will study the immune system of mammals with an emphasis on humans. Topics will include the generation of the immune response, T and B cell antigen receptors, host response to transplantation, tumor immunology, and malfunctions of the immune system, including acute onset juvenile diabetes, Lupus Erythematosis, and AIDS. The laboratory will involve experiments to induce immunity in animals with subsequent evaluation of humoral and cell mediated immune responses. Prerequisite: 200 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Blazar

315 (2) Research in Neurobiology with Laboratory

Topic for 1990-91: 3-Dimensional Analysis of Neuronal Form and Function. The brain is a complex 3-dimensional network of many different cell types and spatial arrangements which generate a variety of functional outputs. Our focus will be how neuronal architecture is visualized with various technologies and may provide dynamic structural models which critically specify and assess mechanisms of physiologic and behavioral state activity. The strategy of this course is novel in the way it will illustrate macroscopic and ultrastructural integrative aspects of the mammalian nervous system beyond the level of the individual neuron. This approach will permit a 3-dimensional matrix, and to explore the impact of recent scientific advances upon traditional morphologic and physiologic theories. Prerequisite: 213 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Quattroci

316 (2) Molecular Biology with Laboratory

The practical applications of recombinant DNA techniques to the study of the control and organization of animal genes at the molecular level. The course will be centered around a laboratory project designed to provide experience with the methodologies used in molecular biology (e.g., molecular cloning, gene mapping, mutagenesis and expression, DNA sequencing, computer analysis of nucleic acid and protein structure and homology). Prerequisite: 205 and by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Webb

317 (2) Advanced Cellular Biochemistry and Physiology with Laboratory

An in-depth analysis of structure to function relationship in eukaryotic cells. Topics will include the cytoskeleton, microbodies, chloroplast, mitochondria, the endoplasmic reticulum, protein processing, lipid metabolism, the chemistry of vision. Laboratory work will concentrate on methods of protein purification and isolation of organelles. The focus will be microtubules in plants and animals. Techniques utilized involve electrophoresis, electron microscopy, column chromatography, UV/VIS spectrophotometry, spectroscopy, isoelectric focusing, Western blotting. Prerequisite: 200 and Chemistry 211.

Mr. Harris

330 (I) Seminar. Photobiology

The focus of this seminar will be the biological effects of electromagnetic radiation. It will begin with an introduction to basic photophysics and photochemistry. This will provide the background for the consideration of various topics in photobiology. These will include photosynthesis, photomorphogenesis, light dependent rhythms and responses, vision, the biological effects of UV radiation and how to get a good tan.

Mr. Harris

332 (2) Advanced Topics in Psychobiology

Topic for 1990-91: Biological Clocks. Examination of the current state of knowledge of time-measurement in animal systems. Focus on circadian pacemakers in vertebrates: where they are located, how they function and how they coordinate seasonal physiological changes. Discussion of several invertebrate clocks, clock function at the cellular level and the study of oscillators in vitro. Prerequisite: 213.

Ms. Darrow

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open to juniors and seniors by permission of instructor.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of the department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors. Students in 360 and 370 will be expected to participate regularly in the departmental honors seminar. The seminar provides a forum for students conducting independent research to present their work to fellow students and faculty.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Directions for Election

A major in Biological Sciences must include 110 and 111 or their equivalent, and three Grade II courses which must be taken at Wellesley and must be distributed among three of the four groups: (200, 203, 206, 213 – Cell Biology and Physiology); (205, 216 – Genetics and Developmental Biology); (201, 210 – Ecology) and (207, 209 – Botany and Microbiology). Members of the class of '91 must take at least three Grade II courses which must be taken at Wellesley. At least two Grade III units must be taken at Wellesley. One of these Grade III units, exclusive of 350, 360 or 370 work, must require laboratory experience. Students are advised to take both Grade I courses as first year students and to check the prerequisites for Grade III courses carefully so they will have taken the appropriate Grade II courses early enough to enter the Grade III work of their choice. The required Grade II work should be completed within the first 5-6 units in the major. In addition to eight units in biological sciences, two units of college chemistry are also required. Additional chemistry is strongly recommended or required for certain Grade III courses. Chemistry courses 228, [323], [324], 328 and Biological Sciences 350, 360 and 370 do not count toward a minimum major in biology.

Courses 107, 108, 109 and 112 which do not count toward the minimum major in biological sciences do fulfill the College distribution requirements for the degree; 108 and 109 as a laboratory science; 107 and 112 as non-laboratory science courses. Independent summer study will not count toward the minimum major. Course 213 does not fulfill the Group B distribution requirement for biology majors.

Within the major, students may design a program in general biology or one which emphasizes subjects dealing with animals, plants, or microorganisms. A broad training in the various aspects of biology is recommended.

A minor in biological sciences (5 units) consists of: (A) two 100 level units and (B) two 200 level units and (C) one 300 level unit, excluding 350. Students planning a minor should consult the Chair as soon as possible.

Students interested in an interdepartmental major in Biological Chemistry are referred to the section of the Catalog where the program is described. They should consult with Ms. Hicks, the Director of the Biological Chemistry program.

Students interested in an interdepartmental major in Psychobiology are referred to the section of the Catalog where the program is described. They should consult with Mr. Eichenbaum and Ms. Koff, the Directors of the Psychobiology Program.

Students interested in an individual major in Environmental Sciences should consult Mr. Rodenhouse or Ms. Moore.

First year students with advanced placement or with 110 or 111 exemptions wishing to enter upper level courses are advised to consult the chair or the instructor in the course in which they wish to enroll. Units given to students for advanced placement in biology do not count towards the minimum biology major at Wellesley.

Students planning graduate work are advised to take calculus, statistics, organic chemistry, two units of physics, and to acquire a working knowledge of computers and a reading knowledge of a second language. They should consult the catalogs of the schools of their choice for specific requirements.

Premedical students are referred to the requirements given in the Academic Program section.

Black Studies

Professor: Martin, Cudjoe (Chair)

Visiting Professor: Fleurant, Mbere, Nyangoni

Assistant Professor: *Brown-Collins,
Howard-Matthews, Moss*

105 (I) (B²) Introduction to the Black Experience

This course serves as the introductory offering in Black Studies. It explores in an interdisciplinary fashion salient aspects of the Black experience, both ancient and modern, at home and abroad. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Martin

150 (I) (2) Colloquia

For directions for applying see p. 66. Open by permission to a limited number of first year students and sophomore applicants.

a. (2) (B²) The Internationalization of Black Power

The Black Power movement of the 1960s and 1970s represents one of the most militant periods in Afro-American history, similar in many respects to the "New Negro" period after World War I. As was the case with the New Negro movement, the Black Power idea quickly spread to Black populations in many countries. This colloquium will discuss some of the highlights of the Black Power era in the United States, Canada, Britain, and the West Indies. Open to all students.

Mr. Martin

b. (I) (A) Black Autobiography

The purpose of this colloquium is to trace the formal and thematic development of Black autobiography from the early 19th century to the present. We will explore the complex relationship between the community and the individual, the public and the private, the political and the personal aspects of self which shape the Afro-American conception of identity. Authors will include Linda Brent, Frederick Douglass, Ida B. Wells, W.E.B. DuBois, Richard Wright, Maya Angelou, Malcolm X, and others. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cudjoe

c. (2) (A) The Harlem Renaissance

Described variously as The Harlem Renaissance, The New Negro Movement, and Harlem's Golden Age, this period represents a flourishing of the arts in New York in the decade of the 1920s. This colloquium will examine the Harlem Renaissance within the broader historical tradition of Negritude in Afro-American letters as well as within the post-war

American artistic and intellectual revolt against 19th-century beliefs and values. As a movement, the Renaissance symbolized the Black artist's quest for a usable past as well as a sense of self and racial identity. The search for a distinctive tradition led the artist back to a folk culture rooted in slavery, the rural south, the cities in the north, and, even further back, to the ancient African past. The quest for identity led sometimes to personal doubt and racial despair, and other times, to self-pride and racial affirmation. We will examine these journeys of immersion into the fiction, literary debates, and manifestoes of such writers as W.E.B. DuBois, Marcus Garvey, Alain Locke, and Zora Neale Hurston. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cudjoe

d. (2) (B) 1919: The Year of the New Negro

The New Negro period was similar in many ways to the Civil Rights and Black Power era of the 1950s through 1970s. We will examine some of the major problems facing Black people in 1919, including lynching, mob violence and the mistreatment of Afro-American and West Indian soldiers. We will then examine the response to these conditions by Black folk in general, by the Black press and by leaders such as Marcus Garvey, W.E.B. DuBois and A. Philip Randolph. Finally, we will look at the way that state, federal and foreign governments viewed New Negro militancy. Our sources will mostly be newspapers and magazines from 1919. Not offered in 1990-91.

200 (I) (B¹) Africans in Antiquity

Highlights of the African experience in the pre-Christian era: African origins of humankind; African Egypt; Nubia, Kush, and Ethiopia; Egyptian/Ethiopian influences on the beginnings of Western civilization; Africans in Greece and Rome; Africans in the Bible; ancient Africans in the Americas. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Martin

201 (I) (A) The Afro-American Literary Tradition

A survey of the Afro-American experience as depicted in literature from the 18th century through the present. Study of various forms of literary expression including the short story, autobiography, literary criticism, poetry, drama, and essays as they have been used as vehicles of expression for Black writers during and since the slave experience. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cudjoe

202 (2) (B) Introduction to African Philosophy

Initiation into basic African philosophical concepts and principles. The first part of the course deals with a systematic interpretation of such questions as the Bantu African philosophical concept of Muntu and related beliefs, as well as Bantu ontology, metaphysics, and ethics. The second part centers on the relationship between philosophy and ideologies and its implications in Black African social, political, religious, and economic institutions. The approach will be comparative. Open to all students except those who have taken Philosophy 202. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Menkiti

203 (2) Introduction to Afro-American Sociology

Introduction to the development of institutions in the Black community from a sociological perspective. Discussion of the Black family, race, class, and power, social organization, race relations, educational issues, employment and the impact of religion. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Brown-Collins

205 (1) (B²) The Politics of Race Domination in South Africa

The politics of apartheid and racial domination in South Africa; its historical origins and present-day manifestations; the liberation struggle in South Africa; the apartheid system as a threat to international stability. South Africa also examined within the wider context of the region and world system. Open to all students.

Mr. Mbere

206 (2) (B¹) Introduction to Afro-American History, 1500-Present

An introductory survey of the political, social, economic and cultural development of Afro-Americans from their African origins to the present. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Martin

209 (1) Culture, Music and Society in Africa

A survey and appreciative evaluation of the music of Africa, its origins, development and relations to the socio-cultural conditions. The concept of homogeneity of African music will be explored in an effort to arrive at a comprehensive appraisal of the diversity and continuity of the continent's musical styles. Using field recordings, long playing records and documentary films, the student will be exposed to the aesthetics and ethos of the peoples of Africa. Open to all students.

Mr. Fleurant

210 (2) Folk and Ritual Music of the Caribbean

An appreciative evaluation, discussion and analysis of the folk and ritual music of the Caribbean. An effort will be made to survey the musical component of the following Afro-Caribbean cults: Kumina, Rastafari, Shango, Candomble, Macumba, Batuque, Umbanda, Winti, Vodun, Santeria, Lucumi, Quimbiouseur. The concept of marginal retentions and basic issues in the study of African retentions in the Americas will be explored. Using field recordings, long playing records and documentary films, the student will be exposed to the aesthetics and ethos of the peoples of African descent living in the Caribbean. Open to all students.

Mr. Fleurant

211 (2) (A) Introduction to African Literature

The development of African literature in English and in translation. Although special attention will be paid to the novels of Chinua Achebe, writers such as James Ngugi, Camara Laye, Wole Soyinka, Ezekiel Mphahlele, and Christopher Okigbo will also be considered. The influence of oral tradition on these writers' styles as well as the thematic links between them and writers of the Black awakening in America and the West Indies will be discussed as time allows. Offered in alternation with 202. Open to all students.

The Staff

212 (2) (A) Black Women Writers

The Black woman writer's efforts to shape images of herself as Black, as woman and as artist. The problem of literary authority for the Black woman writer, criteria for a Black woman's literary tradition and the relation of Black feminism or "womanism" to the articulation of a distinctively Black and female literary aesthetic. Open to all students.

Mr. Cudjoe

214 (2) (B²) The Supreme Court and Racial Equality

An analysis of the Supreme Court and its impact on the lives and experiences of Black Americans. Particular concern will focus on the Court's role as protector-creator of fundamental rights and privileges for Black Americans. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite and to first year students by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

The Staff

215 (1) (B²) Introduction to Afro-American Politics

An introductory examination of the efforts by Blacks in the United States to realize various degrees of political effectiveness within the context of U.S. politics. Particular attention will be focused on the special difficulties presented by the phenomena of race and racism as Blacks have sought to enjoy full citizenship status in the U.S. Some comparisons with other groups in the American political system offered and considerable emphasis on conflicting theories of participation. Open to all students.

Ms. Moss

216 (I) (B¹) History of the West Indies

Survey of political, economic, and sociological factors shaping West Indian society. Topics covered include Africans in the New World before Columbus, genocide against the indigenous peoples, slavery and slave revolts, immigration and emigration, the West Indies and Africa, the West Indies and Afro-America, the struggle for majority rule, the spread of United States influence, independence and its problems. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

217 (2) The Black Family

An overview of the African-American family in sociological, psychological, economic, anthropological and historical perspectives. Examination of the complex interplay of self-definition and definition among Black women, men and children within the context of their families. Exploration of changing sex roles among Black women and men will be discussed also.

Ms. Brown-Collins

221 (2) Public Policy and Afro-American Interests

Analysis of the diverse roles of Afro-Americans in the making of public policy with some coverage of the significance of class and gender. Critical issues facing public policy as a discipline also addressed. Class simulates the intricate procedures of setting policy in several areas. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Howard-Matthews

222 (I) (B¹) Images of Blacks and Women in American Cinema

A study of the creation of images and their power to influence the reality of race and sex in the American experience. Viewing and analysis of American cinema as an artistic genre and as a vehicle through which cultural and social history is depicted. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

The Staff

223 (I) African Development Since 1940

Survey of the African development experience emphasizing major development theories and strategies, explanations for the contemporary state of affairs and case studies, usually from Ghana, Ivory Coast, Kenya, Tanzania, Zambia, and Libya. Topics: colonial rule and nationalist struggles, class formation and policy making, party systems, sectoral performance and regional integration. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Howard-Matthews

225 (2) (B²) Introduction to Black Psychology

Issues and perspectives in the study of the psychological development of Black people in America, past and present. Special consideration to such issues as: The African-American and European-American ethos, the nature of Black personality as affected by slavery and racism, psychological assessment, treatment and counseling techniques, and the relationships between psychological research and social policy in American research. Open to all students.

Ms. Brown-Collins

230 (I) (B²) The Black Woman in America

Exploration of the characteristics, lifestyles, and reflective thought of Black women in the western hemisphere from a multi-disciplinary perspective. Readings from essays, novels, sociological studies, historical works, poetry and fiction will make students aware of an on-going project concerned with Black women in the northeast and the south. Open to all students.

Ms. Brown-Collins

234 (2) (A) Introduction to West Indian Literature

Survey of contemporary prose and poetry from the English-speaking West Indies. Special attention paid to the development of this literary tradition in a historical-cultural context and in light of the perspectives recent literary theories offer. Authors to include: V.S. Naipul, Derek Walcott, Wilson Harris, Jean Rhys, and others. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cudjoe

266 (2) (A) Black Drama

This course will examine 20th-century Black drama, with a special emphasis on the period of its efflorescence during the Black Arts Movement of the 60s and 70s. We will also explore the Black theatre as a medium of aesthetic expression and communal ritual as well as an instrument of political consciousness and social change. Playwrights will include Douglass Turner Ward, Alice Childress, Ossie Davis, Lorraine Hansberry, James Baldwin, Ed Bullins, Adrienne Kennedy, LeRoi Jones (Amiri Baraka), Ntozake Shange, and others. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

The Staff

298 (2) African Drama

This course introduces students to the origins and development of African drama as a cultural, social and political vehicle for expression and protest. The course will focus on West Africa, East Africa and South Africa where theatre is an effective vehicle for social and political change. It includes the works of such major African playwrights as Wole Soyinka of Nigeria, Ngugi wa Thiong'o of East Africa, and Athol Fugard of South Africa.

The Staff

310 (2) (A) Seminar. Black Literature

Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cudjoe

315 (1) Seminar. The Psychology of Race Relations

Examination of the psychology of prejudice and racism as they exist in American society. Exploration of the causes, development, expressions and consequences of prejudice and racism through experiential exercises, readings, group projects and discussions. Students will be encouraged to gain personal insight into the nature of prejudice-acquisition as well as to understand the theoretical complexity of its nature.

Ms. Brown-Collins

318 (2) Seminar. Women and the African Quest for Modernization and Liberation

Comparative analysis of the role of women in development with emphasis on the struggle within struggle—the movement to achieve political and economic progress for Africa and its people and the struggle within that movement to address problems and issues that directly affect women. Exploration of women's participation in political movements and ways to improve the status of women. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Howard-Matthews

319 (1) (B) Pan-Africanism

The historical efforts of African peoples all over the world to unite for their mutual advancement. Such topics as 19th-century emigrationist movements to Liberia and elsewhere, the role of Afro-American churches in African nationalism, the Pan-African Congress of W.E.B. DuBois, the Garvey movement, the Communist International and Pan-Africanism, Pan-Africanism in the 1960s, Pan-Africanism on the African continent. Open to juniors and seniors with a strong background in Black Studies and by special permission to sophomores. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Martin

335 (2) (A) Women Writers of the English-Speaking Caribbean

An examination of the women writers of the English-speaking Caribbean, their contexts and contributions to West Indian literature. Special attention shall be given to their contributions to contemporary feminist discourses. Readings include the writings of Rhys, Guy, Kincaid, Hodge, Nunez-Harrel, Allfrey, Shinebourne, Goodison and critical essays by these and other writers. This course will emphasize research techniques and independent projects. Prerequisite: same as 319. Not open to students who have taken 235. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cudjoe

340 (2) (B¹) Seminar. Topics in African-American History

Topic for 1990-91: Twentieth-century Black intellectual history. Intensive look at selected figures whose ideas have impacted heavily on the Black world of the last decades. The main figures studied will be C.L.R. James, Kwame Nkrumah, Frantz Fanon and Malcolm X. Open to juniors and seniors with a strong background in Black Studies and by permission of the instructor to sophomores.

Mr. Martin

344 (1) (B²) Seminar. Interdisciplinary Perspectives in Black Family Studies

An examination of the evolution of the Black American family and an analysis of its intrafamilial structure and interface with other social institutions, the State and Public policies. Critical evaluation of the scholarship on Black family studies. Consideration of the historical development of Black nuclear and/or extended families, and male and/or female headed households. Analysis of kinship modes, sexuality, age and gender relations, child care, family planning, the rural-urban setting, migration, land loss and unemployment; and the legal and economic infrastructure of the State and public welfare policies. Open to qualified juniors and seniors. Not offered in 1990-91.

The Staff

345 (2) (B²) Seminar. Women and International Development

Interdisciplinary approaches to examining the impact of change on contemporary events which have shaped international development with an analysis of applicable development theories as they identify salient issues in women's lives. The cross-cultural focus examines Women of Color in the West and elsewhere in the Third World through some of these issues: agriculture, health, nutrition, urban living, education and communications, family planning, women's organizations, technology, the law, energy, migration and employment, public administration and religion. Open to qualified juniors and seniors. 230 is strongly recommended. Not offered in 1990-91.

The Staff

350 (I) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (I) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (I) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Cross-Listed Courses

The following courses are offered as related work by other departments where they are described. Courses from this list may be counted toward the major, provided that a minimum of six courses is elected from the Black Studies departmental offerings.

History 264 (I)

History of Precolonial Africa. Not offered in 1990-91.

History 265 (I)

History of Modern Africa

Music 106 (I)

Afro-American Music

Directions for Election

The requirements for the major are consistent with the concept of Black Studies as a multidisciplinary field of study. The requirements are designed to provide a wide range of knowledge and analytical ability as well as a firm foundation in an area of specialization, such as sociology, history, political science, or literature.

It is suggested that two units be elected in each of the three general areas of Black history, humanities, and the social sciences as multidisciplinary training. As the basic introduction to the discipline of Black Studies, 105 is strongly recommended of all majors. Units taken at another institution to fulfill any departmental requirements must be approved by the department.

A minimum of six courses must be elected from Black Studies department courses. The others may be elected, after consultation with your advisor, from related courses taught in other departments or from courses taken on exchange.

A minor in Black Studies consists of five units. 105 is strongly recommended. At least three should be above the 100 level, and at least one must be at the 300 level. In keeping with the interdisciplinary nature of the department, it is recommended that at least one course must be taken from among those courses in the department that satisfy the distribution requirement in Groups A and B.

Chemistry

Professor: Rock, Loeblin^A, Hicks, Kolodny (Chair), Coleman, Hearn

Associate Professor: Merritt, Haines

Assistant Professor: McGowan, Schneider, Stanley, Wolfson,

Laboratory Instructor: Arumainayagan, Darlington, Mann, Smith, Lieberman, Trecoske

Unless otherwise noted, all courses meet for two periods of lecture and one three-and-one-half hour laboratory appointment weekly and one 50-minute discussion period every other week, at the pleasure of the instructor. Chemistry 101, 227, 306 and the selected topics courses will generally be taught without laboratory, but may include laboratory for some topics.

The Chemistry Department reviews elections of introductory chemistry students and places them in 113, 114, 115 or 120 according to their previous preparation and entrance examination scores.

Ordinarily, students who have taken one year of high school chemistry should elect Chemistry 114. Chemistry 113, intended for students who have not studied chemistry within the past four years or whose preparation is insufficient for 114, leads to 115. Chemistry 120 replaces 114 and 115 for some students with more than one year of high school chemistry.

Contact lenses may not be worn in any chemistry laboratories.

101 (2) Contemporary Problems in Chemistry

Consideration of selected aspects of chemistry and related chemical concepts. Open to all students except those who have taken any Grade I course in the department.

Ms. McGowan

102 (2) Contemporary Problems in Chemistry with Laboratory

Consideration of selected aspects of chemistry and related chemical concepts. Open to all students except those who have taken any Grade I course in the department.

Ms. McGowan

113 (1) Fundamentals of Chemistry with Laboratory

The periodic table, chemical formulas and stoichiometry, atomic and molecular structure, chemical bonding and energetics, transition-metal complexes, and states of matter. Three periods of lecture and one three-and-one-half hour laboratory appointment weekly. Open only to students who have not taken a chemistry course within the past four years, and to students who think that their preparation in high school chemistry is equivalent to less than one full year. Successful completion of 113 satisfies the prerequisite for 115.

114 (1) (2) Introductory Chemistry I with Laboratory

Atomic and molecular structure, chemical bonding and energetics, transition-metal complexes, states of matter, and review of stoichiometry. Open only to students who have taken at least one year of high school chemistry. Not open to students who have taken 113.

The Staff

115 (1) (2) Introductory Chemistry II with Laboratory

Properties of solutions, chemical equilibrium and kinetics, acids and bases, thermodynamics and electrochemistry. Prerequisite: 113 or 114.

The Staff

120 (1) Intensive Introductory Chemistry with Laboratory

A one-semester alternative to Introductory Chemistry I and II for students who have taken more than one year of high school chemistry. Atomic and molecular structure, chemical bonding, and energetics, acids and bases, transition-metal complexes, equilibrium and kinetics, thermodynamics and electrochemistry. Three periods of lecture and one three-and-one-half-hour laboratory appointment weekly. Open only to students who have taken more than one year of high school chemistry. Not open to students who have taken any Grade I chemistry course.

Mr. Coleman

211 (1) (2) Organic Chemistry I with Laboratory

Stereochemistry, synthesis and reactions of hydrocarbons, alkyl halides, alcohols and ethers. Prerequisite: 115 or 120 or by permission of the department.

The Staff

227 (2) Introduction to Biochemistry

A comprehensive overview of the structure of macromolecules, bioenergetics and metabolism. No laboratory. Three periods of lecture per week. Beginning with the Class of 1990 this course cannot be counted toward a minimum major in Chemistry. Prerequisite: 211.

Ms. Wolfson

228 (I) Biochemistry I: Structure and Function of Macromolecules with Laboratory

A study of the chemistry of proteins, nucleic acids and other macromolecules with emphasis on structure-function relationships and methodology. Prerequisite: Biological Sciences 200 and Chemistry 211, or Chemistry 211 and 313.

Ms. Wolfson

231 (I) (2) Physical Chemistry I with Laboratory

Properties of gases, chemical thermodynamics, properties of solutions and chemical kinetics. Prerequisite: 115, 120, or by permission of the department, and Mathematics 116 and Physics 107.

The Staff

241 (2) Inorganic Chemistry with Laboratory

Structure of atoms, periodic properties, group theory, bonding models for inorganic systems, chemistry of ionic compounds, non-metals, transition metal complexes, organometallic and bioinorganic chemistry. Prerequisite: 313.

Mr. Coleman

261 (I) Analytical Chemistry with Laboratory

Classical and instrumental methods of separation and analysis, quantitative manipulations, statistical treatment of data. Prerequisite: 115 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Merritt

306 (2) Seminar

Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

313 (I) (2) Organic Chemistry II with Laboratory

A continuation of 211. Includes spectroscopy, chemical literature, synthesis, reactions of aromatic and carbonyl compounds, amines, and carbohydrates. Prerequisite: 211.

The Staff

319 (I) Selected Topics in Organic Chemistry

Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

328 (2) Biochemistry II: Chemical Aspects of Metabolism with Laboratory

An examination of reaction mechanisms, mechanisms of enzyme and coenzyme action, interrelationships and regulation of metabolic pathways. Prerequisite: 228.

Ms. Hicks

329 (I) Selected Topics in Biochemistry

Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

333 (2) Physical Chemistry II with Laboratory

Quantum chemistry and spectroscopy. Structure of solids. Prerequisites: 231, Physics 108 and Mathematics 205 or Extradepartmental 216.

Ms. Kolodny

339 (2) Selected Topics in Physical Chemistry

Magnetic resonance spectroscopy and imaging. Theory, instrumentation and applications of MRS and MRI will be studied using the relevant current literature in physics, chemistry, medicine and biology. Prerequisite: 231 or 333 or Physics 202 or 222; or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Kolodny

349 (I) Selected Topics in Inorganic Chemistry

Spectroscopy of Inorganic Systems. Will cover a variety of spectroscopic techniques and their applications to studying inorganic systems—structure and dynamics. Methods to be considered include infrared, Raman, photoelectron, Mossbauer, visible-UV, ESR, multinuclear NMR and mass spectrosopies. Prerequisite: 241.

Mr. Coleman

350 (I) (2) Research or Individual Study

Open by permission to students who have taken at least two units in chemistry above the Grade I level.

360 (I) (2) Senior Thesis

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors. Students in 360 and 370 will be expected to participate regularly in the departmental honors seminar. The seminar provides a forum for students conducting independent research to present their work to fellow students and faculty.

363 (2) Instrumental Analysis with Laboratory

Instrumental analysis with emphasis on data acquisition and manipulation. Electrochemical, spectroscopic and separation techniques for quantitative analysis. The laboratory will focus on the analysis of materials of environmental and/or biological importance. Prerequisite: 261 or by permission of the department.

Ms. Merritt

370 (I) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

Chemistry 113 or 114 serves as prerequisite for 115. Final assignment to one of these courses or to 120 will be made by the Chemistry Department.

Any student who plans to take chemistry beyond 115 or 120 should consult a member of the Chemistry Department faculty. The Department Handbook, available in the department office, contains specific suggestions about programs and deals with a variety of topics including preparation in mathematics and physics, graduate programs and careers of former majors.

A major in chemistry includes: Chemistry 113 and 115, or 114 and 115, or 120; 211, 231, 313, and 333; two of the three courses 228, 241 or 261; either (option 1) two additional units of chemistry at the Grade II or Grade III level, at least one of which must include laboratory or (option 2) one additional unit of chemistry at the Grade II or Grade III level and a Grade II unit of Physics with laboratory (excluding 219). Independent study courses (350, 360 and 370) may be counted as one of the additional requirements in option 1 and as the additional chemistry requirement in option 2. An independent study course which is predominantly a reading course cannot be used to satisfy the laboratory requirement of option 1. In addition, Mathematics 205 or Extradepartmental 216, and Physics 107 and 108 are required. The mathematics and physics courses may be counted toward a minor in those departments. Early completion of the Physics requirement is encouraged.

Students interested in biochemistry or biological chemistry are referred to the section of the Catalog where the interdepartmental major in Biological Chemistry is described. They should consult with the Director of the Biological Chemistry program.

All students majoring in chemistry are urged to develop proficiency in the use of one or more computer languages.

A minor in chemistry (5 units for 120 option, 6 units for 113/115 or 114/115 option) consists of: Chemistry 113/115 or 114/115 or 120; 211 and 231; a choice of 228, 241 or 261; 1 additional 200 or 300 level unit, excluding 350. The mathematics and physics prerequisites for Chemistry 231 must also be satisfied. Normally no more than 1 unit in Chemistry from another institution may be counted toward the minor.

Students planning graduate work in chemistry or closely allied fields should strongly consider additional mathematics and physics courses.

The American Chemical Society has established a set of requirements which it considers essential for the training of chemists. Students wishing to meet the standard of an accredited chemist as defined by this society should consult the Chair of the Department of Chemistry.

Placement and Exemption Examinations

For exemption with credit, students will be expected to submit laboratory notebooks or reports.

Chinese

Professor: Ma (Chair)

Associate Professor: Lam

Assistant Professor: Sung^A, Smitharam

Lecturer: Yao

Visiting Lecturer: Liu

Teaching Assistant: Ni

101 (1-2) Elementary Spoken Chinese 2

Introduction to vernacular Mandarin Chinese. Pronunciation, sentence structure, and conversation. Three 50-minute periods. 101 and 102 combined form the first year Chinese course. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Open to all students with no background or no previous formal Chinese language training. Corequisite: 102.

Mrs. Ma and the Staff

102 (1-2) Basic Chinese Reading and Writing

Analysis of grammar and development of reading skills of simple texts and in character writing in both regular and simplified forms. Two 70-minute periods. 101 and 102 combined form the first-year Chinese course. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Open to all students with no background or no previous formal Chinese language training. Corequisite: 101.

Mrs. Ma and the Staff

105 (I) Master Works of Chinese Literature and Civilization

Introduction to themes central to traditional Chinese civilization through English translations of selected literary, historical and philosophical texts. Readings from the Book of Songs (10th-6th centuries B.C.), the Book of Changes, the Confucian classics, Taoist literature, Sima Qian's Records of the Grand Historian, Chinese mythology, Romance of the Three Kingdoms, and Tang dynasty (618-907 A.D.) tales of the supernatural. No previous exposure to Asian culture or knowledge of the Chinese language necessary. Open to all students.

Mr. Smitharam

141 (2) China on Film

West looks East through the camera's eye: a cinematic exploration of Western conception of twentieth-century China. Films, primarily documentary, will be analyzed in their historical context, supplemented by readings on both background material and film criticism. Focus on major shift of dominant Western opinion toward China. Course conducted in English. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

151 (I) Advanced Elementary Chinese I

Intensive oral training and practice in reading and writing with particular stress on sentence structure and vocabulary building. Open to students who can read and write some Chinese with a speaking ability of either Mandarin or any kind of Chinese dialect. More advanced students can enroll for second semester for 152 only by permission of the department chair.

Mrs. Yao

152 (2) Advanced Elementary Chinese II

Logical continuation of 151. Students are urged to take both 151 and 152. Two units of credit are given only after completion of 152, the preparation for advanced work in 201-202. Prerequisite: more advanced students can be enrolled for only 152 by permission of the department chair.

Mrs. Yao

201 (1-2) Intermediate Chinese Conversation

The aim of this course is to improve aural understanding and speaking "everyday Chinese" through drills, discussions, listening to cassettes and watching videotapes. Three 50-minute periods. 201 and 202 combined form the second year Chinese course. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: 101 and 102 taken concurrently, or 152, and by permission of the instructor. Corequisite: 202.

Mrs. Lam and the Staff

202 (1-2) Intermediate Chinese Reading 2

Objectives of this course are to consolidate the foundations built in Elementary Chinese and to develop sentence structure and vocabulary. The emphasis is on reading simple texts, developing an expository style, writing short answers and essays in response to questions about the text. Two 70-minute periods. 201 and 202 combined form the second year Chinese course. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: same as for 201. Corequisite: 201.

Mrs. Lam and the Staff

213 (I) Diverse Cultures of China

Exploration of a series of historical topics with focus on cultural development among the major minority groups living in China from the 7th to the 20th century and their place in the patterns and themes of modern China's culture. Classes taught in English. Open to all students, except those who have taken 106 or 107.

Mrs. Lam

241 (2) Chinese Poetry and Drama in Translation

A survey of Chinese literature of classical antiquity with emphasis on works of lyrical nature. Readings will include selections from the Book of Songs, elegiac poetry of Qu Yuan and works by the great poets of the Tang and Song dynasties. The course concludes with an introduction to poetic drama of the Yuan Dynasty. Comparative analysis with other world literatures will be encouraged. Classes in English. Open to all students.

Mr. Smitharam

242 (2) Chinese Fiction in Translation

A survey of Chinese narrative literature from the medieval period to the present, including short stories from the T'ang Dynasty to the end of the Ming, selections from the great classic novels of the Ming and Ching Dynasties, and prose fiction by 20th-century authors. Discussions will focus on the different stylistic developments of high- and low-culture literature, the social significance of this literature, and the writer's perceptions of the customs, institutions, and conflict of his/her historical environment. Classes in English. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

301 (I) Advanced Chinese I

Advanced training is given in all the language skills, with focus on reading and discussion in Chinese of selections from contemporary Chinese writings on various topics from both Taiwan and Mainland China. 301 and its companion 302 (2) constitute the third year of the Chinese language program. Three periods. Prerequisite: 201-202, or permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Yao

302 (2) Advanced Chinese II

301 and 302 are two one-semester courses, which taken in sequence constitute the third year of the Chinese language program. Advanced language skills are further developed, but more time is devoted to learning to read various styles of modern Chinese writing. Three periods. Prerequisite: 301 or permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Lam

303 (2) Advanced Chinese Conversation

Course is designed for high-level students who wish to refine their proficiency in Chinese, enhancing it with specialized functional terminology and modes of expression for specific contexts and situations. Short radio plays, news broadcasts, and video films will be used in this course. Three periods. Prerequisite: 301 or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Yao

305 (2) Readings in Expository Writings of People's Republic of China

Readings and discussions in Chinese of selections from People's Republic of China including the works of Mao Zedong and important issues of various current events and focus on practice in writing and translating skills. Three periods. Prerequisite: 301 and/or 302, or permission of the instructor. Not open to students who have taken 275. Not offered in 1990-91.

310 (I) Introduction to Literary Chinese

Wen-yan grammar, reading, and discussion in Chinese with concentration on analyzing the grammar of classical Chinese and further strengthening students' writing skills in vernacular Chinese style. Three 50-minute periods. Prerequisite: 301 and/or 302, or 305, or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Liu

311 (2) Readings in Classical Chinese

Reading and discussion in Chinese of selections of poetry, prose, traditional short stories, and novels. Two periods. Prerequisite: 310 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Liu

312 (2) Readings in Contemporary Developmental Issues of China

Texts from Mainland China and Taiwan chosen to improve reading, discussion, and translation skills. Emphasis on issues of contemporary cultural development as seen in works of scholarship, government publications, and case studies documenting various developmental models. Where applicable, students may translate western studies of Chinese development from English to Chinese and apply their knowledge in comparing socioeconomic and political models. Offered in alternate years. Open to students who have taken at least one Grade III course by permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Lam

316 (I) Seminar, Chinese Literature in the Twentieth Century

Topic for 1990-91: Revolution and Retrenchment in Modern Chinese Literature: The Failure of Modernity? Exploration of the theme of modernity as it relates to 1) the representation of the individual within works of literature and 2) criticism concerning the function of literature within works of literature and 3) criticism concerning the function of literature within the context of society and ideology. Readings will include selections from novels, short stories and poetry as well as critical essays by Chinese and Western critics. Taught mostly in Chinese; most of the readings will be in Chinese. Prerequisite: 302, 305, 310, 311, or 312, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Smitharam

330 (2) Literary Images of Women of Intellect, East and West, Eighteenth and Nineteenth Centuries

Comparative study of the attitudes toward women through analysis of eighteenth and nineteenth century novels of China, Russia, France, England and America. Open by permission of the instructor to students who have taken one Grade II course in any literature. Taught in English.

349 (2) Seminar. Topics in Literary Chinese

Reading and discussion in Chinese of premodern literary writings. This course is conducted in Chinese. Topic will be changed every year so students can elect repeatedly. Prerequisite: 310 or 311 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Smitharam

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to qualified students.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

Students who are interested in the area of Chinese have two options to consider for a major: 1. Chinese major, mainly working on language and literature; 2. Chinese Studies, Chinese Studies in general with Chinese language proficiency. Although only two years of Chinese language are required for language proficiency, an extensive language training and ability to read literature in the original are strongly recommended. The individual should consult the chair of the department and the advisor early in the college career.

A major in Chinese language and literature must first complete prerequisite courses Chinese 101-102 or Chinese 151 and 152, or their equivalent. Chinese 101-102 counts as 3 units, 2 in the first semester and

1 in the second, and Chinese 151 and 152 count as 2 units toward the degree. Neither 101-102 nor 151-152 counts towards the major. The major requirements may be met by completing an additional 8 course units as follows: all of Chinese 201-202, 301 and 302; at least one course from among Chinese 303, 305, 310, 311 and 312; one seminar course—either 316 or 349; and one course taught in English from among Chinese 105, 141, 213, 241, 242 and 330. Students are encouraged to take History 276 and/or Political Science 208 for further background in Chinese culture.

Course 350 is an opportunity for properly qualified students to work independently in fields not covered in other courses in the department. Students taking 350 are required to use original Chinese source material.

Requirements for a minor in Chinese language and literature may be met by completing a minimum of 5 units, including the following required courses: Chinese 301 and 302; at least two of the following: Chinese 303, 305, 310, 311, 312, 316 and 349; and one course on Chinese literature or culture taught in English from the among the following: Chinese 105, 141, 213, 241, 242 and 330. Students are encouraged to take History 275, 276 or Political Science 208 for further background in Chinese culture.

The transfer of credit (either from another American institution or from a language program abroad) is not automatic. A maximum of 3 units may transferred toward the major. Students wishing to transfer credit should be advised that a minimum of 6 units of course work in the Chinese Department must be completed. Transfer students from other institutions are required to take a placement test administered by the Chinese Department. It is essential that proof of course content and performance in the form of syllabi, written work, examinations and grades be presented to the Chinese Department chair.

Students planning to study abroad must obtain prior consent for their program of study from the Registrar's Office and the Chinese Department chair. Upon returning to Wellesley, students must take a Chinese Department placement test and obtain final approval for transfer of credits from the Department faculty.

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Joseph, Ma

The major in Chinese Studies is designed for students whose interests are in areas other than language or literature. It requires at least two years of Chinese language training and a minimum of four units from among the courses listed below, at least two of which must be from outside the Chinese Department.

Classical Civilization

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Geffcken

Students who wish a Classical Civilization Major can plan with the Departments of Greek and Latin an appropriate sequence of courses, which might include work in art, history, philosophy, and literature. Such a program should always contain at least four units in the original language.

101 (2)(A) Classical Literature: An Introduction

Reading in translation from the greatest and most influential works of ancient Greece and Rome, including such authors as Homer, Aeschylus, Sophocles, Euripides, Plato, Aristotle, Cicero, Horace, Vergil, and Ovid. The works in their own social, historical, and literary contexts; their influence on later ages. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Starr

104 (1)(A) Classical Mythology

The more important classical myths read in English translations of Greek and Latin authors; their religious origins; their expression in ancient literature and art; their later influence. Open to all students.

Mrs. Lefkowitz

Classical Civilization 120/Writing 125B (2) (A) Epic Vision in Homer and Vergil

Gods and goddesses, heroes and heroines in Homer's Iliad and Odyssey and in Vergil's Aeneid. The relations between human and divine characters. Reading of the poems in translation and of recent critical essays on the epics. Emphasis on development of writing skills. Course fulfills freshman writing requirement, and also counts as unit for Group A distribution requirement and Classical Civilization major. Three meetings. Open only to first year students.

Miss Geffcken

215 (2)(B) Gender and Society in Antiquity

The relationship of gender roles, family structure, and male and female sexuality to larger issues of daily life in Ancient Greece and Rome—religion, politics, economics, the creative and intellectual climate of the periods. Readings include: Homer, Sappho, Greek and Roman drama, Cicero, lyric poets as well as non-literary sources such as legal documents, philosophical works and funerary inscriptions. Open to all students.

Ms. Dougherty-Gleann

216 (2)(B) Literature and Society in the Age of the Emperor Augustus

The transformation of the Roman Republic into the Roman Empire; the aristocracy; its role in the new Empire and its views of Augustus; the functions of literature in early Imperial Rome, including imperial patronage and its effects, literary propaganda and literary resistance, the public and the private spheres of both writers and their audiences. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

The Staff

232 (2) The Bay of Naples

The Roman life of luxury at ancient Italy's loveliest and most notorious pleasure spot; the interplay of the Roman conceptions of leisure, decadence, and culture and their manifestation in the rich villas and cities buried by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius. Extensive selections in translation from a wide variety of ancient poets and prose-writers; some study of the artistic and archaeological evidence. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Colatizzi

243 (1)(B) Roman Law

Ancient Roman civil law; its early development, codification, and continuing alteration; its historical and social context (property, family, slavery); its influence on other legal systems. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Starr

245 (1) (B) Roman Slavery

Ancient Roman slavery in its social and historical setting. The role of slavery in Roman society and the Roman economy. Sources of slaves: home-born slaves, the slave trade, military conquest, the question of slave-breeding. Slave-owners and their attitudes towards slaves and slavery. The treatment, lives, and occupations of slaves, from miners to educators. The lives and legal and social positions of freed slaves. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Starr

305 (2)(A) Ancient Epic

Close reading in translation of the epic poems of Homer, Apollonius of Rhodes, Vergil, Ovid, and Lucan. Development of the genre from its roots in the oral culture of early Greece to its more literary form in the Hellenistic and Roman periods. Conventions and narrative techniques; use of mythic and contemporary/historical materials; role of the hero and the gods; interaction between individual poetic artistry and the traditional expectations of the genre. Prerequisite: 101 or 104 or any literature course in English or a foreign language or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Dougherty-Glenn

310 (2)(A) Greek Drama in Translation

Intensive study, in English translation, of tragedies by Aeschylus, Sophocles, and Euripides and comedies by Aristophanes and Menander. The survival in literary form of primitive ritual; the development of new mythic patterns on ancient models; the role of contemporary psychoanalytic theory in evaluating the social function and structure of drama; the reflection of contemporary social and political issues in drama. Prerequisite: 101 or 104 or any literature course in English or a foreign language or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Maurizio

326 (1)(B) The Ancient City

The ancient city as the characteristic social unit of the Graeco-Roman world and precursor of the modern city. The organization of cities; city planning, architecture, and social structure; the status of gender in the Athenian and Roman empires; the contribution of cities to the dissemination of Greek and Roman civilization. Focus on Athens, Rome, and Jerusalem. Prerequisite: History 229, 230, or by permission of the instructor.

Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Marvin

The purpose of a major in Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology is to acquaint the student with the complex societies of the Old World in antiquity.

The program for each student will be planned individually from courses in the Departments of Anthropology, Art, Greek, History, Latin, Philosophy, and Religion as well as from the architecture and anthropology programs at MIT. The introductory course in archaeology (Anthropology 106) or its equivalent is required for all archaeology majors.

Students who concentrate in classical archaeology must normally have at least an elementary knowledge of both Greek and Latin, and take both Greek and Roman history as well as Greek and Roman art. Students who concentrate on the ancient Near East must have an elementary knowledge of one ancient Near Eastern language (attention is called to the Brandeis exchange program) and take Anthropology 242 which details the emergence of early urban societies in the Near East, Religion 203 which traces their later history, and Egyptian Art (Art 201).

Students should plan for at least one summer of excavation and/or travel. Scholarship aid for this travel is available from the Stecher Fund for qualified students.

Cognitive Science

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Lucas

A major in Cognitive Science is designed to provide students with the breadth necessary for an interdisciplinary approach to the study of the mind, as well as with substantive training in one of the component disciplines (Psychology, Artificial Intelligence, Linguistics, or Philosophy).

Students majoring in cognitive science must take three of the following four courses, although it is strongly recommended that all four courses be taken. In choosing courses students should be aware of prerequisites for core and concentration courses. A minimum of nine courses is required for the major.

Computer Science 111 (1) (2)

Introduction to Computer Science

Psychology 101 (1) (2)

Introduction to Psychology

Philosophy 215 (1)

Philosophy of Mind

Language Studies 114 (1)

Introduction to Linguistics

In addition, students must take the following three courses:

Computer Science 230 (1) (2)

Data Structures

Psychology 217 (1)

Memory and Cognition

Psychology 330 (1)

Seminar: Cognitive Science

The student must also design a concentration for the major that involves a minimum of four courses, one of which must be at the 300 level. In designing concentrations, students may choose from the following list of electives:

Computer Science 231 (1)

Fundamental Algorithms

Computer Science 232 (2)

Artificial Intelligence

Computer Science 235 (2)

Computer Science

Associate Professor: Shull

Assistant Professor: Gauch, Herskovits, Khuri, Wright

Lecturer: Baldwin, Lonske

Teaching Assistant: Garneau

110 (I) (2) Computers and Programming

A broad introduction to computers and the art of programming. Students will learn a high-level programming language, and ways to solve problems and implement solutions on a computer. They will also be introduced to the fundamental concepts and applications of computer science. Open to all students. BASIC will be taught in 1990-91. No prior background with computers or mathematics is expected. Students planning to take more advanced computer science courses should take 111, not 110.

Mr. Baldwin

111 (I) (2) Introduction to Computer Science

Introduction to the science of problem-solving and programming. Emphasis is on techniques of algorithm development and programming style. A high-level, block-structured computer programming language is used as a vehicle for that purpose. Topics include: top-down design and stepwise refinement techniques, some searching and sorting algorithms, numerical examples, and business applications involving data manipulation. Students will also be required to complete a term project of reasonable complexity. Open to all students. PASCAL will be taught in 1990-91. Required from students who wish to major in computer science or elect more advanced courses in the field.

Mr. Khuri, Ms. Gauch

230 (I) (2) Data Structures

An introduction to the theory and applications of data structuring techniques. Topics include: internal data representations, abstract data types, stacks, recursion, queues, list structures, hashing, trees, and graphs; algorithms for searching and sorting, and methods for determining their efficiency. Prerequisite: 111 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Lonske

231 (I) Fundamental Algorithms

An introduction to the design and implementation of fundamental algorithms. Divide-and-conquer, greedy, dynamic programming and backtracking algorithms are covered. Topics include: sorting and searching, graph algorithms, NP-completeness, and parallel programming. Prerequisite: 230.

Mr. Khuri

232 (I) Artificial Intelligence

An introduction to the basic problems and methods of artificial intelligence. To provide a basis for a realistic and concrete understanding of the field, the first part of the course will be a study of the artificial intelligence language LISP. Topics considered in the second part will include knowledge representation, problem solving, logic and deduction, vision, natural language, and planning of expert systems. Prerequisite: 230 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Herskovits

235 (2) Languages and Automata

An introduction to the concepts of languages and automata. Topics include languages, regular expressions, finite automata, grammars, pushdown automata and Turing machines. Prerequisite: 230, Mathematics 225 (may be concurrent registration).

Mr. Khuri

240 (I) Introduction to Machine Organization with Laboratory

An introduction to machine organization and assembly language programming. Topics include an overview of computer organization, introduction to digital logic and microprogramming, the conventional machine level and assembly language programming, and introduction to operating systems. The course includes one three-hour laboratory appointment weekly. Prerequisite: 230.

Mr. Shull

241 (2) Operating Systems

A survey of operating systems and computer systems architecture. Topics include device management, file systems, multiprocess environments, and memory management. Additional topics as time permits. Prerequisite: 240. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Wright

249 (2) Topics in Computer Science

Topic for 1991: The Theory of Programming Languages. An introduction to the theory of the design and implementation of contemporary programming languages. Topics include the study of programming language syntax, comparison of different types of language processors, study of language representations, and comparison of different language styles, including procedural, functional, object oriented, and logic programming languages. Prerequisite: 230.

Ms. Gauch

301 (I) Compiler Design

A survey of the techniques used in the implementation of programming language translators. Topics include lexical analysis, the theory of parsing and automatic parser generators, semantic analysis, code generation, and optimization techniques. Prerequisite: 235 (may be concurrent registration), 240. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Shull

304 Database Systems

An introduction to the principles of database systems. Topics include: file organization; relational, network and hierarchical data models; query languages; relational database theory; security; and concurrent operations. Prerequisite: 230 and at least one other Grade II course in computer science, Mathematics 225. Not offered in 1990-91.

305 Theory of Algorithms

A survey of topics in the analysis of algorithms and in theoretical computer science. Emphasis is placed on asymptotic analysis of the time and space complexity of algorithms. Topics will include fast algorithms for combinatorial problems, introduction to complexity theory and the theory of NP-complete problems. Prerequisite: 231, Mathematics 225. Not offered in 1990-91.

307 Introduction to Computer Graphics

A survey of topics in computer graphics with an emphasis on fundamental techniques. Topics include: an exploration of different types of display hardware, fundamentals of two and three dimensional graphics such as clipping, windowing, and coordinate transformations, raster graphics techniques such as line drawing and filling algorithms. Prerequisite: 231. Not offered 1990-1991.

310 Mathematical Foundations of Computer Science

A survey of topics in mathematical theory of computation. Topics include: Turing machines (including nondeterministic and universal machines), recursive function theory, Church's thesis, the halting problem and propositional calculus. Prerequisite: 235, Mathematics 225. Not offered 1990-91.

332 Topics in Artificial Intelligence

A study of selected research areas of artificial intelligence, with a strong emphasis on the development of AI programming techniques. Topics will include some of the following: deductive information retrieval, planning, frame systems, parsing with augmented transition nets, language comprehension, production systems. Course requirements include a substantial programming project. Prerequisite: 232. Not offered in 1990-91.

333 Computer Models of Natural Language

Central to the field of Artificial Intelligence is a new approach to the study of ordinary languages like English. We will examine how computer models shed light on the nature of language and communication. Topics include: syntax and parsing; semantics and knowledge representation; semantic analysis; reasoning and language comprehension and production; pragmatics and computer models of discourse. Prerequisite: 230 or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

340 (2) Computer Architecture with Laboratory

An examination of computer hardware organization. Topics include: architecture of digital systems (gates, registers, combinatorial and sequential networks), fundamental building blocks of digital computers, control logic, microprogramming, microprocessor, pipelined and multiprocessor systems and new technologies. The course includes one three-hour digital laboratory appointment weekly. Prerequisite: 240. Not offered in 1990-92.

Mr. Shull

349 (I) Topics in Computer Science

Topic for 1990-91: Neural Networks. An exploration and understanding of the underlying principles of the biologically inspired computational systems known as neural networks. Minsky & Papert's perceptron; the Boltzmann machine; Hopfield, Grossberg, and Kohonen models will be covered. Topics will include associative networks, self-organizing systems, recurrent networks with applications drawn from the fields of Computer Science, Physics, Psychology, and Biology. Prerequisite: 230 or by permission of the instructor.

Directions for Election

Students majoring in computer science must complete 230, 231, 235, 240, two Grade III courses other than 350 or 370, and at least two additional computer science courses. At most one unit of Grade I work (excluding 110) may be counted as part of the required eight courses. Computer related courses at MIT used to meet the eight course requirement must be approved in advance by the department on an individual basis. In addition, all majors in computer science will be expected to complete (1) either Mathematics 225 or Mathematics 305, and (2) at least one additional course in mathematics at the Grade II or Grade III level. Students are encouraged to complete the Grade II level requirements as early in the major as possible.

The computer science minor is recommended for students whose primary interests lie elsewhere, but who wish to obtain a fundamental understanding of computer science. The minor consists of Computer Science 111, 230, at least two units from 231, 235, or 240, and at least one Grade III level computer science course.

Students who expect to go on to do graduate work in computer science are encouraged to concentrate on developing their background in mathematics and are especially encouraged to elect one or more of Computer Science 305, 310 or Mathematics 305. In addition, students who are planning either graduate work or technical research work are further encouraged to obtain laboratory experience by electing one or more of Computer Science 301, 340, 350/360 or appropriate courses at MIT.

Instructor: Buchanan, Cabral, Naqvi, Ward, Zivot

101 (I) (2) Survey of Modern Economics—Microeconomics

102 (I) (2) Survey of Modern Economics—Macroeconomics

Each course, which may be taken independently and in either order, presents a view of our market economy, beginning with the nature of economics and economic systems, supply and demand analysis, and the development of economic thought. 101, microeconomics, is an analysis of the choices individuals and firms make in the markets where they buy and sell. It deals with questions of equity and efficiency. Policy problems include income distribution, competition and its regulation, health and education as human capital investment, and current economic topics. 102, macroeconomics, is an analysis of the aggregate dimensions of the economy: GNP, national income and employment, price levels and inflation, money and banking, international trade and investment. Policy problems include the role of government, prosperity and depression, investment and economic growth, worldwide economic development, and current economic topics. Open to all students.

The Staff

201 (I) (2) Microeconomic Analysis

Intermediate microeconomic theory; analysis of the individual household, firm, industry and market, and the social implications of resource allocation choices. Emphasis on development and application of theoretical methodology. Three sections in the first semester and two sections in the second semester. Prerequisites: 101, 102 and Math 115.

Mr. Morrison, Mr. Nichols, Ms. Skeath

202 (I) (2) Macroeconomic Analysis

Intermediate macroeconomic theory: analysis of aggregate income, output, employment, and the price level. Analysis of policies to control inflation and unemployment. Two sections in the fall and three in the spring. Prerequisites: 101, 102 and Math 115.

Mr. Joyce, Mr. Buchanan, Mr. Norton

204 U.S. Economic History

Description and analysis of the growth and development of the U.S. economy and its institutions from Colonial times to the 20th century. Emphasis on the "new" economic history: explicit economic models and quantitative methods to analyze historical phenomena, including slavery and the South, the industrial economy and its labor force, the transportation revolutions, and government's role in economic change. Prerequisites: 101 and 102. Not offered in 1990-91.

Overview of financial markets and institutions, including stock and bond markets, financial intermediaries, money markets, commercial banks and thrifts, monetary policy, foreign lending. Prerequisites: 101 and 102.

Mr. Joyce

211 (I) (2) Statistics and Econometrics

Descriptive statistics and an introduction to statistical inference. Expected values, probability distributions, and tests of significance. Classical models of bivariate and multiple regression. Problem solving using the computer. One section in the first semester, 211A, will cover much the same material as 211. However, it will include greater use of graphics and will allow the student to work extensively both on personal computers and the Wellesley mainframe. Prerequisites: 101 and 102, or for students who have completed one course, and are taking the other, and with instructor's permission in certain cases.

Mr. Case, Mr. Morrison, Ms. Naqvi, Mr. Norton, Ms. Witte

214 (2) International Economics

An introduction to international economics in theory and practice. Major emphasis on macroeconomic issues and international finance. Topics to be covered include the gains from trade, foreign exchange markets, balance of payments analysis, international capital flows and international financial institutions. Prerequisites: 101 and 102.

Ms. Velenchik

218 East Asian Economics

See 240.

220 (2) Development Economics

Survey and analysis of problems and circumstances of less developed nations. Examination of theories of economic development. Review of policy options and prospects for Third World countries. Specific topics to include: population growth, income distribution, basic needs, rural development and international trade strategies. Prerequisite: 101 and 102.

Mr. Lindauer

225 Urban Economics

Analyses of urban and suburban economies with particular reference to urban renewal, income distribution, transportation, housing markets, employment, and the economic development of the inner city. Prerequisite: 101. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

228 Environmental and Resource Economics

An investigation of the technological and economic aspects of resource and environmental issues. Includes discussion of renewable and non-renewable resources, waste management and recycling, energy forms, and pollution. Emphasis on using economic tools to identify feasible choices of resource use; some policy analysis. Prerequisite: 101. Not offered in 1990-91.

229 (I) Labor Market Institutions and Policy

Analysis of the institutions which influence worker motivation, satisfaction, productivity, and pay. Exploration of the role of workers, governments, unions, and management in determining labor market outcomes. Comparisons of employment systems in the United States, Europe, Japan, and less-developed countries. Topics include gender-based wage differentials, government employment and training policies, labor-management relations. Prerequisite: 101.

Mr. Seitchik

230 (I) Contemporary Economic Issues

A course applying introductory micro and/or macroeconomic analysis to problems of current policy interest. Topic for 1990-91: Health Economics. Analysis of resource allocation decisions in the provision of health care. Issues to be studied will include: health personnel training, regulation, and allocation; medical malpractice; health insurance markets; non-profit vs. for-profit hospitals; HMOs, PPOs, and IPAs; prospective payment systems and other cost containment initiatives; technology assessment; variations in medical practice; the social dilemmas of AIDS. Prerequisite: 101.

Mr. Nichols

234 Government Policy: Its Effect on the Marketplace

The United States government imposes regulations on selected markets, restricts competition, corrects market failure, intervenes in the marketplace. These government actions in the American economy will be analyzed using microeconomic tools with primary emphasis on price, profit, quality, and safety regulation. Industry studies will provide a basis for empirical examination of the historical consequences of regulation and deregulation in selected markets. Prerequisite: 101. Not offered in 1990-91.

240 (2) Analysis of Foreign Economies

An economic study of a particular country or region of the world outside the United States. Combined emphasis on methodology, history, culture, current institutional structure, and economic problems.

Topic for 1990-91: The Economy of the Soviet Union. A look at the economy of prerevolutionary Russia, NEP, Collectivization, and Five Year Plans. Why has central planning been counterproductive and why have Gorbachev's remedies not solved the problem? What does this experiment tell us about economic theory? Prerequisites: 101 and 102.

Mr. Goldman

Topic for 1991-92: The East Asian Economies. (This was formerly Econ 218). Analysis of economic growth in China, Japan, Korea and Taiwan. Special attention paid to the roles of agriculture and industry, trade policy, and planning versus the market place. Other topics include domestic savings behavior, foreign aid, and labor market institutions. The course emphasizes lessons for economic growth provided by East Asian experience as well as the major issues currently confronting these economies. Prerequisites: 101 and 102, or permission of instructor.

243 (2) Gender, Race, and Economics

The role of economic institutions and behaviors in the production and maintenance of sexual and racial inequality in the United States. Conservative, liberal, and radical economic analyses of sexual and racial hierarchies in the labor market and in the home. Historical analysis of gender and race in US economic development. Evaluation of economic policies for achieving economic equality for women and people of color. Prerequisite: 101.

Ms. Matthaei

249 (1) Seminar. Radical Political Economics

Study of radical political economists' critiques of US capitalism, and their bases in Marxist, feminist, and anti-racist theories. Radical economists' evaluations of contemporary communist and socialist economies, including current developments. Analysis and evaluation of proposals for radical economic restructuring in the US. Prerequisite: 101 or 102.

Ms. Matthaei

301 (1) Comparative Economic Systems

Comparative study of the treatment of economic problems under different economic systems. Analyzes the economic ideology of capitalism, utopian writings, market socialism, workers' management, and Marxism. Functions of prices, profits, and planning in allocation of resources. Compares several capitalist and socialist countries including the U.S. and Yugoslavia. Prerequisite: 201 or 202.

Mr. Goldman

305 (2) Industrial Organization

A course in applied microeconomics, focusing on the performance of real world markets. Emphasis on the welfare costs of market power as well as public policy responses. Topics include analysis of imperfectly competitive markets (e.g., monopolistic competition, oligopoly, imperfect and asymmetric information), firm and industry strategic conduct, regulation, and antitrust policy attempts to improve industrial performance. Prerequisites: 201 and 211.

Ms. Skeath

310 (2) Public Finance

The role and function of government in a market economy. Issues in tax analysis including equity and efficiency, the effects of taxes on labor and capital supply, tax incidence and optimal taxation. Description and analysis of specific taxes and expenditure programs. Prerequisite: 201.

Mr. Case

311 (2) Applied Statistics

Application of econometrics to real world problems. Begins with multiple regression model. Consideration of violations of model assumptions and various manipulations of variables (binary variables, nonlinear and lagged relationships). Development of methods for estimating simultaneous equations such as supply and demand. This course is an applied continuation of Econ 211, statistics and econometrics; it does not require matrix algebra, but will make extensive use of computers. Prerequisites: 101 or 102 and 211 or 211 (computers). Not offered in 1990-91.

313 (2) International Macroeconomics

Theory and policy of macroeconomic adjustment in the open economy. Topics to be covered include: the Keynesian model of income and balance of payments determination, the monetary approach to the balance of payments, fixed and floating exchange rate regimes, policy mix and effectiveness with capital mobility, and the asset-market approach to exchange rates. Prerequisites: 202 and 211.

Ms. Cabral

314 (I) International Trade Theory

Theoretical analysis of international trade. Emphasis on models of comparative advantage, determination of gains from trade and the effects of trade restrictions such as tariffs and quotas. Further topics include: the role of scale economies, the political economy of protectionism and strategic trade policy.
Prerequisite: 201.

Ms. Skeath

315 (I) History of Economic Thought

Analysis of the history of economic theory over the last 250 years. Focus on the development and interaction of two opposed views of the market economy—Classical/Marxian and Neo-classical. Analysis of the issues of scarcity, price determination, income distribution, monopoly, unemployment, economic freedom, sexual and racial inequality, and limits to growth. Student debates on selected issues and search for a middle ground. Prerequisite: 201 or 202.

Ms. Matthaei

316 (2) Modern Economic History

Economic development and structural change from the Great Depression to the present. Economic policy in war and peace. International cooperation and division. Economic crises and economic theory. Prerequisite: 202.

Mr. Morrison

317 (2) Economic Modeling and Econometrics

Introduction to the theory and practice of econometrics. Includes techniques of model specification, estimation, and evaluation. Both cross-sectional and time series models are considered. Emphasis on both problem solving and the application of techniques to actual data. Computers will be utilized. Prerequisite: 211, 201 or 202, Mathematics 115, and one other economics course.

Mr. Zivot

320 Seminar. Economic Development

International and macroeconomic issues of the less developed countries. Topics covered include: theories of growth and development, import substitution and export promotion, the foreign exchange constraint, the debt problem, foreign investment, inflation, short-term stabilization policy and income distribution. Prerequisite: 202. Not offered in 1990-91.

325 (I) Law and Economics

Economic analysis of legal rules and institutions. Application of economic theory and empirical methods to the central institutions of the legal system including the common law doctrines of negligence, contract, and property as well as civil, criminal, administrative procedure and family law. The course will contrast economic and noneconomic theories of law and will address the strengths and limitations of the economic approach to law. Prerequisite: 201.

Ms. Witte

329 (2) Seminar. Labor Economics

Inquiry into the determinants of employment, unemployment, and wages. Analysis of the wage distribution, racial and gender-based earnings differentials, education, family labor force participation, unions, and government employment policy. Comparison of market, institutionalist, and radical perspectives. Introduction to recent applied economic research concerning unemployment, displaced workers, comparable worth, and other topics. Prerequisites: 201 and 211.

Mr. Seitchik

330 (I) Advanced Topics in Economics

Current issues within the discipline of economics. Emphasis on developing appropriate methodology for specific economic questions and on student use of that methodology.

Topic for 1990-91: Problems in Macroeconomic Policy. Analysis and methodological critique of alternative approaches to current macroeconomic policy issues, e.g., budget deficits and real interest rates, causes of unemployment and inflation, economic growth, expectation formation and economic behavior, determinants of investment, international transmission of supply and demand shocks. Prerequisite: 202.

Mr. Buchanan

331 (2) Seminar. Monetary Theory and Policy

The formulation of monetary policy and its theoretical foundations. This includes discussion of the latest developments in monetary theory, monetary autonomy in an open economy, the money supply process, and current procedures in the U.S. and other nations. Prerequisites: 202 and 211.

Mr. Joyce

340 (I) Advanced Analysis of Foreign Economies

Analysis of a particular country or region of the world outside the United States. Combined emphasis on methodology, history, culture, current institutional structure and economic problems.

Topic for 1990-91: Seminar. The Economies of Africa. This course will combine lectures and discussions of general themes with student research and presentations on specific countries in comparing and contrasting the economic experience of the nations of sub-Saharan Africa. Topics include: the economic impact of colonialism, land tenure institutions and agricultural production, food policy, primary product exports, migration and urbanization, and industrialization. Prerequisites: 201 and 211.

Ms. Velenchik.

Topic for 1991-92: The New Europe: 1992 and Beyond. Analysis of full economic integration within the European Community. Implications of 1992 EC reforms for the international economy. Topics include factor flows, monetary unification, regional variation, and extra-Community relations. Prerequisites: 201, 202, and 211.

Mr. Morrison

350 (I) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to juniors and seniors who have taken 201 and 202; 211 is strongly recommended. 350 students will be expected to participate in the Economic Research Seminar (see 360).

360 (I) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. Students writing a senior honors thesis will be expected to participate regularly throughout the 360 and 370 in the Economic Research Seminar. This weekly seminar provides a forum for students conducting independent research to present their work to fellow students and faculty.

370 (I) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

Economics is a social science directed to the study of the universal problems of scarcity, choice, and human behavior. It contains elements of formal theory, history, philosophy, and mathematics. Unlike business administration, which deals with specific procedures by which business enterprises are managed, it examines a broad range of institutions and focuses on their interactions within a structured analytical framework.

The complete survey course consists of both Grade I level courses. Neither 101 nor 102 is a prerequisite for the other and either may be elected separately for one unit of credit.

Any student who plans to take economics after 101 and 102 should consult a department advisor. See also the Department Handbook.

An economics major must include 101, 102, 201, 202, 211, two Grade III courses, and at least one other course. The department discourages a minimum major with only two Grade III courses. 201, 202, and 211 should be taken at Wellesley; permission to take these courses elsewhere must be obtained in advance from the department chair. Also, an economics major must take more than half of her Grade III economics units at Wellesley; permission for an exception must be obtained in advance from the chair.

Choosing courses to complete the major requires careful thought. All majors should choose an advisor and consult him/her regularly. Students are also advised to consult the Department Handbook, which deals with a variety of topics including preparation in mathematics, desirable courses for those interested in graduate study in economics, and complementary courses outside economics.

Calculus, along with a few other mathematical tools, is increasingly central to the discipline and literature of mainstream economics. We therefore require Math 115 or equivalent for all 201 and 202 sections, and thus for the major in economics. We encourage students to consult a departmental advisor about whether more math courses might be desirable.

The economics minor is recommended for students wishing to develop competence in economics in preparation for work or graduate study in law, business, public administration, area studies, international relations, public health, medicine, etc. The minor consists of: (A) 101 and 102 and (B) 211 and (C) 2 additional 200 level units, excluding 201 and 202. The plan for this option should be carefully prepared; a student wishing to add the economics minor to the major in another field should consult a faculty advisor in economics.

Students are urged to supplement their program in economics with courses from many other disciplines in the liberal arts, especially history, political science, and sociology.

Education

Associate Professor: Brenzel (Chair)

Assistant Professor: Beatty, Hawes

Associate in Education: Andreu, Avots, Beavers, Contompasis, Cousens, Grodberg, Hayes, Ivascu, November, Whitbeck, White

102 (1)(2) (B¹) Education in Philosophical Perspective

A philosophical introduction to ideas and problems of education. Topics include: educational aims, evaluation, and judgment; the nature of learning, growth, and motivation; schools, curriculum, and methods of teaching; liberal education and critical thinking; tradition and reform; and educational rights and responsibilities. These topics will be considered in their own right and in light of texts by such writers as Plato, Rousseau, Emerson, and Dewey. Relevant field placement may be arranged as part of this course; it will be available for all students but especially for those wishing to fulfill requirements for teacher certification. Open to all students. Offered at MIT (2).

Mr. Hawes

212 (1) (B¹) History of American Education

Study of the various historical conflicts and controversies leading to the development of education as a central force in American culture. Topics include the popularization of educational institutions, their role in socializing and stratifying the young, and, generally, the effects of political, economic, and social forces in shaping American education. Emphasis will be placed on examining its frequently conflicting policies and purposes, especially in the late nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Relevant field placement may be arranged as part of this course; it will be available for all students but especially for those wishing to fulfill state requirements for teacher certification. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92, 1992-93.

Ms. Brenzel

214 (2) (B^{1,2}) Youth, Culture, and Student Activism in Twentieth-Century America

Traditionally, educational institutions have separated youth from the larger society. At the same time, schools have been the seedbeds of youth unrest and student activism. The political activities of student groups will be studied in light of changing definitions of youth, their schooling, and dissent. We will address the relationship between society's efforts to educate the young and student activism among youth in schools as well as among "drop outs" and other disaffiliated groups. Open to all students. Offered in 1991-92, 1992-93.

Ms. Brenzel

216 (2) (B²) Education, Society, and Social Policy

An examination and analysis of educational policies in a social context. The justification, formulation, implementation, and evaluation of these policies will be studied with emphasis on issues such as inequality, desegregation, tensions between communities and schools, parental choice, and the provision of various educational services. Relevant field placement may be arranged as part of this course; it will be available for all students but especially for those wishing to fulfill requirements for teacher certification. Open to all students. Not offered in 1991-92. Offered in 1992-93.

Ms. Beatty

220 (1) (2) Observation and Fieldwork

Observation and fieldwork in educational settings. This course may serve to complete the requirement of at least three documented introductory field experiences of satisfactory quality and duration necessary for teacher certification. Arrangements may be made for observation and tutoring in various types of educational programs; at least one urban field experience is strongly recommended. Students should discuss their plans for fieldwork with a member of the department and must apply for admission to this course in the semester before it is taken. Open only to students who plan to student teach and by permission of the instructor. Prerequisite: 300. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Mr. Hawes

300 (1) Seminar. Educational Theory, Curriculum, Evaluation, and Instruction

An examination of the major theories underlying what is taught in schools. The course focuses on the relation of curriculum to intellectual development, learning, and the structure of the disciplines as well as on curriculum development, testing, evaluation, and instruction. Relevant field placement will be available for all students; it is mandatory for those wishing to fulfill requirements for teacher certification. Open to all students. Required for teacher certification. Prerequisite: 102, 212 or 216, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Beatty

302 (2) Methods and Materials of Teaching

Study and observation of teaching techniques, the role of the teacher, classroom interactions, and individual and group learning. Examination of curriculum materials and classroom practice in specific teaching fields. Open only to students doing student teaching. Required for teacher certification. Students electing 302 and 303 may include in addition one unit usually of independent study in the same semester. Prerequisite: 300 and at least one of 102, 212, or 216, and by permission of the department.

Ms. Beatty, Mr. Hawes

303 (2) Practicum – Curriculum and Supervised Teaching

Observation, supervised teaching, and curriculum development in students' teaching fields throughout the semester. Attendance at appropriate school placement required full time five days a week. Students electing 302 and 303 may include in addition one unit usually of independent study in the same semester. Required for teacher certification. Students must apply to the department for admission to this course in the semester before it is taken. Corequisite: 302.

Ms. Beatty, Mr. Hawes, and Staff

305 (1) Interdisciplinary Seminar in Mathematics and Science

This seminar will examine topics pertinent to the teaching and learning of mathematics and science in schools, including questions of curriculum, teaching method, learning styles, and educational policy. The impact of technology on education and the technological tools used in education will be considered also. By permission of instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Hawes

306 (1) (B¹⁻²) Seminar. Women, Education, and Work

Examination of ways in which the background of women and the structure of society and work affect the lives of women, from a historical, sociological, and public policy point of view. We will study the relationships between societal institutions and the intersections among women's lives, the family, education, and work. Open to seniors; open to juniors by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Brenzel

308 (2) Seminar. Foreign Language Methodology

A course in the pedagogical methods of foreign languages intended to apply to any foreign language; emphasizes the interdependence of the four language skills—listening, speaking, reading, writing; introduces students to a theoretical study of linguistic and psychological issues necessary to evaluate new ways of presenting language material. This seminar will focus on selected texts and readings on the methodology of foreign-language teaching. By permission of instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Renjhan-Burgy

312 (1) (B¹) Seminar. History of Child Rearing and the Family

Examination of the American family and the emerging role of the state in assuming responsibility for child rearing and education. Study of the role of institutions and social policy in historical and contemporary attempts to shape the lives of children and families of differing social, economic, racial, and ethnic backgrounds. Open to juniors and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92, 1992-93.

Ms. Brenzel

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

Directions for Election

With the exception of Education 302 and 303 the department's courses are designed for all students and not simply those planning a career in public or private school teaching. Students who wish to be certified as high school (grades 9-12) teachers upon graduation should obtain the department's published description of the requirements of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts and the College's program for meeting those requirements. Briefly, the program requires students to take specific courses within their teaching fields and at least five additional courses (two of which are the student teaching practicum and accompanying seminar, Education 303 and 302).

Required:

Education 102 or 212 or 216, 300, 302 and 303; Psychology 207 or 208 or MIT 9.90.

The Commonwealth requires that three courses taken prior to student teaching include field experience. The department has arranged field experiences that students may take in conjunction with three groups of courses: Education 102 or 212 or 216; Psychology 207 or 208 or MIT 9.90; and Education 300. Students who plan to student teach may register for Education 220. In some circumstances, students may meet some of the requirements by submitting evidence of independent field experience. Students should plan their program of studies to fulfill these requirements in consultation with a faculty member as early as possible.

Certification in Massachusetts is recognized by many other states.

A minor for students seeking teacher certification (5 units) consists of: (A) 102 or 212 or 216; (B) Psychology 207 or 208 or MIT 9.90 with permission of the department, and (C) 300, 302 and 303. A minor for students in the study of education (5 units) consists of: (A) 102, 212, 214, and 216 and (B) any 300 level non-practicum unit.

Associate Professor: Tyler, Rosenwald, Lynch

Assistant Professor: Shetley^A, Sides, Levine, Remert^A, Webb^A, Quinney, Meyer, Brogan, Cohen

Instructor: Mikalachki, Thompson, Cooper

Lecturer: Stubbs, McCauley

112 (2) Introduction to Shakespeare

The study of a number of representative plays with emphasis on their dramatic and poetic aspects. Open to all students. Especially recommended to nonmajors.

Ms. Mikalachki

113 (1) Reading Fiction

An introduction to the critical reading of novels and short stories. Readings will include both English and American texts as well as some works in translation. Open to all students. Especially recommended to nonmajors.

Mr. Peltason

114 (1) Race, Class, and Gender in Literature

Topic for 1990-91: Race in Literature. Shakespeare, Melville, Faulkner, Richard Wright, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Zora Neale Hurston. Open to all students. Especially recommended to nonmajors.

Ms. Thompson

120 (1) (2) Critical Interpretation

A course designed to increase power and skill in critical interpretation by the detailed reading of poems. In 1990-91 two sections of Writing 125 also satisfy the English 120 requirement. For a description of these sections, see The Writing Program in this catalog. Open to all students, but primarily designed for, and required of, English majors. Ordinarily taken in first or sophomore year. Not open to students who have taken [101].

The Staff

125 (1) (2)

This course satisfies the college-wide writing requirement. In 1990-91 two sections of Writing 125 also satisfy the English 120 requirement. For a description of these and of other sections taught by members of the English Department, see The Writing Program in this catalog. Students interested in participating as tutors or tutees in a special tutorial section of 125 should see Ms. Stubbs or their class dean.

200 (1) (2) Intermediate Expository Writing

Practice in writing and revising expository essays. Frequent class discussion of work in progress, emphasizing the process of developing ideas and refining them in words on paper. Assigned readings, fiction and non-fiction, provide texts for a variety of writing assignments. May be elected by transfer and Continuing Education students to satisfy the writing requirement. Mandatory credit/noncredit Semester 1.

Ms. Stubbs, Mr. Tyler

202 (1) Poetry

The writing of short lyrics and the study of the art and craft of poetry. Open to all students; enrollment limited to 15.

Mr. Bidart

203 (1) (2) Short Narrative

The writing of the short story; frequent class discussion of student writing, with some reference to established examples of the genre. Prerequisite: same as for 202.

Ms. Sides, Mr. McCauley, Ms. Levine

211 Medieval Literature

Medieval English literature, focusing on the major literary forms of the late medieval period. A study of allegory and romance narrative, poetic conventions like the dream, and the influence of changing social conditions and a changing idiom on poetic practice. Works will include, for example, Sir Gawain and the Green Knight, The Lover's Confession, Piers Plowman, and selected secular and religious lyrics. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

213 (1) Chaucer

An introduction to Chaucer's poetry, to Middle English, and to medieval culture through readings in The Canterbury Tales and selected shorter poems. Open to all students.

Ms. Lynch

216 (1) (2) English Survey

Anglo Saxon times to the present. Problems of defining a "tradition" and of close-reading within it. A test of T.S. Eliot's notion that "not only the best, but the most individual parts of (a poet's) work may be those in which the dead poets, his ancestors, assert their immortality most vigorously." One unit of credit may be given for 216 (1), but 216 (2) cannot be taken without 216 (1). Students who take both semesters of English 216 satisfy the English 120 requirement.

Mr. Tyler

222 Renaissance Literature

An introduction to major Renaissance authors such as Marlowe, Spenser, Sidney, Shakespeare, Jonson and Montaigne, and to their preoccupation with the problem of representation. Some attention to comparisons between dramatic and non-dramatic texts, to pamphlet literature and to classical sources. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

223 (1) Shakespeare Part I: The Elizabethan Period

Plays written between 1591 and 1603, for example: Richard II, Henry IV, A Midsummer Night's Dream, Twelfth Night, Julius Caesar, Hamlet, Troilus and Cressida. Prerequisite: 101.

Mr. Finkelppearl, Ms. Mikalucki

Classic Texts in Contemporary Perspective

Directions for Election

Grade I literature courses are open to all students and presume no previous college experience in literary study. They provide good introductions to such study because of their subject matter or focus on training in the skills of critical reading. Critical Interpretation (English 120) is open to all students, but is primarily designed as a requirement for English majors. Students who have taken this course as English 101 have already satisfied this requirement. The course trains students in the skills of critical reading and writing. Grade II courses, also open to all students, presume some competence in those skills. They treat major writers and historical periods, and provide training in making comparisons and connections among different works, writers, and ideas. Grade III courses encourage both students and teachers to pursue their special interests.

They presume a greater overall competence, together with some previous experience in the study of major writers, periods, and ideas in English or American literature. They are open to all those who have taken two literature courses in the department, at least one of which must be Grade II, and by permission of the instructor or chair to other qualified students. For admission to seminars and for independent work (350), students of at least B+ standing in the work of the department will have first consideration. Students are encouraged to consult with the instructors of courses they are interested in. Students should consult the more complete descriptions of all courses, composed by their instructors, posted on bulletin boards in Founders Hall, and available from the department secretary.

The English Department does not grant credit towards the major for AP courses taken in high school. First year students contemplating further study in English are encouraged to consult the Department Chair or the advisor for first year students in relation to their course selection. Students majoring in English should discuss their programs with their major advisors, and should consult with them about any changes they wish to make in the course of their junior and senior years.

The English major consists of a minimum of eight courses, six of which must be in literature. At least four of the latter courses must be above Grade I and at least two at the Grade III level. Neither Writing 125 nor English 200 may be counted toward the major—except that courses designated 125/120 do satisfy the English 120 requirement as well as the Writing 125 requirement. For all students beginning their concentration in or after 1987-88, at least six of the courses for the major must be taken at Wellesley, including the two required Grade III level courses. Independent work (350, 360 or 370) does not fulfill the minimum requirement of two Grade III level courses for the major.

All students majoring in English must take Critical Interpretation (120), at least one course in Shakespeare (at the Grade II level), and two courses focused on literature written before 1900, of which at least one must focus on writing before 1800. The two required Grade III level courses must be in literature. Students who have had work equivalent to 120 at the college level may apply to the chair for exemption from the Critical Interpretation requirement.

A minor in English (5 units) consists of: (A) 120 and (B) at least 1 unit on literature written before 1900 and (C) at least one 300 level unit, excluding 350 and (D) at least 4 of the 5 units, including the 300 level course, must be Wellesley units; a maximum of 2 creative writing units can be included.

The department offers a choice of three programs for Honors. Under Program I the honors candidate does two units of independent research culminating in a thesis or a project in creative writing. Programs II and III offer an opportunity to receive Honors on the basis of work done for regular courses; these programs carry no additional course credit. A candidate electing Program II takes a written examination in a field defined by several of her related courses (e.g., the Renaissance, drama, criticism). One electing Program III presents a dossier of essays written for several courses with a statement of connections between them and critical questions raised by them.

Special attention is called to the range of courses in writing offered by the College. Writing 125 is open to all students who want to improve their skills in writing expository essays. Writing 125X is open, with the permission of the instructor, to students who would benefit from a continuation of Writing 125 or from an individual tutorial. English 200 is made possible through an endowed fund given by Luther I. Repleglo in memory of his wife, Elizabeth McIlvaine Repleglo. It is a workshop designed for students who want training in expository writing on a level above that of Writing 125, and it satisfies the writing requirement for transfer and Continuing Education students. Courses in the writing of poetry and fiction (Grades II and III) are planned as workshops with small group meetings and frequent individual conferences. In addition, qualified students may apply for one or two units of Independent Study (350) in writing. Grade II and Grade III courses in writing and 350 writing projects as well, may at the discretion of the instructor be offered credit/noncredit/credit-with-distinction.

Knowledge of English and American history, of the course of European thought, of theatre studies, and of at least one foreign literature at an advanced level is of great value to the student of English.

Students expecting to do graduate work in English should ordinarily plan to acquire a reading knowledge of two foreign languages.

Experimental Courses

According to College legislation, the student-faculty Committee on Educational Research and Development has the authority to recommend experimental courses and programs to Academic Council. Faculty members and students are invited to submit their ideas to the Committee. An experimental program in Technology Studies is described on p. 209. In addition, for 1990-91 the following experimental course will be offered:

232 (2) Social Institutions at Work: The Films of Frederick Wiseman

Close study of major documentaries such as Juvenile Court, Hospital, High School, The Store, Deaf, Model, Near Death, Law and Order, analyzed from the perspectives of both sociology and film-study. May be counted toward the major in either Sociology or English. Open by permission of the instructors.

Ms. Silbey, Mr. Garis

Extradepartmental

The following section includes several separate courses of interest to students in various disciplines.

121 (2) Into the Ocean World: Marine Studies Seminar

This comprehensive interdisciplinary course examines the sea's complexity and the far-reaching consequences of our interactions with it. The teaching team is composed of specialists in the sciences, social sciences, humanities and arts, each with an interest in marine issues and each with a commitment to bridging the gaps between disciplines and between abstractions and reality. The course themes are as broad as the ocean and there is a close look at Boston Harbor, a first step into the ocean world for those of us in this area. Offered by the Massachusetts Bay Marine Studies Consortium. No prerequisites. Open to two students by permission of the Consortium representative, Harold Andrews.

123 (2) Water: Values, Resource Protection and the Future

Water has shaped our planet, our history, our economy, our culture. How we manage it will shape our future. This course will look at water from scientific, historical and political viewpoints and will examine contemporary water problems. The Boston metropolitan area's water supply system will be used as a case study. Offered by the Massachusetts Bay Marine Studies Consortium. No prerequisites. Open to two students by permission of the Consortium representative, Harold Andrews.

124 (2) Marine Mammals: Biology and Conservation

An introduction to the biology and natural history of marine mammals, with particular emphasis on whales, dolphins and seals of the western North Atlantic. Topics include evolution, anatomy, behavior, field identification, the history of whaling, and contemporary conservation issues. "Hands-on" activities include laboratory work and a marine mammal survey on Massachusetts Bay. Offered by the Massachusetts Bay Marine Studies Consortium. Open to two students by permission of the Consortium representative, Harold Andrews. Prerequisite: college-level biology.

126 (2) The Maritime History of New England

The sea has shaped New England. This course will survey the sea's legacy from the earliest Indian fishery to the shipbuilding and commerce of today. Course themes will include historical, political and economic developments, and there will be particular attention to insights gleaned from the investigation of shipwrecks, time capsules of discrete moments from New England's past. Classes will include visits to museums, a field session at a maritime archaeology site, and guest lectures on current research projects. Offered by the Massachusetts Bay Marine Studies Consortium. No prerequisites. Open to two students by permission of the Consortium representative, Harold Andrews.

200 (2) Classic Texts in Contemporary Perspective

What is a classic text? How does it reflect its culture? What does it have to say to us? These are some of the questions this course will consider in its exploration of Homer's Odyssey, Sappho's lyrics, Sophocles' Theban plays, Plato's Symposium, Virgil's Aeneid, Augustine's Confessions, selections from Dante's Comedy, and Shakespeare's The Tempest. We will be particularly interested in themes and issues shared by several of these texts, such as the journey to self-knowledge, coming of age, and an individual's responsibility to society. This course will approach these engaging texts in relation to their own literary and cultural contexts, to ours and to one another. The course will be taught by two instructors, both of whom will be present at all sessions. Open to all students.

Ms. Jacoff, Ms. Dougherty-Gleann

216 (I) (C) Mathematics for the Physical Sciences

Mathematical preparation for advanced physical science courses. Topics include advanced integration techniques, complex numbers, vectors and tensors, vector calculus, ordinary differential equations, Fourier series and transforms, partial differential equations and special functions (Legendre, Laguerre, and Hermite polynomials, Bessel functions), matrices, operators, linear algebra, and approximation techniques. Prerequisite: Mathematics 116 or 120, and Physics 104, [105], 107, [109] or [110].

Ms. Fourquette

223 (B) Women in Science

An inquiry into the emergence of modern science, the role that women have played in its development, and the biographies of some prominent women scientists. Consideration will be given to literature on sex differences in scientific ability, the role of gender in science, and the feminist critique of science. Not offered in 1990-91.

225 (2) The Muses and the King: Art, History, and Literature in the Age of Louis XIV

France in the reign of Louis XIV witnessed the rise of a new form of monarchy, "Government by Spectacle," which relied to an extraordinary degree upon music, literature and the arts to provide support for the political theology that furnished its ideological foundations. This course will focus upon the relationship between political, social, musical, and artistic developments during this period: royal absolutism, Versailles, French opera, and public pageant as an art form; the domestication of the warrior nobility, Parisian salons, the decorative arts, gardens, painting, and sculpture; the Counter-Reformation, religious art, and the music of the chapels. Open to students who have had one unit of work in art, French literature, or history.

Mr. Cox, Mrs. DeLorme, Ms. Respaut

231 (2) Classic American Sound Film

Close study of the complex elements that went into forming the most significant genres of Hollywood films from 1930 to the present. Emphasis on screwball comedy, the western, crime films and film noir. The course will conclude with a brief survey of the work of Stanley Kubrick. Some attention to the studio system as an artistic and commercial institution. Several short written assignments and a longer final paper. Frequent screenings of the films under discussion; students are required to see each film at least twice. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Garis

232 (2) New Literatures: Lesbian and Gay Fiction in America

Novels and short stories by lesbian and gay writers of the post-Liberation period, including Rita Mae Brown, Judy Grahn, Jane Rule, Audre Lorde, Joan Nestle, Edmund White, Andrew Holleran, Robert Ferro, David Leavitt, and Robert Gluck. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Stambolian

233 The Literature and Politics of the Latin American Dictator

An exploration of the politics and literature of dictatorship in Latin America, emphasizing both historical and contemporary examples. Case studies include Brazil, Argentina, Guatemala, Panama, Colombia, Cuba and Paraguay. The roots of the dictator's power and the characteristics of his political rule will be examined, as well as his impact on literature and daily life. The portrayal of the "real" dictator through the literary imagination of the writer will be analyzed. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Wasserspring, Ms. Agosin

256 (I) Social Justice in Liberalism, Marxism and Islam

A comparative study of social justice in cultures shaped by Liberal, Marxist and Islamic thought. Attention to social justice at the familial, local and international levels, with focus on its core concepts and their development. Materials drawn from religion, philosophy, law and literature; method interdisciplinary (sociological, historical, philosophical). Readings from Locke, Rousseau, Kant, Rawls, Nozick; Saint Simon, Proudhon, Marx, Stalin, Gramsci, Marcuse; Avicenna, Averroes, Ghazali, Abdüh, Iqbal, Mawdudi, Shari'ati. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

312 (2) Seminar. Divided Consciousness:
Nonwestern Intellectuals Confront the West

The concept of "the west" as a separate entity was mainly developed by thinkers standing outside the west who wanted to understand its impact on the world and on their own society. For over a century, these writers—ranging from Mahatma Gandhi to Aleksandr Solzhenitsyn—have struggled with issues that remain central today: national identity versus global culture, independent versus dependent development, "modernization" versus "westernization." In examining these issues, the seminar will rely as much as possible on writings by nonwestern intellectuals themselves, including novels and poetry as well as political analysis. Open to juniors and seniors with permission of Mr. Lib.

Ms. Agosín, Mr. Lib, Mr. Menkiti

325 (2) The Art and Polities of the Nude

An interdisciplinary study of the nude in Western culture as an expression of contending myths and ideologies with emphasis on its relation to contemporary social and artistic values. Painting, photography, popular imagery, and films will be examined in conjunction with a broad range of literary, psychological, and philosophical texts selected to foster debate and to provide new methods of inquiry and analysis. Open to juniors and seniors by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Stambolian

330 (1) Seminar. Female Textuality: Women's Autobiography and the Literary Text

This course will explore the interconnection of gender and genre, with a focus on women's autobiography from the Russian, American, British and French traditions. Emphasis will be on the autobiography of childhood and the ways in which parent-child bonds shape the female sense of self. The course's theoretical framework will draw on feminist psychoanalytic literature as well as critical writings on autobiography and women's texts. Prerequisite: one Grade II level course in literature or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Chester

First-Year Cluster Program

Directors: Peltason and Cudjoe

The First-Year Cluster Program, begun in 1984, offers first-year students a new format in which to study traditional materials of the liberal arts curriculum. One purpose of the new format is to help students develop more readily and fully a sense of the relationship between the materials and methods of several different disciplines. The new format is also intended to increase opportunities for sharing study with other students and with faculty and to enhance skills in the writing and presenting of papers. Six faculty members from different departments teach the Cluster courses, and student enrollment is limited to a maximum of 75 first-year students.

The topic of the First-Year Cluster changes each year. It is described fully in a Cluster brochure available from the Board of Admission or the Committee on Curriculum and Instruction. The 1990-91 Cluster, for members of the class of 1994, is entitled "Imagining the Third World." Students in the First-Year Cluster Program will have the exciting opportunity to study both a variety of world cultures and, more centrally, the imaginative and political processes by which cultures define themselves in their relations with one another. The so-called "Third World" is both an astonishing variety of real places and cultures and a relatively recent political invention. It would be impossible to survey such a huge historical and geographical region in a single-year program, but it is both possible and timely to offer students a series of fascinating and important case studies in the dynamic interactions between cultures. Topics will include the literature of colonialism, the literature and art of the Caribbean and Latin America, the political economy of Africa, the special role of international diplomatic bodies in Third World polities, and the distinctive contributions of Third World peoples to science and medicine. There can be no more urgent task for liberal education in the coming decade than the fostering of an intelligent and informed cultural pluralism, and the 1990-91 cluster will seek to explore what such a pluralism might be.

The special format of the First-Year Cluster is described in the Cluster brochure. Briefly, the Cluster Program takes up three of the student's eight courses in her first year. In the fall term, each student takes two of the six Specialty courses offered by the six Cluster faculty. These specialty courses meet distribution requirements in the area of the instructor of each course. In the spring, each cluster student enrolls in one of the six sections of XWRIT 125 that will be staffed by the six Cluster faculty members.

XWRIT 125 (2) Cluster Writing

Special section of the regular College writing course, Writing 125. The Cluster sections of Writing 125 meet the College writing requirement while taking their materials from the subject matter of the Cluster. Required of all Cluster members. Maximum enrollment 15.

The Cluster Faculty

Cluster Specialty Courses for 1990-91

XART 100 Imagining the Third World: The Artist in Latin America

This course is a journey into a world where everyday life and fancy have manifested themselves in vital and imaginative works of art ranging from Pre-Columbian art to the "Avant Garde." Latin American artists have had the freedom to recognize their roots in the world of magic and the world at large in order to express their own ideas. Through assigned readings, we also look at the social, political and aesthetic content of those ideas. The course will also include some sessions in studio art, to understand better the universal aspects of art. No art experience is necessary.

Mr. Dornen

XBLS 100 Imagining the Third World Through Its Literature

Much of the way in which we think of the Third World has been gleaned from its literature. From a beginning colonial text such as Shakespeare's The Tempest to Joseph Conrad's Heart of Darkness, we are given an impression of how the Third World has been constructed for the consumption of the readers of the First World. Opposed to such a reading has been the production of works by Third World writers, such as Chinua Achebe and V.S. Naipaul, who have attempted to interrogate and interpret their society in a manner that bears witness to its integrity. Central to any study of these texts is an examination of the manner in which writers and readers struggle to privilege the values and feelings of their own social order.

Mr. Cudjoe

XBLS 120 Changing Institutions of Contemporary Africa

This course analyzes the influence of the traditional cultures on new institutions developing in contemporary Africa. Emphasis is on the impact of African traditional cultures on the post-colonial African social, religious, economic and political institutions.

Mr. Nyangoni

XCHEM 100 Mythology, Magic, and Medicine: Scientific Contribution from the Third World

This course will discuss contributions from medicine, science, and technology which have roots in Third World cultures of Africa, Asia, and the Americas. We will examine the scientific and medical discoveries, developments and practices of these cultures prior to their colonization by Europeans. We will also examine the ways these practices were incorporated into the mainstream of Western science and discuss ways in which credit was given (or not) to the originators. We will also compare the European medical practice of using synthetic drugs and surgery to treat the symptoms of a disease to the practices of these cultures that use rituals, herbs and plants to treat the physical, mental and spiritual aspects of disease. We will also examine the chemical relationships between prescription drugs and the medicinal plants of these cultures.

Ms. Stanley

XPOL 100 The Third World in World Politics

This course explores the origin and development of the third world identity in international affairs. How did African, Asian, Caribbean, Latin American, and Pacific governments become "the third world?" How did the nationalist movements and native governing classes in colonized and recently-dependent nations come to recognize shared interests and develop shared aspirations? How did they and the governing classes of the other long-independent states of Latin America and elsewhere develop a shared identity? These questions will be addressed by focusing on the primary sites where the third world coalition emerged—the intergovernmental agencies of the United Nations system.

Mr. Murphy

XSPAN 100 Imagining Latin America: Voices and Masks

This course will examine ways in which the concept and identity of Latin America has been imagined and defined by European conquerors and explorers as well as by its own inhabitants. Through readings that will cover the early chronicles of the conquests, the journals of colonial travelers, especially the journals of women writers, and the writings as well as visual representations of 20th century artists, we will explore the many images of Latin America.

Ms. Agosin

Directions for Election

The First-Year Cluster Program is open for election by entering first year students at the same time that they choose the rest of their program. The materials sent to entering first-year students by the Registrar's Office in the spring will contain a special registration card for students who wish to elect the Cluster Program. This special registration card will have spaces not only for electing the Cluster Program but also for electing courses outside the Cluster to complete the student's first year program. All first-year student registration materials will be due no later than June 10, and Cluster enrollment will be limited to 75 on the basis of the date registrations are received in the Office of the Registrar. Each student who registers for the Cluster will be asked to send in also the regular registration card with an alternative program to be followed in case the Cluster has filled before her registration materials are received.

Students who become members of the Cluster will be asked to make a choice of Specialty Courses within the Cluster after they have had a chance to look at the Cluster materials sent to them in the summer. Cluster members will then choose two of the Specialty Courses listed above, one from XBLS 100, XSPAN, or XART and one from XBLS 120, XCHEM, or XPOL. Students will be asked in the summer to list the three courses of each of these two groups in order of preference, and these preferences will be followed as far as is compatible with keeping the Specialty Courses equal in size.

In addition to her two Specialty Courses, each Cluster student takes one other unit within the Cluster: XWRIT 125 in the second semester. After the Specialty Course assignments have been determined, each student will be assigned to a section of XWRIT 125 taught by a third member of the cluster faculty.

250 (2) The French Press

Reading and study of current newspaper and magazine articles. Analysis of cartoons, comic strips, and advertisements. Ideological, sociological and stylistic differences will be stressed. Systematic comparison with the American Press. Intensive practice in conversation and composition. Oral and written reports. Prerequisite: 142, acceleration from 141, a CEEB or Departmental Placement score of 650, or an AP score of 4 or 5.

Ms. Lane

301 (I) The French Classical Theatre

The crisis of passion and its resolution in the French classical theater. The representation of passions such as love, rivalry, or ambition in the tragedies and comedies of Corneille and Racine and in the comedies of Molière. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Lagarde

303 (I) Advanced Studies in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries

Not offered in 1990-92.

304 (I) The French Novel in the Eighteenth Century

"A New Revolution": Challenges to the Canon of the Eighteenth-Century Novel. Drawing from recent feminist inquiries into the politics of exclusion and inclusion in literary history, the course examines, in dialogue with masterpieces authored by men, novels by major women writers of the period, novels much admired in their time, subsequently erased from the pages of literary history, currently rediscovered. Works by Prévost, Mme de Tencin, Mme de Graffigny, Montesquieu, Mme Riccoboni, Rousseau, Diderot, Laclos, Mme de Charrrière. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Mistacco

305 (I) Advanced Studies in the Nineteenth Century

Topic for 1990-91: From Novel to Autobiography: Self-knowledge and Self-representation in Nineteenth-century Literary Works. Focus on autobiography as a literary genre and its links with neighboring textual forms (biography, diary, autobiographical novel). The problems of narration within autobiographical texts. Works by Balzac, Stendhal, Chateaubriand, Musset, Fromentin, and Sand. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Ms. Tramouez

306 (I) Literature and Ideology in the Twentieth Century

Ideological purpose and literary form in selected works of Gide, Breton, Malraux, Sartre, Camus, and Robbe-Grillet. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Galand

307 (2) French Poetry in the Twentieth Century

The nature and function of poetic creation in the works of Valéry, Apollinaire, Breton, Saint-John Perse, Char, and Ponge. Representative texts by poets associated with OÜLIPO and Tel Quel are also included. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above).

Mr. Galand

308 (I) Advanced Studies in Language I

The techniques and art of translation are studied through an analysis of the major linguistic and cultural differences between French and English. Translations from both languages. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units. Not open to students who have taken 309.

Mr. Grimaud

309 (2) Advanced Studies in Language II

Translation into French from novels, essays and poetry. Study of French style through analysis of selected texts. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units. Not open to students who have taken 308.

Mr. Grimaud

312 (2) Advanced Studies in the Middle Ages and Renaissance

Social and Intellectual Contexts of the Renaissance in France. Humanism vs. traditional theology. Popular vs. official culture. Oral tradition and the revolution of printing. Tolerance vs. religious fanaticism. Study of major writers and the important literary beginnings their works reflect: Rabelais and the birth of the novel; Montaigne and the origins of autobiography; love poetry reoriented with Ronsard; a tradition of women's writing established by Louise Labé and Marguerite de Navarre. Frequent reference to concurrent developments in music and the plastic arts. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Not offered in 1990-92.

Mr. Lydgate

314 (I) Cinema

François Truffaut: An in-depth review of Truffaut's overall contribution to cinema. Includes readings from his articles as a film critic, a study of influences on his directorial work (Renoir, Hitchcock, Lubitsch) and a close analysis of twelve of his films using a variety of critical approaches: biographical, historical, formal, and psychoanalytical. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units.

Ms. Gillain

318 (I) Modern Fiction

The course examines various twentieth-century forms of fiction, including avant-garde and feminist works. Changes in the concept and practice of reading are related to intellectual currents and developments in the arts and film. Authors include André Gide, Samuel Beckett, Nathalie Sarraute, Alain Robbe-Grillet, Claude Simon, Marguerite Duras. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above).

Ms. Mistacco

A study of trends in the representation of women in plays written by both men and women. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Masson

Topic c: Marcel Proust and the Myth of the Artist. A study of selected volumes of A la recherche du temps perdu with emphasis on the aesthetic, psychological, and autobiographical aspects of artistic creation as self-creation. Discussion of related literary texts, works of art, and films, and of the mythic stature Proust himself has acquired in Western culture. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Not offered in 1990-92.

Mr. Stambolian

330 (2) French and Francophone Studies

Race, Literature, and Society. French Voices from the Third World. An introduction to some of the Third World literatures of French expression: West Africa, North Africa and the Caribbean. Study of passage from vernacular traditional forms of writing to modern, westernized ones. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units.

Mr. Murdoch

349 Studies in Culture and Criticism

Topic a: Proper Names and Politeness. A sociolinguistic study of the nature and historical development of personal names as cultural and linguistic systems in French. The role of pronouns (the "tu/vous" distinction), kinship names, and various other forms of naming (titles, first, middle, last names, initials, nicknames, terms of endearment) will also be discussed in a comparative framework. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Grimaud

Topic b: The Autobiographical Impulse in Writing and Photography. An interdisciplinary study of the desire to reveal and record one's self, body, and world. Attention will be given to the sources of this desire, the cultural factors shaping it, the various languages it adopts, and its personal and political uses. Among the artists and thinkers studied are: Barthes, Ingmar Bergman, Duras, Freud, Anais Nin, Proust, Rousseau, Lucas Samaras, and selected photographers. Students will be required to complete a short autobiographical project. Prerequisite: Two Grade II units, including one in literature (212 or above). Not offered in 1990-92.

Mr. Stambolian

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Prerequisite: Two Grade II units.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of Department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

Grade I: Course 101-102 is counted toward the degree but not toward the major. Students who begin with 101-102 in college and who plan to major in French should consult the chair of the Department during the second semester of their first year. Course 141-142 may not be elected by students who have taken both 101-102 and 131-132. A student may not count toward the major 220; or both 131-132 and 141-142; or both 206 and 226.

Acceleration to Grade II: Students who achieve a final grade of A or A- in 131 may, on the recommendation of their instructor, accelerate to 142, 200, 201, 202, 205, or 206. Students who achieve a final grade of A or A- in 141 may accelerate to any Grade II course.

Students achieving a final grade of A or A- in 102 may, upon the recommendation of their instructor, accelerate to 141. Students who accelerate from French 131 or 141 to a Grade II course receive one unit of credit for 131 or 141 and satisfy Wellesley's foreign language requirement with the successful completion of their Grade II work.

Majors: Majors are required to complete the following courses or their equivalents: either 222 or 223, and either 308 or 309. In some cases 226 may also be required. The goals of a coherent program are: (a) Oral and written linguistic competence; (b) acquisition of basic techniques of reading and interpreting texts; (c) a general understanding of the history of French literature; (d) focus on some special area of study (such as a genre, a period, an author, a movement, criticism, poetics, contemporary French culture).

Graduate Studies: Students planning graduate work in French or comparative literature should study a second modern language and Latin.

Comparative Literature: Extradepartmental course 330, a seminar in comparative literature, is recommended also to students planning graduate studies. It does not count for the major in French or French Studies but is recommended to all students of literature.

Teacher Certification: Students interested in obtaining certification to teach French in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts should consult the Director of the Interdepartmental Major in French Studies and the Chair of the Department of Education.

French Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Lane

The major in French Studies offers students the opportunity to achieve oral and written linguistic competence as well as a good knowledge of France or francophone countries through a study of their history, literature, arts, and thought.

Students work closely with two advisors, one from French and one from their other area of specialization. Programs of study are subject to the approval of the Director of French Studies.

Requirements: For the major, at least four units in French above the Grade I level are required. Of these, at least one shall be at the Grade III level, and at least one chosen from among the following: French 222, 223, 308, 309. All courses above French 102 may be counted toward the major in French Studies, except that French 131-132 and 141-142 may not both be counted, and only one course in each of the following pairs of related courses may be counted: French 206 and 226; French 308 and 309.

For the major in French Studies, two or more courses shall be elected from the following:

Art 202 (1)
Medieval Art

Art 203 (2)
Cathedrals and Castles of the High Middle Ages

Art 219 (1)
Nineteenth-Century Art

Art 223 (2)
The Decorative Arts

Art 226 (2)

History of Photography. Not offered in 1990-92.

Art 234 (1)

Paris: Capital of the Nineteenth Century. Not offered in 1990-92.

Art 312 (2)

Seminar. Problems in Nineteenth-Century Art

History 236

The Emergence of Modern European Culture: the Seventeenth and Eighteenth Centuries. Not offered in 1990-91.

History 242

France in the Splendid Century. Not offered in 1990-91 but see Extradepartmental 225.

History 243 (1)

The Enlightenment, the French Revolution, and Napoleon

History 244 (2)

History of Modern France, 1815 – Present

History 330

Seminar. Medieval Heroes and Heroines. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Language Studies 237

History and Structure of the Romance Languages

At the discretion of the Director, after consultation with the course instructor, research or individual study (350) may be approved, as may such other courses as: Art 224 (Modern Art); Art 228 (19th- and 20th-Century Architecture); Art 250 (From Giotto to the Art of the Courts: Italy and France 1300-1420; Art 332 (Seminar. The Thirteenth-Century King as Patron); History 237 (Modern European Culture: the 19th and 20th Centuries); Philosophy 200 (Modern Sources of Contemporary Philosophy); Philosophy 223 (Phenomenology and Existentialism); Political Science 205 (Politics of Western Europe); Political Science 222 (Comparative Foreign Policies).

Teacher Certification: Students interested in obtaining certification to teach French in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts should consult the Director of the Interdepartmental Major in French Studies and the Chair of the Department of Education.

Geology

Professor: Andrews

Associate Professor: Besancon (Chair), Thompson^{A2}

100 (1) Oceanography

An introduction to ocean science with an emphasis on marine geology. Topics include ocean currents and sediments, ocean basin tectonics and evolution, coral reefs, deep-sea life, and marine resources. No laboratory. Open to all students.

Mr. Andrews

102 (1) (2) Introduction to Geology with Laboratory

An introduction to the basic features of the solid earth and the processes that continue to modify it. Emphasis on the development and impact of the continental drift and plate tectonics theories. Laboratory and field trips include study of minerals, rocks, topographic and geologic maps. Open to all students.

The Staff

200 (2) The Earth and Life through Time with Laboratory

The geologic history of North America and the evolution of life as revealed in the fossil record. Includes discussion of ancient environments, tectonic evolution of mountain ranges, origin and extinction of life forms. Laboratory and field trip. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Andrews

202 (1) Mineralogy with Laboratory

Introduction to crystallography; systematic study of the rock-forming minerals. Emphasis on geochemical relationships including bonding, solid solution series, and mineral structure. Introduction to optical mineralogy. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Besancon

204 (1) Catastrophes and Extinctions

An examination of mass extinctions in the history of life. Topics covered will include: evolution and the fossil record, gradual change and catastrophic events, dinosaurs and their extinction, periodicity of mass extinctions, the prospect of future extinctions and an evaluation of the possible causes of extinctions, including sea-level changes, climate changes, volcanism and meteorite impacts. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-1991. Offered in 1991-1992.

Mr. Andrews

206 (1) Structural Geology with Laboratory

Introduction to geometry and origin of rock structure ranging from microtextures and fabrics to large-scale folding and faulting. Emphasis on processes of rock deformation in terms of theoretical prediction and experimental findings. Laboratory and field trips. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Thompson

207 (2) Earth Resources

An introduction to the formation and location of geological resources. Water and petroleum movements provide a basis for understanding their origin, location, and production. The theory of groundwater hydrology is extended to the similar action of petroleum and natural gas. No laboratory. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Offered in 1990-1991. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Besancon

304 (1) Stratigraphy and Sedimentation with Laboratory

Study of the formation, composition, and correlation of stratified rocks. Emphasis on sedimentary environments, transportation of sedimentary particles, sediment diagenesis, and sedimentary petrography. Laboratory and field trips. Prerequisite: 202. Offered in 1990-1991. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Thompson

305 (1) Paleontology with Laboratory

The morphology and evolution of the major invertebrate fossil groups. Discussion of functional morphology, origin of species and higher taxa, extinctions, ontogeny and phylogeny, and vertebrate evolution. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 200 or by permission of the instructor. Offered in 1990-1991. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Andrews

308 (2) Plate Tectonics

An examination of the geological, paleontological, and geophysical arguments underlying the plate tectonic theory of global dynamics. Topics to include: historic controversy over continental drift, evidence from the ocean basins leading to the concept of sea floor spreading, geophysical evidence for plate boundaries and plate motions, tectonic provinces associated with presently active plate boundaries, applications of plate theory in the interpretation of ancient tectonic provinces. Prerequisite: 206. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Thompson

309 (2) Petrology with Laboratory

Study of the origin and occurrence of igneous and metamorphic rocks with particular reference to modern geochemical investigations. Examination and description of hand specimens and thin sections using the petrographic microscope. Laboratory. Prerequisite: 202. Offered in 1990-91. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Besancon

349 (2) Seminar. Selected Topics in Geology

Topics and prerequisites to be determined. Open to qualified students. Offered in 1990-91. Not offered in 1991-92.

The Staff

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

In addition to eight units in geology, normally to include 200, 206, 304, and 309, the minimum major requires four units from other laboratory sciences, mathematics, or computer science. All four units may not be taken in the same department. A student planning graduate work should note that most graduate geology departments normally require two units each of chemistry, physics, and mathematics. Biology often may be substituted if the student is interested in paleontology.

The department recommends that students majoring in geology take a geology field course, either 12.051 and 12.052 offered in alternate years by MIT or a summer geology field course offered by another college.

A minor in geology (5 units) consists of: (A) 102 and (B) 2 units in one of the three following areas of concentration: I. (Paleobiology) 200, 204, 305 or II. (Structural Geology) 206, 308 or III. (Petrology) 202, 309, and 304 and (C) 2 additional 200 or 300 level units.

German

Professor: Goth, Ward (Chair¹)

Associate Professor: Hansen, Kruse (Chair²)

Instructor: Finken

Director of Wellesley-in-Konstanz-Program: Ursula Dreher

Because the language of instruction above the 100 level is almost exclusively German, students have constant practice in hearing, speaking, and writing the language.

The department reserves the right to place a new student in the course for which she seems best prepared, regardless of background and number of units she offers for admission.

Upon recommendation of the instructor and approval of the Head of the Department, students may proceed from 102 to 105 at mid-year.

Qualified students are encouraged to spend the junior year in Germany on the Wellesley-in-Konstanz program or an approved non-Wellesley program.

100 (1-2) Beginning German 2

An introduction to contemporary German. Emphasis on communicative fluency with extensive practice in all four skills: listening, speaking, reading and writing. Regular use of language lab. Video and computer assignments. Topics from contemporary culture in German-speaking countries. Four periods. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily.

Mr. Hansen, Mr. Finken

102-103 (1-2) Intermediate German 2

Review of grammar and practice in all language skills with special emphasis on idiomatic usage. First semester: thorough grammar review, practice in classroom and language laboratory, readings on contemporary cultural topics. Second semester: extensive composition practice. Three periods. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Students who have an A or A- in 102 may be advised to enter 105 at mid-year. Prerequisite: one to two admission units and placement exam, or German 100.

Ms. Ward (1), Mr. Finken (1-2), Mr. Kruse (2)

104-105 (1-2) Studies in Language and Literature 2

Intermediate language study with emphasis on oral communication, vocabulary building, and expository writing. Grammar review; written and oral practice based on readings. The literary topic of the course will be: Interplay of literature and psychology. Texts by Sigmund Freud, Franz Kafka and Ulrich Plenzdorf. Texts read are more difficult than those in 102-103. Three periods. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: two to three admission units and placement exam, or permission of the department. Permission will be based on a high grade in 100. One may not enter 104-105 after completing 102-103.

Ms. Goth

200 (1) Advanced Grammar and Writing Skills

Designed for students who have had at least four semesters of German language training. Building on this foundation the major goal is to improve both spoken and written communication skills at the advanced level. Grammar review and vocabulary building exercises based on two prose texts and their film versions using role playing extensively. The texts and films provide a context for discussing historical, social and cultural issues concerning the Federal Republic of Germany in the immediate post-war period and in the 1970s. Required for the majors in German Language and Literature and in German Studies unless a student is exempted by the department by virtue of her language proficiency. Prerequisite: 102-103, or 104-105, or placement examination.

Mr. Kruse

205 (2) Critical Interpretation: Periods, Genres and Methods

An introduction to the study of German literature. Designed to develop skills in critical interpretation by a detailed reading of texts which are representative of the main literary genres: epic, dramatic and lyric. The section on the lyric will provide an overview of the most important periods of the history of German literature. All texts will be used to explore a variety of critical methods. Three periods. Required for the majors in German Language and Literature and in German Studies. Prerequisite: 200 or by permission of the department. Not open to students who have taken either 202 or 203.

Mr. Kruse

German 100 is counted toward the degree but not toward the major. Intermediate level courses (102-103, 104-105) are also Grade I courses and are not ordinarily counted toward the major. Students who begin with intermediate-level work and wish to major may be encouraged at mid-year to advance from 102 to 105. Majors in German Language and Literature are required to take 200 or its equivalent, 205 (waived for students who have had 202 or 203), at least one course chosen from the following: 230, 231, 232, 240, 241; either 304 or 305 (offered in alternate years) and at least one seminar (349). It is strongly recommended that there be three Grade III units.

Courses in art, music, philosophy, German history, English, and literature courses in other foreign languages are also recommended as supplements to the major.

German Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Chair of the German Department

The major in German Studies is designed to provide the student with knowledge and understanding of the culture of the two Germanies, Austria and Switzerland by acquiring proficiency in the German language and through the study of the literature, history, philosophy, music and art of these countries.

German Studies is an interdisciplinary major that offers students an alternative to the major in German Language and Literature. A student may construct her program individually from various courses devoted to some aspect of German culture offered by several departments. Students choose two major advisors, one from German and one from an allied field in another department. Programs must be approved by the German Department.

To ensure competence in spoken and written German, a minimum of 4 units above the Grade I level must be taken in the German Department. Of these 200, 205 (waived for students who have had 202 or 203) and either 220 or 221 are required. A seminar (349) is highly recommended. A 350 may not be substituted for the fourth unit. To give the major an historical base, one course in German history is required, whether or not that is the allied field. The major must include at least two Grade III units.

Electives may include courses taught in English in the German Department or any courses from the following. It is strongly recommended that two courses be drawn from a single allied field.

Directions for Election

To fulfill the distribution requirement in Group A, students may elect any courses in Greek or Latin or Classical Civilization except History 229, 230, 231; Classical Civilization 215, 216, 243, 245, 326 (these courses may be elected to fulfill the requirement in Group B). The following may not be counted toward the major in Greek or Latin: Classical Civilization 101, 104, 120, 215, 216, 232, 243, 245, 305, 310, 326; History 229, 230, 231; XD200.

All students majoring in Greek must complete four units of Grade III work.

All students majoring in Latin are required to complete three units of Grade III work. 302, offered in alternate years, is strongly recommended.

Latin students who offer an AP Latin score of 5 in the Latin Lyric examination should normally elect 249; an AP score of 5 or 4 in the Vergil examination usually leads to 224. A student with a score of 4 in AP Latin Lyric examination should consult the Chair regarding placement.

Students majoring in Greek or Latin are advised to elect some work in the other language. It should be noted that work in both Greek and Latin is essential for graduate studies in the classics.

Courses in ancient history, ancient art, ancient philosophy, and classical mythology are recommended as valuable related work. Students interested in a major in Classical and Near Eastern Archaeology are referred to p. 106 where the program is described.

Students who wish to major in Classical Civilization can plan with the department an appropriate sequence of courses, which might include work in such areas as art, history, philosophy, and literature. Such a program should always contain at least four units of work in the original language. For details on the Classical Civilization major, see p. 104.

The departments offer a choice of two plans for the Honors Program. Plan A (Honors Research, see 360 and 370 above, carrying two to four units of credit) provides the candidate with opportunity for research on a special topic and the writing of a long paper or several shorter papers. Plan B provides an opportunity for the candidate to show through examinations at the end of her senior year that she has acquired a superior grasp, not only of a basic core of texts, but also of additional reading beyond course requirements. Plan B carries no course credit, but where appropriate, students may elect a unit of 350 to prepare a special author or project which would be included in the Honors examinations.

Honors candidates who are Classical Civilization majors should elect Plan B.

The College is a member of the Intercollegiate Center for Classical Studies in Rome, a program for American undergraduates in classical languages, ancient history and topography, archaeology, and art history. Majors, especially those interested in Roman studies, are urged to plan their programs so as to include a semester at the Center in the junior year.

An examination of the emergence of a multi-racial, multi-ethnic society in British North America. Emphasis on immigration to the New World, the pattern of colonial settlement, areas of cultural conflict, the emergence of racial and ethnic consciousness and the development of American culture. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Ms. Tien

251 (2) To Nationhood: America, 1750-1850

The creation of a national identity as seen in the development of critical institutions and the shaping of an American consciousness. Topics include: causes and consequences of independence, the market revolution, the Constitution, the first and second party systems. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Ms. Tien

253 (1) The United States, 1876-1976

The emergence of an urban industrial society; tension between traditional values and social change; development of the welfare state; issues of war and peace; the boundaries of liberal reform and radical protest, from the end of Reconstruction to the political ferment of the 1960s. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Mr. Auerbach

254 (1) Social History of the Confederacy

War mobilization in the would-be new nation, with an emphasis on relations among various groups—the planter elite, slaves, free blacks, urban artisans, politicians, and the families of yeomen farmers. Topics include the disintegration of slavery, racial and class conflict, changing roles of women, impact of military strategy on the civilian population, dissent, desertion from the army, and “disaffection” in the hill country. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Jones

256 (1) American Jewish History

The development of American Jewish life and institutions, especially since the era of mass immigration from Eastern Europe. Particular attention to the pressures, pleasures, and perils of acculturation. Historical and literary evidence will guide explorations into the social, psychological, and political implications of Jewish minority status in the United States. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors. Not open to students who have taken 339.

Mr. Auerbach

257 (2) Women in American History

A survey of women in American history, from the colonial period to the present, focusing on the family, education, patterns of paid and unpaid labor, creative women, images of women in the popular media, women's rights, and feminism. Special emphasis on class, ethnic, racial, and religious differences among American women, as well as their common experiences. Open to all students.

Ms. Jones

258 (2) Freedom and Dissent in American History

An exploration of ideas of freedom and patterns of political and religious dissent since the founding of the nation. Special attention to the expanding and contracting constitutional boundaries of free expression. Among the issues to be examined: wartime censorship; political extremism; civil disobedience; individual rights and state power. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors.

Mr. Auerbach

263 (I) South Africa in Historical Perspective

An analysis of the historical background of Apartheid, focusing on the transformation of the African communities in the period of commercial capitalist expansion (1652-1885), and in the industrial era (1885-present). Important themes are the struggle for land and labor; the fate of African peasants, labor migrants, miners and domestic servants; the destruction of the African family, and the diverse expressions of African resistance. Short stories and poetry are among the sources used. Open to all students.

Ms. Kapteijns

264 The History of Precolonial Africa

The development of increasingly complex societies from gathering and hunting groups and stateless societies to city-states and kingdoms. Introduction to the wide variety of source materials available to the African historian. Themes include the spread of Islam in Africa, the rise of towns and a middle class, the massive enslavement of African people, and the changing social relationships between old and young, men and women, nobles and commoners, and free-born and slaves in precolonial Africa. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Kapteijns

265 (I) History of Modern Africa

Many of Africa's current characteristics are the heritage of its colonial experience. This course will deal with the different types of colonies from those settled by European planters to the "Cinderella's" or minimally exploited ones and will trace African responses to colonial rule up to the achievement of political independence. For the post-colonial period, the emphasis will be on an analysis of the roots of poverty, the food crisis, civil war and secessionism, the problem of tyranny, and East-West rivalry. Open to all students.

Ms. Kapteijns

270 Japan Before 1800

Introduction to the history of Japan from the sixteenth to the early nineteenth century. Topics include civil strife in the era of Warring States, the great unification and the age of peace under the Tokugawa shogunate, the decentralized Bakufu-Domain polity, popular culture and the revival of classic ideas, the integration of hamlet and villages into the market economy, and peasant uprisings and social unrest. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Hanawa

271 (2) Japan Since 1800

The emergence of Japan as a nation state from the early nineteenth century to the period after World War II. Emphasis on the interaction of internal and external sources of change; continuity and change in political institutions and cultural patterns; economic growth, urbanization and social dislocation; the anticipation of renewal and new achievements; the culture of militarism in the late 1930s; defeat and occupation; and postwar recovery. Open to all students.

Ms. Hanawa

275 Imperial China

After a survey of earlier developments in Chinese history, the course will focus on the period from late Ming (ca. 1600) to the eve of the revolution of 1911. Emphasis on both internal and external sources of change: the growing commercialization of Chinese society, unprecedented population expansion, the doubling of the size of the Chinese empire in the 18th century, indigenous intellectual and cultural developments, the political-economic-intellectual impact of the West and the progressive break-down of Chinese society and polity in the 19th century. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Cohen

276 (2) China in Revolution

An introduction to the revolutionary changes that have swept China in the 20th century. Among topics to be covered: the revolution of 1911 and its meaning; warlordism and the militarization of Chinese politics; May Fourth cultural, intellectual, and literary currents; Chiang Kai-shek and the Kuomintang; Mao Zedong and the early history of the Communist movement; social and economic changes; World War II; the Communist triumph in 1949 and major developments since; future problems. Open to all students.

Mr. Cohen

284 (2) The Middle East in Modern History

Themes in the political, socio-economic, and intellectual history of the modern Middle East (Turkey, Lebanon, Israel, Egypt, Saudi Arabia and Iran) from 1918 to the present. The formation of the modern nation states after World War I, the historical background of major political and socio-economic issues today, including the impact of the oil boom, labor migration, changing social roles of women, and urbanization. Themes in the history of ideas include nationalism, politicized Islam, and the movement for women's emancipation. Poetry, short stories and novels are among the sources used. Open to all students.

Ms. Kapteijns

286 Islamic Society in Historical Perspective

Introduction to the rich mosaic of Islamic society from the time of the Prophet to the First World War. Through the study of a wide variety of "building blocks" of Islamic society—from nomadic camp to metropole, from extended family to state bureaucracy, and from Islamic courts of law to Sufi brotherhoods—students will gain insight into some major themes of the political, religious, and socio-economic history of the Islamic world. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Kapteijns

290 History of Israel

An exploration of the historical formation and development of Jewish statehood, from Biblical promise to political reality. Consideration of Jewish settlement in Palestine; the nature of the Zionist revolution; the evolution of a modern state within the boundaries of an ancient homeland; relations with Arabs; and continuing efforts to define the nature and purpose of a Jewish national home. Open to sophomores, juniors and seniors. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Auerbach

295 (I) International Relations of the West, 1789-1962

Historical introduction to the development of international relations from the outbreak of the French Revolution to the Cuban Missile Crisis: the Napoleonic Wars and the nineteenth century balance of power; the diplomacy of national unification and imperialist expansion; the origins of World Wars I and II; the emergence of Russian and American superpowers; the Cold War and European decline. Prerequisite: same as for 232.

Mr. Shennan

309 (I) Social History of the United States, 1600-1850

The evolution of American society from a few scattered colonial settlements along the East Coast to an industrializing, culturally and racially diverse nation that spanned the continent. Students will apply theories and models of social organization to selected topics covering the period from 1600 to 1850, including New England community life, the emergence of Afro-American culture, beginning of the Industrial Revolution, and political turmoil that preceded the Civil War. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two units of history or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Jones

310 Social History of the United States, 1877-1985

The development of American society in terms of changing family organization, socioeconomic class structure, patterns of work and leisure time activities, industrialization, urbanization, ethnic groups, and social and geographical mobility. Prerequisite: same as for 309. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Jones

311 (2) 1968: The Terrible Year

Within a single year the Tet offensive in Vietnam, the assassinations of Martin Luther King, Jr. and Robert F. Kennedy, and the election of Richard M. Nixon transformed American foreign and domestic policy, ending an era of liberal internationalism and domestic reform. Exploration of how, and why, it happened. Enrollment limited to 20. Open by permission of the instructor to students with a background in twentieth century American history. Not open to students who have taken 315.

Mr. Auerbach

325 The Romantic Era in Germany

German culture and society from the Napoleonic Wars to the revolutions of 1848, focusing on Berlin, Vienna, and Weimar. Exploration of changes in art, literature, music, philosophy, and politics in their social context. Figures and groups to be studied include: in literature, Kleist, Rahel Varnhagen, Goethe, E.T.A. Hoffmann and Heine; in music, Beethoven; in architecture, Schinkel; in art, Caspar David Friedrich; and in politics, Hegel and the young Hegelians (Feuerbach and Marx). Prerequisite: open to juniors and seniors and to especially qualified sophomores. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Knudsen

327 (I) Zionism and Irish Nationalism: A Comparative Perspective

Emergence and evolution of Zionism and Irish nationalism in the 19th and 20th centuries. Poets, ideologues, charismatic leaders; immigration and diaspora. Political, social, religious and ideological trends in modern Israel and in Ireland. Comparisons and contrasts. Prerequisite: same as for 325.

Ms. Malm

328 (2) Anti-Semitism in Historical Perspective

Historical antecedents and sources of modern anti-Semitism. Topics include pre-Christian anti-Semitism, attitudes of Christianity and Islam, the ambiguous legacy of the Enlightenment. Attention to the impact of revolution, modernization and nationalism in the emergence of political anti-Semitism. Jewish responses to anti-Semitic policies and events as well as developments during and after World War II. Prerequisite: same as for 325.

Ms. Malino

330 Seminar. Medieval Heroes and Heroines

An examination of both the mythological and the historical functions of the "hero" in human societies since earliest times, with primary attention to the medieval world between 400 and 1500. Through chronicles, biographies, and autobiographies, we will investigate the phenomenon of "heroization" and the ways in which heroic figures in premodern European history have changed in character with the changing conditions for successful leadership. Open by permission of the instructor to juniors, seniors, and qualified sophomores. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Cox

333 (2) Seminar. Renaissance Florence

Study of the social, political, and economic crises that serve as the background and impetus to the intellectual and artistic flowering of the Florentine Renaissance. Examination of the structure of Florentine society, and in particular of the life and mentality of the patrician families whose patronage and protection fueled the "golden age" of Florentine culture. Prerequisite: 233 or another course in the history or culture of Renaissance Italy.

Ms. Park

336 (2) Seminar. Hidden Bonds of Womanhood: Black and White Women in the South, 1930-1980

The history of southern women, as shaped by their everyday experiences related to work, education, and family life, and by the social and economic upheavals precipitated by the Great Depression, World War II, the Civil Rights Revolution, and the emerging women's movement, with special attention to the divisive forces of racial prejudice and class conflict. Students will examine autobiographies, historical monographs, novels, and the recent documentary film series chronicling the Civil Rights movement, "Eyes on the Prize." Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Ms. Jones

341 (1) Seminar. The Nature and Meanings of History

Introduction to modern historical writing with an emphasis on the tendencies and counter-tendencies in the 20th-century European tradition. Particular concern with patterns of historical explanation as adopted by practicing historians: individual and collective biography, demography and family reconstruction, psycho-history, Marxism. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Also recommended for students electing 360, Senior Thesis Research.

Mr. Knudsen

342 (1) Seminar. Women, Work and the Family in African History

Examination of women's work in the small-scale and state societies of precolonial Africa; the transformation of the existing division of labor as a result of colonial domination. Analysis of historiographical trends in African women's history; case-studies from throughout the continent; student interpretation of a variety of historical sources, including oral histories and women's songs. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Ms. Kapteijns

344 (1) Seminar. Gendered Domains: Women and Men in Modern Japan

The historical metamorphoses of gender roles and ideologies from 1860 to the present: how particular domains have come to be defined as male or female; how historical circumstances inform the construction, extension, and declension of particular gendered domains; and how changes of gender ideologies relate to transformations in areas such as labor force participation, childrearing, or modes of political behavior. Prerequisite: 271 or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Hanawa

346 (2) Seminar. China and America: The Evolution of a Troubled Relationship

The persistent theme of misunderstanding and conflict in Chinese-American relations will be explored through such topics as: the treatment of Chinese in 19th century California and U.S. exclusion legislation, the rhetoric and reality of the Open Door, China and the U.S. as allies during World War II, McCarthyism and the re-emergence of anti-Chinese feeling in the 1950s, the Nixon-Kissinger opening of the early 1970s, and the fallout from Tiananmen. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Mr. Cohen

347 The Cultural Revolution in China

The cultural Revolution approached on three levels: as a major event in recent Chinese history, with its specific causes, nature, and consequences; as individual experience reflected in memoirs, recollections, fiction; and as a set of myths generated and communicated by China's leadership, the Chinese people, and foreign observers. Attention to the distinctive characteristics of each of these modes of historical representation. Concludes with a comparison of the Cultural Revolution to other major historical events. Enrollment limited to 20. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cohen

350 (I) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

354 (I) Seminar. Household and Family in American History

The American family as a social and cultural institution, drawing on diaries, autobiographies, family letters, wills, censuses, church records and historical monographs. Topics include the family as a unit of historical analysis, household structure and life cycles, the family economy, the family wage, historical variations in the character and quality of familial bonds, and connections between family and church and state. Prerequisite: same as for 330.

Ms. Tien

356 (I) Seminar. Russia at War

An exploration of the Soviet Union during the harrowing ordeal of the Second World War, including: the Nazi-Soviet pact; the siege of Leningrad; the Western alliance; U.S. and British perceptions of the U.S.S.R. during the war; wartime propaganda and culture; the "Great Patriotic War" as memory and myth. Prerequisite: Open by permission of the instructor to students who have taken History 247, Political Science 206 or Political Science 322.

Ms. Tumarkin

360 (I) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors. Enrollment in 341, which will serve as the departmental Honors seminar, is strongly recommended.

361 Seminar. Crisis and Renovation: Comparative Themes in the History of France and Britain, 1930-80

A comparative perspective on French and British responses to changing international, political, economic, and social realities. Issues include: crisis of the 1930s; World War II and its postwar impact; decolonization; relations with the United States; modernization and social change in the 1950s and 1960s; and the politics of the 1960s and 1970s. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Shennan

364 Seminar. Women in Islamic Society: Historical Perspectives

Examination of the changing social roles of women in the Islamic world, from Pakistan to Morocco. Focus on the rights and duties of women as defined by the Koran and the Shari'a (Islamic Law), followed by exploration of the theoretical and historiographical literature on women in Islamic societies. Students will examine the social roles and position of women in concrete historical situations. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Kapteijns

367 Seminar. Jewish Ethnicity and Citizenship

The freedom to be different and the right to be equal studied through the Jewish experience in 19th and 20th century Europe. Topics include the paradoxes of the struggle for political equality in Western Europe; challenges of romantic nationalism and political anti-Semitism; Jewish nationalist and religious responses. Comparison with other groups and ethnicities. Prerequisite: same as for 330. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Malino

Directions for Election

Entering students are urged to consider taking 103, History in Global Perspective, as their first course, since it is a multicultural introduction to the study of history and will also introduce them to all members of the department. Most 200-level courses in the Department are open to first-year students, but students without a strong background in European history should elect 100, 201, or both before taking other courses in the European field. Seminars are ordinarily limited to 15 students, non-majors as well as majors, who meet the prerequisite.

Majors in history are allowed great latitude in designing a program of study, but it is important for a program to have both breadth and depth. To ensure breadth, majors, beginning with the class of 1992, must take at least one from each of the following groups of courses: 1) 263, 264, 265, 270, 271, 275, 276, 284, 286 (Africa, Japan, China, Middle East); and 2) 100, 102, 201, 238, 246 (Europe, the United States, England, Russia). We strongly recommend that majors take at least one course in the pre-modern West (ancient Greece and Rome, Europe before 1600). To encourage depth of historical understanding, we urge majors to focus eventually upon a special field of study, such as (1) a particular geographical area, country, or culture; (2) a specific time period; (3) a particular historical approach, e.g., intellectual and cultural history, social and economic history; (4) a specific historical theme, e.g., the history of women, revolutions, colonialism. Finally, of the two Grade III courses in the major required for the B.A. degree, we recommend that majors include at least one seminar in their programs. No more than one crosslisted course may be counted toward a History major.

The History minor consists of a minimum of five courses, of which at least four must be above the 100 level and at least one at the 300 level (excluding 350). Of these five units, at least three shall represent a coherent and integrated field of interest, such as, for example, American history, Medieval and Renaissance history, or social history. Of the other two units, at least one shall be in a different field. Normally at least four units must be taken at Wellesley, and crosslisted courses will not count toward the minor.

Italian

Professor: Jacoff (Chair)

Assistant Professor: Viano, Ward

Lecturer: Di Martino

All courses, unless otherwise listed, are conducted in Italian. In all courses given in Italian, except seminars, some work may be required in the language laboratory.

Qualified students are encouraged to spend the junior year in Italy. See p. 62.

The Italian department offers both a major and a minor as well as an interdisciplinary major in Italian culture. See Directions for Election.

100 (I-2) Elementary Italian

Development of basic language skills for the purpose of acquiring contemporary spoken Italian and a reading knowledge useful in the study of other disciplines. A general view of Italian civilization. Three periods. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily.

Mr. Viano, Mr. Ward, Ms. Di Martino

202 (1) Intermediate Italian I

Consolidation and increase of fluency in Italian through in-depth review of grammar, conversation, and role-playing. Selected articles from Italian newspapers and graded short stories will develop vocabulary and introduce students to specific skills necessary for reading in a foreign language. Listening comprehension will be practiced through the viewing of Italian films and other audio-visual materials. Course requirements: six short written compositions, six quizzes. Three periods. Prerequisite: 100 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Ward, Ms. Di Martino

203 (2) Intermediate Italian II

Further consolidation of fluency in Italian through review of grammar, conversation, and writing. Reading skills will be further developed through the study of a series of literary and audio-visual texts which are designed to introduce students to some of the major themes in Italian culture. Three periods. Prerequisite: 202 or by permission of the instructor. Majors are encouraged to take both 203 and 205.

Mr. Viano

205 (2) Intermediate Spoken Italian

The course develops oral skills by considering the major communicative functions for which language is used. Course activities include work in pairs and in groups, communication games, role playing and simulation exercises. Students will use both audio and video programs which will form the basis of class discussions. Three periods. Prerequisite: 202 or by permission of the instructor. Majors are encouraged to take both 203 and 205.

Ms. DiMartino

206 (1) Introduction to Italian Studies

A study of post-war Italian culture through an analysis of its literature (Calvino), cinema (Fellini), philosophy (Eco, feminism), and popular music (CCCP). The examination of some key texts in these differing genres will aim at charting the emergence of a post-modern sensibility in Italian culture. Prerequisite: 203 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Viano

207 (2) Studies in Italian Renaissance Literature

An introduction to Medieval and Renaissance Italian literature through consideration of major authors such as Dante, Petrarch, Boccaccio, Machiavelli, and Castiglione. The course will explore the changing significance of the role of human love, the relationship between intellectual and civic life, and the role of literature itself. Prerequisite: 206 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

208 (2) Italy: A Cultural Perspective (In English)

An examination of the beliefs, customs, values, social practices, and myths which constitute modern Italian culture. An understanding of the present cultural configuration within its historical perspective will be achieved through analyses of literary and socio-logical texts as well as audio-visual materials. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

209 (2) Studies in Italian Literature

Special Topic for 1990-91: Fascism and Resistance: The Italian Response

Drawing on both literary and cinema texts, the course will examine the major political and cultural events of twentieth century Italy: the period of Fascist rule and the Resistance Movement. As well as giving a historical overview, the course aims to trace the differing ways Italian culture and society dealt with the Fascist legacy and the idea of a new beginning promised by the Resistance. Readings from Calvino, Moravia, Levi, Pavese, Gramsci, Bassani and Vittorini; films by Rossellini, Visconti, De Santis, and the Taviani brothers. Prerequisite: 206 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Ward

211 (1) Dante (in English)

An introduction to Dante and his culture. This course presumes no special background and attempts to create a context in which Dante's Divine Comedy can be carefully explored. The centrality and encyclopedic nature of the Comedy make it a paradigmatic work for students of the Middle Ages. Since Dante has profoundly influenced several writers of the 19th and 20th centuries, students will find that knowledge of the Comedy illuminates modern literature as well. Open to all students.

Ms. Jacoff

212 (2) Literature of the Italian Renaissance (In English)

An opportunity to read certain key texts of the Italian Renaissance in depth: Boccaccio's Decameron, selected Petrarch letters and poems, Cellini's Autobiography, Castiglione's The Courtier and Machiavelli's Prince and Discourses. The focus will be on stylistic and thematic issues and on the problems of interpretation raised by these texts. Not offered in 1990-91.

244 (2) Italian Cinema (in English)

A survey of Italian cinema from neo-realism to the present through the work of its major directors (Fellini, Bertolucci, Antonioni, etc.). The in-depth analysis of each film will aim at providing students with a knowledge of the key issues in contemporary film theory: the relationship between cinema and reality, the role of the spectator, gender and politics of the film image. Open to all students.

Mrs. Viano

308 (1) The Contemporary Novel

The development of an art form in relation to the literary and intellectual history of modern Italy. Representative theoretical and fictional texts will illustrate the diversity of stylistic and thematic concerns of a variety of writers and movements. The focus will be on novels by Moravia, Vittorini, Pavese, Gadda and Calvino. Prerequisite: 209 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

349 (1) Seminar. Narrative Techniques in Italian Literature and Cinema

The course aims to introduce students to the developments in narrative technique that have characterized modern Italian literature and film. Beginning with selections from Manzoni's I promessi sposi (The Betrothed), the students will read selections from Verga, Gadda, Pasolini, Calvino, and Eco. Futurism and Neo-realism will also be considered.

The course will conclude with an introduction to film narrative and an analysis of the films of Michelangelo Antonioni. Among other issues, the course will discuss the ideological critique of narrative that has been elaborated in recent years. Open by permission of the instructor.

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

The Italian department offers both a major and a minor in Italian as well as an interdisciplinary major in Italian culture.

The Italian major offers students the opportunity to acquire fluency in the language and knowledge of the literature and culture of Italy. Students are urged to begin Italian in their first year. Italian 100 counts toward the degree, but not the major. Students majoring in Italian are required to take eight units above the 100 level, two of which must be at Grade III level. Students should consult with the chair about the sequence of courses they will take. Courses given in translation count toward the major. Qualified students are encouraged to spend their junior year abroad on an approved program. Courses in other languages and literatures, art and history are strongly recommended to supplement work in the major.

The Italian minor requires five units above the 100 level. One of these units may be fulfilled by a course in translation.

Italian Culture

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Jacoff

The major in Italian Culture offers students the opportunity to acquire fluency in the language and to deepen their knowledge of Italy through the study of its literature, art, history, music and thought. The program for each student will be planned individually with the director. At least four units in Italian above the 100 level, one of which must be at Grade III level, must be included in the program; in addition, the student will take at least four units above the 100 level in related departments, one of which must be at Grade III level. Courses given in translation will count toward the major.

Japanese

Assistant Professor: Morley^A

Lecturer: Morita (Chair)

Language Assistant: Torii, Yamamotochi

107 (I-2)(A) Beginning Japanese

Introduction to the modern standard Japanese language. Emphasis on developing proficiency in listening, speaking, reading and writing, using basic expressions and sentence patterns. Four periods with a fifth period to be arranged. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Open to all students.

Ms. Morita and Staff

111 Introduction to Japanese Civilization

An interdisciplinary and topical introduction to the salient features and issues in Japanese civilization from the seventh century to the present. Topics include: indebtedness to China and to the West, the role of feudalism in modernization, development of uniquely Japanese cultural norms and social structure, emergence of Japan as a threat to and promise for the rest of the world. Approached from history, literature, art, religion, sociology, economics, and political science. Team-taught with lecturers. Not offered in 1990-91.

207 (I-2)(A) Intermediate Japanese

Continuation of Japanese 107. The first semester will emphasize further development of listening and speaking skills with more complex language structures as well as proficiency in reading and writing. The second semester will emphasize reading and writing skills. Four periods with a fifth period to be arranged. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: 107 (I-2) or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Morita and Staff

221 (I) Topics in Japanese Linguistics

Language and Society in Japan. This course will examine the interaction between language and culture in Japan. Focus on unique characteristics of women's speech in Japan. Topics also include the use of honorifics, gestures, conversation analyses, and the in-group/out-group consciousness as reflected in the Japanese language. This course will provide a sociolinguistic background for both Japanese studies majors and language studies majors. Prerequisite: Japanese 107 and/or Language Studies 114. Not offered in 1990-91.

251 (2) Japan Through Literature and Film

A study of the great works of Japanese literature in translation from the 10th through the 18th centuries, including the early poetic diaries of the Heian Court ladies, the Tale of Genji, the Noh plays, the puppet plays of Chikamatsu, and the haiku poetry of Matsuo Basho. Emphasis on the changing world of the Japanese writer and the role of the texts in shaping Japanese aesthetic principles. Selected films shown throughout course. Offered in alternation with 351. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Morley

307(I-2) Advanced Japanese

Development and refinement of language skills with the aim of achieving fluency in verbal expression and mastery of reading and writing skills. Language laboratory attendance is required. Meets three days a week. Prerequisite: 207 or the permission of the instructor.

The Staff

308 (I) Readings in Contemporary Japanese Prose

Reading and discussion in Japanese of selections from modern prose: short stories, essays, etc. Focus on advanced reading and translation skills. Two periods with discussion section. Prerequisite: 307 (I-2) or by permission of instructor.

The Staff

309 (2) Readings on Contemporary Japanese Social Science

Readings in Japanese with selections from current newspapers and journals. Two periods with discussion section. Prerequisite: 308, or by permission of instructor.

351 (2) Seminar. Modern Japanese Novel in Translation

Analysis of selection of works by modern novelists from the 19th through the 20th centuries. Offered in alternation with 251. Prerequisite: one unit in Japanese Studies or by permission of instructor.

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Kodera, Morley

The major in Japanese Studies offers courses on traditional and modern Japan in several disciplines, including language. This major requires at least eight units, including two years of Japanese language training at the elementary level or at least two units in advanced Japanese. Two of the eight units must be selected from the Grade III level. Japanese 307 does not count toward the 300 level requirement. Students must also select a minimum of four non-language courses from those listed below. Those primarily interested in traditional Japan are strongly encouraged to do some course work on traditional China. One course on China can count toward the major. Opportunities for study in Japan for different lengths of time are also available.

Jewish Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Professor: Malino (Director)

The major in Jewish Studies is designed to acquaint students with the many facets of Jewish civilization, from antiquity to the present and in diverse geographic regions, through an interdisciplinary study of Jewish religion, history, philosophy, art, literature, social and political institutions and cultural patterns.

For a major in Jewish Studies, students must take courses pertaining both to the ancient and modern worlds and show proficiency in Hebrew (equivalent to at least two semesters at the second-year level). In certain cases, where students whose area of concentration necessitates another language (such as Arabic, French, Spanish, Yiddish, Ladino), that language may be substituted for Hebrew in consultation with the student's major advisor. In addition, students are expected to concentrate in some area or aspect of Jewish studies (such as religion, history or Hebrew language and literature) by taking four courses above the Grade I level, including at least two at the Grade III level. Students are encouraged to apply to participate in "Wellesley-in-Israel," a January seminar in Jerusalem which focuses on archaeology in Israel, and which is held in cooperation with The Hebrew University of Jerusalem.

Majors devise their own programs in consultation with the Director of the Jewish Studies Program and an appropriate faculty member from the student's area of concentration.

In addition to Wellesley courses, students are encouraged to take courses at Brandeis University in the Department of Near Eastern and Judaic Studies which may be applicable to the Jewish Studies major. These courses must be approved, in advance, by the corresponding department at Wellesley. See the Director of Jewish Studies for further details.

A minor in Jewish Studies consists of 5 units from the following courses (of which at least one must be at the 300 level and no more than one at the 100 level): English 364; History 217, 218, 219, 256, 290, 339, 327, 328, 367; Philosophy 219; Political Science 326; Religion 104, 105, 202, 203, 206, 207, 242, 245, 304, 305, 339, 340; Spanish 206 and 253. Units must be taken in at least 2 departments; in consultation with the Director of the Program in Jewish Studies, a student can also arrange to take courses for inclusion in the Jewish Studies minor in Brandeis University's Department of Near Eastern and Judaic Studies.

The following courses are available in Jewish Studies; for related courses, consult the Director of the Program. The "Wellesley-in-Israel" January seminar will take place in 1991.

Language Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Director: Levitt (I), Herskovits, Acting Director (2)

The major in Language Studies offers to students who are interested in the field of linguistics the opportunity for interdisciplinary study of questions relating to the structure, history, philosophy, sociology, and psychology of language.

The major in Language Studies has a number of core requirements. Students must take a minimum of four Language Studies courses: Language Studies 114 (Introduction to Linguistics), and either Language Studies 237 (History and Structure of the Romance Languages) or Language Studies 238 (Sociolinguistics) or Language Studies 240 (The Sounds of Language) or Language Studies 244 (Language: Form and Meaning); and Language Studies 312 (Bilingualism: An Exploration of Language, Mind and Culture) or Language Studies 322 (Child Language Acquisition). In addition, majors must elect a concentration of at least four courses above Grade I in a single area, including at least two units at Grade III that are approved by the Language Studies Director. Concentrations may be in one department or may be constructed across departments. In either case, the major must demonstrate intellectual coherence. Students majoring in Language Studies are strongly urged to elect basic method and theory courses in their field of concentration and to show proficiency in a foreign language at the intermediate level or above.

Students are urged to consult the MIT catalogue for additional offerings in the major.

114 (I) Introduction to Linguistics

Designed to familiarize the student with some of the essential concepts of language description. Suitable problem sets in English and in other languages will provide opportunities to study the basic systems of language organization. Changes in linguistic methodology over the last century will also be discussed.
Open to all students.

Ms. Levitt

237 History and Structure of the Romance Languages

Open to students of French, Italian, Spanish and Latin, this course deals with the development of the modern Romance languages from Vulgar Latin. Primary emphasis will be placed on examining this development from a linguistic point of view, stressing general principles of historical change. Some reading and comparison of early texts in each of the languages will also be included. Prerequisite: 114 or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91 and 1991-92.

Ms. Levitt

238 Sociolinguistics

An interdisciplinary course designed for students in the humanities and social sciences based on the application of linguistics to the analysis of language in its written and spoken forms. Emphasis on the way levels of social expression are conveyed by variations in the structural and semantic organization of language. Includes extensive study of women's language. Prerequisite: 114 or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Levitt

240 (2) The Sounds of Language

Examination of the sounds of language from the perspective of phonetics (What are all the possible linguistically-relevant sounds of the human vocal tract?) and of phonology (How does each language organize a subset of those sounds into a coherent linguistic system?) Each student will choose a foreign language for intensive study of its phonetic, phonologic, and prosodic characteristics. Includes extensive use of the speech analysis facilities of the Sound-Imaging Lab. Prerequisite: 114 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-92. Offered in 1992-93.

Ms. Levitt

244 (2) Language: Form and Meaning

Even babies can learn a language, yet scores of determined researchers have been unable to devise a satisfactory description of its structure. This course will examine some basic questions about language: what do we know when we know a language? How does meaning arise from the form of sentences? What are universal properties of human languages? What does the structure of conversation and texts contribute to understanding? In the process, we will investigate specific problems in syntax, semantics, and pragmatics—and look at some theories devised to resolve these problems. This course provides a strong foundation for studies in linguistics, cognitive science, artificial intelligence, and the philosophy of language. Prerequisite: Language Studies 114.

Ms. Herskovits

312 (1) Bilingualism: An Exploration of Language, Mind, and Culture

Exploration of the relationship of language to mind and culture through the study of bilingualism. Focus on the bilingual individual for questions concerning language and mind: The detection of 'foreign' accent, the relationship of words to concepts, the organization of the mental lexicon, language specialization of the brain, and the effects of early bilingualism on cognitive functioning. The bilingual nation will be the focus for questions dealing with language and culture: The societal conventions governing use of one language over another, the effects of extended bilingualism on language development and change, and the political and educational impact of a government's establishing official bilingualism. Prerequisite: an appropriate Grade II course in language studies, psychology, anthropology, philosophy, or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Levitt

322 (2) Child Language Acquisition

Language acquisition in young children. Examination of children's developing linguistic abilities and evaluation of current theories of language learning. Topics include infant speech perception and production and the development of phonology, morphology, the lexicon, syntax and semantics in the young child. Data from studies of children learning languages other than English will also be considered. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken Language Studies 114 or Psychology 216, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Professor: Shuchat, Shultz^{A2}, Sontag, Wilcox

Associate Professor: Hirschhorn, Magid, Morton, Wang (Chair)

Assistant Professor: Baez, Blomstrom, Levenberg, Rose, Van Mulbregt

Most courses meet for two periods weekly with a third period approximately every other week.

100 (I) (2) Introduction to Mathematical Thought

Topics chosen from areas such as strategies, computers, infinite sets, knots, coloring problems, number theory, geometry, group theory. Neither 100 nor 102 may be counted toward the major; both may be elected. Not open to students who have taken 115 or the equivalent.

Ms. Blomstrom, Mr. Morton

102 (I) (2) Applications of Mathematics without Calculus

Introduction to topics such as probability and statistics, matrices and vectors, linear programming, game theory; applications in the biological and social sciences. Neither 100 nor 102 may be counted toward the major; both may be elected. Open to all students.

The Staff

103 (I) Precalculus

This course is open to students who lack the necessary preparation for 115 and provides a review of algebra, trigonometry, and logarithms necessary for work in calculus. Methods of problem solving; an emphasis on development of analytic and algebraic skills. 103 does not count toward the Group C distribution requirement. Open by permission of the department.

Mr. Wilcox

115 (I) (2) Calculus I

Introduction to differential and integral calculus for functions of one variable. Differentiation and integration of algebraic and transcendental functions. Applications to curve sketching, extremal problems, velocities, related rates, areas, linear approximation, and differential equations. Open to all students who have not taken an equivalent course.

The Staff

116 (I) (2) Calculus II

Theoretical basis of limits and continuity, Mean Value Theorem, inverse trigonometric functions, further integration techniques. L'Hôpital's rule, improper integrals. Applications to volumes. Sequences and infinite series, power series, Taylor series. Prerequisite: 115 or the equivalent.

The Staff

120 (I) Calculus IIA

A variant of 116 for students who have a thorough knowledge of the techniques of differentiation and integration, and familiarity with inverse trigonometric functions and the logarithmic and exponential functions. Includes a rigorous and careful treatment of limits, sequences and series, Taylor's theorem, approximations and numerical methods, Riemann sums. Improper integrals, L'Hôpital's rule, applications of integration. Open by permission of the department to students who have completed a year of high school calculus. A placement test on techniques of integration and differentiation will be required of everyone enrolled in the course. (Students who have studied Taylor series should elect 205.) Not open to students who have completed 115, 116 or the equivalent.

The Staff

205 (I) (2) Intermediate Calculus

Vectors, matrices, and determinants. Polar, cylindrical, and spherical coordinates. Curves, functions of several variables, partial and directional derivatives, gradients, vector-valued functions of a vector variable, Jacobian matrix. Multiple integrals. Prerequisite: 116, 120, or the equivalent.

The Staff

206 (I) (2) Linear Algebra

Real and complex vector spaces, subspaces, linear independence, bases, dimension, inner products. Linear transformations, matrix representations, range and null spaces, inverses, eigenvalues. Applications to differential equations and Markov processes. Emphasis on proving theorems. Prerequisite: 205.

Mr. Magid, Mr. Levenberg, Mr. Wilcox

209 (I) (2) Methods of Advanced Calculus

Inverse- and implicit-function theorems. Line integrals, surface integrals, Green's Theorem, Gauss' Theorem, Stokes' Theorem. Introduction to complex-variable theory. Introduction to differential equations. Prerequisite: 205.

The Staff

210 (2) Differential Equations

Introduction to theory and solution of ordinary differential equations, with applications to such areas as physics, ecology, and economics. Includes linear and nonlinear differential equations and equation systems, existence and uniqueness theorems, and such solution methods as power series, Laplace transform, and graphical and numerical methods. Prerequisite: 205

Ms. Blomstrom

220 (2) Probability and Elementary Statistics

Topics selected from the theory of sets, discrete probability for both single and multivariate random variables, probability density for a single continuous random variable, expectations, mean, standard deviation, and sampling from a normal population. Prerequisite: 116, 120, or the equivalent.

The Staff

225 (I) Combinatorics and Graph Theory

Enumeration of selections and arrangements, basic graph theory (isomorphism, coloring, trees), generating functions, recurrence relations. Methods of proof such as mathematical induction, proof by contradiction. Other possible topics: pigeonhole principle, Ramsey theory, Hamiltonian and Eulerian circuits, Polya's theorem. Prerequisite: 116, 120, or the equivalent.

Ms. Blomstrom

249 (I) Selected Topics

Topics for 1990-91: History and Development of Non-Euclidean Geometry. Sketch of the history of non-euclidean geometry, including Saccheri's and Lambert's attempts to prove Euclid's 5th postulate (the parallel postulate). Hyperbolic geometry in detail; different models of the hyperbolic plane. Ties together logic, geometry, philosophy, art, and the idea of a transformation group. Prerequisite: 205 or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Morton

250 Topics in Applied Mathematics

Topic for 1988-89 was operations research and systems analysis. Not offered in 1990-91.

302 (I) (2) Elements of Analysis I

Metric spaces; compact, complete, and connected spaces; continuous functions; differentiation and integration; interchange of limit operations as time permits. Prerequisite: 206.

Mr. Hirschhorn, Ms. Wang

303 (I) Elements of Analysis II

Topics such as measure theory, Lebesgue integration, Fourier series, and calculus on manifolds. Prerequisite: 302.

Mr. Levenberg

305 (I) (2) Modern Algebraic Theory I

Introduction to groups, rings, integral domains, and fields. Prerequisite: 206.

Mr. Wilcox, Mr. Magid

306 (2) Modern Algebraic Theory II

Topics chosen from the theory of abstract vector spaces, Galois theory, field theory. Prerequisite: 305.

Mr. Morton

307 (2) Topology

Introduction to point-set, algebraic, and differential topology. Topological spaces, continuity, connectedness, compactness, product spaces, separation axioms, homotopy, the fundamental group, manifolds. Prerequisite: 302. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Hirschhorn

309 (2) Foundations of Mathematics

An introduction to the logical foundations of modern mathematics, including set theory, cardinal and ordinal arithmetic, and the axiom of choice. Prerequisite: 302 or 305. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

310 (2) Functions of a Complex Variable

Analytic functions. Complex-integration theory including the Cauchy-Goursat Theorem; Taylor and Laurent series; Maximum Modulus Principle; residue theory and singularities; mapping properties of analytic functions. Additional topics such as conformal mapping and Riemann surfaces as time permits. Prerequisite: 209 and 302.

Mr. Levenberg

349 (2) Selected Topics.

Topic for 1989-90 was Discrete Dynamical Systems. Not offered in 1990-91.

350 (I) (2) Research or Individual Study I or 2

Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

355 (1) Advanced Topics in Mathematics

Integrated study of several topics in algebra, analysis and geometry. Topics for 1990-91: modules, canonical forms, inner product spaces (including Hilbert space), differential forms. Recommended for students interested in the honors program. Prerequisite: 302 and 305, one of which may be taken concurrently with 355, or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Magid, Mr. Morton, Mr. Shultz, Ms. Sontag

360 (I) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See Directions for Election and p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (I) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Placement in Courses and Exemption Examinations

The Mathematics Department reviews elections of calculus students and places them in 103, 115, 116, 120, or 205 according to their previous courses and examination results. Students may not enroll in a course equivalent to one for which they have received high school or college credit. No special examination is necessary for placement in an advanced course. Also see the descriptions for these courses.

Students may receive course credit towards graduation through the CEEB Advanced Placement Tests in Mathematics. Students with scores of 4 or 5 on the AB Examination or 3 on the BC

Examination receive one unit of credit and are eligible for 116. Those entering with scores of 4 or 5 on the BC Examination receive two units and are eligible for 205.

Students who are well prepared in calculus may receive partial exemption from the group C distribution requirement without course credit by taking exemption examinations. Exemption examinations are offered only for 115 and 116.

Directions for Election

Students majoring in mathematics must complete 115 and 116 (or the equivalent) and at least seven units of Grade II and III courses, including 205, 206, 209, 302, 305, and one other 300-level course.

Students expecting to major in mathematics should complete 206 before the junior year. In order to take 310, a student must first complete 209 as well as 302.

Students expecting to do graduate work in mathematics should elect 302, 303, 305, and at least three other Grade III courses, possibly including a graduate course at MIT. They are strongly recommended to elect 355. They are also advised to acquire a reading knowledge of one or more of the following languages: French, German, or Russian.

The mathematics minor is recommended for students whose primary interests lie elsewhere but who wish to take a substantial amount of mathematics beyond calculus. Option I (5 units) consists of: (A) 205, 206 and (B) 302 or 305 and (C) two additional units, at least one of which must be at the 200- or 300-level. Option II (5 units) consists of: (A) 205, 206, 209 and (B) two additional 200- or 300-level units. A student who plans to add the mathematics minor to a major in another field should consult a faculty advisor in mathematics.

Students are encouraged to elect MIT courses that are not offered by the Wellesley College mathematics department.

The department offers the following options for earning honors in the major field: (1) completion of 302, 303, 305, and three other Grade III courses, and two written comprehensive examinations or (2) two semesters of thesis work (360 and 370). Students interested in either honors program are encouraged to elect 355. An oral examination is required for both programs.

Medieval/Renaissance Studies

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Cox, Fergusson

The major in Medieval/Renaissance Studies enables students to explore the infinite richness and variety of Western civilization from later Greco-Roman times to the Age of the Renaissance and Reformation, as reflected in art, history, music, literature, and language. To ensure that breadth of knowledge is not achieved at the expense of depth, however, majors are required to elect at least four units of work above the Grade I level from the offerings in one department. (See the list of available courses.) Each year a seminar is offered in which more than one member of the faculty participate and which is especially designed to accommodate the needs and interests of the majors. The Majors Seminar for 1990-91 is English 315 (2) Advanced Studies in Medieval Literature. A minimum major consists of eight courses, of which at least two must be at the Grade III level.

Numerous opportunities for study abroad exist for those who wish to broaden their experience and supplement research skills through direct contact with European and Mediterranean culture. By participating in the Collegium Musicum students can learn to perform Medieval and Renaissance music. See the description under Music.

Majors who are contemplating postgraduate academic or professional careers should consult faculty advisors, who will assist them in planning a sequence of courses that will provide them with a sound background in the linguistic and critical techniques essential to further work in their chosen fields. Individual interests and needs can be accommodated through independent study projects carried out under the supervision of one or more faculty members and designed to supplement, or substitute for, advanced seminar-level work.

247 (2) Arthurian Legends

A survey of legends connected with King Arthur from the sixth century through the fifteenth with some attention to the new interpretations in the Renaissance, the nineteenth, and the twentieth centuries. Special lectures by members of the Medieval/Renaissance studies program. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors; and also to first year students by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Lynch

248 (1) Love in the Middle Ages

In the twelfth century love, both secular and sacred, became an obsessive subject for poets and writers. This course is an introduction to representative medieval discourses of desire. It will explore the variety of ideas of love seen in texts such as troubadour poetry written by both men and women, romances such as Beroul's Tristan, St. Bernard's sermons on the Song of Songs, the letters of Eloise and Abelard, lyrics of Rumi and Abraham Ibn Ezra, and Dante's Vita Nuova. We will look at the social and cultural contexts of these works and pay particular attention to the dialectical relation between sacred and profane conceptions of love within and among them. Open to all students except those who have taken 335. Not offered in 1990-91.

99 (1-2) Performing Music Noncredit

One half-hour private lesson per week. Students may register for 45-minute or hour lessons for an additional fee. For further information, including fees, see Performing Music: Private Instruction. See also Music 199, 299, and 344. A basic skills test is given to students wishing to enroll in Music 99. For those who do not pass this test, a corequisite to Music 99 is Music 111.

The Staff

100 (1) (2) Style in Music

A survey of principal musical styles and forms of Western music, with emphasis on the period 1700 (Bach and Handel) to the turn of the last century (Mussorgsky, Debussy, and Stravinsky). Not to be counted toward the major. Two lectures and one section meeting. Open to all students.

Mr. Jander

106 (1) Afro-American Music

A survey of Black music in America, its origins, its development, and its relation to cultural and social conditions. Not to be counted toward the major in music. Open to all students. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Heyman

111 (1-2) The Language of Music

Preparation in the primary elements of music emphasizing rhythm and pitch perception, reading skill, keyboard familiarity, and correct music notation. Study in basic materials of music theory will include scale and chord construction, transposition, and procedures for harmonizing simple melodies. Not to be counted toward the major. Two section meetings and one 60-minute class devoted to lecture or laboratory. Open to all students.

Mr. Fisk, Ms. Zallman

115 (1-2) Musicianship

Thorough grounding in elements of tonal music, through practice in scales, intervals, triads, and rhythmic notation, accompanied by regular ear-training sessions. Students will apply the skills they acquire to the analysis of works from the standard repertory and will learn to compose simple four part harmonic progressions. Normally followed by 202. Two class meetings and one 60-minute laboratory. Open to all students who have passed the basic skills test.

Mr. Roets, Ms. Zallman

199-202 Performing Music—Intermediate

One 45-minute lesson per week. A minimum of six hours of practice per week is expected. Music 199 may be repeated, ordinarily for a maximum of four semesters. Not to be counted toward the major in music. For further information, including fees, see Performing Music: Private Instruction and Academic Credit. See also Music 99, 299, and 344.

Open, by audition for a limited number of spaces, to students who are taking, have taken, or have exempted Music 115. Successful completion of an additional music course is required before credit is given for a second year of 199.

Audition requirements vary, depending on the instrument. The piano requirements are described here to give a general indication of the expected standards for all instruments: all major and minor scales and arpeggios; a Bach two-part invention or movement from one of the French Suites; a movement from a Classical sonata; and a composition from either the Romantic or Modern period.

A student other than a pianist who wishes to apply for Music 199 should request detailed information concerning audition requirements for her instrument (including voice) by writing to the Chair, Department of Music. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily.

The Staff

200 (1-2) Design in Music

A survey of music history from Gregorian chant to electronic music. Live performance when possible. Emphasis on recognition of forms and styles, and on analysis of scores. One unit of credit may be given for the first semester. Three periods. Prerequisite: 202.

Mr. Jander, Mr. Fisk

202 (2) Pitch Structure in Tonal Music

A continuation of 115. Concentrated study of the fundamental pitch structures of 18th- and 19th-century European music. Students will work toward fluency in species counterpoint, figured bass, and the vocal style of J. S. Bach's chorale settings. Three class meetings and one keyboard laboratory. Prerequisite: 115.

Mr. Brody

203 (2) Computer Music: Synthesis Techniques and Compositional Practice

An overview of the fundamental concepts and techniques of digital signal processing and their application to music composition and modelling. Topics include: the technology of the musical instrument frequency modulation, linear synthesis, and phase distortion; the implications of such technology for musical composition; and computational models of musical structure. Students will work extensively in the Sound and Imaging Laboratory and will be expected to produce brief compositional exercises as well as rudimentary sound synthesis programs. 12 meetings and 1 lab per week. Prerequisite: Music 115 or permission of the instructor. Limited to 15 students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Brody

205 (2) Twentieth-Century Techniques

Studies in the language and style of the concert music of our century through analysis of smaller representative compositions of major composers. Short exercises in composition will be designed to familiarize students with the concepts of musical coherence which inform the works of these composers. Special topic for this semester: Text setting and writing for voice. Open to students who have taken or exempted Music 115. Students who can read music fluently are also invited with permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Roens

208 (1) The Baroque Era

Not to be counted toward the major in music. Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5. Not offered in 1990-91.

209 (2) The Classical Era

Beethoven and the Web of Culture. Analysis of such works as the "Tempest" Sonata, the "Pastoral" Symphony, the Fourth Piano Concerto, the "Choral Fantasy," and the final piano sonata (op.111) and the final string quartet (op.135) with special focus on Beethoven's subjective intentions, on the actual sources of his extra-musical ideas, and on the influence of his poetic visions on his musical forms. Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Jander

210 (1) The Romantic Era.

Prerequisite: 100, II5, or 200. Not offered in 1990-91.

215 (2) The Opera.

Prerequisite: 100, III, or II5, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

299 (1-2) Performing Music—Advanced

One hour private lesson per week. A minimum of ten hours of practice per week is expected. Music 299 may be repeated without limit. Not to be counted toward the major in music. For further information, including fees, see Performing Music: Private Instruction and Academic Credit. See also Music 99, 199, and 344.

Open by audition for a limited number of spaces, to students who have taken or exempted Music 115. One music course on the Grade II level or above must be completed for each unit of credit to be granted for Music 299. (A music course used to fulfill the requirement for Music 199 may not be counted for 299.)

A student auditioning for Music 299 is expected to demonstrate accomplishment distinctly beyond that of the Music 199 student. Students wishing to audition for 299 should request detailed audition requirements. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: 199.

The Staff

302 (1) Compositional Functions of Harmony

Written exercises in the techniques of harmonic expansion and prolongation, the use of common textures, melodic figuration, and classical phrase structures. The range study will include diatonic chromaticism and an exploration of developments in late 19th-century chromaticism. A keyboard laboratory will focus on through-bass realization in the baroque style. Three class meetings and one 60-minute laboratory. Prerequisite: 202.

Mr. Brody, Ms. Cleverdon

306 (2) Tonal Analysis

The normal continuation of 302. Analysis of the harmonic forms of classically tonal music from D. Scarlatti to Brahms emphasizing the study of expanded binary and ternary forms; sonata, minuet and trio and theme and variations. A continuation of the keyboard laboratory in through-bass realization. Three class meetings and keyboard laboratory. Prerequisite: 302.

Mr. Roens, Ms. Cleverdon

308 (2) Choral and Orchestral Conducting

Techniques of score preparation, score reading, rehearsal methods, and baton techniques. The development of aural and interpretive conceptual skills through class lectures and rehearsals, demonstrations of instruments, individual tutorials and projects designed according to the student's development and interest. Prerequisite: 200, 302, and 306 [which may be taken concurrently], or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1991-92.

Ms. DeLotis

313 (2) Twentieth-Century Analysis and Composition

A study of compositional devices of 20th-century music through the analysis of selected short examples from the literature. Special topic for this semester: Text setting and writing for voice. Students will attend Music 205 classes and will focus on the composition of complete pieces in addition to regular class assignments. Open to students who have taken II5 or have taken or are taking 200 or 202. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Roens

314 (2) Tonal Composition

A study of tonal forms—the minuet, extended song forms, and the sonata—through the composition of such pieces within the style of their traditional models. Offered in alternation with 313. Prerequisite: 302. Not offered in 1990-91.

317 (1) Seminar. The Baroque Era

Topic for 1990-91: Selected sacred cantatas of J. S. Bach. An historical introduction to the genesis and development of the sacred cantata until the Baroque period. Analytic studies of the Bach cantatas: B.W.V. 4, 11, 21, 60, 106, 147, and 182. Emphasis will be placed on score analysis and discussion of performance practice and poetic and musical symbolism in these works. Open to students who have taken 200 and have taken or are taking 302. Not offered in 1991-92.

Ms. DeFotis

318 (2) The Classical Era

Prerequisite: 200 and 302, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

319 (1) Seminar. The Nineteenth Century

Prerequisite: 200. Corequisite: 302. Not offered in 1990-91.

320 (2) Seminar. The Twentieth Century

Prerequisite: 200 and 202, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

323 (2) Seminar. Selected Topics

Topic for 1990-91: Nationalism and eclecticism in late 19th- and early 20th-century symphonists. Literature will be selected from the works of Mahler and his contemporaries, among them, Dvorak, Sibelius, and Rachmaninoff. Emphasis will be placed on the relationship between nationalist and supranationalist tendencies, through study of dramatic themes and subtexts, indigenous styles and materials, and pan-European influences, for example the music of Richard Wagner. Prerequisite: 200 and 202, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1991-91.

Ms. Zallman

344 (1) (2) Performing Music—A Special Program 1 or 2

Intensive study of interpretation and of advanced technical performance problems in the literature. One hour lesson per week plus a required performance workshop. One to four units may be counted toward the degree provided at least two units in the literature of music other than Music 200 (1-2), a prerequisite for 344, are completed. One of these units must be Grade III work, the other either Grade III or Grade II work which counts toward the major. Music 344 should ordinarily follow or be concurrent with such courses in the literature of music; not more than one unit of 344 may be elected in advance of election of these courses. Only one unit of 344 may be elected per semester. Permission to elect the first unit of 344 is granted only after the student has successfully auditioned for the department faculty upon the written recommendation of the instructor in performing music. This audition ordinarily takes place in the second semester of the sophomore or junior year. Permission to elect subsequent units is granted only to a student whose progress in 344 is judged excellent.

The Staff

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Directed study in analysis, composition, orchestration, or the history of music. Open to qualified juniors and seniors by permission.

360 Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See Directions for Election and p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Directions for Election

The normal music major sequence is 115, 202, 200 (1-2), 302, and 306. Also required for the major are four additional units of Grade II or Grade III work. One of these four units must be a seminar, and one must be an advanced music-writing course. Students who major in music are encouraged to explore their special areas of interest; composition, literature, performance, or theory.

Students who plan to undertake graduate study in music should be aware that a knowledge of both German and French is essential for work at that level, and a proficiency in Italian is highly desirable. Also of value are studies in European history, literature, and art.

Music majors are especially urged to develop their musicianship — through the acquisition of basic keyboard skills, through private instruction in practical music, and through involvement in the Music Department's various performing organizations.

Group instruction in basic keyboard skills including keyboard harmony, sight reading and score reading is provided to all students enrolled in any music course (including Music 100 with the instructor's permission and if space is available) and to Music 99 students with the written recommendation of their studio instructor. Ensemble sight reading on a more advanced level is also available for advanced pianists.

A minor in music (5 units) consists of: (A) 115 and (B) 200(2 units), 202 and (C) 1 additional unit at the 200 or 300 level.

The department offers a choice of three programs for Honors, all entitled 360/370. Under Program I (two to four units of credit) the honors candidate performs independent research leading to a thesis and an oral examination. Under Program II, honors in composition, one unit is elected per semester in the senior year, these units culminating in a composition of substance and an oral examination on the honors work. Prerequisite for this program: 204, 306, distinguished work in 313, and evidence of independent work in 314; prerequisite or corequisite: 320. Program III, honors in performance, involves the election of one unit per semester in the senior year culminating in a recital, a lecture demonstration, and an essay on some aspect of performance. Participation in the Performance Workshops is mandatory for students who are concentrating in this area. Prerequisite for Program III: Music 344 (normally two units) in the junior year, and evidence that year, through public performance, of exceptional talent and accomplishment.

Performing Music

Instrument Collection

The music department owns 38 pianos (which include 27 Steinway grands, two Mason and Hamlin grands, and 5 Steinway uprights), a Fisk practice organ, a harp, and a wide assortment of modern orchestral instruments.

In addition, an unusually fine collection of early instruments, largely reproductions, is available for use by students. These include a clavichord, virginal, two harpsichords, a positive organ, fortepiano, and two Clementi pianos; a lute, eight violas da gamba, and a baroque violin; a sackbut, krummhorns, shawms, recorders, a renaissance flute, two baroque flutes, and a baroque oboe. A recent addition to the collection is an 18th-century Venetian viola made by Belosius.

Of particular interest is the new Fisk organ in Houghton Chapel, America's first 17th-century German style organ. The chapel also houses a large, three-manual Aeolian-Skinner pipe organ, and Galen Stone Tower contains a 30-bell carillon.

Performance Workshop

The performance workshop is directed by a member of the performing music faculty and gives students an opportunity to perform in an informal situation before fellow students and faculty, to discuss the music itself, and to receive helpful comments. Required for 344 students and for 370 students in Program III, the workshop is open to Wellesley students who study performing music at Wellesley and elsewhere, on the recommendation of their instructor.

Private Instruction

The music department offers private instruction in voice, piano, fortepiano, organ, harpsichord, harp, violin, viola, cello, double bass, viola da gamba, flute (baroque and modern), oboe, clarinet, bassoon, trumpet, French horn, recorder, lute, classical guitar, saxophone, and jazz piano.

Information concerning auditions and course requirements for noncredit and credit study is given above under listings for Music 99, 199, 299, and 344. Except for Music 344, auditions and the basic skills and exemption tests are ordinarily given at the start of the first semester only.

There is no charge for performing music to students enrolled in Music 344, nor to Music 199 or 299 students who are receiving financial assistance. All other Music 199 and 299 students are charged $563 for one lesson per week throughout the year. Students who contract for performing music instruction under Music 99 are charged $563 for one half-hour lesson per week throughout the year and may register for 45-minute or hour lessons for an additional fee. A fee of $35 per year is charged to performing music students for the use of a practice studio. The fee for the use of a practice studio for harpsichord and organ is $45. Performing music fees are payable in advance and are not refundable. Lessons in performing music begin in the first week of each semester.

Arrangements for lessons are made at the department office during the first week of the semester. Students may begin their performing music study at the start of the second semester only if space permits.

Academic Credit

Credit for performing music is granted only for study at Wellesley College. As enrollment in credit study is limited, the final decision for acceptance is based on the student's audition. A faculty jury determines whether or not a student may continue with performing music for credit, and at what level. One unit of credit is granted for two semesters of study in Music 199 and 299. Two semesters of credit study in performing music must be successfully completed before credit can be counted toward the degree. Of the 32 units for graduation a maximum of four units of performing music may be counted toward the degree. More than one course in performing music for credit can be taken simultaneously only by special permission of the Department.

The Music Department's 199 and 299 offerings are made possible by the Estate of Elsa Graefe Whitney '18.

Performing Organizations

The following organizations are a vital extension of the academic program of the Wellesley music department.

The Wellesley College Choir

The Wellesley College Choir, consists of approximately 75 singers devoted to the performance of choral music from the Baroque period through the twentieth century. Endowed funds provide for joint concerts with men's choral groups and orchestra. The choir gives concerts on and off campus and tours nationally and internationally during the academic year. Auditions are held during orientation week, and rehearsals are on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 6 to 8 p.m.

The Wellesley College Glee Club

The Glee Club, founded in the fall of 1989, consists of about 70 members whose repertoire includes a wide range of choral literature. In addition to local concerts on and off campus, the Glee Club provided music at various chapel services and collaborates with the College Choir at the annual Vespers service; Auditions are held each semester during orientation week, and rehearsals are on Mondays and Wednesdays from 5 to 6:15 p.m.

The Wellesley College Chamber Singers

The Chamber Singers, founded in the fall of 1988, is a vocal chamber ensemble of 12 to 16 women from the College Choir's finest singers. The group specializes in music for women's voices and women's voices with instruments and gives concerts in conjunction with other college music organizations during the academic year. Their highly acclaimed performances of new music have resulted in invitations to perform at several area music festivals. The Chamber Singers rehearse on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 8 to 9 p.m.

The Collegium Musicum

The Collegium Musicum, directed by a faculty member and several assistants, specializes in the performance of early music. Members of the Collegium enjoy the use of an unusually fine collection of historical instruments. See under Performing Music: Instrument Collection.

Separate consort instruction is available in viola da gamba, renaissance winds, and recorder for both beginning and advanced players for a nominal fee of $35 per semester. Members of such groups are encouraged to take private instruction as well.

The Chamber Music Society

The Chamber Music Society, supervised by a faculty member and assistants, presents three concerts each year, and a number of diverse, informal programs.

The Wellesley College Philharmonic

The Wellesley College Philharmonic is a small symphony orchestra with a membership of approximately 40-50 musicians from Wellesley, MIT, and other surrounding college communities. Selection for membership is based on auditions in the Fall and Spring semesters. The group is directed by a faculty conductor but is run by students with a student assistant conductor, also chosen by audition. Repertoire includes works from several periods for symphonic orchestra, with possibilities for solo performance.

Jazz Workshop

Faculty directed sessions are scheduled throughout the year giving students an opportunity to gain experience in ensemble playing with each other and with professional guest players.

Prism Jazz

Prism Jazz is a faculty-directed big band which gives students the opportunity to improvise in mainstream Jazz literature. The group consists of approximately fifteen students and gives two concerts per year.

The MIT Orchestra

Through the Wellesley-MIT Cross Registration program, students on the Wellesley campus are eligible to audition for membership in the MIT Symphony Orchestra. Wellesley members of the orchestra have often held solo positions.

Peace Studies

AN INDIVIDUAL MAJOR

Directors: Agosin, Shimony, Wasserspring

Wellesley College offers an active program designed to acquaint students with current issues and events essential to the maintenance of peace. A major in Peace Studies may be designed according to the provision of the Individual Major option. See p. 54. In addition to lectures, workshops, symposia, and internships, the College offers one course which is specifically sponsored by the Peace Studies Program:

259 (I) (B²) Peace and Conflict Resolution

Topic for 1990-91: Human Rights, Peace, and Popular Mobilization in Latin America. This course will study the emergence in the past decade of grass-root movements throughout Latin America in support of peace and human rights. It will begin with a general examination of issues of peace and justice and then concentrate upon Latin America, where there is a history of abuses of human rights by military dictators and economic oligarchies. The main focus of the course will be on the attempt, via popular participation, to ensure respect for human rights in the region. Specific country case studies of popular mobilization in defense of human rights will be examined. Open to all students.

Philosophy

Professor: Chaplin^{A2}, Congleton, Flanagan (Chair), Menkiti, Piper, Putnam^{A1}, Stadler, Winkler

Assistant Professor: Doran, McIntyre

101 (1) (2) Introduction to Philosophy:
Plato and Aristotle

An introduction to philosophy through the works of Plato and Aristotle. The course will explore a wide range of topics in metaphysics, theory of knowledge, political philosophy, and ethics. Particular emphasis will be placed on the early and middle dialogues of Plato, where Socrates is the central figure. Some consideration will also be given to the Pre-Socratics and the Sophists. Open to all students.

Mrs. Chaplin, Ms. Congleton

106 (1) (2) Introduction to Moral Philosophy

A study of the central issues in moral philosophy from Plato to the present day. Topics include the nature of morality, conceptions of justice, views of human nature and their bearing on questions of value, competing tests of right and wrong. Discussion of contemporary moral problems. Readings in several major figures in the history of moral philosophy. Open to all students.

Ms. Doran, Mr. Flanagan, Ms. McIntyre, Ms. Piper, Mrs. Stadler

200 (1) (2) Modern Sources of Contemporary Philosophy

A study of the work of Descartes, Hume, and Kant. The course is intended to introduce students to the most influential philosophers of modern times. Key concepts, terms and arguments used by philosophers from the seventeenth century to the present day will be discussed. The course also provides preparation for more advanced work both in contemporary philosophy and in the history of modern philosophy. Open to all students.

Mrs. Putnam, Ms. McIntyre, Mr. Winkler

202 (2) Introduction to African Philosophy

Initiation into basic African philosophical concepts and principles. The first part of the course deals with a systematic interpretation of such questions as the Bantu African philosophical concept of Muntu and related beliefs, as well as Bantu ontology, metaphysics, and ethics. The second part centers on the relationship between philosophy and ideologies and its implications in Black African social, political, religious, and economic institutions. The approach will be comparative. Open to all students except first-year students in their first semester.

Mrs. Menkiti

203 (1) Philosophy of Art

An examination of some major theories of art and art criticism. Emphasis on the clarification of such key concepts as style, meaning, and truth, and on the nature of judgments and arguments about artistic beauty and excellence. Open to first year students who have taken one unit in philosophy, and to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite.

Mrs. Stadler

204 (2) Philosophy and Literature

This course examines the treatment of time, deliberation, love, and freedom in some selected works. Examined also will be the treatment of individual and social ideals, self-knowledge and self-identity, loyalty and commitment to self and others, and the problem of value revision. The course will end with some general discussion of how literature means—how to untangle the truth in fiction and the fiction in truth. Prerequisite: same as for 203.

Mrs. Menkiti

207 Philosophy of Language

What are the relations among thoughts, concepts and language? Or among thoughts, concepts and the world? Or between language and the world “out there”? How does language differ from other communication systems? These are some of the basic questions we will discuss as we examine various theories of meaning and of reference as well as of truth. Readings will be drawn from key figures who wrought “the linguistic turn”—Wittgenstein, Ryle, and Quine, along with contemporary figures such as Kripke, Putnam, and Rorty. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1990-91.

213 (1) Social and Political Philosophy

An examination of some key issues in social and political philosophy. We will explore such topics as the relationship between the individual and the community, the moral legitimacy of group rules, the responsibilities of persons in their roles, and obligations between generations. Also examined will be the bases of political authority, the scope of political obligation and the ends which political institutions ought to pursue. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite. Not open to students who have taken 209 or 210.

Mrs. Chaplin

215 (1) Philosophy of Mind

Topics include the mind-body relation; free will/determinism; knowledge of one's own mind and other minds; reductionism; philosophical implications of recent work in neuroscience, cognitive science, and artificial intelligence. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Mrs. Flanagan

216 (1) (2) Logic

An introduction to the methods of symbolic logic and their application to arguments in ordinary English. Discussion of validity, implication, consistency, proof, and of such topics as the thesis of extensionality and the nature of mathematical truth. Open to all students.

Mrs. Winkler

219 (1) The Soul in Medieval Philosophy

A study of selected theories of the soul in the middle ages, including those of Augustine, Averroes, and especially Thomas Aquinas. Emphasis will be on how these theories reflect the influence of Plato and Aristotle. Among the topics to be discussed are how the souls of animals and humans differ and how this difference is related to the presence of language, science, morality, and artistic production in humans. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors.

Mrs. Congleton

221 History of Modern Philosophy in the Nineteenth Century

A study of Post-Enlightenment philosophy, concentrating on the German tradition. Selected texts from Hegel, Schopenhauer, and Nietzsche will illustrate the themes of reason, history, and human nature. Some attention will also be given to the thought of John Stuart Mill and Auguste Comte. Prerequisite: 200 or other previous study of Kant accepted as equivalent by the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

222 (2) American Philosophy

The development of American philosophy from its beginnings as an attempt to come to terms with Puritanism, through the response to revolution and slavery and the development of Transcendentalism, to its culmination in Pragmatism. Pragmatism, exemplified by Peirce, James, and Dewey, as America's unique contribution to world philosophy occupies roughly half of the course. This course is intended for American studies majors as well as for philosophers. Prerequisite: 200 or American Studies 315 or by permission of the instructor.

Mrs. Putnam

223 (I) Phenomenology and Existentialism

Central themes in contemporary European philosophy with special emphasis on the contributions of Søren Kierkegaard, Edmund Husserl, Martin Heidegger, and Jean-Paul Sartre. Prerequisite: 200 or other previous study of Kant accepted as equivalent by the instructor.

Mrs. Stadler

227 (I) Philosophy and Feminism

A systematic examination of competing theories of the basis, nature, and scope of women's rights. Included will be a comparison of J. S. Mill's classical liberal treatment of women's rights in The Subjection of Women with contemporary formulations of the liberal position. Several weeks will be devoted to discussion of (class-selected) topics of contemporary interest to feminist theory. Open to all students without prerequisite.

Ms. Doran

249 (I) Medical Ethics

A philosophical examination of some central problems at the interface of medicine and ethics. Exploration of the social and ethical implications of current advances in biomedical research and technology. Topics discussed will include psychosurgery, gender-surgery, genetic screening, amniocentesis, euthanasia. Prerequisite: same as for 203.

Mr. Menkiti

300 (2) Seminar in Modern Philosophy

Topic a: Hume. An intensive study of selected works by David Hume. Topics to be discussed include Hume's account of causation, his views on religion, and his moral theory. Special attention will be paid to Hume's relation to other seventeenth and eighteenth century philosophers and to certain Greek and Roman authors. Prerequisite: 200.

Ms. McIntyre

Topic b: Kant. Intensive study of Kant's Critique of Pure Reason. Prerequisite: 200.

Ms. Piper

310 (I) Seminar in Ancient Philosophy

Topic for 1990-91: Plato. Intensive study of the works of Plato or the works of Aristotle (offered in alternate years). Prerequisite: 101 or Greek 201 or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Congleton

313 Seminar in Advanced Topics in Metaphysics and Epistemology

Topic for 1990-91: Knowledge and Skepticism. A study of three central themes in the theory of knowledge: the problem of skepticism, competing theories of how to justify knowledge claims, and the general critical question of what is wanted from a system of knowledge. The seminar will explore the relationships between common sense and philosophy, and ordinary doubt and philosophical doubt. Readings will be from both historical and contemporary sources. Open to juniors and seniors or by permission of the instructor. Not open to students who have taken 314. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Doran

326 (I) Philosophy of Law

A systematic consideration of fundamental issues in the conception and practice of law. Such recurrent themes in legal theory as the nature and function of law, the relation of law to morality, the function of rules in legal reasoning, and the connection between law and social policy are examined. Clarification of such notions as obligation, power, contract, liability, and sovereignty. Readings will cover the natural law tradition and the tradition of legal positivism, as well as such contemporary writers as Hart and Fuller. Open to juniors and seniors, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Menkiti

330 (2) Seminar in Advanced Topics in Aesthetics

Topic for 1990-91: Problems in Twentieth-Century Art and Philosophy. Critical discussion of twelve philosophical issues raised by the evolution of the arts in the twentieth century. Equal emphasis on the presuppositions implicit in artistic statements and critical debates. Comparison between East and West if time permits. Prerequisite: 203 or another course in philosophy approved by the instructor. Not open to students who have taken 328.

Mrs. Stadler

340 (I) Seminar in Contemporary Ethical and Political Theory

Topic for 1990-91: Metaethics. All moral theories presuppose a descriptive conception of the kind of self or agent to whom the theory applies. This conception had better describe us accurately, or else the theory in question can be of no help in guiding our behavior. Most contemporary moral theories presuppose a Humean conception of the self, regardless of their substantive differences. But is this the right one to capture what is essential about being a human agent? We will examine the moral theories of one self-professed Humean—Richard Brandt, and two self-professed Kantians—Thomas Nagel and Alan Gerwirth, in order to see how well the Humean conception they all presuppose succeeds in providing a foundation for the practical application of each of these theories. Prerequisite: 106 or another course in ethical theory.

Ms. Piper

345 (2) Seminar: Advanced Topics in Philosophy of Psychology and Social Science

Topic for 1990-91: Consciousness. Discussion of recent philosophical work on the nature of consciousness and the adequacy of contemporary materialist approaches to consciousness. Prerequisite: Philosophy 215 or Psychology 330.

Mr. Flanagan

349 (1) Seminar: Selected Topics in Philosophy

Topic for 1990-91: Metaphysics. Discussion of four metaphysical problems: the existence of universals or natural kinds; the identity of particulars (natural objects, artifacts, persons) over time; the objectivity of causal relations and the status of laws of nature; the nature of space and time. Readings in classical and contemporary sources. Prerequisite: 200.

Mr. Winkler

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Education in Philosophical Perspective

Directions for Election

A major in philosophy consists of eight courses. Philosophy majors are expected to elect at least two courses from each of the following three areas. Under changes that went into effect in 1989-90, several of the courses listed below have been dropped from the curriculum, e.g., 212, 217, 220; or have been consolidated into one course, e.g., 209/210 has been consolidated as 213; or have been consolidated under descriptions in which topics will vary from year to year, e.g., 311/312 is now 310 but will alternate, just as 311 and 312 did, between Plato and Aristotle. Likewise, 314 and 336 are now consolidated under 313 with topics changing annually; 338 and 339 are consolidated under 340, as are the former 328 and 329 under 330. Departmental distribution requirements have not changed. Courses no longer offered will continue to satisfy distribution requirements for students who have already taken them. Furthermore, students may take consolidated courses with the same numbers so long as the topics have changed (the different topic will be clearly indicated in the bulletin and on the transcript). Until all students who have studied under the unrevised curriculum have graduated, students will have to pay attention to the content of their courses as well as their numbers in making sure they satisfy departmental distribution requirements. Faculty members will be happy to clarify any ambiguities.

The following constitute the departmental distribution requirements:

A. Historical: 101, 200, 202, 212, 219, 220, 221, 222, 223, 300, 302, 303, 310, 311, 312, 349 (where topic is appropriate). B. Value Theory: 106, 202, 203, 204, 209, 210, 211, 212, 213, 227, 249, 326, 328, 329, 330, 338, 339, 340, 347, 349 (where topic is appropriate). C. Metaphysics and Theory of Knowledge: 202, 207, 215, 216, 217, 218, 220, 313, 314, 327, 336, 345, 348, 349 (where topic is appropriate).

Philosophy 200 is required of all philosophy majors; 216 is strongly recommended to students who plan to do graduate work in philosophy. Students planning graduate work in philosophy should acquire a reading knowledge of Latin, Greek, French, or German.

A minor in philosophy (five courses) consists of: (A) 200, and (B) one course at the 300 level, and (C) three additional courses, at least two of them above the 100 level.

The department offers the following options for earning honors in the major field: (1) writing a thesis or a set of related essays; (2) a two-semester project combining a long paper with some of the activities of a teaching assistant; (3) a program designed particularly for students who have a general competence and who wish to improve their grasp of their major field by independent study in various sectors of the field. A student electing option (2) will decide, in consultation with the department, in which course she will eventually assist and, in the term preceding her teaching, will meet with the instructor to discuss materials pertinent to the course. Option (3) involves selecting at least two related areas and one special topic for independent study. When the student is ready, she will take written examinations in her two areas and, at the end of the second term, an oral examination focusing on her special topic.

121 (1-2) Physical Education Activities

The instructional program in physical education is divided into four terms, two each semester. To complete the College work in physical education a student must earn 8 credit points. Students are strongly urged to earn the 8 credits by the end of the sophomore year. These credit points do not count as academic units toward the degree, but are required for graduation. Most activities give 2 credit points each term, but certain activities give 3 or more credit points. Each activity is divided into skill levels to provide instruction in homogeneous groups. Special fees are charged for a few courses and are listed in the course descriptions. More detailed information on specific course offerings, skill levels, prerequisites, and numbers of points may be found in the Department of Physical Education and Athletics Curriculum Handbook, and is distributed to each student prior to fall registration. The total program of activities offered in 1990-91 in very general terms follows.

(1) Scheduled throughout the first semester

Ballet
Dance, Performance Workshop
Jazz
Lifeguard Training
Modern Dance
SCUBA
Self-defense
Yoga

Term 1. Scheduled in first half of first semester

Aquatic Activities
Archery
Canoeing
Crew
Cycling
Fitness Walking
Golf
Horseback Riding
Racquetball
Running Sailing

Squash
Stretch and Strengthen Plus
Tennis
Volleyball
Wellness
Windsurfing

Term 2. Scheduled in second half of first semester

Aerobics
Aqua-robics
Aquatic Activities
Archery
Badminton
Basketball
CPR and First Aid
Fencing
First Aid
Horseback Riding
Lacrosse
Racquetball
Running
Squash
Stretch and Strengthen Plus
Tennis
Wellness

(2) Scheduled throughout the second semester

Ballet
Dance, Performance Workshop
Golf
Jazz
Modern Dance
SCUBA
Self-defense
WSI
Yoga

Term 3. Scheduled in first half of second semester

Aerobics
Aquatic Activities
Badminton
CPR
Downhill Skiing
Fencing
Horseback Riding
Racquetball
Squash
Stretch and Strengthen Plus
Tennis
Wellness

Term 4. Scheduled in second half of second semester

Aqua-robics
Archery
Canoeing
CPR and First Aid
Crew
Cross-training
Fitness Walking
Golf

Horseback Riding
Racquetball
Running Sailing
Squash
Stretch and Strengthen Plus
Tennis
Volleyball
Wellness

Physical Education and Athletics (Academic Credit)
205 (2) Sports Medicine

The course combines the study of biomechanics and anatomic kinesiology. It focuses on the effects of the mechanical forces which arise within and without the body and their relationship to injuries of the musculoskeletal system. In addition to the lectures, laboratory sessions provide a clinical setting for hands-on learning and introduce students to the practical skills involved in evaluating injuries, determining methods of treatment and establishing protocol for rehabilitation. Academic credit only. Open to all students.

Ms. Bauman

Intercollegiate Program

There are opportunities for those who enjoy competition to participate in one of the intercollegiate teams presently sponsored by the Department of Physical Education and Athletics.

These teams include:

Basketball
Crew
Cross-country Running
Fencing
Field Hockey
Lacrosse
Soccer
Squash
Swimming and Diving
Tennis
Volleyball

Directions for Election

Each student is expected to complete a minimum of two terms a year until Physical Education 121 is completed. A student may elect a term or semester course, two courses concurrently, or may choose not to elect a course during some terms.

Students should select courses which meet their present and projected interests in physical activities. It is hoped that students will gain knowledge of the relation of physical activity to the maintenance of general well-being; that they will achieve a level of ability, understanding, and participation in sports, dance, and/or exercise so that they may experience satisfaction and enjoyment; and that they will be able to swim with sufficient skill to participate safely in recreational swimming and boating.

A student's choice of activity is subject to the approval of the Department and the College Health Services. Upon recommendation of a College physician and permission of the Department, a student who has a temporary or permanent medical restriction may enroll in a modified program.

Students may continue to enroll in physical education after Physical Education 121 is completed. Members of the faculty may elect activities with permission of the Department.

Physics

Professor: Fleming^{A2}, Brown^{A2}, Ducas (Chair)

Associate Professor: Quivers

Assistant Professor: Berg, Fourquette, Stark^A, Hu

Laboratory Instructor: Bauer, Wardell, O'Neill

All courses meet for two periods of lecture weekly and all Grade I and Grade II courses have one three-hour laboratory unless otherwise noted.

100 (2) Musical Acoustics

Production, propagation and perception of sound waves in music; emphasis on understanding of musical instruments and the means of controlling their sound by the performer. No laboratory. Each student will write a term paper applying physical principles to a particular field of interest. Not to be counted toward the minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Brown

101 (1) Frontiers of Physics

A qualitative overview of the evolution of physics from classical to modern concepts. An introduction to the methodology and language of physics. No laboratory. Not to be counted toward minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

102 (2) Musical Acoustics with Laboratory

Same description as 100 except the course is offered with laboratory in alternate weeks and the students will not write a term paper. Not to be counted toward the minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Brown

103 (1) Physics of Whales and Porpoises

An examination of the scientific and engineering principles embodied in the design of these aquatic animals. Emphasis on an interdisciplinary approach and developing modeling and problem-solving techniques. Topics include: diving and swimming (ideal gas law, fluids, forces); metabolism (energy, thermodynamics, scaling); and senses (waves, acoustics, optics). Laboratories and field trip. Not to be counted toward the minimum major or to fulfill entrance requirement for medical school. Offered in 1990-91 without Laboratory.

Mr. Ducas

104 (1) Basic Concepts in Physics I with Laboratory

Mechanics including: statics, dynamics, and conservation laws. Introduction to waves. Discussion meeting weekly. Open to all students who do not offer physics for admission and by permission of the instructor to juniors and seniors who offer physics for admission. May not be taken in addition to 107, [105], or [109]. Prerequisite or corequisite: Mathematics 115 or 120.

Ms. Brown

106 (2) Basic Concepts in Physics II with Laboratory

Wave phenomena, electricity and magnetism, light and optics. Discussion meeting weekly. 106 is normally a terminal course. Prerequisite: 104 or [105] and Mathematics 115 or 120.

Mr. Quivers

107 (1) (2) Introductory Physics I with Laboratory

Principles and applications of mechanics. Includes: Newton's laws, conservation laws, rotational motion, oscillatory motion, thermodynamics and gravitation. Discussion meeting weekly. Open to students who offer physics for admission. May not be taken in addition to 104, [105] or [109]. Prerequisite: Mathematics 115 or 120.

Ms. Fleming (1), Ms. Hu (2)

108 (1) (2) Introductory Physics II with Laboratory

Wave phenomena, electricity and magnetism, light and optics. Discussion meeting weekly. Prerequisite: [105], 107, [109] (or 104 and permission of the instructor) and Mathematics 116 or 120.

Ms. Fourquette (2), Ms. Hu (1)

202 (1) Modern Physics with Laboratory

Basic principles of quantum theory and of atomic and nuclear structure. Introduction to thermodynamics and statistical mechanics. Not open to students who have taken [204]. Prerequisite: 108 or permission of the instructor or [200] and Mathematics 116 or 120.

Mr. Quivers

203 (2) Vibrations, Waves, and Special Relativity with Laboratory

Free vibrations, forced vibrations and resonance, wave motion, superposition of waves, Fourier analysis with applications. Applications from optics, acoustics and nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy. Special theory of relativity. Prerequisite: 108 or permission of the instructor or [200], Mathematics 116 or 120 and Extradepartmental 216. Some computer programming experience is recommended.

Mr. Berg

219 (2) Modern Electronics Laboratory

Primarily a laboratory course emphasizing construction of both analog and digital electronic circuits. Intended for students in all of the natural sciences and computer science. Approach is practical, aimed at allowing experimental scientists to understand the electronics encountered in their research. Topics include diodes, transistor amplifiers, op amps, digital circuits based on both combinational and sequential logic, and construction of a microcomputer based on a Z-80 microprocessor programmed in machine language. Two laboratories per week and no formal lecture appointments. Prerequisites: Physics 106 or 108 or [200] or permission of instructor.

Ms. Hu

222 (1) Medical Physics

The medical and biological applications of physics. Such areas as mechanics, electricity and magnetism, optics and thermodynamics will be applied to biological systems and medical technology. Special emphasis will be placed on modern techniques such as imaging tomography (CAT scans, ultrasound, etc.) and lasers in medicine. Prerequisite: 106, 108, or [200], and Mathematics 115 or 120, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Ducas

302 (1) Quantum Mechanics

Interpretative postulates of quantum mechanics, solutions to the Schroedinger equation, operator theory, perturbation theory, scattering, matrices. Not open to students who have taken [321]. Prerequisite: 202 or [204] and Extradepartmental 216.

Mr. Berg

305 (2) Thermodynamics and Statistical Mechanics

The laws of thermodynamics, ideal gases, thermal radiation, Fermi and Bose gases, phase transformations, and kinetic theory. Prerequisite: 202 or [204] or permission of the instructor and Extradepartmental 216 or Mathematics 205.

Mr. Ducas

306 (1) Mechanics

Analytic mechanics, oscillators, central forces, Lagrange's and Hamilton's equations, introduction to rigid body mechanics. Prerequisite: 203 and Extradepartmental 216 or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Fourquette

314 (2) Electromagnetic Theory

Maxwell's equations, boundary value problems, special relativity, electromagnetic waves, and radiation. Prerequisite: [200] or 108, and Extradepartmental 216 or Mathematics 205.

Mr. Quivers

349 (2) Application of Quantum Mechanics

Quantum mechanical techniques such as perturbation theory and the WKB method will be developed. Applications to problems in atomic, molecular, and solid-state physics, as well as basic non-linear optics, will be discussed. One lecture and one laboratory per week. Prerequisite: Physics 302 or [321] or Chemistry 333, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Berg

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to juniors and seniors.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Mathematics for the Physical Sciences

Directions for Election

A major in physics should ordinarily include 108 or [200], 202 or [204], 203, 302 or [321], 305, 306 and 314. Extradepartmental 216 or Mathematics 209 is an additional requirement. 349 is strongly recommended. One unit of another laboratory science is recommended.

A minor in physics (6 units) consists of: 104 or 107, 108, 202 or [204], 203, (or another unit at the 300 level), 302 or [321] (or another unit at the 300 level), and Extradepartmental 216. 350 cannot be counted as a 300 level unit.

Some graduate schools require a reading knowledge of French, German or Russian.

Exemption Examination

An examination for exemption from Physics 108 is offered to students who present one admission unit in Physics. Students who pass this examination will be eligible for Grade II work in physics. No unit of credit will be given for passing this examination.

Directions for Election

The Political Science Department divides its courses and seminars into four sub-fields: Comparative Politics, American Politics and Law, International Relations, and Political Theory and Methods. Political Science 101, which provides an introduction to the discipline, is strongly recommended for first year students or sophomores who are considering majoring in Political Science.

In order to ensure that Political Science majors familiarize themselves with the substantive concerns and methodologies employed throughout the discipline, all majors must take one Grade II or Grade III unit in each of the four sub-fields offered by the Department. In the process of meeting this major requirement, students are encouraged to take at least one course or seminar which focuses on a culture other than their own. A major in Political Science consists of at least 8 units.

Recommended first courses in the four subfields are: in Comparative Politics: 204 or 205; in American Politics and Law: 200; in International Relations: 221; in Political Theory and Methods: 240, 241 or 245.

In addition to the distribution requirement, the Department requires all majors to do advanced work in at least two of the four sub-fields. The minimum major shall include Grade III work in two fields and at least one of these Grade III units must be a seminar. Admission to department seminars is by written application only. Seminar applications may be obtained in the Department office. Majors should begin applying for seminars in the first semester of their junior year, in order to be certain of fulfilling this requirement. Majors are encouraged to take more than the minimum number of required Grade III courses. While units of credit taken at other institutions may be used to fulfill up to two of the four distribution units, the Grade III units required for a minimum major must be taken at Wellesley.

Although Wellesley College does not grant academic credit for participation in intern programs, students who take part in the Washington Summer Internship Program or the Los Angeles Urban Internship Program may arrange with a faculty member to undertake a unit of 350, Research or Individual Study, related to the internship experience.

Majors considering going to graduate school for a Ph.D. in Political Science should discuss with their advisors the desirability of including quantitative methods, along with appropriate foreign language preparation.

Psychobiology

AN INTERDEPARTMENTAL MAJOR

Directors: Koff, Eichenbaum

The Departments of Psychology and Biological Sciences offer an interdepartmental major in psychobiology which provides opportunity for interdisciplinary study of the biological bases of behavior.

A major in psychobiology must include the following core courses: Psychology 101, 205, and a research methods course (207R, 210R, 212R, or 214R); Biological Sciences 110, 111, and 213. Majors must elect at least one other Grade II course from each department. To be eligible for the Honors program, students must have completed all of the above by the end of the junior year. Additionally, majors must elect two Grade III courses. Acceptable Grade III courses in Biological Sciences are 306, 315, and 332; acceptable Grade III courses in Psychology are 318 and 319. Any other Grade III courses must be specifically approved by the directors.

Students planning graduate work in this and related fields are advised to elect at least 2 units of chemistry, 2 units of physics, and to acquire a working knowledge of computers.

Biological Sciences 213 (1)

Introduction to Psychobiology with Laboratory

Directions for Election

Majors in psychology must take at least nine courses, including 101, 205, one research course, and three additional Grade II courses, and two Grade III courses. The Department offers four research courses: 207R, 210R, 212R, 214R. The Department strongly recommends that the research course be completed no later than the end of the junior year.

Students should note that they must apply for certain courses in the department prior to pre-registration. Written permission (faculty signature on the pre-registration card) is required for all students for all seminars and for all research courses. Students should contact the Psychology Department at least two weeks prior to pre-registration to apply for seminars and research courses and to secure written permission.

Students interested in an interdepartmental major in psychobiology or cognitive science are referred to the section of the Catalog where the programs are described. They should consult with the directors of the psychobiology or cognitive science programs.

Topics include the life of Muhammad, the Qur'an, hadith, law, theology, Shi'ism, Sufism. Attention to Islam's interaction with other religious traditions (Judaism, Christianity, Zoroastrianism, Hinduism), and to modern controversies over legal issues: e.g., the status of women, economic prohibitions. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Marlow

263 Islam in the Modern World

Islamic responses to political, social, and ideological crises of the 19th and 20th centuries. The effects of colonialism and the influence of Western culture, the rise of Muslim national identities, pan-Islam, Islamic fundamentalism, and revolution. Focus on individual Islamic countries, with special attention to the Iranian revolution and Khomeini. Readings in translation in major Muslim thinkers. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Marlow

298 (2) New Testament Greek

Special features of Koine Greek. Reading and discussion of selected New Testament texts. Prerequisite: one year of Greek; or exemption examination; or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Hobbs

299 (1) (2) Intermediate Hebrew

First semester: an intensive review of modern Hebrew grammar, continued emphasis on oral and written competence, and reading modern literature. Second semester: Biblical Hebrew. Reading in the Hebrew Bible, with special emphasis on differences between Biblical and Modern Hebrew grammar.

Ms. Nave (1), Mr. Fuller (2)

304 Seminar. The Book of Isaiah

An examination of the Book of Isaiah, with special attention to the history of its composition and formation, its canonical form, and its subsequent use and interpretation by Jewish and Christian writers. Prerequisite: Religion 104 or 105, or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

305 Seminar. Job and the Problem of Suffering

An examination of the book of Job and its poetic treatment of the human condition. The course will also consider other ancient Near Eastern texts that deal with the issue of evil in the world from a religious perspective, and later readings and retellings of Job by Blake, Frost, Jung, MacLeish, Fackenheim, and others. Prerequisite: one course in Bible, or permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Fuller

308 (2) Seminar. Paul's Letter to the Romans

An exegetical examination of the "Last Will and Testament" of the Apostle Paul, concentrating especially on his theological construction of the Gospel, on his stance vis-a-vis Judaism and its place in salvation-history, and on the theologies of his opponents as revealed in his letters. Members will focus much of their research on current scholarship in the so-called Romans debate. Prerequisite: at least one course in New Testament.

Mr. Hobbs

310 Seminar. Gospel of Mark

An exegetical examination of the Gospel of Mark, with special emphasis on its character as a literary, historical, and theological construct, presenting the proclamation of the Gospel in narrative form. The gospel's relationships to the Jesus tradition, to the Old Testament/Septuagint, and to the christological struggles in the early church will be focal points of the study. Prerequisite: one course in New Testament. Not offered in 1990-91. Next offered in 1992-93.

Mr. Hobbs

316 Seminar. The Virgin Mary

The role of the Virgin Mary in historical and contemporary Catholicism. Topics include biblical passages about Mary; her cult in the Middle Ages; and the appearances at Guadalupe, Lourdes, and Fatima. Attention also to the relation between concepts of Mary and attitudes toward virginity, the roles of women, and "the feminization of the deity." Prerequisite: one course in medieval history, women's studies or religion. Not offered in 1990-1991. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Elkins

318 (2) Seminar. Religion in the American Revolution

American religious culture from 1770 to 1790 and its relationship to the Revolution. Theological debates, revivals, and new sects; the theology of revolution, religious dimensions of the Declaration and the Constitution, and separation of church and state; sacred poetry, sacred song, and popular religious literature. Prerequisite: one Grade II course in American religion, history, or politics; or permission of the instructor.

Mr. Marini

323 Seminar. Theology

Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Johnson

339 Judaism, Christianity and Modernity

The interaction of Judaism and Christianity with the formative ideas and events of the modern era. Topics include Enlightenment/Emancipation; the liberal redefinitions of Judaism and Christianity; romantic conservative reactions; Jewish and Christian existentialists and feminists; confrontations with National Socialism and the Holocaust. Readings in major Jewish and Christian thinkers. Prerequisite: one course in Judaism, Christianity, modern history, or permission of instructors. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Nathanson, Mr. Johnson

340 (I) Seminar. The Holocaust

An examination of the origins, character, course, and consequences of Nazi anti-Semitism during the Third Reich. Prerequisite: a course in one of the following: Judaism, modern European history, modern political theory, or permission of the instructor.

Ms. Nathanson

350 (I) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open to juniors and seniors by permission.

353 (I) Seminar. Zen Buddhism

Zen, the long known yet little understood tradition, studied with particular attention to its historical and ideological development, meditative practice, and expressions in poetry, painting, and martial arts. Prerequisite: one course in Asian Religions and by permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited to twelve.

Mr. Koder

356 Seminar. Ideal Society in Asian Religions

Promises and problems of the ideal society as proposed by the religious thinkers of Asia. Comparative study principally through primary sources in translation. Topics include: Confucian humanitarianism, Maoist equalitarianism and Taoist "no action"; Buddhist monasticism and the "Pure Land"; Hindu utopian communities; "nature" and the emperor system in Shinto. Prerequisite: at least one course in Asian religions and the permission of the instructor. Enrollment limited to twelve. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Koder

357 Seminar. Issues in Comparative Religion

Encounter of the World's Religions. Critical study of interfaith dialogues and movements concerned with building a global theology. Issues include: how to reconcile conflicting truth claims, the impact of emerging religious conservatism on ecumenism, how to preserve integrity in a pluralistic world; ethnocentrism and evangelism; human survival as common concern. Case studies, and readings from Paul Tillich, Wilfred Cantwell Smith, Ninian Smart, William Johnston, John Cobb, Shusaku Endo, and others. Open by permission of the instructors. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Koder, Mr. Johnson

360 (I) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

362 Seminar. Religion and Politics in Islam

The relationship between religious authority and political legitimacy in the Islamic world from the seventh century to the present. Issues in the pre-modern period include the problem of justice and the emergence of distinct Sunni and Shi'i ideas of religio-political authority. Issues in the modern period include the role of religion in the nation state (e.g., in the Arab world, Iran, Turkey, and Pakistan), and the attitudes of secularists, modernists, and "fundamentalists" to the relationship between Islam and politics. Open to juniors and seniors, and to sophomores with permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Marlow

363 Seminar. Islamic Literature

An examination of some major works of Islamic literature, medieval and modern, religious and secular, in their historical and cultural contexts. Emphasis on the portrayal of relationships between the individual, the family, and the larger community. Comparisons made, when appropriate, with European literature. Readings in English translation from the Qur'an, Sufi poetry, the ta'ziya "Passion Play," epics, "mirrors for princes," the Thousand and One Nights, modern novels, and political poetry. Open to juniors and seniors, and to sophomores with permission of instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Directions for Election

In a liberal arts college, the study of religion constitutes an integral part of the humanities and social sciences. Recognizing religion as an elemental expression of human life and culture, past and present, the department offers courses in the major religious traditions of the East and the West. These courses examine both the individual and the collective dimensions of religion and approach their subject from a variety of perspectives including historical and textual, theological and social scientific.

The major consists of a minimum of eight courses, at least two of which are to be at the 300 level. To promote breadth, majors shall complete one course in each of three areas: Biblical Studies; Judaism and Christianity; Islam and Asian Religions. To ensure depth, majors shall concentrate in a special field of interest.

The minor consists of a minimum of five courses, at least one of which is to be at the 300 level, and no more than two of which can be at the 100 level. Three of the five courses, including a 300 level course, shall be within ONE of three areas: Biblical Studies; Judaism and Christianity; Islam and Asian Religions.

Students majoring or minoring in religion shall discuss the structure of their program with a faculty advisor.

For some students, studies in the original language of religious traditions will be especially valuable. Hebrew and New Testament Greek are available in this department. Religion 199 (Elementary Hebrew) cannot be credited towards the department major or minor, but Religion 299 (1) (first semester of Intermediate Hebrew) can be counted toward the major (although not toward the minor), and Religion 299 (2) (second semester of Intermediate Hebrew) can be counted toward both the major and the minor. Religion 298 (New Testament Greek) and more advanced courses in Hebrew can be credited toward both the major and the minor. Latin, Chinese, and Japanese are available elsewhere in the College; majors interested in pursuing language study should consult their advisors to determine the appropriateness of such work for their programs.

Russian

Professor: Lynch (Chair), Bones

Assistant Professor: Chester

Instructor: Tempest

100 (1-2) Elementary Russian 2

Grammar: oral and written exercises; reading of short stories; special emphasis on oral expression; weekly language laboratory assignments. Four periods. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Open to all students.

Directions for Election

Course 100 is counted toward the degree but not toward the major. Courses 201, 202 are counted toward the distribution requirements in Group A and are strongly recommended to students who intend to major in Russian, Russian Studies or Soviet Studies. However, only one of them may count toward the major. A major in Russian is expected to elect three Grade III courses beyond Russian 301 and 302; a major in Russian or Soviet Studies will elect at least one such Grade III Course.

Credit toward the major is normally given for an approved summer of study in the Soviet Union as well as for approved Junior Year Abroad programs.

Students majoring in Russian should consult the Chair of the department early in their college career, as should students interested in an individual major in Russian or Soviet Studies.

Attention is called to the related courses in History as well as in Economics, Political Science, Anthropology and Sociology.

Sociology

Associate Professor: Cuba, Hertz, Imber, Silbey (Chair)

Assistant Professor: Cushman, Najmabadi

102 (I) (2) Sociological Perspective: An Introduction to Sociology

Introduction to the sociological perspective; its principal concepts, theories, its methodologies of examining human social behavior in relation to social institutions. The interconnection between the "micro" world of the individual and the "macro" world of social institutions. Open to all students.

Mr. Cushman, Ms. Najmabadi

103 (I) Social Problems: An Introduction to Sociology

An analysis of how behaviors and situations become defined as social problems, those aspects of life that are said to undermine the social order. Attention to contemporary and cross-cultural issues. Topics include: alcoholism and drug abuse; crime, poverty and over population; pollution and energy conservation. Open to all students.

Mr. Imber

111 (I) Sociology of the Family: An Introduction to Sociology

The course looks at the rise of the modern family from a comparative perspective. Class discussion will focus on the nature and role of the family and its function for individuals and society. Students will be introduced to controversies over the definition and the "crises" of the family, the emergence of new forms, and projections about its future. The effects of work and social class on the family will be examined; dual-career couples and working-class families will be emphasized. Open to all students.

Ms. Hertz

138 (2) Deviant Behavior: An Introduction to Sociology

Why are some behaviors, differences, and people stigmatized and considered "deviant" while others are not? This course examines theoretical perspectives on deviance which offer several answers to this question. It focuses on the creation of deviance as an interactive process through an exploration of the ways in which people enter deviant roles and worlds, how others respond to stigma, and how deviants cope with these responses. Open to all students.

Mrs. Silbey

200 (I) Sociological Theory

Systematic analysis of the intellectual roots and the development of major sociological themes and theoretical positions from the Enlightenment to the present. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit.

Mr. Imber

201 (I) Social Statistics

An introduction to the use of statistics in the social sciences. Both descriptive and inferential statistics are presented as ways of organizing data for the development and testing of hypotheses and as a guide to understanding social science research. Provides the necessary background for 302. Open to all students.

Mr. Cuba

207 (I) Criminology

Systematic examination of the meaning of crime and reactions to crime. Topics include: theories regarding the causes of crime, nature and origins of criminal laws, extent and distribution of criminal behavior, societal reaction to crime through the criminal justice system, penology and corrections. Attention to the relationships among crime, punishment and justice. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Silbey

208 (2) Social Construction of Gender

This course discusses the ways in which the social system and its constituent institutions create, maintain and reproduce gender dichotomies. Gender is examined as one form of social stratification. The processes and mechanisms that institutionalize gender differences will be considered in a variety of contexts: political, economic, religious, educational and familial. We will examine some deliberate attempts to change gender patterns. Prerequisite: 111 or any other Grade I unit, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Hertz

209 (2) Social Stratification

The concept of social stratification is the core concept of sociology. It describes the differences among individuals and among institutions. The course examines indicators of social mobility and social class as well as implications of race, sex, ethnicity for one's social standing and prestige. Dimensions of stratification will be analyzed at the community, national and international levels. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

213 (1) Law and Society

Study of a day in court and underlying factors that lead to lawful behavior. Study of legal reasoning, types of law and legal systems, and relationship of law to social class and social change. Emphasis upon the profession and practice of law including legal education, stratification within the bar, and the politics of legal services. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Silbey

215 (2) Sociology of Popular Culture

An examination of the expression, production, and consequences of various forms of popular culture in comparative-historical and contemporary social contexts. Analysis of the relation between social class and popular culture in history; the production and consumption of popular culture in contemporary capitalist and socialist societies, and the diffusion of American popular culture in the modern world-system. Emphasis on the origin, meaning and social significance of forms of modern popular music such as blues, jazz, reggae, and rock and roll. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit, or by permission of instructor.

Mr. Cushman

216 (1) Sociology of Mass Media and Communications

Analysis of the assumption that the characteristics of a given society both affect and are affected by the communications media existing in that society. Focus on changes from oral to written communication, the development of mass media (newspapers, magazines, radio, television, films) and the structure of contemporary communications. The issues of ethics, media control and the professionalization of the field will be examined. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit, or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Cushman

217 (1) Power: Personal, Social, and Institutional Dimensions

The study of power extends far beyond formal politics or the use of overt force into the operation of every institution and every life: how we are influenced in subtle ways by the people around us, who makes controlling decisions in the family, how people get ahead at work, whether democratic governments, in fact, reflect the "will of the people." This course explores some of the major theoretical issues involving power (including the nature of dominant and subordinate relationships and types of legitimate authority) and examines how power operates in a variety of social settings: relations among men and women, the family, the community, the corporation, the government, cooperatives and communes. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors without prerequisite. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Silbey

224 (1) Political Sociology and Social Movements

Starting from the most recent political upheavals and revolutionary transformations (Eastern Europe, China, Iran), this course will investigate patterns of change in different societies and will inquire about what goes into social revolutions. What historical trends, conjunctural developments and unforeseen events make (or unmake) a revolutionary crisis? What role do ideologies and social movements play in different types of social change? Prerequisite: one Grade I unit, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Najmabadi

225 (2) Science, Technology and Society

An examination of the social conditions of scientific development and controversy, and the links among scientific work, technological development and everyday life. Topics include: the interrelation of science, government and industry; sociobiology and IQ debates; the politics of science education and the ethics of science research. Prerequisite: 102 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Imber

228 (1) Sociology of Work and Occupations

Study of representative work and occupational experiences ranging from blue-collar jobs to the professions. The nature of work in traditional and in contemporary societies. Socialization to work roles; the process of professionalization; work careers; and other topics. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Hertz

229 (1) Organizations and Organizational Behavior

How do organizations operate? Why do people act the way they do inside organizational settings? Analysis of organizational structure, processes, and behavior. Topics include organizational roles, managerial ideologies, the individual in the organization, power, communication, effectiveness, decision making, conflict, recruitment, mobility, fast-tracking, risk-taking, initiative, flexibility and rigidity in organizational structure, and organizational change. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit, or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Cuba

233 (2) Volunteering in the Welfare State

A broad historical and social examination of volunteering in America and in other nations. The impact of volunteerism on the shape and character of social institutions, including the family, school, church, hospital, and state. Special focus on ethnic and gender variations in forms of volunteering. Prerequisite: one Grade I unit or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Imber

300 (2) Senior Seminar. Sociological Theory and the Sociology of Knowledge

Topics in contemporary social theory. Open to seniors or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Cushman

302 (2) Research Methods

An examination of the logic of survey analysis, from the development of hypotheses and construction of a survey instrument to the analysis and reporting of results. Emphasis is on field research experience; class participants work collectively on the design and implementation of a research project of their choice. Prerequisite: 201 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Cuba

311 (2) Seminar, Family and Gender Studies

The Family, the State and Social Policy. Analysis of problems facing the contemporary U.S. family and potential policy directions. Discussion of the social meaning of income and the quality of family life. Emphasis on welfare, family planning, children's rights, child allowance, the impact of work on the family, day care, the elderly, the working poor, and delivery of services to families with special needs. Comparisons to other contemporary societies will serve as a foil for particular analyses. Prerequisite: III or one Grade II unit, or by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Hertz

314 (2) Medical Sociology and Social Epidemiology

Definition, incidence and treatment of health disorders. Topics include: differential availability of health care; social organization of health delivery systems; role behavior of patients, professional staff and others; attitudes toward terminally ill and dying; movements for alternative health care. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Imber

324 (2) Seminar. Social Change

Analysis of the impact of change on the polity, economy, family, the stratification system and living arrangements. Comparison between western and non-western societies. Particular emphasis on the social psychological dimensions of change; the processes of rationalization, development and revolution; modernization and its discontents, and the rise of the new traditionalism. Prerequisite: two Grade II units or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

The Staff

329 (2) Internship in Organizations

An internship in organizational theory and analysis. Required internship assignment in organizations concerned with health, corrections, housing, planning, media, other public or private services, government and industry. The internship is utilized for participant observation of selected aspects of organizational behavior, structure, or process. Seminar sessions are focused on selected topics in organization research and on issues in participant observation. Limited to juniors and seniors. Prerequisite: one Grade II unit or by permission of the instructor. 229 is recommended. Admission by application prior to Nov. 15.

Ms. Hertz

333 (1) Advanced Topics in Sociology

Topic for 1990-91: Women, State, and Ideology in the Contemporary Muslim Middle East. An exploration of the changing status of women in the Muslim Middle East within the broader context of the political upheavals of the region in the modern period, starting with the pre-modern Ottoman and Qajar states. Comparative social and historical analysis of the changes experienced by women in different types of emerging states, including Arab nationalist movements, Turkish nationalism, the new Islamic movements which reject any association with the West, and such Westward-looking states as Pahlavi Iran, contemporary Egypt, and Bourgiba's Tunisia. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor.

Ms. Napmabadi

338 (1) Seminar. Topics in Deviance, Law and Social Control

Topic for 1989-90: Law and Society. Seminar consists of close, critical reading of landmark works in the sociology of law, including Marx, Weber, Holmes, and Lewellyn. Writings by the American legal realists and contemporary critical legal scholars will be studied, with examples of empirical studies of the law-in-action. Issues include the nature of the legal form, the characteristics of legal reasoning, the relationship between social categories and legal terminology as well as the role of interpretation in law. Enrollment is limited. Admission by permission of the instructor. Preference will be given to students who have had some law-related instruction in sociology (138, 207, 213), philosophy, or political science. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Silbey

349 (2) Whitehead Seminar: Vocation

What is the origin of the idea of vocation in Western societies and how does that idea illuminate the inner life of particular professions? An examination of the social and cultural forces that determine the changing character of authority in four professions: ruling, teaching, doctoring and ministering. Focus on the meaning of "calling" in the modern world. Careful reading of selections from Martin Luther, Max Weber, Hannah Arendt, Sigmund Freud, Karl Barth, Rosa Luxemburg, Leon Trotsky, and contemporary figures who reflect on the higher purposes of politics, education, medicine, and modern religious faith.

Mr. Imber

Sociology as a discipline takes a three-pronged approach: (a) on a general level, it is concerned with patterns of human interaction and the social construction of reality; (b) on a more specific level, it studies systematically those patterned interactions which have come to assume discrete forms such as family, law, organizations; (c) on the methodological level, it explores approaches and techniques of social research and the principles on which these techniques are grounded. Sociology is concerned with making empirically valid observations and statements which promote understanding of the totality of social life.

A sociology major must include: Sociology 200, 201, 300, and 302. Permission to take these courses elsewhere must be obtained in advance from the department chair. The department discourages a minimum major with only two Grade III level courses. Students are encouraged to explore the full range of disciplines in the liberal arts, and should consult a faculty member to select courses each term and to plan a course of study over several years.

A minor in sociology (6 units) consists of: (A) any Grade I unit, 200 and (B) 4 additional courses, 2 of which must be on the 300 level. The plan for this option should be carefully prepared; a student wishing to add the sociology minor to the major in another field should consult a faculty advisor in sociology.

Visiting Professor: Emilfork

Visiting Lecturer: Montero

All courses are normally conducted in Spanish; oral expression is stressed.

The department reserves the right to place new students in the courses for which they seem best prepared regardless of the number of units they have offered for admission.

Qualified juniors are encouraged to spend a semester or a year in a Spanish speaking country, either with Wellesley's PRESHCO Consortium Program of Hispanic Studies in Córdoba, Spain, or another approved program. See p. 62.

100 (1-2) Elementary Spanish 2

Introduction to spoken and written Spanish; stress on interactive approach. Extensive and varied drills. Oral presentations. Cultural readings and recordings. Language laboratory exercises. Three periods. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Open to all students who do not present Spanish for admission.

The Staff

102 (1-2) Intermediate Spanish 2

Intensive review of all language skills. Emphasis on oral and written expression. Cultural readings by contemporary Spanish and Spanish American writers. Language laboratory exercises. Three periods. No credit will be given for this course unless both semesters are completed satisfactorily. Prerequisite: two admission units in Spanish or 100.

The Staff

201 (1) Oral and Written Communication

Practice in conversation and writing. Through frequent oral presentations, written assignments, readings on Hispanic cultures, and the study of audio- and videotapes, students develop the ability to use idiomatic Spanish comfortably in various situations. Two periods per week. Prerequisite: 102, or four admission units or by permission of the instructor.

The Staff

202 (2) Linguistic and Literary Skills

A course to serve as a transition between language study and literary analysis; speaking and writing organized around interpretations of different genres by modern Hispanic authors; creative writing; oral presentations on current events relating to Spain and Latin America; a review, at the advanced level, of selected problems in Spanish structure. Two periods. Open to students presenting three admission units, 102 or 201.

Ms. Renjilian-Burgy

203 (1) Modern Spanish Literature

The search for identity in Spain 1898-1936. Dominant themes and innovations in such authors as Unamuno, Valle Inclán, Baroja, A. Machado, Azorín and Ortega y Gasset. Offered in alternation with 204. Prerequisite: 201 or 202 or by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Syverson-Stork

204 (2) Censorship and Creativity in Spain 1936-1987

From 1936 to the present day. The struggle for self-expression in Franco's Spain and the transition from dictatorship to democracy. A study of the literary styles and accomplishments of contemporary authors: Miguel Hernández, Cela, Goytisolo, Gabriel Celaya, Martín Santos, and Blas de Otero. Offered in alternation with 203. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Gascón-Vera

205 (2) Freedom and Repression in Spanish American Literature

An introduction to the literature of the Spanish American countries with special focus on the tension between literary expression and the limiting forces of authoritarianism. The constant struggle between the writer and society and the outcome of that struggle will be examined and discussed. Close reading of poetry, chronicles, essay and drama. El Inca Garcilaso, Sor Juana de la Cruz, Rubén Darío, Gabriela Mistral, Pablo Neruda, Octavio Paz. Prerequisite: same as for 203.

Ms. Roses

206 (1) Christians, Jews, and Moors: The Spirit of Spain in its Literature

The study of the themes and voices of Latin American poetry as they appear in the written work and the oral tradition of the folk song. Special emphasis will be on Neruda, Vallejo, Paz, Peri-Rossi, Belli, Dalton. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Agosín

215 (2) Spanish Practicum

Students are placed with various Hispanic organizations in the Boston area to increase their fluency in Spanish through personal and continued contact with the language. Classroom seminars, Hispanic guest lecturers, and films in Spanish complement the students' internship experiences. Readings by Oscar Lewis, Babín, Maldonado Denis, and others. Prerequisite: personal interview with the instructor to establish adequate language skill. Same as for 203. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Roses

228 (1) Latin American Literature: Fantasy and Revolution

The interrelation between aesthetic and sociopolitical problems in the works of contemporary Latin American writers, as seen by García Márquez, Cortázar, Paz, Isabel Allende, Fuentes, and Neruda. Special attention will be given to the imaginative vision of Jorge Luis Borges. In English. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Roses

240 (2) Living Women Writers of Spain, 1970-1985

A selection of readings—novels, poetry, essays, theatre—by Spanish women writers of the 1970s and 1980s. Carmen Martín Gaite, Rosa Montero, Ester Tusquets, Mercé Rodoreda, Carmen Conde. A close study of the development of their feminist consciousness and their response to the changing world around them. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Gascón-Vera

253 (1) The Writer and Human Rights in Latin America

The role of the Latin American writer as witness and voice for the persecuted. Through key works of poetry and prose from the sixties to the present, how literary creation treats themes such as: censorship and self-censorship; the writer as journalist; disappearances; exile; victim and torturer; women and human rights; and testimonial narratives. The works of Benedetti, Timmerman, Aguilar, and others will be studied. Prerequisite: same as for 203. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Agosín

260 (2) History of Latin America

The political, social, economic, and cultural evolution of the Latin American world from colonial days to the present. Emphasis on colonial institutions and their relations to historical developments in the Iberian peninsula and on the fundamental problems, especially in certain key countries, of modern and contemporary Latin America. In English. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Roses

261 (1) History of Spain

From the epic struggle between Moors and Christians for the control of the Iberian Peninsula, through the centuries of imperial Spain, to modern Spain with its split between liberals and conservatives, a split which explodes into the apocalyptic Civil War of 1936-39, the history of Spain is explored through readings, lectures, and discussions. The course ends with the study of the Franco dictatorship (1939-75) and post-Franco Spain. In English. Prerequisite: same as for 260. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Mr. Bou

300 (1) Advanced Oral Communication in Spanish

Techniques and activities designed to develop fluency and pronunciation in the Spanish language. Included will be an introduction to phonetics. Students will also acquire idiomatic vocabulary through study of Spanish periodicals, audio and video tapes of Spain and Latin America. Open to seniors. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Roses

301 (1) Honor, Monarchy and Religion in the Golden Age Drama

The characteristics of the Spanish drama of the Golden Age. Analysis of ideals of love, honor, and religion as revealed in the drama. Representative masterpieces of Lope de Vega, Guillén de Castro and Ruiz de Alarcón, Tirso de Molina, Calderón. Offered in alternation with 302. Open to juniors and seniors who have taken two Grade II units including one unit in literature. Not offered in 1990-1991 or 1991-92.

Ms. Gascón-Vera

302 (1) Cervantes

A close reading of the Quixote with particular emphasis on Cervantes' invention of the novel form: creation of character, comic genius, hero versus anti-hero, levels of reality and fantasy, history versus fiction. Prerequisite: same as for 301.

Mr. Emilfork

304 (2) Hispanic Literature of the United States

A study of U.S. Hispanic writers of the Southwest and East Coast from the Spanish colonial period to the present. Political, social, racial and intellectual contexts of their times and shared inheritance will be explored. Consideration of the literary origins and methods of their craft. Authors may include: Cabeza de Vaca, Gaspar de Villagrà, José Villarreal, Lorna Dee Cervantes, José Martí, Uva Clavijo, Ana Vellilla, Pedro Juan Soto, Miguel Algarín, Edward Rivera. Prerequisite: same as for 301. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Renjilian-Burgy

307 (2) The New Novel of Latin America

Analysis and discussion of major Latin American novels from the 1960s and 1970s. Special topics will be social conflict in the novel, aestheticism vs. engagement, literature as a critique of values and a search for identity. Works by Onetti, Cortázar, Fuentes, Rulfo, Carpentier, Donoso, García Márquez. Prerequisite: same as for 301. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Roses

311 (1) Seminar. The Literary World of Gabriel García Márquez and the Post-Boom

An in-depth study of the literary career of Gabriel García Márquez, from his beginnings as a newspaper reporter in his native Colombia to his emergence as a major novelist and short story writer. Emphasis on his achievements as a Latin American writer and a universal and cosmopolitan figure. Works to be read include: El coronel no tiene quién le escriba, La mala hora, La hojarasca, Cien años de soledad, El otoño del patriarca and Crónica de una muerte anunciada. Prerequisite: same as for 301. Open to seniors.

Ms. Roses

313 (2) Seminar. Avantgarde Poetry of Spain

A study of the major poets of the generation of 1927. In-depth study of poets García Lorca, Guillén, Salinas, Aleixandre, and Alberti. Prerequisite: same as for 312. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

314 (2) Seminar. Luis Buñuel and the Search for Freedom and Morality

Students will read the scripts and view the films most representative of alternative possibilities of freedom expressed by Luis Buñuel. The course will focus on the moral issues posed in his films and will start with a revision of the historical motivations of the Buñuel perspective: Marxism, Freudianism and Surrealism as depicted in selected films of Buñuel, from his first An Andalusian Dog (1928) to his last That Obscure Object of Desire (1977). Prerequisite: same as for 312. Not offered 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Ms. Gascón-Vera

315 (1) Seminar. Love and Desire in Spain's Early Literature

Medieval Spain, at a nexus between the Christian, Jewish and Islamic cultures, witnessed a flowering of literature dealing with the nature and depiction of love. This course will examine works from all three traditions, stressing the uses of symbolic language and metaphor in the linguistic representation of physical desire. Texts will include Ibn Hazm, The Dove's Neck-Ring; the poetry of Yehuda Ha-Levi and Ben Sahl of Seville; the Mozarabic "kharjas"; the Galician "cantigas d'amigo"; the Catalan lyrics of Ausias March; Diego de San Pedro, Carcel de Amor; and Fernando de Rojas, La Celestina. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Mr. Vega

316 (2) Seminar. Voices of Dissent: the Struggle for Democracy through Literature

Examination of dissent and opposition against moral and religious oppression and political tyranny during the last two centuries in Spain and the significant role of literature in the struggle for a freer society. Analysis of the emergence of mass media as a vehicle for expression, as well as its impact in the transmission of texts from a perspective of cultural studies. Readings from literary works such as Larra's 'artículos', Pérez de Ayala's AMDG, Gómez de la Serna's Greguerías, Max Aub's El laberinto mágico, Luis Martín Santos' Tiempo de silencio and Juan Marse's Si te dicen que caí. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Mr. Bou

317 (1) Seminar. The New World in Its Literature: Conquest and Counter-Conquest

Exploration of five major figures of Spanish America: Columbus, Las Casas, Sahagún, El Inca Garcilaso de la Vega, and Sor Juana Inés de la Cruz. Readings from some of their most significant texts and related modern texts. Topics include the emergence of Latin America, politics and "barbarism," the first fight for human rights, Aztec and Inca thought, and the defense of women's right to knowledge. Not offered in 1990-91 or 1991-92.

Mr. Emilfork

320 (2) Seminar, Journalism in Spain

An analysis of the characteristics of journalism in Spain after Franco. We will read selections from the Madrid dailies, El País, ABC, Pueblo, and from weekly magazines such as Interview and Cambio 16. Among the journalists to be studied are Francisco Umbral, Rosa Montero, Juan Cueto, and Maruja Torres. Prerequisite: two Grade II courses and permission of the instructor.

Ms. Montero

350 (1) (2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission of the instructor to seniors who have taken two Grade III units in the department.

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research 1 or 2

By permission of department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

Peace Studies 259 (1)

Peace and Conflict Resolution

Directions for Election

Courses 100 and 102 are counted toward the degree but not toward the major.

Students who begin with 100 in college and who wish to major should consult the chair in the second semester of their first year.

Students may choose to major either in Peninsular or Latin American literature or a combination of the two. A minimum of 8 units must be presented for the Peninsular major and should ordinarily include: 201; 202; 203 or 204; 206 or 208; 301 or 302; Senior Seminar; either 205 or 307 and at least one additional unit of Grade III literature in Spanish. A minimum of 8 units must be presented for the Latin American major and should ordinarily include: 201; 202; 205; 209; 210 or 211 or 253; 301 or 302; Senior Seminar; and at least one additional unit of Grade III literature in Spanish. Spanish 260 is recommended for the Latin American major; Spanish 261 is recommended for the Peninsular major. Substitutions may be possible upon approval by the department.

Individually planned majors in Latin American studies, which combine language and literature courses with a program of anthropology, political science, and economics courses, are encouraged.

To be eligible for study in Córdoba for one or two semesters, in Wellesley's "Programa de Estudios Hispánicos en Córdoba" (PRESHCO) a student must be enrolled in a 200 or higher level language or literature course the previous semester.

Technology Studies Program

The Technology Studies Program offers students whose primary interests lie in the humanities and social sciences opportunities to develop the skills necessary to understand and evaluate technological innovations. The program consists of Technology Studies and cross-listed courses with such diverse topics as design and distribution of technological artifacts, photographic processes and electronic imaging, artificial intelligence, computer modeling of music, demography and social planning, biotechnology, light and lasers, medical ethics, the history of technology, technology in the third world, energy policy and nuclear power. For 1990-91 students can elect individual cross-listed courses, in consultation with an instructor in Technology Studies, in addition to their major in a department or interdepartmental program.

100 (2) Medical Technology and Critical Decisions

Examination of new options in medical diagnosis, treatment and prevention, and of systematic methods for making decisions that can lead to informed choices by patients, doctors, and society. Study of amniocentesis and other medical decision problems, and their economic and ethical aspects. Hands-on experience with scientific and engineering devices and computer modelling of decision-making processes. Development of the necessary scientific background and mathematical skills. This course carries one unit of nonlaboratory Group C distribution credit. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Ducas, Mr. Shuchat

140 (2) Television Technology and Projects Workshop

The general availability of sophisticated video equipment is expanding the uses of television beyond the broadcast arena. Scientific research, legal cases, sports medicine and advances in teaching and training are only a few of the current applications. Video technology is also merging with computers in such applications as computer-controlled videodisc players, CD-ROM's and image digitization. This course will provide students the opportunity to learn about video technology and acquire sufficient competence to develop projects related to their particular interests. The scientific and engineering aspects of video technology will be studied first as a background for hands-on experience with video production and post-production work. Students will design, produce and present their own projects during the term. Enrollment is limited. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Ducas

201 (1) Television Technology and Social Impact

The course considers how economic, political and technological factors influence television programming and how television content affects the mass audience. We will observe television content through systematic observation and will learn how the television image is produced and manipulated. Students will gain experience producing or editing video material. A major project of the course is the design, conduct and analysis of an experiment in television effects. Previous coursework in social science research methods, statistics, or computer science is highly recommended. Prerequisite: Technology Studies 100 or two units in sociology, psychology, political science, economics, computer science, physics, or biological sciences. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mrs. Just

208 (2) Technological Applications of Light

The nature of light, the interaction of light with matter and the fundamentals of lasers. Applications of light in such fields as medicine, food processing, communications, defense, isotope separation, information science and solar energy storage and conversion. Emphasis will be placed on how the fundamental properties of light and light-matter interactions may be exploited for new technologies. This course fulfills Group C distribution, but does not meet laboratory science requirement. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Coleman

209 (1) Women and Technology

An examination of the impact of the new technologies of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries on women, with a particular focus on household technology and office automation. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Chaplin

Theatre Studies

Professor: Barstow (Chair)

Lecturer: Glick

Director of Theatre: Hussey

Production Manager: Handelman

203 (I) Plays, Production, and Performance

The produced play considered as originally the creation of the dramatist but brought to completion in performance through the creative collaboration of producers, directors, designers, and actors. A brief historical survey precedes exploration of component elements of the staged production. Open to all students.

Ms. Hussey

205 (2) Acting and Scene Study

Study of the performed scene as the basic building-block of playwright, director, and actor. Scenes from significant historical genre plays, classic to contemporary, regularly rehearsed and performed for class criticism. Prerequisite: 203 or by permission of the instructor.

Mr. Barstow

206 (I) Design for the Theatre

Study of the designer's function in the production process through development of scale models of theatrical environments for specific plays. The lighting of performance as a major component of theatrical production will be included. Prerequisite: same as for 205.

Mr. Handelman

212 (I) Representations of Women on the Stage

Study of specific examples of the representation of women on the dramatic stage during various eras in a variety of cultures, focusing on what a public and popular art says and implies about women: their "nature," their roles, their place in the society reflected, their options for individuality and for activity affecting others, etc. Consideration of the male dominance in both playwriting and performance in historic cultures. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Mr. Barstow

220 (I) Classic Plays in Performance

An historical survey of dramatic texts as realized in performance. Videotapes of performances approximating the original production style are the primary objects of study. Analytical and critical writing skills are emphasized in written critiques. Open to all students. Not offered in 1991-92.

Mr. Barstow

235 (2) Looking at Ballet

A history of ballet from the Romantic ballet of the 1830s to the present. Analysis of ballets by such choreographers as Petipa, Balanchine, and Ashton. There will be filmed and taped materials each week, along with lecture and discussion. When possible, lectures will be supplemented by field trips to dance performances in the Boston area. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Glick

236 (2) Looking at Modern Dance

An analysis of modern dance focusing on what makes it "modern" and how it differs from ballet. Modern dance choreographers from Isadora Duncan and Ruth St. Denis to Martha Graham, Doris Humphrey, Paul Taylor, Merce Cunningham, Twyla Tharp and others will be discussed. Frequent films and videotapes of modern dance will be supplemented when possible by field trips to dance performances in the Boston area. Open to all students.

Ms. Glick

350 (I)(2) Research or Individual Study 1 or 2

Open by permission to qualified students.

Theatre Studies

AN INDIVIDUAL MAJOR

Director: Barstow

A major in Theatre Studies may be designed according to the provision of the Individual Major option. See p. 54.

Early consultation with the director is essential because some relevant courses are not offered every year and careful planning is necessary.

Students electing to design an individual major in Theatre Studies will usually take at least one resident semester of concentrated work in the discipline either with the National Theatre Institute at the Eugene O'Neill Theatre Center in Waterford, Connecticut, or at another institution in the Twelve College Exchange Program, to supplement and enrich their work at Wellesley. Extensive courses in the Theatre Arts program are offered at MIT.

Since developments in the theatre arts are the results of stage experiments, and because the theatre performance is an expression of theatre scholarship, it is expected that students planning an individual major in Theatre Studies will elect to complement formal study of theatre with practical experience in the extracurricular production program of the Wellesley College Theatre and related on-campus producing organizations.

In addition to all the offerings of the Theatre Studies Program, the following courses are specifically relevant to an individual major in Theatre Studies:

Women's Studies

Associate Professor and Director: Reverby

Assistant Professor: Schirmer^A, Walsh

Instructor: Hanawa, Penn

A major in Women's Studies offers an opportunity for the interdisciplinary study of women's experience as it is reflected in the humanities, the sciences, and the social sciences. Women's Studies majors seek an understanding of the new intellectual frameworks that are reshaping thought about women and men. They also pursue knowledge of the female experience in diverse cultures, and across time.

A major in Women's Studies has a number of core requirements. Students must take Women's Studies 120 (Introduction to Women's Studies), and Women's Studies 222 (Women in Contemporary Society). They must also elect a multicultural course that focuses on women. (A list of courses that fulfill this requirement may be obtained from the Women's Studies Program.) In addition, students will choose one course above the Grade I level in the humanities (A group). And finally, majors elect a "concentration" of four courses above Grade I in a single area, including at least two units at Grade III that are approved by the Women's Studies Director. Concentrations may be in one department or may be constructed across departments. In either case, the major must demonstrate intellectual coherence. It is strongly recommended that majors elect basic method and theory courses in their field of concentration and at least one additional appropriate multicultural course.

Majors design their own programs in consultation with the Director of Women's Studies.

The following courses are listed as Women's Studies courses and may be used to satisfy either the Group B¹ or Group B² distribution requirement. Other courses are available each semester through cross registration with MIT.

120 (1) (2) Introduction to Women's Studies

Introduction to the new field of Women's Studies and its impact on the various disciplines. Consideration of the multiple ways in which the gender experience has been understood and is currently being studied. Beginning with a focus on how inequalities between men and women have been explained and critiqued, the course examines the impact of social structure and culture on gender and how this is expressed in anthropological, historical, and literary writings. Emphasis is placed on an understanding of the "common differences" which both unite and divide women.

Ms. Reverby, Ms. Walsh

220 (1) Women, Peace and Protest: Cross-Cultural Visions of Women's Actions

Examination of women's participation in the movements of nuclear disarmament, human rights and social and economic justice. Examination of the nature and history of these movements as well as their organization and ideological structure. Focus on understanding if, why, and under what circumstances gender becomes a central force in the development of these movements. Questions addressed will include 1) why and in what ways have women been central to the European peace movement, 2) how has the involvement of women helped to define the human rights movement in Latin America, 3) whether women's involvement in protest for social and economic justice has changed traditional political institutions, such as unions and political parties, and 4) the extent to which feminist theory and theories of the state have accounted for the nature of women's protest. Prerequisite: permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Schirmer

222 (2) Women in Contemporary Society: Different Ways of Knowing

An introductory examination of how changes in social structure, ideology, culture and politics have affected women in the Third World and in the U.S. since World War II. "Separated" and "connected" ways of knowing, as well as feminism as a positive form of critical thinking, are discussed. Issues, such as cross-cultural meanings of motherhood, economic and reproductive oppression, and the possibility for many feminisms are examined. Then the focus shifts to women's lives in the U.S., the "happy days" of the 1950's, the impact of the Women's Movement of the 1960's, 70's and 80's, with an emphasis upon work, welfare, and feminist ways of knowing.

Ms. Walsh

224 (1) Women's Lives Through Oral History

"What's so special about women?" Study of women's everyday and extraordinary experiences through readings and oral history projects. Analysis of methodological and theoretical implications of studying women's lives. Emphasis on close reading of the narrative and explanatory strategy adopted by individual women in their story telling. Open to all students.

Ms. Hanawa

250 (2) Asian Women in America

Examination of the history of Asian women in America, with particular attention to the changes in conditions of migration, refugee and legal status, work opportunities, and family structure. The stereotypes that have affected Asian American women and their psychological consequences will be explored. Introduction to the Asian American woman's literary and artistic tradition, the various forms of feminism within the Asian American community, and the contemporary social and political issues for Asian American women. Open to all students. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Chan

305 (2) Seminar. Topics in Gender, Ethnicity and Race. Topic for 1990-91: Women and "Asian America"

An examination of the ways in which experiences of women of Asian descent and others have been shaped by the immigration experience of Asians to the U.S. From the days of the Gold Rush to the emergence of "Asian America." Topics include emigration, the "Oriental" woman in America, myths and image making in popular literature and Hollywood films, relationships between various ethnic and racial groups, and the politics of post 1980's American society. Open to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Background in Women's Studies, American History or ethnicity and gender strongly recommended.

Ms. Hanawa

310 (1) Seminar. Women, Social Policy and the State

Theoretical overview of theories of the welfare state and of perspectives on women and social policy. Examination of the nature of social policy and its historical and socio-political basis in Sweden, Denmark, Norway, Finland, England and West Germany which have come to be known for their comprehensive social policy measures and for their relative gender equality. Study of the extent to which women's movements in each of these countries have influenced the social and political agenda. Student research projects on social policy and women's movements in a country other than one in Scandinavia. Prerequisite: permission of instructor. Not offered in 1990-91. Offered in 1991-92.

Ms. Schirmer

316 (2) Seminar. History and Politics of Sexuality in the United States

Topic for 1990-91: Homosexuality and Lesbianism in America. This seminar will examine the evolution of cultural attitudes toward homosexuality from sin, to crime, to a medical problem. Special attention will be paid to the transformation from cultural definitions of deviance to the emergence of an identity based on same-sex eroticism. We will explore the interplay between dominant cultural notions concerning homosexuality and the claiming and transforming of that identity by an emerging subculture and social movement. The role of gender in shaping the related, though different, histories of gay men and lesbians will be a focus. Open to Juniors and Seniors by permission of the instructor. 120, 222, or 320, History 257, Extradepartmental 232 or Black Studies 230 are recommended.

Ms. Penn

320 (2) American Health Care History in Gender, Race and Class Perspective

Traditional American medical history has emphasized the march of science and the ideas of the "great doctors" in the progressive improvement in American medical care. In this course we will look beyond just medical care to the social and economic factors that have shaped the development of the priorities, institutions, and personnel in the health care system in the United States. We will ask how gender, race and class affected the kind of care developed, its differential delivery, and the problems and issues addressed. Open to Juniors and Seniors by permission of the instructor.

Ms. Reverby

330 (2) Seminar. Twentieth-Century Feminist Movements in the First and Third World

Examination of the different political theories that explain the emergence of feminist political movements in the 20th century. Cross-cultural exploration of particular histories of different feminist movements. Emphasis will be placed on the theories of feminism in different movements and the actual political practice of these movements. Students will be expected to lead class presentations and to complete a major research paper. Open by permission of the instructor. Not offered in 1990-91.

Ms. Schirmer

360 (1) (2) Senior Thesis Research

By permission of the department. See p. 64, Departmental Honors. Students in 360 and 370 will be expected to participate regularly in the departmental honors seminar. The seminar provides a forum for students conducting independent research to present their work to sister students and faculty.

370 (1) (2) Senior Thesis

Prerequisite: 360.

The Writing Program

Entering students are required to complete one semester of expository writing in their first year at Wellesley. Writing courses numbered 125 are offered by faculty from many departments on a variety of topics. In all sections writing is taught as a means not only of expressing ideas but also of acquiring them. Students receive instruction and practice in analysis and argument, in revision, and in the use and acknowledgement of sources. There are no exemptions from this requirement.

Writing 125A/English 120 in Semester 1, and Writing 125A/English 120 in Semester 2, in addition to fulfilling the Writing Requirement, also fulfill a requirement for the English major and a Group A distribution requirement. Writing 125B/Classical Civilization 120 in Semester 2, in addition to fulfilling the Writing Requirement, also counts toward the Classical Civilization major and fulfills a Group A distribution requirement. These sections include an extra class session each week.

Writing 125B (1), which includes a studio art component, meets twice a week for double periods. It does not currently fulfill a requirement in the Art Department.

Continuing Education students and other transfer students who have not fulfilled a similar requirement must also complete one semester of expository writing, either Writing 125 or English 200 (Intermediate Expository Writing).

Below are descriptions of the Writing 125 sections offered in 1990-91. Students are invited to indicate a list of preferences, which will be honored as far as possible.

English 200 sections are described in the listing of the English Department.

SEMESTER I

Writing 125A/English 120 (1)

An examination of classic poetic texts in English from the Renaissance to the modern period—Shakespeare, Donne, Wordsworth, Dickinson, Yeats, Bishop, and others. A course designed to increase power and skill in critical interpretation and critical writing. Open to all students but primarily recommended for prospective English majors, this course satisfies both the Writing 125 and the English 120 requirements and fulfills a Group A distribution requirement. Includes an extra session each week.

Ms. Quinney, Department of English

125B (I) The Art of Description: An Exploration of Writing and Drawing

This course will approach writing and drawing as related means of expression. The key to drawing is seeing as an artist. A similar clarity of vision is necessary in expository writing. Through exercises in observation we will develop an awareness of the world in visual terms, expressing our findings in drawing and descriptive writing. We will also explore writing that evokes images, and images that evoke narrative. Every project will have written and drawn counterparts; often one will inspire the other. Basic drawing techniques will be covered. This course involves hands-on studio time and meets in the format of a studio art class, twice a week for two and one half hours each class meeting. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Ribner, Department of Art

125C (I) Language and Representation

We represent ourselves, in speech and writing, through the language that we use. In this course we will examine writers who use language in varied and compelling ways. And by attending to their language, we will attempt to develop, extend, and enliven our own. The subject for this section, then, is language, in all its rich and complicated power. This semester, we will focus on Agnes Smedley, Richard Wright, and George Orwell. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Mr. Cain, Department of English

125D (I) Russia: The Art of Eating and the Art of Conversing

Russian writers have paid attention not only to spiritual nourishment, but have also lavishly described the pleasures of the palate. Students will investigate the function of food, meals, eating rituals, and conversations in their social, symbolic, and aesthetic relevance. Texts will be drawn from Pushkin, Gogol, Dostoevsky, Tolstoy, Chekhov, and Nabokov. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Tempest, Department of Russian

125E,F (I) "Other" Cultures (2 Sections)

Our focus: other cultures, whatever "other" happens to be. Our goal: learning to hear the voice of a writer (or filmmaker) speaking from within her culture, to recognize her individuality and, at the same time, to recognize the cultural influences and issues which color her writing. Course format varies each year: we may focus on a world area (the Soviet Union, Africa and African-descended cultures, the Middle East, Latin America, Asia and Asian-American cultures) or on an issue: relationships between women and men, poverty, the structure and role of the family. Fall semester sections provide special guidance for inexperienced writers or for students whose native language is not English; the spring section is open to any student interested in other cultures. Mandatory credit/noncredit

Ms. Wood, The Writing Program

125G (I) Renaissance Depictions of Gender

In addition to Spenser's treatment of chastity in The Faerie Queene and Marlowe's treatment of erotic passion in Hero and Leander we shall explore aspects of transvestitism in the Renaissance. Why does the English stage use boys to represent women? Why does Sidney's hero Musidorus immediately dress in women's clothes as soon as he falls in love? This course will explore the English Renaissance's preoccupation with those "Transform'd in show, but more transform'd in mind."

Ms. Levine, Department of English

125H (I) Whodunit

A study of detective fiction and especially the character of the detective. We will read short stories, novels, and parts of novels from various mystery genres—hardboiled, academic, and English country house. Although we will cast our net widely, particular attention will be paid to the female detective, from Nancy Drew to Miss Marple.

Ms. Lynch, Department of English

125J (I) Fairy Tales

Do fairy tales enchant or instruct us? We will read classic fairy tales from Andrew Lang's The Blue Fairy Book and modern tales from a variety of sources. We will also read essays which interpret fairy tales as literary works, historical documents, psychological cases, and feminist arguments. In a series of short papers students will analyze and interpret tales, exploring connections between the enjoyment and study of fairy tales. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Medina, The Writing Program

125K, L (I) Love and Death (2 Sections)

We will explore the themes of love and death as expressed by contemporary Latin American women. Prose and poetry in translation, as well as videotapes by and about Hispanic women, will provide the bases for a variety of analyses in discussion and in writing.

Ms. Renjilian-Burgy, Department of Spanish

125M (I) Analyzing Culture

Why are there more nude paintings of women than of men in the European tradition? Why were nineteenth-century scientists interested in measuring the skulls of black people? Why is Donald Duck so much smarter than the criminal Beagle Boys? What is the white master like in African-American folktales? We'll consider such questions in this course as we analyze a variety of products of our culture—paintings, short stories, comic books, scientific texts, songs, poems, folk tales, gossip—paying particular attention to the ways in which these works reflect or contest the prevailing system of cultural values. Readings will include: John Berger, et al., Ways of Seeing; Stephen Jay Gould, Ever Since Darwin: Reflections in Natural History; and Ariel Dorfman and Armand Mattelart, How to Read Donald Duck: Imperialist Ideology in the Disney Comic.

Ms. Meyer, Department of English

125N (I) Vision and Revision

This section will focus on relationships between the ideas we encounter in reading and the ideas we hold to be our own. It will include a review of English grammar. Weekly journal entries, ongoing revisions of ten to twelve short papers, and regular conferences with the instructor are required. This section is appropriate for students who have done very little writing in high school and for students whose native language is not English. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Kopec, Director of Academic Assistance

125O (I) Writing About Education

In this section students will begin by writing about their own educational experiences and beliefs and proceed to the writing of critical essays on a variety of educational topics. We will read selections on education written from several perspectives, including essays exploring the meaning of liberal education. But the main focus of the course will be the writing by students in it. Students will have the opportunity to examine issues and ideas which might affect their own educational goals. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Mr. Hawes, Department of Education

125P (I) Messages

Basic instruction in writing, revising, and editing essays, designed to include the student lacking confidence in writing, or experience in writing academic prose, or both. Short readings, both fiction and nonfiction, will provide texts for a variety of writing assignments. The emphasis in class will be on developing ideas and refining them in words on paper; individual attention, as needed, to problems with the mechanics of writing and usage. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Bellanca, The Writing Program

125Q (I) Reporting on Life at Wellesley

This introduction to journalism provides an opportunity to practice accurate observation, keen analysis, and a clear writing style. Assignments will involve the art of interviewing, discovering new sources of information, and creating articles that range from hard news to literary journalism. Topics include student concerns, campus issues, personal profiles, and notable lectures and panels. Students work on individual and joint editing exercises. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Smith, Public Affairs

125R (I) Literature of Travel

Beginning with New World exploration narratives, this course will focus on the way travelers perceive or construct foreign landscapes. We will consider how the exotic can function as a screen for the projection of fears and fantasies, how the traveler's "home" is redefined through contact with an alien culture, how the outsider or stranger (whether visitor, conqueror, or exile) negotiates between the discovery of otherness and the exploration of self. Readings will include Christopher Columbus, from Select Documents Illustrating the Four Voyages; Shakespeare, The Tempest; E.M. Forster, A Passage to India; Joseph Conrad, Heart of Darkness; Ursula LeGuin, The Dispossessed; as well as selections from, among others, Freya Stark, Jack Kerouac, and Paul Theroux.

Ms. Brogan, Department of English

125S (I) Public Opinions

A close look at such sources as newspaper editorials, legal decisions, political speeches, television and print advertising, and blockbuster films, to ascertain how opinions find public expression in American culture. Possible topics: abortion rights, capital punishment, freedom of speech and of the press, the legalization of illicit drugs, and the right of privacy. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Mr. Cooper, Department of English

125T (I) Gender and Literature

In this course students will read, talk, and write about gender. What does it mean to be male or female in our society, and how has sexual difference been formulated and codified in our literature? Some of the questions the course will address will include: What are the attributes assigned to "male" and

"female," and how do these stereotypes influence the way we shape our desires? How does the literature of courtly or romantic love exploit differences in gender? Essays, chiefly expository, will be based on the readings, on current issues, and on students' own experience. Readings from the twelfth century to the present will probably include selections from such writers as Andreas Capellanus, The Art of Courtly Love; Christopher Marlowe, Hero and Leander; Joseph Conrad, Heart of Darkness; Virginia Woolf, A Room of One's Own; Ann Tyler, The Accidental Tourist. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Stanbury, The Writing Program

125U (I) Our Town

Our project is to analyze some examples of the architecture, town planning, and patterns of land use we know best—those back home, whether "our town" is urban, suburban or rural, big or small. Some questions: How well do our houses suit our families' life styles? Where do poor people and minorities live in our town? Where do high-school students hang out? Where and why are businesses expanding or shrinking? How has our town been shaped, literally, by its history? We'll also scrutinize a few towns in literature and the movies.

Mr. Rhodes, Department of Art

125V (I) Messages

Basic instruction in writing, revising, and editing essays, designed to include the student lacking confidence in writing, or experience in writing academic prose, or both. Short readings, both fiction and nonfiction, will provide texts for a variety of writing assignments. The emphasis in class will be on developing ideas and refining them in words on paper; individual attention, as needed, to problems with the mechanics of writing and usage. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Bellanca, The Writing Program

125W (I)

SEMESTER II

Writing 125A/English 120 (2)

An examination of classic poetic texts in English from the Renaissance to the modern period—Shakespeare, Donne, Wordsworth, Dickinson, Yeats, Bishop, and others. A course designed to increase power and skill in critical interpretation and critical writing. Open to all first-year students but primarily recommended for prospective English majors, this course satisfies both the Writing 125 and the English 120 requirements and fulfills a Group A distribution requirement. Includes an extra session each week.

Ms. Harman, Department of English

Writing 125B/Classical Civilization 120 (2) Epic Vision in Homer and Vergil

Gods and goddesses, heroes and heroines in Homer's Iliad and Odyssey and in Vergil's Aeneid. The relations between human and divine characters. Readings of the poems in translation and of recent critical essays on the epics. Emphasis on development of writing skills. Open to all first-year students, this course satisfies both the Writing 125 requirement and counts as a unit for the Group A distribution requirement and the Classical Civilization major. Includes an extra session each week.

Ms. Geffcken, Departments of Greek and Latin

125C (2) "Other" Cultures

Our focus: other cultures, whatever "other" happens to be. Our goal: learning to hear the voice of a writer (or filmmaker) speaking from within her culture, to recognize her individuality and, at the same time, to recognize the cultural influences and issues which color her writing. Course format varies each year: we may focus on a world area (the Soviet Union, Africa and African-descended cultures, the Middle East, Latin America, Asia and Asian-American cultures) or on an issue: relationships between women and men, poverty, the structure and role of the family. Fall semester sections provide special guidance for inexperienced writers or for students whose native language is not English; the spring section is open to any student interested in other cultures.

Ms. Wood, The Writing Program

125D (2) Whodunit

Says W.H. Auden, "For me, as for many others, the reading of detective stories is an addiction like tobacco or alcohol." Our purpose is to examine the nature of this addiction. Why do otherwise sane people read detective fiction so voraciously? What redeeming value does it have? We will learn something of the genre by reading the classics—Doyle, Christie, Hammett or Chandler—as well as one or two currently popular authors. We will also read critical essays. Recurrent themes of discussion: the nature of the detective and the nature of the plot. Mandatory credit/noncredit.

Ms. Wood, The Writing Program

125E (2) Law in Contemporary Society

We will read cases and articles about the ways in which courts have changed existing laws, and in so doing, have transformed American society. Readings will be selected from such cases as Brown v. Board of Education school desegregation, Roe v. Wade (abortion), In Re Brophy withholding of nourishment from terminally ill patients, and from recent cases on the rights of high school students, surrogate parenting, and criminal procedure. Students will write frequently during class time, in addition to writing formal essays and keeping journals on a variety of current legal issues.

Ms. Viti, The Writing Program

125F (2) The Story and the Writer

Students will read and discuss stories by a wide range of writers including James Joyce, Flannery O'Connor, and Gabriel Garcia Marquez. Essays will be based on these readings.

Ms. Thompson, Department of English

125G (2) The Psychology of Writing Lives

We will consider psychological issues surrounding biography, or the writing of lives. Some examples: What do psychologists have to say about the nature of autobiographical memory? What do biographers tell us about the kinds of psychological relationships that develop between them and their subjects? Writing assignments will include an autobiographical essay and a biographical account based on interviews carried out during the term. Mandatory credit noncredit.

Ms. Furumoto, Department of Psychology

125J (2) Women in American Art

Looking at works by both male and female artists, we will examine images of women in American painting from the seventeenth century to the present. We will explore the meaning of these works against the background of women's changing status in American society. Mandatory credit noncredit.

Ms. Bedell, Department of Art

125K (2) Play Ball

In the United States, baseball is called "the national pastime." What can we learn about the meaning of this phrase by investigating such things as baseball in Japan and the Caribbean, the history of the "Negro Leagues" (which included such players as Jackie Robinson), the women's leagues, differences between sandlot baseball and Little League, hardball and softball, and baseball and other sports. And what can we learn about writing by comparing baseball writings by the late President of Yale and Commissioner of Baseball A. Bartlett Giamatti, the political columnist George F. Will, and the regular and occasional sports-writers of such newspapers and periodicals as The New York Times, The Boston Globe, Sports Illustrated, and The New Yorker? Mandatory credit noncredit.

Ms. Congleton, Department of Philosophy

125L (2) Women and Fiction

Five novels whose central characters are women will be the texts for this course. We'll probably read Moll Flanders, Northanger Abbey, The Blithedale Romance, Washington Square, and The Awakening; we'll consider how these novels represent women whose choices about life and work are defined by the societies in which they live. Our concerns, therefore, will be both literary and social. Essay topics will be drawn from but not strictly limited to issues raised by the novels and in class discussions.

Ms. Bellanca, The Writing Program

125M (2) Contemporary Russian Culture: Women and Society

Through the reading of stories, memoirs, underground and official publications, as well as materials from the Western mass media, we will look at women's lives in relation to education, work, family, and friends. Mandatory credit noncredit.

Ms. Chester, Department of Russian

125N (2) English Feminist Classics

Readings from, analyses of, and writing about "the woman question" as it is revealed in: Mary Wollenstonecraft, A Vindication of the Rights of Woman; Florence Nightingale, "Cassandra"; John Stuart Mill, On the Subjection of Women; John Ruskin, "Of Queens' Gardens"; and Virginia Woolf, A Room of One's Own. The novel Mary Barton by Elizabeth Gaskell will be read to provide historical context for these other works and for the women's movement in Victorian England. Mandatory credit noncredit.

Ms. Robinson, Department of History

125O (2) Parents and Children

In this class we will address such questions as: To what extent is our character, personality, gender identity, and ideology determined by our parents? Is our "fate" predestined by our experiences in the family? How does the relationship between mother and daughter differ from that between father and son? father and daughter? To what extent do we continue to create relationships that recapitulate those experienced in childhood? Our readings will range widely, including selections from Sigmund Freud and Nancy Chodorow, Sophocles and Eugene

O'Neill, Mary Shelley, Alice Walker, and Toni Morrison. Writing assignments will be based on the readings as well as on personal experience. Mandatory credit noncredit.

Ms. Medina, The Writing Program

125P (2) Public Opinions

A close look at such sources as newspaper editorials, legal decisions, political speeches, television and print advertising, and blockbuster films, to ascertain how opinions find public expression in American culture. Possible topics: abortion rights, capital punishment, freedom of speech and of the press, the legalization of illicit drugs, and the right of privacy.

Mr. Cooper, Department of English

125Q (2) Writing About Education

In this section students will begin by writing about their own educational experiences and beliefs and proceed to the writing of critical essays on a variety of educational topics. We will read selections on education written from a variety of perspectives, including essays exploring the meaning of liberal education. But the main focus of the course will be the writing by students in it. Students will have the opportunity to examine issues and ideas which might affect their own educational goals. Mandatory credit noncredit.

Mr. Hayes, Department of Education

125R 2 The Evolving Meaning of God

An examination through our reading and writing of the thinking of several theologians from the Judeo-Christian tradition who have pondered the meaning of God for human life in the late twentieth century. Readings from Michael Goulder and John Hick, Why Believe in God?; Gordon Kaufman, God the Problem; Richard Rubinstein, After Auschwitz; Harold Kushner, When Bad Things Happen to Good People; Mary Daly, Beyond God the Father, and Sallie McFague, Models of God. Students who are from religious backgrounds outside of the Judeo-Christian tradition are especially welcome to take the class and augment the readings of the course with readings from their own religious traditions.

Ms. Ward, Class Dean

125S 2 Two on the Aisle

This course will examine selected films and television programs from an anthropological perspective, in order to understand values, attitudes, and rituals in contemporary societies. Students will read, as well as write, reviews of the films presented. The emphasis of the course will be on the clear expression of ideas and opinions.

Mr. Campisi, Department of Anthropology

125T (2)

125U (2)

125X (2) Writing Tutorial

An individual tutorial in expository writing, taught by juniors and seniors from a variety of academic departments. An opportunity to tailor reading and writing assignments to the student's particular needs and interests. 125X tutorial meetings are individually arranged by students with their tutors. Open to students from all classes by permission of the instructor. Mandatory credit noncredit.

National Development Fund Council

The National Development Fund Council sets policy and provides leadership for all efforts to seek voluntary financial support of the College. Wellesley welcomes all gifts in support of its educational and charitable missions. The generous contributions of alumnae, friends, and parents provide the means by which the College is able to maintain the standards of excellence that are the hallmark of a Wellesley education. For 1990-91 the members of the National Development Fund Council are listed as follows.

Take Interstate 95 (Route 128) South to Exit 22A 22 (Route 16 West). Follow Route 16 West, directions above.

From the South:

Take Interstate 95 (Route 128) North to Exit 22 (Route 16 West). Follow Route 16 West, directions above.

IF YOU ARRIVE BY PLANE

From Logan International Airport, you can travel to Wellesley by subway or by taxi. Exact fare is required. By MBTA (subway): At the airport, take the shuttle bus (free) to the Airport MBTA stop. Then take an inbound Blue Line car four stops to Government Center. Go upstairs and change to a Green Line car marked "RIVERSIDE-D." Get off at Woodland, the second to last stop. (The fare is $1.75.)

From Woodland:

Take a taxi (approximately $13.00). If necessary, call Veteran's Taxi at 235-1600. Allow about two hours for the trip to the College from the Airport by public transportation. Be sure to have plenty of change! Exact fare is required on bus and subway systems.

Taxi:

The taxi cost from Logan Airport and other points in the City, including tolls, is approximately $36.00. There is a small additional charge when more than three people share a cab. If no cab is available, call Veteran's Taxi at 235-1600.

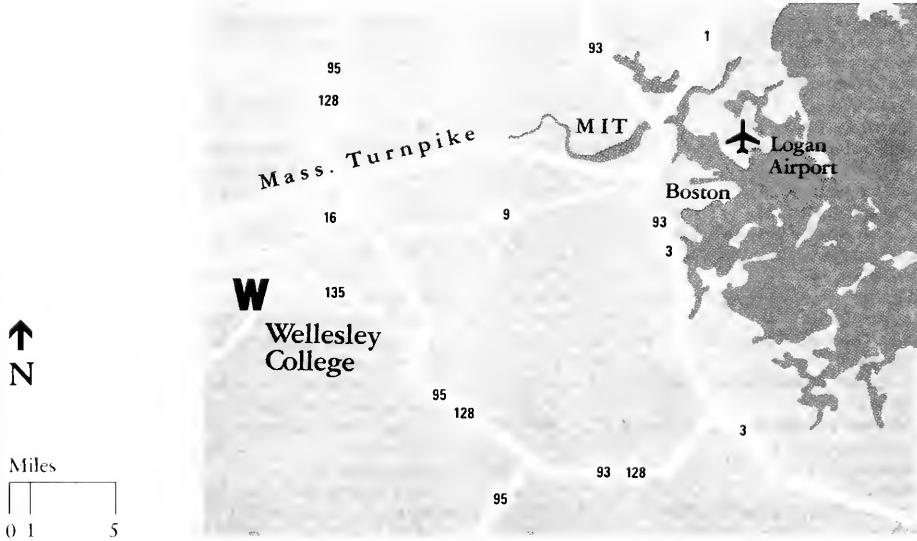

IF YOU ARRIVE BY TRAIN

Take Amtrak to South Station in Boston. From there, take the Red Line car (MBTA subway) two stops to Park Street. Change to a Green Line car marked "RIVERSIDE-D." Get off at Woodland, the second to last stop (the MBTA fare is $2.40). Then follow the above directions from Woodland.

IF YOU ARRIVE BY BUS

Take the Greyhound or Peter Pan bus to the RIVERSIDE terminal, one stop before Boston. From there, take a taxi to the College (approximately $13.00). If necessary, call Veteran's Taxi at 235-1600.

All fares quoted are subject to change.
